HANDSOME THEATRE FOR PLAINFIELD AT LAST

Washington Hall, Bought by Elks, to be Turned Into First-Class Amusement House.

TO OPEN AUGUST 10

Mr. Counihan Will Expend $15,000 in Alterations—Klaw & Erlanger to Book the Attractions—"College Widow" or "Johnnie Jones" First.

Following negotiations that have been pending for the past three months, final plans were agreed upon today between Plainfield Lodge No. 895, B. P. O. E., and W. H. Gelatt, representing W. J. Counihan, of Philadelphia, whereby Plainfield is soon to have a theatre that will rank with any of its kind in this part of the State. The former Washington Hall building on West Second street, recently acquired by the Elks from the Rice estate, is to be the location, plans having already been drawn for the demolition and entire reconstruction of the interior and the alteration of the exterior front. The alterations will require an expenditure of $16,000 and when they are completed nothing of the old structure but the walls will remain.

It is planned to have the opening on August 10 with either "The College Widow," the biggest musical comedy success in New York the past winter, or George M. Cohan's record-breaker, "Little Johnny Jones," at the Liberty Theatre, New York, this week. The play house will be known as the "Plainfield Theatre."

Mr. Counihan, who is manager of three amusement houses in Philadelphia for Stair & Havlin, came to Plainfield originally to make some arrangement for the opening of Music Hall. Failing to agree upon terms with the owner, William M. Stillman, he was about to leave town when Mayor N. B. Smalley learned his mission. The latter quickly recognized the importance of Mr. Counihan's scheme and made other suggestions to him, among them the possibility of doing something with Washington Hall, just purchased by the Elks. The building was looked over and the manager at once declared it would suit the purpose, provided suitable terms could be made with the lodge. As there are other secret organizations holding leases on rooms in the building, it was necessary to make arrangements with these and this has been accomplished. Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., and Plainfield Aerie, No. 866, F. O. E., have agreed to take other quarters while the alterations are being made and then to return to a lodge room to be located in the front part of the structure. Mr. Gelatt states that actual work in the reconstruction would commence within ten days. The property is to remain in possession of the Elks and Mr. Counihan is to bear the cost of altering, buying the place afterward.

The plans for the work were drawn by architects in the employ of the Fuller Claflin Company, of Philadelphia, this firm having been awarded the contract. When completed, the theatre will have a seating capacity of 1,880. There will be 510 orchestra chairs, 370 in the balcony and 500 in the gallery. The main entrance, leading to the orchestra and balcony, will be on Second street, as at present, but the gallery approach is to be separate, leading from the alley on the west side.

The front entrance will be enlarged by taking out a part of the wide stairway on the right and it will be set off by a store on each side practically as it is now. Directly back of where these stores are now, a brick wall will be built upward to the roof and in front of it, lodge rooms will be located. On the second floor it will be an exclusive Elk Club room and on the third, a joint meeting place for the Elks, Knights of Pythians and Eagles. This floor now has two main rooms running north and south but when altered, there will be but one room running east and west.

The stage will be at the north end of the building where the small affair now is and it will be fitted with all modern scenery, curtains, mechanical appliances and lighting effects. In dimensions it will be sixty-two feet wide from wall to wall, 32 feet from main curtain to wall, 28 feet to the fly

BOSS PAINTERS RAISE PRICE TO $3.75 PER DAY

JOURNEYMEN BENEFIT BY ADVANCE IN EFFECT TODAY.

Journeymen painters belonging to the local union have been granted an increase of twenty cents a day by the bosses. The advance went into effect today. The increase for the men is matched by a corresponding advance in the rate charged by the bosses on all jobs.

The agreement on the advance was reached at a meeting between the masters organization and that of the men in Trades' Council hall Saturday night. Under the new rate the bosses jump their price per man on every job from $3.50 to $3.75 per day. For each man's work by the hour the customer will now have to pay forty-seven cents.

The new rate patches up the trouble between the bosses and the men that reached an acute stage about a year ago, when the union went out on strike. The strike fizzled, but the two forces dickered over the increase question until the settlement of it was reached Saturday night. The plan adopted to meet the demands of the men, it is said, was suggested by the journeymen themselves.

BAND CONCERT FAIR IS A HUGE SUCCESS

SATURDAY NIGHT'S ATTENDANCE LARGER THAN EVER.

Saengerbund Hall was filled to its capacity, Saturday night, when over 600 people attended the band concert fair. It was the banner night of the week and holds the record for paid admissions. The various attractions provided by Ben LaVere and his corps of assistants were largely patronized while the dancing floor was thronged from early in the evening until midnight.

The ever popular George Offerman was the soloist at the entertainment and made another big hit with two songs. He gave, "Keep a Little Cosy Corner in Your Heart for Me," and "That's What the Brass Band Played," both of which are big successes. He was accompanied by George Bell, of Haviland's house, New York.

Plainfield's other favorites, "Billy" Redmond and "Billy" Murray closed an open-air concert tour in the South Saturday night, and they wired Ben LaVere today that they would be at the fair before it closed. It has proven so successful that the committee has decided to continue it up to and including Wednesday night.

STILL FAITHFUL.

Robbers Come Again to the Oak Tree Postoffice, Which Has Been Entered Several Times Before.

Thieves again broke into the store of Postmaster George Stover, at Oak Tree, Friday night, and got away with some pies, candy, cake and tea. The postoffice is conducted in the store, but the thieves left Uncle Sam's department alone.

With a regularity that has bred a stoical composure in the breast of Mr. Stover, the store has been broken into and robbed every little while for the past three years. Sometimes the thieves got bold and raid the Government section of the place, to add variety to the continuous performance. At present the postoffice, it is said, holds the record as the most frequently robbed one in the service.

As usual, there is no clue to the robbers, but Mr. Stover and Uncle Sam still hope to become acquainted with the faithful, if unofficial, attaches of the place.

Waldensian Minister to Speak.

Rev. Francesco Rastan, minister of the Waldensian church, in Palermo, Italy, will tell of the Waldensian work in this country, at a meeting to be held at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church Wednesday night.

To Talk on California.

Dr. B. VanD. Hedges will give a lecture at Warren chapel on Friday night, telling of his last trip to California. The lecture will be in aid of the building fund and a silver offering will be received.

SOMERVILLE CITIZENS FOR PUPLIC OWNERSHIP

MAXIMUM TAX RATE LAW ALSO DISCUSSED AT MASS-MEETING.

Preparatory to the meeting to be held at Somerville tonight to elect town commissioners, a citizens' meeting was held on Saturday night, when commissioners were nominated and there was a discussion regarding the new maximum tax law which fixes the rate at Somerville at $1.50 against $1.87, last year's rate. It was necessary to cut the general appropriation $6,000, which is $1,500 less than last year, to meet the new rate, and this caused heated discussion lasting for over two hours.

These persons were nominated as commissioners: George V. Vanderveer, Charles Sobwed, Charles A. Houston, Walter Durling, W. H. Cawley, A. W. Mack and Selah Schoonmaker. The last three named take the place of W. H. Taylor, resigned; John Gernert and John Hargrove. The fight was on the last two named and they will probably go on an independent ticket. Resolutions were adopted favoring municipal ownership of the water supply and thanking Mr. Taylor for his fifteen years' faithful services as treasurer of the township.

THEY WANT TO GO TO NAVAL ACADEMY

TWO PLAINFIELDERS AMONG NUMBER TAKING EXAMINATION.

Arthur S. Whitney and Harold A. Hegeman, both of this city, were among the eleven young men who took the examination for applicants for appointment as midshipmen to the United States Naval Academy. The examination was held at the Pingry School, Elizabeth and was followed by a luncheon. The Fifth Congressional district is entitled to name a candidate and alternate for admission to Annapolis and Congressman Fowler ordered that all candidates submit to a competitive examination.

As a Plainfield boy, Ford Van-Auken, won the last competitive examination for appointment to Annapolis and is now at the Academy it is considered unlikely that the honor will go to this city again inasmuch as the Fifth district covers a large territory, including Union, Morris and Warren Counties.

The result of the competition will be mailed to Congressman Fowler. It is his privilege to announce the result and to appoint the successful applicant, and also three alternates. Luncheon was served at noon through Congressman Fowler's courtesy.

TROLLEY CONSENTS.

Ready for Metuchen Line Extension as Far as Driving Park.

Lawyer H. C. Runyon announced this morning that all consents for the proposed Metuchen extension of the Arlington avenue line, as far as the Driving Park, had been obtained. The other consents are expected to come in steadily. Mr. Runyon is in full charge of their collection.

The right of way to the Driving Park is entirely over private property. Work on the extension to that point will be pushed rapidly and it is expected that cars will be running to there by July 1.

Y. P. S. Elects Officers.

The Young People's Society of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church has elected these officers for the year: President, Howard H. Williams; vice-president, Ira W. Travell; secretary, Miss Anne Kip Millar; treasurer, Walter M. Sampson.

At Royal Arcanum's State Session.

Lewis Skillman and Charles Davis, of Greenbrook Council, Royal Arcanum, and Clarence Goss, of Plainfield Council, Royal Arcanum, are at Lakewood, attending the Grand Council session to be held today and tomorrow.

Talk on "The Ideal."

Rev. Dr. George H. Whitney will give a talk on "The Ideal," before the Men's Club, of the Congregational church, tomorrow night. Dyckman Winckler, will give violin solos and refreshments will be served.

AFTER AUTO SCORCHERS

Chief Stations Ten Cops About City to Detect Violations.

ONLY ONE OFFENDER

Department's Action Due to Complaints of Fast Driving of Machines—Good Results.

Half of the police force was sent out on automobile spotting duty yesterday. The officers collected a lot of auto numbers, speed figures, and son e fresh air. One violation of the automobile law was detected, but the violator sneaked around the cops into North Plainfield, and went his illegal way unmolested.

Chief Kiely posted ten of his men at various points in the city, by which the automobile traffic usually sounds, with watches and pads handy.

A man was posted at each end of Front street, on South avenue, and Park avenue, and other officers held posts at signal boxes between the extreme pickets. As an automobile came into the city an eagle-eyed cop noted its number and the time. The cops further on did the same thing. The time was sent in to headquarters through the box, and if a violation of the speed law had been noted a cop further up the line would have been signalled to nab the rash driver.

The men were sent out at 3 o'clock, and remained on guard until 7 o'clock. During the four hours a total of seventy-five machines were noted. Not one of them was caught in the act of exceeding the limit. Most of the auto drivers spotted the spotters.

Detective McCarthy spotted the only violation of the law. A big yellow machine, with four sporty looking men in it, went by him at West End avenue, going east, with only a New York license number. The law here requires a New Jersey number, irrespective of licenses from other states. McCarthy called to the driver, but the man at the lever whipped up his gasoline and scudded away. "Mac" blew his whistle to signal Officer McGinley at the signal box above Giraud avenue. The chauffeur jeered at the whistle, pulled his speeder up another notch, and shot over into North Plainfield by way of Giraud avenue. McCarthy caught the New Yorker's number. His name is easy to get from that clue, and if there is any way of reaching him Chief Kiely will see that he is hauled over the legal coals.

NO CAUSE FOR ALARM IN TEACHERS' LEAVING

SCHOOL BOARD MEMBERS SEE NOTHING STRANGE IN IT.

Notwithstanding the fact that friends of ousted school board members point to the large number of teachers leaving as a revolt in the North Plainfield schools, the present board asserts that the resignations are only normal. As stated in Saturday's issue of The Daily Press, twelve teachers have declined re-appointment, and others are undecided about remaining, the figures being confirmed by Superintendent Wightman. A member of the board said in an interview this morning:

"Eight teachers have resigned to accept better places elsewhere, two will not teach next year, and two were not re-elected. The twelve who got include some excellent teachers whom we regret to lose, but the twenty-four who will stay include so many of the best teachers that the school will not suffer more than the ordinary loss. The number of changes is about the same as last year and the year before. It is not surprisingly greater in this troubled borough than in placid Plainfield where Superintendent Maxson reports the loss of thirty-two teachers in two years. But in North Plainfield where politics account for everything, even for sour milk, if a teacher leaves to take a better salary somebody calls it 'Revolt.'"

To Play at Somerville.

The Public Education Society will meet tonight in the assembly room of the school at Somerville. Miss Florence Wohlfert, of this city, an accomplished musician, will play the violin. E. E. Reed, president of the Board of Education of Camden, will lecture on "The Sun."

Evening Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Chamberlain, of West Third street, entertained a number of friends last night at a card party. Refreshments and music were among the features.

PLAINFIELD WOMAN IN RAILROAD WRECK

MISS SEWARD AMONG THE GUESTS ON ODGEN SPECIAL

Miss Ann L. Seward, teacher of mathematics at the Harrredge School, this city, was among the educators aboard the Ogden special train that was wrecked in the Southern railroad yards in Greenville, S. C., on the way back from the Southern Conference for Education, early Friday morning. She escaped injury. Four of the cars and the engine were smashed, four trainmen were killed and a score or more of the passengers were hurt.

The train was re-formed with unusual speed, a hospital car being added to care for the injured, and the millionaire host ordered the trip continued. The party went to Richmond, and from there to Hampton, where the members attended exercises at Hampton Institute. The special will reach New York May 4.

DR. CARROLL TALKS ON SOUTH AMERICA

TELLS OF HIS MISSION IN INTEREST OF METHODISM.

In Grace M. E. church yesterday morning, Rev. Dr. H. K. Carroll, who recently returned from an extensive trip to South America, related to the congregation something of the information he gained in regard to the missionary work to be done in the republics.

His trip began December 28 last and was made at the behest of the Methodist missionary societies with instructions to carefully view the field at Panama, inasmuch as the canal work will bring thousands of men to that point. Dr. Carroll declared the people are anxious for Methodism to secure a foothold there and on his recommendation a large building has been procured in the heart of the district where meetings are to be held. In all he traveled over 15,000 miles and he found that everywhere the natives would welcome missions and aid their establishment in every way.

TENNIS CLUB ELECTS.

Belleview Organization Chooses Officers.

The Belleview Tennis Club was organized at a meeting of young people held in the parlors of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, last night. These officers were elected: President, Orra S. Rogers; vice president, Nathan E. Lewis; secretary, Miss Mary St. John; treasurer, Charles Nagle.

The club now has a membership of twenty-eight. Entertainment, social and membership committees have been provided for and an enjoyable season is predicted. The club's courts are located on the Randolph farm, near Randolph road and arrangements will be made to hold tournaments there frequently during the summer.

To Advertise Bond Issues.

The Common Council at the May meeting to be held tonight will authorize the publication of two advertisements for bond issues in connection with the construction of the new high school. One issue will be for $62,000, the balance of the $125,000 needed for the construction work and the other issue will be for $13,000 for furnishing the building. The other business of the evening will be chiefly of a routine character.

Missionary to Speak.

At the meeting of the Ladies' Foreign Missionary Society, of the First Presbyterian church, at 3:20 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the chapel, Miss Levasti D. Kyrias, of Albania, Em. Turkey, will deliver an address about her people. Women of other churches cordially invited.

Board of Health Session.

The May meeting of the Board of Health will be held tomorrow afternoon. One of the matters to be acted on will be that authorizing the closing of all public dumps from now on during the summer months.

Mr. Sandford's Gift.

Joseph T. Sandford has presented to the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church a double dissolving stereopticon with complete electric light attachment, for use in the chapels, Sunday-school and church.

Announce Engagement.

Mrs. Mary Doyle, of Plainfield avenue, announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Maude Doyle, to William E. Groves, of Cape May. The wedding will take place in June.

STRUCK BY TRAIN; FOUND ON TRACK

GEORGE MONCTON, THE VICTIM, WILL RECOVER.

George Moncton, whose home is in this city, and who has been working in Brooklyn, was found yesterday morning at 3:25 o'clock lying near track three near the Watchung avenue bridge, suffering from injuries received by being struck by an eastbound train. He came to Plainfield on the train arriving here at 1 o'clock and in some way which cannot be explained, he was hit by a train going east.

Michael Seader, another passenger, found Moncton and summoned the ambulance which removed the injured man to the hospital. An examination disclosed a contused wound of the right side. He has since been steadily improving and the physicians believe that he will soon be able to go home.

PASTOR'S FAREWELL TO SWEDISH FLOCK

REV. L. T. LINDHOLM LEAVES CONGREGANIONALISTS HERE.

Rev. L. T. Lindholm preached his farewell sermon as pastor of the Swedish Congregational church, last night, taking his text from Acts 20-32. He spoke of the safeness of the church in the hands of God and of the relations existing between pastor and people. He recommended the new pastor, Rev. Theodore England, to the thoughtful care and consideration of the people and hoped that they would work heart and hand with him. In conclusion there was the farewell greeting and a solo by Mrs. Lindholm.

Mr. Lindholm and family will leave here on Wednesday for Albany, where they will remain until Sunday. On Sunday, May 14, he will assume his new pastorate at Woodstock, Conn. Mr. England will preach at the local church on Sunday for the first.

To Consider New Chapel Plans.

There will be a meeting of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church congregation on Wednesday night, May 10, in accordance with a resolution of the trustees, to hear their recommendation on the matter of erecting a new chapel for the work at Warren chapel and to take such action on the recommendation as may seem best. It is the purpose of the congregation to erect the new building on Watchung avenue, in the borough.

Dr. Fritts Suit for $40,000.

One of the important cases to be called in the Supreme Court at Elizabeth tomorrow, will be that of Dr. J. T. Fritts against the Erie Railroad Company, Dr. Fritts sues the company for $40,000 for injuries received at Lake Ariel, Pa., last July. C. A. Marsh, Esq., represents the plaintiff, and Collins and Cobin the company.

Challenge Shoot.

Accepting a challenge issued last fall to any team in this vicinity, Charles Jansen and Den J. Gavin have agreed to shoot at clay birds against "Al" Calloway, the crack field shot, and Lewis VanDyke, one of the Independent Gun Club experts. The shoot will take place next Friday afternoon at the Independent range, 50 yards.

Boy's Death.

Daniel A. Allen, the thirteen-year-old son of Irasnus Allen, 79 Manning avenue, died yesterday of Bright's disease. He will be buried Wednesday. The funeral will be held Wednesday afternoon, from the house.

Exempt Firemen's Meeting.

The Plainfield Exempt Firemen's Association will hold a meeting tonight to discuss several matters, including the State convention to be held at Trenton on Wednesday, May 17.

In Justice Nash's Court.

Judgment has been entered in Justice Nash's court in the contract case of A. Wells Stump against Mary Quass. N. Douglas Drake was the plaintiff's lawyer.

Fined Five Dollars.

CARNIVAL ATTRACTIONS

Great Wonders to be Seen at Muhlenberg Hospital Benefit Show, May 11 to 20.

FOR YOUNG AND OLD

Vaudeville Show, Electric Theatre, Educated Horse, Indians, $10,000 Merry-Go-Round and Other Features.

The programme of the major attractions to be presented at the carnival to be held on the grounds at Spooner and Darrow avenues, May 11 to 20, for the benefit of Muhlenberg Hospital, was given out Saturday by former Mayor Charles J. Fisk, chairman of the general committee. The list is not complete as regards trade displays and additional attractions may be announced. The properties of the big show have begun to arrive in town, and work on the transformation of the old ball field into a fair ground will begin immediately.

Miller and Maguire's Vaude Curriculum, presenting: Mascot, the famous educated horse; understands over 1,500 commands in English, German, Spanish and Italian. Senor Abanico, the greatest flying ring performer in the world. Prof. H. S. Maguire, the man of mystery; watch him. Charley Hopper, the singing clown. Why, Why, the funny property elephant. Liberty menage act. The mysterious box. Contortion act. And others.

The Ferris Wheel; brilliantly illuminated with electric lights. Up you go, up you go, and see what's going on below. Everyone rides.

The Electric Theatre, presenting the latest moving pictures and illustrated songs. See the great train robbery and other up-to-date pictures; hear La Paloma by Senor Francisco, baritone.

KO-KO SAYS MAIDENS BETTER WHEN TOUGH

DUETT BETWEEN MR. RUNYON AND MRS. WARD IN THE MIKADO.

The production of the Mikado, which will be given at the Casino on Thursday and Friday nights, May 4 and 5, under the direction of Wm. Holmes, promises to be one of the best amateur performances yet seen here. The whole opera is ridiculously funny and among the parts that are sure to win much praise is that taken by "Katisha," Mrs. F. M. Ward, and "Ko-Ko," William N. Runyon. They sing the following song in a manner that will bring down the house with applause:

Katisha.
There is beauty in the bellow of the blast,
There is grandeur in the growling of the gale,
There is eloquent outpouring
When the lion is a roaring
And the tiger is a lashing of his tail!
Ko-Ko.
Yes, I like to see a tiger
From the Congo or the Niger.
And especially when lashing of his tail!

Katisha.
Volcanoes have a real splendor that is grim,
And earthquakes only terrify the dolts;
But to him who is scientific
There is nothing that is terrific
In the falling of a flight of thunderbolts!
Ko-Ko.
Yes, in spite of all my meekness,
If I have a little weakness,
It's a passion for a flight of thunderbolts!

Ko-Ko.
There is beauty in extreme old age—
Do you fancy you are elderly enough?
Information I'm requesting
On a subject interesting,
Is a maiden all the better when she's tough?
Katisha.
Throughout this wide dominion
It's the general opinion that She'll last a good deal longer when she's tough.

Ko-Ko.
Are you old enough to marry, do you think?
Won't you wait until you're eighty in the shade?
There's a fascination frantic
In a ruin that's romantic;
Do you think you are sufficiently decayed?
Katisha.
To the matter that you mention
I have given some attention,
And I think I am sufficiently decayed.
Both.
If that is so,
Sing derry, down derry!
It's evident, very,
Our tastes are one!
Away we'll go,
And merrily marry,
Nor tardily tarry
Till day is done!

HE'S A HUSTLER.

Frank Hedden Handles Record-Breaking Number of Carriages at Wedding.

The number of carriages used in connection with the Runkle-Talmadge wedding, Wednesday, broke all previous records for a local society event. There were just 118 of them and all were handled without a hitch by Frank Hedden, who had charge of the vehicles both at the Crescent Avenue church and the Talmadge home. Thursday night Mr. Hedden handled ninety-eight carriages at the Laing-Milne wedding, almost the same number at the Detwiller-Hassel nuptials and still found time to direct the large number of vehicles leaving the Casino after the Monday Afternoon Club reception. In neither instance did the slightest delay occur, and Mr. Hedden has been highly complimented by those who noted the difficulties he worked under.

PERSONAL.

Miss Mattie Swacknamer, of Whitehouse, has been spending several days with local relatives.

WESTFIELD WINS DAMP GAME FROM SUMMIT NINE

3 TO 0—FIELD IN BAD SHAPE—VISITORS PATCHED.

Some refrigerated breezes, a soggy atmosphere and a punky baseball game constituted the exhibit unpacked at the Westfield grounds Saturday afternoon. Among the other damp and dispiriting things on view was the Summit nine. Parson Denman's flock squeezed it for three runs. For Summit, nix.

The game went seven innings. Seventeen Westfielders, twelve Summit fanatics, three scorers, four newspapermen and a dog witnessed the tank drama. The Summit delegation furnished the enthusiasm, also it gave "Red" Waller an opportunity to demonstrate that he is right in the big league class, and up on all the new frills. Somebody in the Summit array of chivalry spoke lightly of "Red's" base-running, because he couldn't dodge four Summiteers between first and second.

"The first man that says anything to me," announced "Red" with the proper society accent, "will get it good and hard. I'll go into that stand and punch the man that says a thing to me, and anybody that takes his part."

Recognizing the niceties of polite custom, the Summit gentleman invited "Red" to try it, and hazarded the opinion that he might pull off the contract with a bat. Sections of the excited populace hung on the arms of both heroes, and forced a compromise. McGraw will probably sign "Red" next year. He has the proper New York idea.

Summit put a patched-up team in the field. Stabp, the regular catcher, was missing, and Rheinecker, a third-baseman, took his place. He didn't fill the absent athlete's shoes. Two of his throws to second went woozy, and let in as many runs.

Westfield scored in the second, third and fourth innings. The agricultural wonder, Hon. Rube Ramsay, was the Summit flinger. He was plunked with much freedom and verve. "Red" was a bit stiff, but after the first inning, when the visiting athletes walked and biffed themselves to perches at every corner, he held the Lackawanna leaguers in stern check. The field was in tough shape for footwork, and the fielding was just about and no more. It would be cruel and unusual to size up an enemy in the midst of a chill mudflat. Let us wait until they pirouet on dry land.

SNAP SHOTS.

A sample of the handsome menu cards used on the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railway System on Easter Sunday, has been received from Frank E. Miller, formerly of this city, but now superintendent of the dining service department of the above road. The card is printed in purple and white with a bunch of Easter lilies, and is in the form of a folder, tied with a piece of white ribbon. The menu is par excellent and includes the choicest viands in the market. The back cover is reserved for a picture of the familiar "Katy" girl. It is this service that has helped to make this railway famous and popular among travellers. The card is the work of the Lenox Manufacturing Company, which is associated with the Crescent Embossing Works, of this city.

Congressman Bingham, at a dinner of the Philadelphia Clover Club, spoke of modern life in the most optimistic vein.

"The world is growing better," he said. "Daily it becomes cleaner, kinder and more upright. Nearly everything makes for reform. Even the telephone has a tremendous reforming influence.

"Let me give you an example of the surprising effect that the telephone exercised over our morals.

"A certain man, at breakfast one morning, said to his wife:

"'My dear, I'll not be home to dinner tonight and you had better not sit up for me, as I shall be detained very late at the office posting my books.'

"'Very well,' the lady answered. "Before I go to bed I'll say good night to you over the telephone.'

"The man had forgotten, you see, that a telephone now connected his office and his house."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

MAE WOOD SUES LOEB

Says Senator Platt's Love Letters Were Taken by Force.

WANTS $35,000 AS DAMAGES.

Young Woman Was About to Publish a Book, "The Love Letters of a Boss"—Claims She Was Decoyed and Detained.

OMAHA, Neb., May 1.—Miss Mae C. Wood, an attorney of Omaha, who was once a clerk in the postoffice department at Washington, has filed in the district court a suit for damages of $35,000 against William Loeb, secretary to President Roosevelt; former Postmaster General Wynne, now consul to London, and J. Martin Miller, consul at Aix-la-Chapelle.

Miss Wood charges that the defendants by "force and threats" secured from her love letters which, she alleges, were written to her by Senator Platt of New York. These letters, she says in her charges, formed the basis of a book the manuscript for which she had completed and for the publication of which she had contracted with a publisher. Miss Wood alleges that former Postmaster General Wynne met her at a hotel in Washington, where he detained her for two days and by threats and force took from her the alleged love letters. She says Mr. Wynne was accompanied by two men, one of whom gave his name as Hummel.

The petition in part follows:

"That beginning about May 1, 1903, plaintiff had prepared as a literary production and for publication a manuscript entitled 'The Love Letters of a Boss,' which manuscript was largely made up from actual letters received by this plaintiff from a very prominent man in the United States senate (Senator T. C. Platt), seventy-one years old, and who pretended to be desperately in love with this plaintiff.

"That plaintiff had been engaged to marry said prominent elderly man and had received attentions from him which could only be excused on the ground of such engagement; that because of the conduct of said suitor the said engagement was about to be canceled on April 15, 1903.

"That for the purpose of trying to make an independent living in a literary field and as compensation for the peculiar humiliations and persecutions she had been subject to she determined to utilize such unfortunate and disagreeable experiences and publish the said book containing verbatim paragraph after paragraph of the silly love expressions contained in said letters which were mixed with political animosities and news, said manuscript also being prepared with an actual account of the replies thereto as near as it was possible for this plaintiff to remember.

"That said defendants, obtaining knowledge of plaintiff's intention to get out such book, conspired with each other and the author of said original letters or with the political enemies of the said author of said letters.

"That J. Martin Miller, who in reality was a detective, was engaged by the defendants to represent himself to plaintiff as an author and publisher and solicit the manuscript for said book, together with a contract to publish the same under his own name through publishers or friends in Philadelphia. That this plaintiff finally consented to enter into a publication contract with the said Miller for the publication of said book, 'The Love Letters of a Boss,' and surrendered the manuscript for said purpose of publication as aforesaid and for no other purpose. That the said Miller at the time of procuring said manuscript borrowed of this plaintiff $25 for expenses while in Philadelphia to superintend the publication of said book."

Miss Wood then states that while on her way to visit a sick relative she was decoyed by Miller to New York for the ostensible purpose of reading proof of the story. She alleges that no proof was forthcoming when she arrived, but that Miller, by intimidation and otherwise threatening, caused her to give up for the time her pursuit for the proofs. She says that Miller displayed a badge and demanded that she turn over letters written her by Senator Platt and Lillian T. Janeway. Fearing disgrace, she says, both to her family and to herself, she went to the New York Life building, accompanied by Miller and three other men, and delivered the letters and other papers to a man who represented himself to be Abraham H. Hummel.

Miss Wood says she was detained forcibly at a hotel for two days and that Miller persecuted her during the two days and finally forced her to sign papers which purported to be two receipts for $10,000 each and attached to affidavits reciting that she would not reveal anything that had occurred and would not in any way communicate with the parties to the transaction.

For all of which, Miss Wood says, she had been damaged to the extent of $35,000 and asks the court to render her a judgment to that amount.

AZIENZA

898 Second Place, Plainfield, N. J., October 29th, 1904.

Your AZIENZA certainly has wonderful healing properties. My cook had a deep and ugly looking fissure between two toes. It pained and annoyed her greatly. I did not know what it was nor do I now, but with some hesitancy I told her to try AZIENZA. She did so and it gave her instant relief from the pain. I then gave her the box and in a few days she told me that it was entirely healed. I shall not hesitate again to recommend its use for any sore or inflamed part of the skin.

damage suit. Mr. Loeb read the story carefully and remarked:

"It is just as I thought. I will have to get a bill of particulars to tell how I am connected with the case."

Mr. Loeb later said:

"The only knowledge I have of Miss Wood is in relation to her position in the postoffice department and the notoriety she brought to herself just prior to the marriage of Senator Platt of New York. She called up the White House and asked if she could see me. Assistant Secretary Barnes talked with her, and as her business did not seem to be important I declined to see her.

"That is all I know personally of the woman. I am at a loss to see where she gets my name into the action for damages."

CYCLONE AT LAREDO, TEX.

Twenty-one Killed In Mexican Quarter—Rio Grande In Flood.

HOUSTON, Tex., May 1.—Twenty-one persons are known to be dead and practically every building in Laredo was wrecked by a cyclone which swept over the border between 7 and 8 o'clock in the evening from the south. Two hotels were demolished.

The deaths are mainly in the Mexican quarter, which was entirely swept away. Two spans of the river bridge were carried away. Wires were all down until noon, when some connections were made.

An appeal to Governor Lanham was made, and a special train with supplies for the suffering was sent.

The Rio Grande is a raging torrent. A dozen bodies have been taken from the river miles below the town. They were thrown into it by the force of the wind. Tons of wreckage have been carried away by the river. The path of the cyclone was more than a mile in width, and it almost centered in the town.

Telegraphic communication with Mexico is still cut off, as is also communication to the lower country over the government military line. The worst is now over, and it will be but a few days when business will resume its usual course.

While a hundred persons were injured, it is not expected that any more deaths will result. The number of dead remains at twenty-one, of whom sixteen were killed in Laredo and five in New Laredo. It will be several months before the international footbridge can be reconstructed, and in the meantime the only means of reaching New Laredo, across the Rio Grande, will be by means of boats.

SUNDAY BASEBALL GAMES.

No Police Interference With Brooklyn-New York Match.

BROOKLYN, May 1.—That Sunday baseball is popular in Brooklyn was clearly evidenced. Thirty thousand people got inside of the Washington park inclosure, and fully 5,000 were left outside. There was no police interference, and the game, which was a snappy contest from beginning to end, resulted in a victory for the New York National league champions over Hanlon's men by a score of 5 to 3. The series, which was interrupted Saturday by a rainstorm, left the teams evenly divided as to honors, each side having won and lost two games.

St. Louis Lost to Pittsburg.

ST. LOUIS, May 1.—The Pittsburg Nationals took the opening game of the series from St. Louis in a game characterized by poor fielding of the home team. Taylor pitched a fair game, but his team mates were at the mercy of Leever, who allowed only four hits. Score, 10 to 4.

Detroit Was Shut Out.

CHICAGO, May 1.—The Detroit Americans suffered a shutout at the hands of the local team here by the score of 6 to 0. Chicago made no errors. White, for Chicago, pitched in perfect form, allowing the Detroit team but four hits, which were scattered.

Kept Boston Guessing.

UTICA, N. Y., May 1.—The Boston National league team was defeated here by the Utica State league team by a score of 4 to 2. Vowinkel pitched a fine game and kept Boston guessing. Not until the eighth could they score.

Error Saved a Shutout.

ST. LOUIS, May 1.—Hits by Stone and Koehler, following Bradley's error in the ninth, saved the St. Louis Americans from a shutout, Cleveland winning all the way easily by a score of 11 to 1.

Schwab Has Contract With Russia.

BERLIN, May 1.—Charles M. Schwab of New York, who is on his way from St. Petersburg to Luxemburg to visit the ironworks and who thence will return home, stopped over in Berlin for a day. In an interview Mr. Schwab said it was quite true that he had made a contract with the Russian government for warships, but that he considered it would be improper for him to talk about it.

GLOVERSVILLE, N. Y., May 1.—Harvey Ross, formerly publisher of the Gloversville Standard and until two and a half years ago editor and publisher of the Morning Herald, one of the ablest and best known Democratic newspaper men of his day in the state, is dead here, aged fifty-four years. He was postmaster of Gloversville for one term.

BOWEN IS RECALLED

President Orders Minister at Caracas to Washington.

LOOMIS MAKES COUNTERCHARGES.

Secretary Taft's Message to Bowen Ran, "If All Goes Well You May Return to the Diplomatic Service."

WASHINGTON, May 1.—A special dispatch from Caracas says that American Minister Herbert W. Bowen has been recalled to Washington by Secretary Taft, acting on orders from President Roosevelt, and will leave Caracas probably this day week.

Mr. Bowen has been summoned to Washington for explanations regarding charges which he has made against Assistant Secretary of State Loomis, who was his predecessor as American minister at Caracas.

Secretary Taft has received a cablegram from Minister Bowen at Caracas in response to the secretary's dispatch directing him to come to the United States in connection with the charges affecting Assistant Secretary Loomis. The minister acknowledges his willingness to come to the United States immediately, sailing today, but preferred that he be permitted to delay his departure from Caracas until the Monday following, so that he may have time to settle some matters before leaving. This arrangement was satisfactory to Secretary Taft, and permission was given the minister to delay his departure as requested.

Upon his arrival in Washington Mr. Bowen will be called upon to substantiate the charges he has made, and he must answer Mr. Loomis' countercharges.

Substantiation of his charges is the important question for Mr. Bowen, for upon it rests his future official life. If he cannot prove the charges, it is conceded on all sides he must leave the diplomatic service. If he does prove them, Mr. Loomis must leave.

Prior to the publication of the facts of the Venezuelan scandal it had been planned to recall Mr. Bowen and send him as minister to Chile.

While engaged on his errand to Washington Mr. Bowen will be practically out of the diplomatic service. If he comes cleanly out of the investigation he will according to present plans become minister to Chile and later ambassador to Brazil. If he fails to "make good" the president will decide what disposition shall be made of him, just as he will do with Mr. Loomis if the result of the investigation is the other way.

Mr. Loomis, who has been charged by Minister Bowen with turning his former post as minister to Venezuela to personal profit, has turned upon his accuser. He has filed with Secretary Taft charges that Mr. Bowen was responsible for the publication of the substance of the charges in the New York Herald.

Two cablegrams instructing Mr. Bowen to return to Washington were sent from Washington to Caracas. One was from Mr. Loomis "by direction of the president." It simply directed Mr. Bowen to leave his post for home.

The other message was signed by Secretary of War Taft. It directed Mr. Bowen to proceed home because of the filing of his charges against Mr. Loomis, the publication of the charges in the New York Herald, Mr. Loomis' sweeping denial, made in writing to Mr. Taft; Mr. Loomis' assertion that Mr. Bowen caused the publication of the charges and Mr. Loomis' demand that Mr. Bowen be called upon to substantiate the charges in person. The message concluded with these words:

"If all goes well you may return to the diplomatic service."

W. W. Russell, American minister to Colombia, has been ordered to go to Caracas to succeed Mr. Bowen.

It will take Mr. Russell at least three weeks and probably a month to close up his affairs in Bogota and get to Caracas, owing to the difficulties of travel and the infrequent calls of steamships at Cartagena.

Mine Disaster at Wilburton.

WILBURTON, Okla., May 1.—Thirteen miners were entombed and probably killed by an explosion in the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Coal company's mine, near Wilburton. Their bodies may not be recovered for several days. The men went into the shaft at midnight. Foreman William Ray of the shift that left the mine at that hour says that the mine was in good condition, and a gas explosion was hardly probable. His shift left a shot hanging, and this the new shift may have fired.

Dead Astride of His Wheel.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., May 1.—The dead body of Charles Johnson, his hands clutching the handles of a bicycle, was found in Tameacha pond, which is only four feet deep at the place where the body was discovered. Johnson's feet were entagled in the wheels of his machine, and it is probable that while riding at a rapid rate along the road bordering the pond his wheel slipped down the embankment and he was drowned before he could free himself.

Fatal Wreck on the Santa Fe.

BEAUMONT, Tex., May 1.—A double header train on the Santa Fe road struck a washout near Gilman Siding 125 miles north of Beaumont, overturning both engines and piling live stock into the ditch. Engineer D. D. Barfield and Fireman E. W. Broker, both of Beaumont, were killed, and G. W. Mitchell, engineer, and A. J. Connelly, fireman, also of this city, are thought to be fatally injured. Fifty head of cattle were killed.

The New York morning papers record the death of General Fitzhugh Lee while the Philadelphia Record extends the sympathy of the American people to him during his illness. "How far away is Philadelphia from New York," asked a foreigner. "About forty years," was the reply.

Residents of Columbus, Ohio, protest against naming a street in that city Roosevelt avenue on the ground that "there's no telling what he'll do before he dies." Just think: he might become president of the Equitable Life, found libraries, give away $100,000 to missions or do some other dreadful thing.

EASTER RALLY DAY AT HOPE CHAPEL

SUBSCRIBE $400 TO CHAPEL ADDITION FUND.

In place of the regular session at Hope chapel Sunday-school yesterday, the scholars held their annual Easter exercises. They consisted of songs and responsive readings by the entire school and recitations by the following girls: Alice Rimmer, Margaret Mortimer, Mary Duncan, Maud Mundy, Barbara Soblick, Mabel Hunter, Emma Edmunds, Emily Ryder and Jeanie Muir. Assistant Superintendent I. W. Travell gave an address.

For several months the scholars have been preparing for a special offering for the new primary room and this was taken by classes. It showed an aggregate of $268 70, after which an additional contribution of $140 was made by the Young Men's Association through President William N. Runyon. The total amount in hand for the purpose lacks $54 of $1,500 and when this is secured, a member of the chapel will give $500, making the total amount needed.

The result was a source of great satisfaction to Superintendent Squires and his assistants and it is hoped to commence work on the new addition within a short time. The service closed with prayer and benediction by Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie.

gallery and 60 feet to the roof, which will be raised over it, ten feet higher than at present. The dressing rooms will be strictly up-to-date and will be located below the stage, while the electrician and property rooms will be on the stage floor.

Every precaution has been taken to provide for the safety of patrons and to that end five large exits will lead from the orchestra. The appointments will be handsome and the smoking rooms for men and retiring rooms for women will rank with those in the metropolitan playhouses. There will be no boxes on the orchestra floor but two will be placed on each side of the balcony with separate stairways leading to them. By the terms of the agreement, the Elks are to have the theatre two nights in the year, one for their memorial service and the other for a dramatic entertainment.

In speaking to a Daily Press reporter today, Mr. Gelatt stated that he would be in charge of the house at the opening and that he would put on one or two strictly first class shows at a moderate price through the week and on Saturday nights a popular drama. After things were in shape Mr. Counihan, he said, would have personal supervision. Both of these men are well known in the theatrical world and in the opinion of both their plan to provide amusement for Plainfielders will meet with success.

LIGHTENS WOMAN'S WORK.

The Bissell Carpet Sweeper is without question the greatest labor-saving machine of the age, as it has relieved woman of one of the hardest tasks she has to perform. Sweeping is no longer dreaded by the woman possessing a Bissell sweeper, as it not only reduces the labor of sweeping, but it saves backaches, brightens and preserves the carpets, prevents the dust and dangerous carpet germs from floating about the room and settling upon the furniture and draperies or from filling the lungs of the operator, thus making the task of sweeping a pleasure. In the matter of economy alone, no housekeeper can afford to be without a Bissell, as one will outlast forty brooms.

Every Bissell Sweeper is Guaranteed.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

Miss Amy Sampson is enjoying her maiden experience as a school-ma-am in Bound Brook. Her class work has run very smoothly. Arrangements for the entertainment to be held tomorrow night have been made. The complete programme will be as follows: Overture, Ladies' Orchestra; recital, "Tom's Race," Burgess, Miss Augusta Grimm; quartette, selected, Misses Etta Raybert, Jessie Haynes, W. S. Haselton, W. Lapham, Jr; dramatic recital, selected, Miss Grimm; soprano solo, selected, Miss Raybert; recital, "Gentian," Wilkins, Miss Grimm; Operatic Echoes, Laurendeau, orchestra; humorous recital, selected, Miss Grimm; bass solo, "Asthore," Mr. Lapham; recital, "An Interrupted Honeymoon," Miss Grimm; quartette, "Good Night, Beloved," Miss Raybert, Miss Haynes, Mr. Haselton, Mr. Lapham; selections, a "Sparkling Waves," b "Centurion Two Step," orchestra. After the entertainment, a social hour, with refreshments, will be enjoyed.

The Borough Council will have a number of important matters before it at the regular monthly meeting tonight. The macadamizing bids will be received and a petition to change the grade of Dunellen avenue at Washington avenue will come up. The question of allowing the firemen $12 a year may be discussed.

It is the National Building and Loan Co., of Newark, which owns five houses in Lincoln, and not Lincoln itself, of which J. W. Gifford is receiver. Mr. Gifford is endeavoring to sell the houses to Plainfield investors.

The fourth and eighth year classes of the borough schools will graduate May 13; commencement exercises for the other grades will be held May 15. The Piscataway commencement will be held June 14.

At the Council meeting tonight there is a possibility that the question of a new dog ordinance will be discussed. There is a more or less general demand for one.

Taking advantage of the fine walking weather, a hundred or more pleasure seekers inspected the new gravity railroad at the crusher yesterday.

The game scheduled between the New Market and O. F. C. Club was postponed Saturday on account of wet grounds.

All of Charles Rogers' boats have been repainted. The fleet is ready for the season's activities.

The household goods of Elmer Snyder have been shipped to Somerville, his new home.

William Tabb, of Port Richmond, visited friends in the village yesterday.

The regular meeting of Court Dunellen, I. O. F., will be held tonight.

Daniel Moody has completed the improvements at the Hotel Thornton.

Charles Maltby bagged two wild ducks near the village last week.

Benjamin Pixie is recovernig from his recent illness.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The adjourned case of Snyder against Moffett was tried in Justice Clark's court Saturday morning. The case involved a claim for damages; Snyder and Moffett being neighbors together in the double house on Westfield avenue, the property of Mrs. John G. Cook. Snyder's agreement in renting the place gave him control of nearly all the backyard. Moffett began making certain changes about the property, claiming an equal right in the amount of property rented. This led to trouble and a suit for damages. The court decided that Snyder's lease gave him control of the yard, so rendered a verdict for $50 annd costs of court.

The speeding of automobiles through the streets of the town is getting more dangerous and reckless every day. Sunday seems to be the one particular day when the drivers of the "red devils" take delight in scaring pedestrians crossing the streets, or horsemen out for a drive. The long drawn out case of the Township against Herman Unger, of Newark, seemed to put an end to local arests for breaking the speed law.

But few of the fans braved the weather to see the game at Westfield Saturday afternoon between Manager Denman's team and the Summit team. "Onie" Cruzius, formerly short stop for the locals, covers the same territory for Summit. Westfield won the game, 8 to 0. The P. A. C.-Chatham game at Crescent Oval was called off.

A match game between two of the borough's most enthusiastic golfers was played yesterday on the links of the Westfield Club near Graceland.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew G. Carpenter, of Plainfield, were the guests Sunday of William C. Stanbery, of Mountain avenue.

The Ladies' Circle held a business meeting at the close of the morning service at the Baptist church yesterday.

LeRoy Cook, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Edward L Hand, has returned to his home in New York.

Miss Nancy Wade, of Milburn, spent Saturday and Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Abram Wade.

The younger members of the borough social set held an informal dance Saturday night in the fire house.

Mr. and Mrs. William Sharp, of Front street, entertained friends from New York over Sunday.

Berkely Heights opened the Sunday baseball season yesterday with a game with the Garwoods.

The 'Plains bowlers took two of the three games rolled against the Suburbans Friday night.

Frank Anson, who has been spending two weeks at Coxsackie, N. Y., has returned.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Clark, of Bartle avenue, Saturday morning.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The New Market Grange, No. 152, lately organized, installed its officers at its last meeting on Thursday last. It will meet regularly in Friendship Hall on the second and fourth Thursday of the month. This organization will no doubt interest many of the farmers of Piscataway township.

It is said that Middlesex County stands second among the twenty-one counties of the State in improved roads. The Freeholders at their last meeting decided to buy crushed stone to put the roads in repair, and some of them need it badly.

Several drunks navigated the best they could about the streets yesterday. They were strangers. The interesting question is where do they buy liquor on Sunday?

The weekly prayer meeting for tomorrow night, in the lecture room of the Baptist church, will be a Sunday-school and young people's meeting.

Pupils who attend the Plainfield schools from here have ended their Easter vacation, and started to school again this morning.

RUSSIA'S WEAKNESS

Army Trader's Story of Mukden Defeat.

WANT OF DISCIPLINE IN CZAR'S ARMY

Drunkenness and Thievery on the Part of Officers Graphically Portrayed by an Eyewitness of Muscovites' Great Retreat.

LONDON, May 1.—The following story of the retreat from Mukden by an army trader with the Russian forces, who tells very graphically of incidents in the great defeat of Kuropatkin's army, has been received here:

"I went with the retreat to Tie pass. I saw it all. I don't want any more. I knew that the retreat was coming. I've seen 'em before. I saw the Boers clear out of Pretoria. I know the signs. The Russian officers jeered when I suggested such a thing, but I knew. They were packing their stores, getting their papers together in the various offices. Trunks, boxes, valises of all sorts, were ready to be sent off at a moment's notice. They tried to keep up their bluff until the very last. Cherchoff, the head of the gendamerie, was a bad one. We had to get our passes from him. We left our passports in his office, and he gave us a permit to stay a week, ten days, two weeks, as the case might be, until we sold our milk or brandy, whatever it was. Sometimes we had to pay, sometimes not. If Cherchoff sized us up as easy it went badly with us, otherwise we got off with only a small squeeze. Just the day before the evacuation commenced Cherchoff charged two Greeks $500 apiece for two weeks' permit and then cleared out at midnight, leaving the men without their passes.

"There was another fellow in the commissary office who gave a dinner one night. 'We have been successful,' he boasted in his after dinner speech. 'The Japanese are in retreat. Maybe they will make a stand at Liaoyang, maybe not. I do not think they will. I say they are demoralized. Long live the czar! You see, you said we should retreat. Look at me. I was frightened too. I sent my things to the station. Today I have brought them all back. See!' And he pointed to his hallway, full of trunks and boxes. He was very drunk, but he left that night for the north. It was for that purpose he had packed his boxes.

"All during the week's fighting, from the time the Russians first heard the Japanese guns to the west of Mukden, their preparations for flight had been going on. Commissary trains trundled north. Files of men moved slowly out of the city, gun teams dragged the cannon away one after the other.

"In Mukden many were drunk. Officers came in from the front, went to the restaurants and drank themselves stupid. Chinese servants threw their masters into their carts like so much wood and started them on their journey north. Officers and men, senseless with vodka, were piled in the waiting trains. When the news came that the railway had been cut the retreat began in good earnest. The Russian army was working north in five columns, the great mass of infantry in the center, the men struggling along as best they could. The advance was under fairly good control, but the men were more and more demoralized toward the rear.

"We went with them, for we still had some goods in Tie pass—champagne, brandy, sugar and preserved fruits.

"The artillerymen abandoned gun after gun. The ice was already weakening in the smaller streams and the heavy carriages crashed through as they slid and bumped across. No one thought of trying to drag them out again. The gun teams were hurried on and hitched up somewhere else or seized by the men who had been riding on the caissons. They rode off, leaving everything to the enemy, oftentimes two on a horse. Sometimes the rider would give his mount to a couple of wounded and lead the beast himself. Many field pieces were rolled into the gullies, others tumbled through holes in the ice.

"Only once did I see any evidence of authority. A party of Cossacks in a side street found a Chinese beggar whom they thought was a Japanese spy. They set upon and yanked at his pigtail till it came off. Then they tried to carry him away. The man clutched the spokes of a passing cart. He refused to let go his grip. The Russians tore his clothes from his back in their efforts to drag him off. He would not let go. They drew their swords and hacked his hands off at the wrists. The man turned upon them, kicking and biting, waving his arm stumps. He seized a Cossack's hand in his teeth and bit the fingers off. Crazed with pain, the Russian drew his sword with his left hand and stabbed the Chinaman, a companion slashed at him from the other side and nearly severed his head from his body. A third man finished the work half done, and the body was dragged to the company headquarters. The Russian commander stood the bloodstained soldiers in the yard and shot them down for killing the Chinaman. All four bodies were left uncared for.

"The town was in a turmoil. We couldn't get hold of any of our stores. It was hopeless. More troops were coming in. Mistchenko was out on the Russian flank with 6,000 cavalry and a couple of batteries. Splendid men they were too. He is lazy, Mistchenko, or he would have done something. He had his headquarters in a little village under a hill. All about him in the plain were the cavalry patrols, sometimes ten, sometimes fifty, sometimes a hundred men. The whole plain was alive with them. We managed at last to get through to Fakuman."

JAPAN HONORS HER DEAD.

Soldiers and Sailors' Names Who Died For Japan Enshrined.

TOKYO, May 1.—With elaborate ceremony, beginning Wednesday and ending Friday, the names of 30,866 soldiers and sailors of Japan killed prior to the battle of Mukden will be enshrined in the Spokonsha temple.

Many kinsmen and kinswomen of the victims of the war are assembling in Tokyo to participate in the ceremony and are being shown special consideration. They will be the special guests of the government.

The flags of the Russian cruiser Variag, which was sunk in the first naval battle of the war, and a standard captured at Mukden are on exhibition in the temple. The emperor and empress of Japan will attend the ceremony on Thursday, and the crown prince and princess will be present on Friday.

The ceremony is based on the national belief in the immortality of the soul and the homage due to ancestors.

JEFFERSON BURIED.

Veteran Actor's Simple Obsequies Near Buzzards Bay.

BUZZARDS BAY, Mass., May 1.—Following services that were free from ostentation but impressive in simplicity and suggestive of the character of the distinguished actor, the body of Joseph Jefferson was on Sunday afternoon laid away at the Bayview cemetery in Sandwich, within walking distance of the cottages of many of his Cape Cod friends.

Mr. Jefferson's five sons, a score of intimate friends and a hundred or more villagers gathered about the open grave while the commitment service was read, then all withdrew with the exception of Charles B. Jefferson, who alone watched the casket as it was lowered to its last resting place.

Last night a police officer remained at the grave, and this guard will be continued for several days.

At 11 o'clock in the morning a brief service was held at Crow's Nest, the Jefferson summer cottage here. Only immediate relatives and intimate friends were present. The train from Boston brought twenty-five friends in addition to those who were already here. The former included Richard Watson Gilder, editor of the Century, and E. A. Taft of Boston, president of the New York and Boston Dispatch. Former president Grover Cleveland, one of Mr. Jefferson's closest friends, was unable to be here.

The casket had been placed in the library and was banked on all sides by magnificent floral tributes. There were pieces from the Players' club of New York and the Bohemian club of San Francisco, the Old Colony club of Sandwich, of which Mr. Jefferson was long the president; Mme. Modjeska, Richard Harding Davis and from well known actors and actresses in all parts of the country.

The services opened with the reading by Dr. Edward A. Horton of Boston, chaplain of the state senate, of Mr. Jefferson's favorite poem, Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar." Without attempting an eulogy Dr. Horton then referred briefly to the simple life and kindly deeds of the actor. A prayer concluded the service, and the casket was immediately placed in a funeral carriage preparatory to its removal to the cemetery at Sandwich, a distance of eight miles. There were no honorary pallbearers, the acting pallbearers being Glen MacDonough and Charles J. Rolfe, who married granddaughters of Mr. Jefferson; Samuel Phelleps, Mr. Jefferson's former stage manager; Carl Kettler, his personal attendant; Richard Watson Gilder, Edward Black, Dr. George Barry and J. A. Walker.

The women of the family, greatly fatigued by the ordeal of the past few days, did not go to the grave.

At the grave, which had been prepared in the lot purchased by Charles B. Jefferson at the suggestion of his father two years ago, the flowers which had been brought from Crow's Nest were arranged in a way to quite conceal the casket from view.

Here the services were brief. Dr. Horton read the Unitarian burial service, then withdrawing with the mourners and their friends, leaving Charles B. Jefferson alone for a time with the dead.

Match King Sued at Akron.

AKRON, O., May 1.—Mrs. Spillman Riggs, prominent in musical circles of this city, has sued O. C. Barber, the match king, for $1,000, alleged to be due on a subscription for the new organ placed in Music hall. The suit has caused a great deal of social sensation here. Mrs. Riggs says Mr. Barber gave her a subscription for the money and has refused to pay. Mr. Barber says the subscription was obtained under false pretences.

MILLINERY NOTES.

Small Hats Require Piquant Faces and Smartly Coiffured Heads.

On a small, piquant face and with a beautifully neat coiffure the small hats of the season are very fetching, but the majority of women have to be careful how they adopt millinery of this kind. Modifications both in the tilt and in the height of the bandeau will have to be employed and the width of the brim graduated in accordance with the shape of the head and the manner in which the hair is arranged for these shapes to be successfully worn.

These small hats should not be overtrimmed. Indeed, a few bunches of flowers where the brim curves or a rosette or so of ribbon is sufficient.

A delightful little morning hat is a close fitting turban in two shades of brown straw, with a little piping of brown velvet. A knot of velvet appears in the front of the model, which is tilted with a rather exaggerated incline over the eyes. Two shaded brown feathers at the back come low on the hair.

As the season advances there will be an attempt to revive the mushroom shape in a small size, trimmed with a folded scarf of embroidered gauze or fine lawn and a high bandeau of dark colored ribbon or velvet.

The hat illustrated is of leaf green straw. The brim is a double affair, between the edges of which are placed tiny button pink roses and their foliage. About the low crown is a twist of shaded green and rose ribbon, which ties in two smart bows at the side of the hat where it is slightly indented.

STYLES FOR WEE FOLKS.

Openwork Embroidery For Tub Frocks—Picturesque Sleeves.

The tub frock for "very best" wear is of openwork embroidery for tots of from three to six or seven years. They are made with a long bodice and short standing out skirts. A noticeable model designed for girls from six to ten years is arranged with the dearest little directoire coat of fine linen over an underdress of flimsy embroidered muslin, with soft falling collar and sleeve ruffles of embroidery.

Sleeves in juvenile modes are as startling in their development as in the new grownup gowns. For coats they are large picturesque affairs, with the fullness at the top all gathered into the seams. This sleeve stamps a model as of the hour.

On frocks the elbow puff sleeve is carrying all before it, and short sleeves and slightly decollete necks are coming into vogue for baby girls.

In hats there is a strong feeling for bonnets of the most fascinating description.

A tuscan model, for example, is in a sunburnt tint, wreathed with roses and raised off the face by a bandeau that is softly ruffled with pink chiffon.

The little manikin this spring will wear the comfortable loose coat of the Russian blouse style in pale blue cloth, belted with a white kid band and arranged with three shoulder capes, crowned by a Napoleon hat of blue straw.

The dainty costume in the cut is a directoire frock for a tot of seven years. A dainty little tricorne hat of white chip trimmed with slightly curled ostrich tips is the smart piece of headgear that goes with the dress.

WHAT IS WORN.

The Short Skirt Is Seen on the Street and In the Ballroom.

There is a perfect craze for the short skirt. This spring all materials are suitable to be made up into the short skirt styles, and the most elaborate lines—cloth, veiling, silk, muslin, linen, lace embroidery—are all treated alike. For evening wear silks, satins, gauzes, nets, tulles and chiffons share the same fate.

In pongee, linen and taffeta costumes with plaited skirts and either short or three-quarter jackets the short skirts are by far the smartest.

The short skirt for dancing has come into favor, and there is much to rec ommend it. But for dinner gowns, which are just as elaborate and expensive, the long train is required.

Fancy buttons will play a prominent part on severe tailored gowns. Gold, silver, enamel, rhinestones and sometimes real jewels are being used.

The smart gown illustrated is of dotted taffeta silk. The skirt is box plaited, and just above the knees the plaits flare out and a knife plaited fan is inserted. Holding the box plaits in place are embroidered designs worked in silk and a rounded pattern done in braid.

FASHION'S FOIBLES.

Photograph Garter Buckles—Wash Silk Petticoats Are Dainty.

Jewelers say that one of the most salable of their novelties just now is a garter buckle in the shape of a locket which opens and discloses either the picture of one's fiance or some cherished friend or relative. These buckles are favorite bridesmaid gifts at smart spring weddings and in dull Roman gold are very handsome.

Wash silk petticoats are to be worn with dainty summer dresses. A charming model is of white liberty silk trimmed with two graduating flounces of accordion plaiting in which insertions of lace are inset.

Accordion plaited skirt flounces are not possible to launder, and where a skirt is to be "tubbed" they should be avoided.

A sensible as well as pretty way to make a wash silk petticoat is to trim it with a deep gathered flounce of the material edged with a ruffle of three inch val. In the center front of the ruffle is embroidered a spray of cherry blossoms.

Voile in the softest of grays is charming made up over opalescent silk, which is also used as a trimming on the gown, possibly deep flounce and girdle and long narrow strips, which hang in panel effect down the back and resemble sash ends.

Serge messaline is a new material with all the luster of silk and the weave of serge.

The inexpensive petticoat illustrated is of mohair at the top. It is perfectly fitted about the hips and extends to the knees. At this point begins a series of plaited ruffles of silk. A beading insertion threaded with narrow satin ribbon conceals the union of the flounce with the skirt.

Kate Bonnet

The Romance of a Pirate's Daughter

By FRANK R. STOCKTON

Copyright, 1905, by D. Appleton & Co., New York.

He made a very good speech, a better one than that delivered when he first took real command of the Revenge after sailing out of the river at Bridgetown, and it was listened to with respectful and earnest interest. In brief manner he explained to all on board that he had thrown to the winds all idea of merchandising or privateering; that his pardon and his ship's clearance were of no value to him except he should happen to get into some uncomfortable predicament with the law; that he had no idea of sailing towards St. Thomas, but intended to proceed up the coast to burn and steal and rob and slay wherever he might find it convenient to do so; that he had brought the greater part of his crew from the desert island where Blackbeard had left them because he knew that they were stout and reckless fellows, just the sort of men he wanted for the piratical cruise he was about to begin; and that, in order to mislead any government authorities who by land or sea might seek to interfere with him, he had changed the name of the good old Revenge to the Royal James, while its captain, once Stede Bonnet, was now to be known on board and everywhere else as Capt. Thomas, with nothing against him. He concluded by saying that all that had been done on that ship from the time she first hoisted the black flag until the present moment was nothing at all compared to the fire and the blood and the booty which should follow in the wake of that gallant vessel, the Royal James, commanded by Capt. Thomas.

The men looked at each other, but did not say much. They were all pirates, although few of them had regularly started out on a piratical career, and there was nothing new to them in this sort of piratical dishonor. So whenever Stede Bonnet chose to run up the Jolly Roger, he might do it for all they cared.

Poor Ben Greenway sat apart, his head bowed upon his hands.

"You seem to be in a bad case, old Ben," said Bonnet, gazing down upon him, "but you throw yourself into needless trouble. As soon as I lay hold of some craft which I am willing shall go away with a sound hull, I will put you on board of her and let you go back to the farm. I will keep you no longer among these wicked people, Ben Greenway, and in this wicked place."

Ben shook his head. "I started wi' ye an' I stay wi' ye," said he, "an' I follow ye to the very gates o' hell, but farther than that, Master Bonnet, I willna go; at the gates o' hell I leave ye!"

CHAPTER XXXII.

A CHAPTER OF HAPPENINGS.

FOR happiness with a flaw in it, it was a very fair happiness which now hung over the Delaplaine home near Spanish Town.

The old home life began again, although it was a very quiet life. Dickory went into Mr. Delaplaine's counting-house, but it was hard for the young man to doff the naval uniform which had been bestowed upon him by Blackbeard, for he knew he looked very well in it, and everybody else thought so and told him so; but it could not be helped, and with all convenient speed he discarded his cocked hat and all the rest of it, and clothed himself in the simple garb of a merchant's clerk, although it might be said, that in all the West Indies, at that day, there was no clerk so good-looking as was Dickory. Dame Charter was so thankful that her boy had come safely through all his troubles, so proud of him, and so eminently well satisfied with his present position, that she asked nothing of her particular guardian angel but that Stede Bonnet might stay away. At other times of piracy, that man came back, as his relatives wished him to do, the good dame was sure he would make mischief of some sort, and as like as not in the direction of her dickory.

About this time there came a letter from Barbadoes, which was of great interest to everybody in the household. It was from Master Martin Newcombe, and of course was written to Kate, but she read many portions of it to the others. The first part of the epistle was not read aloud, but it was very pleasant for Kate to read it to herself. This man was a close lover and an ardent one. Whatever had happened to her fortunes, nothing had interfered with his affection; whatever he had said he still bravely stood by, and to whatever she had objected in the way of obstacles he had paid no attention whatever.

In the parts of the letter read to her uncle and the others, Master Newcombe told how, not having heard from them for so long, he had been beginning to be greatly troubled, but the arrival of the Black Swan, which, after touching at Kingston, had continued her course to Barbadoes, had given him new life and hope; and it was his intention, as soon as he could arrange his affairs, to come to Jamaica, and there say by word of mouth and do, in his own person, so much for which a letter was totally inadequate. The thought of seeing Kate again made him tremble as he walked through his fields. This was read inadvertently, and Dickory frowned. Dame Charter frowned too. She had never supposed that Master Newcombe would come to Spanish Town; she had always looked upon him as a very worthy young farmer; so worthy that he would not neglect his interest by traveling about to other islands than his own. She did not know exactly how her son felt about all this, nor did she like to ask him, but Dickory saved her the trouble.

"If that Newcombe comes here," he said, "I am going to fight him."

"What!" cried his mother. "You would not do that. That would be terrible; it would ruin everything."

"Ruin what?" he asked.

His mother answered diplomatically. "It would ruin all your fine opportunities in this family."

Dickory smiled with a certain sarcastic hardness. "I don't mean," said he, "that I am going to hack at him with a sword, because neither he nor I properly know how to use swords, and after the wonderful practice that I have seen, I would not want to prove myself a bungler even if the other man were a worse one. No, indeed, I mean to fight with him by all fair means to gain the hand of my dear Kate. I love her, and I am far more worthy of her than he is. He is not a well-disposed man, being rough and inconsiderate in his speech." Dickory had never forgiven the interview by the river bank when he had gone to see Madam Bonnet. "And as to his being a stout lover, he is none of it. Had he been that, he would long ago have crossed the little sea between Barbadoes and here."

"Do you mean, you foolish boy," exclaimed Dame Charter, "to say that you presume to love our Mistress Kate?" And her eyes glowed upon him with all the warmth of a mother's pride, for this was the wish of her heart, and never absent from it.

"Ay, mother," said Dickory, "I shall fight for her; I shall show her that I am worthier than he is and that I love her better. I shall even strive for her if that mad pirate comes back and tries to overset everything."

"Oh, do it before that!" cried Dame Charter, anxiety in every wrinkle. "Do it before that!"

Mr. Delaplaine was a little troubled by the promised visit from Barbadoes. He had heard of Master Newcombe as being a most estimable young man, but the fault about him, in his opinion, was that he resided not in Jamaica. For a long time the good merchant had lived his own life, with no one to love him, and he now had with him his sister's child, whom he had come to look upon as a daughter, and he did not wish to give her up. It was true that it might be possible, under favorable pressure, to induce young Newcombe to come to Jamaica and settle there, but this was all very vague. Had he had his own way, he would have driven from Kate every thought of love or marriage until the time when his new clerk, Dickory Charter, had become a young merchant of good standing, worthy of such a wife. Then he might have been willing to give Kate to Dickory, and Dickory would have given her to him, and they might have all been happy. That is, if that hare-brained Bonnet did not come home.

GOOD ROADS NEEDED

NO MATTER OF GREATER INTEREST TO THE FARMER.

Manufacturers of Bicycles and Automobiles Pushing the Agitation—Aid of Federal Government Long a Vexed Question.

One of the burning questions of the day, which has behind it strong influences and apparently an increasing popular sentiment, is that of government aid in making good roads throughout the country.

This proposition is supported by many financial interests, also by manufacturers of bicycles and automobiles, in addition to the manifest interest which the farmers and the business men of towns and villages necessarily feel in the subject. Automobile and bicycle manufacturers favor the measure because good roads contribute to the extension of their trade, and are therefore profitable. Their support comes as a simple business proposition, and joins with other influences to advance the cause.

The propriety of the federal government entering into this scheme is widely questioned, but there are cogent arguments in its favor. If a merchant cannot send his goods upon the waterways of the nation, on account of shallows or sand-bars, the government removes the obstructions without expense to the merchant. If farm products cannot be brought readily from the farm to town, on account of impassable roads, why, it is asked, should not the government extend a helping hand? Local methods, long tried, are found to be inadequate. The almost universal habit of allowing the farmers to work out their road tax, instead of paying it in money, results probably in a loss of at least 50 per cent. of the nominal amount of such tax.

The plan proposed by bills now pending in congress is cooperation between the national, state and county governments. Provision is made for an appropriation of $25,000,000, to be distributed among the states on condition that they respectively provide for at least an equal amount. Thus if the share of one state should be $1,000,000, it must provide at least another million. The state in return offers to each county its share, conditioned on its raising at least one-third as much. By this means every dollar furnished from the United States treasury will, it is assumed, secure as a rule, nearly three dollars, cash expenditure, on the roads. As this expenditure is to be made under the inspection and supervision of government officials, the supposition is that the best possible results will be derived therefrom.

The value of good wagon roads to the commerce of a country must be conceded, when we remember that 95 per cent. of all the trade handled by the railroads and steamships is first carted over the country roads. Hence the enormous aggregate waste, due to the fact that it may require four horses to haul a load which two horses should haul if the roads were good, or that it requires two days to haul what could be transported in one day—the farmer thus giving one-half his time, so employed, to the bad roads cause.

It is estimated that the average farmer loses at least $100 a year to the cause of bad roads. This injures not alone the farmer but the village storekeeper, because the farmer might earn $300 a year more and have that much more to spend.

If one were called upon to decide which of the great American industries had in the last 40 years been most favorably affected by legislation, he would be obliged to say that farming was that industry. Much of this legislation has been only of indirect benefit, but it has all resulted in the farmer's favor, from the railroad subsidies, which open up vast territories for settlements, to the tariff schedules, which have amazingly developed our manufacturing interests, and made home markets for agricultural products. All this favorable legislation has been of benefit to the whole people as well as to the farmer. Now if by improving the common roads of the country, another direct and manifest benefit can be conferred upon the agricultural population, who is there so blind to the general welfare as to interpose an objection?

START GOLF SEASON IN DRIZZLING RAIN

COMPETITIONS FOR TROPHIES BEGIN DESPITE WEATHER.

Although the day was far from being propitious for the opening of the active season of the Plainfield Country Club on Saturday, the initial play in the scheduled events brought out a good field and some excellent scores were returned. The course, aside from being rather wet and soggy in places, was in good condition, all of the regular greens being in use. Some pleasant weather will have a tendency to make the course one of the best in the Metropolitan district.

Many of the members visited the clubhouse and nothing but praise was heard for the improvements made since the close of last season. The addition gives much needed room and the other conveniences will be greatly appreciated. In view of the strong list of attractions this season and the large increases in membership, it is believed that the clubhouse will have to be enlarged again during the year to accommodate all, and it is one of the desires of the officers that it will be made an all-the-year-round place of amusement.

The chief event on Saturday was the commencement of play for the Golf Committee cup, weekly competition, on the point system. Julius E. Erickson won the first three points, Henry D. Hibbard two points while H. R. Stockton and S. D. Lounsbery divided the one remaining point. In addition to this there was as an opening day event, play for cups, for the best gross and best net scores. Mr. Erickson won the cup for the best net score, while W. L. Glenney won the best gross score cup. All of the contestants showed up well in the game and it is predicted that low scores will be the rule.

In all there were about twenty entries, and although a majority did not return their scores, this does not mean that they played poorly. The leading scores posted were as follows:

Julius E. Erickson, 89, 10—79; H. D. Hibbard, 86, 6—80; H. R. Stockton, 90, 8—82; S. D. Lounsbery, 88, 6—82; W. L. Glenney, 81, plus 2—83.

These scores were returned at the Westfield Golf Club on Saturday in the monthly handicap play: M. Whitlatch, 80, 0—80; E. B. Floyd, 93, 12—81; A. D. Hammann, 82, 1—81; A. R. Whitman, 87, 3—84; H. W. Gladwin, 104, 14—90.

Owing to the disagreeable weather there was no play in the weekly competition at the Park Golf Club.

LEALS, 13; CARTERET, 3.

The Leal's School nine defeated the Carteret Academy boys in a game of baseball in this city on Saturday, by the score of 13 to 3. The home team outplayed the visitors both at the bat and in the field. Jewett, pitching for Leals, allowed but three hits, while Sinclair was touched for nine singles. The score by innings:

NEW SUPREME COURT IS OPENED

Fitting Ceremony in Handsome County Structure, at Which Mr. Marsh Speaks.

PORTRAIT PRESENTED

R. V. Lindabury Makes Speech in Giving Justice VanSyckle's Picture to County—Chancellor Magie's Address.

Under auspicious circumstances the first session of the Supreme Court was held in the new Court House, Elizabeth, this morning, with a large attendance of county and State notables. Judge Fort presided. Craig A. Marsh, of this city, president of the Union County Bar Association, was the first speaker, representing that organization. Chancellor Magie, who is the only living member who attended the opening of the old Court House in 1856, made a masterly and scholarly address in retrospection. He also spoke of the legal aspect of the county.

R. V. Lindabury, Esq., made the speech in presenting the portrait of Judge VanSyckle to the Board of Freeholders. Judge VanSyckle responded with a few words of thanks, after which Judge Vail spoke briefly. Among those present was H. K. Cannon, the first collector of Union County.

In his speech, Mr. Marsh spoke as follows:

"May it please the court:

"This is the first formal opening of all the courts in the new Court House. It is an important event in the history of the county, and, as I trust your Honors will agree with me, should not be allowed to pass unnoticed.

"In all ages, men have instinctively marked important public events by appropriate ceremonies. By this means, our minds are led to the contemplation of the significance of great events; our nobler impulses are quickened; clamors of self-seeking are silenced; and reflection on the lives and characters of men who have made the past illustrious, inspires us all to loftier ideals.

"A striking recognition of the importance of the event which has brought us together is to be found in the presence here today of perhaps the most distinguished public assemblage Union County has ever known, and the determination to make the occasion still more memorable by linking with it a permanent tribute to a living jurist whom we all delight to honor.

"Architecturally, the new Court House well comports with the high purposes which it is to serve. It used to be said that men holding political office in this country were invariably destitute of artistic sense, and their public buildings monostrosities. But I know of no Court House on either side of the Atlantic that for fair proportions, dignity, strength, architectural beauty and adaptability to the purposes for which it was designed, is the superior of this new Court House of Union County. Completing their work within the time originally stipulated, and within the original appropriation, and without a breath of scandal, those who were charged by the people with the duty of erecting this building, have proved that they were worthy of the trust. They realized that they were building not for present purposes only, nor merely for those who are now living, but for their children and their childrens' children. They were building a temple of justice, and they resolved that so far as was humanly possible, its walls should endure as long as the eternal principles of justice here to be administered shall endure. In the words of Emerson the 'Mountain of granite blooms into an eternal flower.'

"But this occasion has a special significance for the bar—those who have been commissioned by the State to assist the courts as their officers in the administration of justice. Do we members of the bar sufficiently realize that we are such officers? Is there danger that in the increasingly eager strife for wealth, our noble profession may become a mere money-getting trade? Are we doing our full share toward preserving the traditions of the bar toward maintaining the high ideals of those Union County lawyers who in times past lent

F. A. DABOLL WEDS A PHILADELPHIAN

FORMER PLAINFIELDER MARRIES MRS. MARY M. WALKER AT OVERBROOK.

Frederic Allyn Daboll, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Daboll, of Plainfield, was married on Saturday evening last to Mrs. Margaret May Walker at her residence at Overbrook, a suburb of Philadelphia; the Rev. Dr. S. M. Vernon, of that city, being the officiating clergyman. The bride, who was unattended, was given away by her brother, Dr. W. C. Mitchell, of Philadelphia. She was handsomely gowned in white lace, and carried a large bouquet of orchids and lilies-of-the-valley.

Morgan W. Daboll, brother of the bridegroom, and a resident of this city, acted as best man. The wedding although quiet, was a beautifully appointed one, and the house was most tastefully decorated for the occasion. A reception followed the ceremony, after which the happy couple departed for a trip southward. The bridal gifts were many and beautiful.

Mr. Daboll is manager for the Philadelphia branch of the house of Charles Warner Company. He is a graduate of the Plainfield High School and of Lehigh University.

JUMPED FROM ORE CAR ON MOUNTAIN SLOPE

DUNELLEN MAN'S NARROW ESCAPE ON STONE CRUSHER SHORT LINE.

Through the sudden loss of nerve of a workman who thought he could stand a racking ride up the sheer grade, the new gravity railroad that was started for the first time at the Garretson & Gray stone crusher, above Dunellen, last week, nearly claimed its first victim two days after it was put into operation. Peter Ritter was the workman, and in a jump from one of the swiftly moving stone cars, midway between the mountain and its base he passed through a hair-raisingly narrow escape from terrible injury, if not death.

The railroad is designed to carry rock from the quarry, at the extreme top of the mountain, to the crusher proper at its base, a distance of 1,400 feet. It is a three-track railroad, on which two ore cars run. The loaded car going down pulls the empty one up. By the use of three tracks, each car using the middle track in common up to a switch in the exact center of the line, one stretch of steel rail is saved. The fourteen hundred feet of the one trip, which is a little over a quarter of a mile, is made in less than a minute.

Ritter saw the empty car start up the grade just as he reached the crusher on an errand to the quarry for H. S. Garretson, senior member of the firm. He thought the ease and rapidity with which the trip could be made would repay him for whatever risk he might run through, and jumped into the car.

The run was made in good order for just about half the distance. The car wobbled a bit, and got on Ritter's nerve, but he had faith in the restraining cable and the powerful brakes at the head of the incline. But as the car, going at full speed, struck the switch it swayed suddenly. Ritter rose in a quick panic. Another jerk came, and the workman hurled himself from the car.

He landed on all fours on the mountainside. His head grazed a stump, and he stretched out, senseless, where he struck.

The workmen at the mountain top saw the jump and its result, and headed by A. A. Gray, of the firm, hurried down the slope to Ritter's assistance. They carried him to the level, where he recovered consciousness. Dr. Platt, of Dunellen, who was summoned as soon as word could be sent to the borough, arrived a little while afterwards, and examined Ritter. The physician found that the man had escaped with painfully cut knees and a lump on his head. Not a bone in his body had broken. He was badly shaken by his experience, and hasn't quite recovered from the effects of it yet. That he came through the experience without a broken neck or a crushed skull is considered remarkable by the crusher men.

COUNCILMANIC BUSINESS

Routine Work of City Fathers at Regular Monthly Session.

MANY PETITIONS

P. S. C. Wants a Turnout on Randolph Road—Awnings in Front of Business Houses Desired.

Considerable time was taken up at the May meeting of the Common Council, last night, with many petitions and communications, and the session was, as usual, a long one, including a recess of one hour taken to discuss the question of allowing the Public Service Corporation to place a turnout near Randolph road on the Arlington avenue line, so that the baseball crowds as well as other heavy traffic can be handled better. The company claims that it is impossible at present to operate two cars successfully and that another turnout is necessary. Superintendent Brown and his assistant, Philip Maguire, were invited to the private session and explained their request. It is said that the company will be denied the request to locate a turnout on Randolph road, unless they are willing to widen the street, which is now only thirty-five feet wide. No report was made on the matter in open Council after the recess.

Residents of Terrill road and North avenue asked for a fire hydrant and the petition was referred to the fire and buildings committee, as was also a request from residents in the vicinity of West Fourth street and Spooner avenue, that the Common Council refuse permits to erect a store or flat building at that corner, it being strictly a residential neighborhood. A communication was received from F. M. Wells, vice president and treasurer of the Central Realty Company, asking that that section formerly known as the Martine tract, located on Park avenue, Prospect, Kensington, Evergreen and Thornton avenues, be provided with sidewalks and sanitary sewers. This matter was referred to the proper committee.

J. J. Meaney, of 316 East Sixth street, asked the Common Council for permission to erect a street clock on Front street, in the business section, stating that it would be a reliable timepiece, running within a half-minute a week of the correct time. The matter was referred to the fire and building committee.

H. G. Atwater, owner of some of the property in the C. Elmer Gulick tract on Randolph road, petitioned to have his property separated from the other adjoining property so that he could pay his taxes. It was referred to the finance committee.

The Public Service Corporation informed the Common Council that an electric light had been placed at West Front and Albert streets, as ordered.

Building Inspector Doane reported the granting of twenty-seven permits during April and Street Commissioner Gavett reported that fifty sewer permits had been granted since December 20.

Mr. Tolles stated that the contract and bond of John E. Keely, for street sprinkling, were signed and filed.

The adverse report of Mr. Bullock on the petition of Charles P. Sebring and George Watts & Co., for permission to erect an iron awning in front of the firm's place of business on West Front street, caused a discussion, Mr. Tolles taking exception. He stated that he saw no reason why the petition should be denied while other merchants were enjoying the same right. Mr. Bullock replied by saying that such an awning would add to the fire risk and the committee thought it advisable to refuse the request. After a lengthy discussion, the petition was referred back for further consideration.

Mr. Tolles offered a resolution, which was adopted, transferring $500 from the general fund to the poor fund and $1,000 from the general fund to the fire fund. He also presented the report of the corporation counsel regarding the issuing of school bonds, which advised that they can be offered either at private or public sale, but that it had been decided to make it a public sale. This report also stated that the only case of litigation in which the city is interested is that of the American Sewage Disposal Company, of Boston, against the city for the alleged infringement of patents, but that there was no change in the standing of the suit.

In response to a request presented by Mr. Bullock on behalf of Street Commissioner Gavett, the Common Council voted to ask the Plainfield Water Supply Company to extend its water main from Rock avenue to a

ARRANGE BOND ISSUES

One of $62,000 and the Other of $13,000 for New School.

BIDS ON JUNE 5

Larger Amount is Balance of $125,000 Issue Provided, and Smaller Sum is for Furnishing Building.

Provision was made at the May meeting of the Common Council, last night, for the issuance of the necessary school bonds to complete the work of building the new high school and furnishing it. One issue of bonds was for $62,000, the balance of the $125,000 issued arranged for a year ago, while another issue was for $13,000 which sum will be used to furnish the building.

The Common Council by resolution fixed Monday night, June 5, at 8 o'clock, as the time when bids will be received for these bonds which are to bear 4 per cent. interest, and the city clerk was authorized to advertise the sale in the official newspapers and in outside newspapers not to exceed five.

The issue of $62,000 will bear date of June 1, 1905, and will mature in 1934, while the issue of $13,000 will bear date of June 1, 1908 and mature June 1, 1920. The bonds are to be for $1,000 denomination each and will be issued exactly as the first bonds for $60,000. The principal and interest on the bonds are to be raised by taxation.

Mr. Tolles offered an ordinance providing for the issue of bonds and it was adopted on first and second readings and ordered advertised in the usual way.

RECREATION PARK'S NEW MANAGEMENT

RESORT TO BE OPENED WITH STOCK COMPANY ON DECORATION DAY.

A company of three men composed of E. C. Derner, George C. Bennett and A. Greenbatt, of New York, have acquired control of the grounds on the Plainfield-Westfield trolley line known as Galvin's Park.

It is their intention to have a stock company give performances regularly in the theatre building, which is to be enlarged and improved, and to have many novelties and tent shows otherwise. The opening is to be on Decoration Day and A. Greenbatt, who is to take up his residence here, will have personal supervision.

Tea and Sale.

A sale and tea will be held tomorrow afternoon under the auspices of the Circle of Loyal Daughters at the residence of Miss C. C. Burk, Revine road, from 3 to 6. A Japanese artist will paint pictures during the afternoon, which will be placed on sale. The proceeds of the sale and tea is for the benefit of the city nurse and baby camp.

Mikado's Final Rehearsal.

A full dress rehearsal for the Mikado, which is to be produced on Thursday and Friday nights at the Casino, took place last night. It will be the best production of the famous opera ever given here.

Operation for Appendicitis.

Miss Fordham, the trained nurse, was operated upon this morning by Dr. G. W. Endicott for appendicitis. The trouble developed rapidly and an operation was urgent.

HUNT CLUB'S BIG MEET

List of Events for the Annual Races Announced.

CUPS ARE OFFERED

Conditions for Each Event—To Take Place at Driving Park.

Plans for the race meeting of the Watchung Hunt Club to be given at the Driving Park on Saturday, May 20, are now completed and the entries are being made. With the exception of the farmers' race, which promises to be a feature, they will close Saturday, May 13. The meet will be conducted under the rules of the National Steeplechase and Hunt Association and only amateurs will be allowed to ride. Arrangements have been made with the New Jersey Central to transport all horses from Jersey City to Plainfield and return, free of charge, and this privilege will have big results as already shown by the entries from the metropolis.

There will be nine events in all, beginning at 1:30 and divided as follows:

Farmers' race—For horses, other than thoroughbreds, working on farms, and the bona fide property of farmers. Purse $50, of which $15 to second, $10 to third. Entrance fee. Catch weights. About one-half mile on the flat. Post entries.

The Watchung Cup—(Must be won twice before becoming winner's property.) For hunters that have been hunted with the Watchung Hunt and to be ridden by members of that club. Catch weights over 160 lbs. Thoroughbreds, 12 lbs. extra. Entrance, $5. About two miles over a fair hunting country.

The Hillside Cup—For hunters four years old and upward qualifying under rules of the N. S. and H. Association. Catch weights over 160 lbs. Thoroughbreds 12 lbs. extra. The cup, and subscription of $10 each. $5 additional for starters, of which 75 per cent. to winner, 25 per cent. to second, third to save his stake. About two miles over a fair hunting country.

The Middlesex Cup—For half-bred hunters qualifying under the rules of the N. S. and H. Association. Catch weights over 160 lbs. Cup, and subscription of $10 each, of which 60 per cent. to winner, 40 per cent. to second. About two and one-half miles over a fair hunting country.

Hack or Hunters' Race—Purse $100. For three-year olds and upwards. Winners 1904 barred. Catch weights over 160 lbs. Thoroughbreds, 12 lbs. extra. By subscription of $5 each, $5 additional for starters. Purse $100, of which $75 to first, $25 to second. About three-quarters of a mile on the flat.

The Netherwood Cup—For ponies 14 3 or under. Winners in 1904 barred. Catch weights over 150 lbs. Cup, and subscription of $10 each, of which 70 per cent. to winner, 30 per cent. to second. About one-half mile on the flat.

The Oak Tree Selling Hurdle Race—For three-year olds and upwards. All horses entered to be sold at auction. Owners entitled to protecting bid. Catch weights over 160 lbs. Cup, and subscription of $10 each, play or pay, of which 75 per cent. to winner, 25 per cent. to second. About one and one-half miles.

Fox Hound Scurry. Class A—For dogs any height. Open to not more than two entries from any club. The club's colors to be worn around hound's neck. Cup, and subscription of $5 each, of which 70 per cent. to first, 30 per cent. to second. Once over the course.

Fox Hound Scurry. Class B—For bitches any height. Open to not more than two entries from any club. The club's colors to be worn around hound's neck. Cup, and subscription of $5 each, of which 70 per cent. to winner, 30 per cent. to second. Once over the course.

The officers of the club who have supervision are as follows: President, Lewis M. Waring; vice president, Charles D. Freeman, secretary, E. A. Cruikshank; treasurer, George S. King; master of hounds, Dr. M. O'M. Knott; stewards, George P. Mellick and Harry A. Bourne; stewards of the meeting, Charles J. Fisk, J. Wesley Johnson, George A. Beaton, Charles W. McCutchen, Dr. B. VanD. Hedges and Frank DeL. Hyde; executive committee, Paul Taylor Brown, chairman, C. E. S. Bellows, A. R. Fisk, E. A. Shebbeare, Dr. M. O'M. Knott; judges, E. A. Fairbairn and Rene LaMontagne.

Maud—Her daughter, married to Paul—Miss Helen Phillips.

Rosa—Her daughter, unmarried—Miss Nanon West.

Minna—A maid servant—Miss Margaret McCutchen.

SCHOOLS WANT $70,000 FOR THE COMING YEAR

AMOUNT MADE KNOWN IN ROUTINE MEETING OF BOARD OF EDUCATION.

Probably the most important matter brought out in a routine meeting of the city Board of Education last night, was the fact that this year's appropriation of school money will be $70,000, exclusive of the amount apportioned by the State. Last year the finance committee asked $68,300, but the amount coming from the State was somewhat larger than will be received this year. Another important matter was the announcement that after this year the rooms in the Monroe Avenue church used as a kindergarten would not be leased. The place had to be secured in order to accommodate the overflow from the Irving school but the classes have been so arranged in the latter now that it will not be necessary to entail the extra expense.

It was announced by the finance committee that the amount of money originally appropriated for the new High School building is exhausted and that the remainder needed, $75,000 in all, will have to be secured through bonds. The proper notice to this effect has been given the Common Council and action has been left to this body. Of the sum named, $62,000 is for the school proper and the remainder $13,000 for the furnishings.

The board accepted an invitation from the National Educational Association to attend its annual convention at Asbury Park, July 5 and 6. The members will probably go in a body. James Keenan tendered his resignation as assistant janitor at the Bryant school and Emil Messerschmith and F. H. VanZandt applied for the position. Application for the appointment as engineer of the new high school was also made by William Symons. All three were referred.

The contract for the years supply of coal was awarded to C. T. Rogers & Co., of New Market, and the school supplies to J. B. Wilson, of New York. The clerk was authorized to secure music and make other arrangements for the annual commencement exercises in the First Baptist church and Superintendent Maxson was empowered to purchase the "Historian's History of the United States," twenty-five volumes, for use in the High School.

Sold Fender Rights.

Smith & Apgar, owners of a recently patented trolley fender, invented by Edward Apgar, of this city, junior member of the firm, have sold the Pennsylvania rights to the invention to H. G. Ribart, of Easton, who is heavily interested in traction properties in the Keystone State. The deal was closed yesterday.

Grant Nine Won.

The Grants defeated the Greenliefs on the Prospect Avenue grounds yesterday morning by the score of 23 to 14. Grant and Butler were in the points for the winners while Greenlief and Zerage were the battery for the Greenliefs. "Vic" Teletson umpired the contest.

SEWAGE EXTENSION BIDS

To Be Received by Common Council's Committee June 5.

MAPS AND PLANS READY

Hearing Set for Proposition to Open Stebbins Place From South Second to W. Fourth Sts.

Maps, plans, specifications, and other engineering data on the proposed extension of the sewage disposal beds were presented to the Common Council last night, and, on motion by Chairman Wilson, of the street committee, a resolution that Monday, June 5, be advertised as the date for the reception of bids on the work was passed. An appropriation of $300 was voted in advance on the improvement account, to be figured in the general fund when it is received. The maps and plans, etc., were prepared by Street Commissioner Gavett and Consulting Engineer J. O. Osgood.

Considerable street work was authorized in ordinances passed on first and second readings. One provides for the opening of Stebbins place from South Second street to West Fourth street, to a width of fifty feet. A hearing on it will be held June 5, at 8 o'clock.

The other ordinance amends the ordinance on the laying and repair of sidewalks. Section three of the ordinance is amended so as to provide for the laying of sidewalks on Prospect, Hillside and Park avenues and Randolph road and vicinity, which includes much of the territory in the former Martine tract, now owned and being improved by the Central Realty Company. A public hearing on the amendment will be held on June 5.

PLANS TO CELEBRATE ITS 24TH ANNIVERSARY

AND LADIES' CHRISTIAN WORK SOCIETY ALSO ELECTS OFFICERS.

The annual meeting of the Ladies' Christian Work Society, of Trinity Reformed church, was held in the church parlor yesterday afternoon. Reports of the secretary and treasurer were received with a vote of thanks. Mrs. A. L. Force read a report from the Women's Conference meeting of the Classis of Newark. One new member joined the society. After the regular routine these officers were elected:

President, Mrs. Elizabeth A. Parse; first vice president, Mrs. Cornelius Schenck; second vice president, Mrs. G. Q. Dolliver; treasurer, Mrs. Robert Clark, Jr.; secretary, Mrs. A. L. Force. All of the officers were re-elected except Mrs. B. D. Newell, who has been a faithful secretary for two years and who would not accept a renomination.

The society will celebrate its twenty-fourth anniversary on Sunday night, May 14, when it is expected that an address will be made by Mr. Thompson. The amount raised during the year in the general fund is $373.81 and $297.12 was disbursed, leaving a balance of $76.69. There was raised for missionary purposes $240.46 and all was disbursed for various missionary objects.

Bowen to Return to Washington.

In response to Secretary Taft's dispatch directing him to return home, Herbert W. Bowen, United States minister to Venezuela, brother of H. K. Bowen, of Watchung avenue, sent word yesterday that he would sail a week from today, requiring the time to settle some affairs. Preparations are being made to investigate the charges against Assistant Secretary Loomis reported to the state department by Bowen.

County Officials Moving.

The county officials have commenced taking the new quarters assigned them in the new court house at Elizabeth. Surrogate George T. Parrot and County Clerk James O. Calvert were the first to move from the old jail building where they have been for two years and Registrar Frank H. Smith will follow Saturday.

Miss Burrough's Return.

With much pleasure the students of the Plainfield High School will receive the news of Miss Grace E. Burroughs returned to the school as a member of the faculty. Miss Burroughs will come to school probably on Thursday, to take the place of Miss Phoebe Lovell, resigned.

SPORTING NEWS.

DIAMOND DUST.

Jersey City opens its season at home today with Newark. The opening will be attended by many dignitaries.

"Yes! This lineup is for keeps," says the Westfield Standard. Dollars to a cent there is a change before May 20.

The Plainfield team will play two games here with the All-Americans on Decoration Day. This is one of the strongest teams in the country.

The local management will undoubtedly give Chatham a date a little later. Fandom would like to see the Morris County boys play here.

Captain Driscoll says that the local fans may want to defeat Westfield this year, but they do not want to do the trick one half as bad as the team does.

According to the North American, the Philadelphia Giants are the colored champion ball team in the country, and they should give a fine exhibition with the locals on Saturday.

The Philadelphia Giants will be here on Saturday. This should be one of the best attractions of the year. The Giants defeated the Newark Eastern League team three days in succession this spring and they are considered the crack colored team in this country.

President Denman, of the Westfield Baseball Association, now wants to make the series nine instead of five with the local management. The present number of games is sufficient for the local fans. Too much Westfield last season nearly killed the interest in the game.

The Hoboken Club will open its season at home next Sunday with the New York Nationals. Manager Daab has secured "Willie" Deegan, the deaf-mute pitcher, as his slab artist for the season. Otherwise the team will be identical as it appears here on Saturdays and holidays.

A large handsome score board has been placed at the oval and instead of being obliged to mark the score with chalk, large tins bearing the numbers will be used, similar to the system employed in the big leagues. Among the other improvements at the oval is the erection of a cover over the reporters' bench.

How considerate and kind the sporting editor of the Westfield Standard was last week. After hailing with delight the coming of Al. Farmer, as catcher for the team, he never mentioned his name in the account of the opening game. Then the Westfield man announced that Lamar was much inferior to the former Plainfield player.

AMUSEMENTS.

Jefferson De Angelis, the comedian, broke his arm in two places last week while automobiling. He was unwilling that an understudy should play his part in "Fantana," which is in the middle of a long run at the Lyric Theatre, New York, and so continues to appear nightly with the injured member in a sling. None of his dances has been cut because of the accident, and only the presence of the bandage betrays to audiences the predicament of the fun-maker.

Mrs. Temple's Telegram, which had a run of over one hundred nights at the Madison Square Theatre, and which is at the Grand Opera House, this week, with the original cast and production, solves a perplexing question, one that has disturbed the mental rest of many a husband, and does it in a manner most enjoyable and that is: When a husband, after telling his wife the truth is disbelieved, is he justified in telling her a lie? This one little thing creates a continuous burst of laughter that does not subside from the rise of the curtain until the fall, and which has caused this farce to be characterized as the funniest seen in New York since "Charley's Aunt," and "Jane."

If Oliver Goldsmith had happened into the New Amsterdam Theatre last night it is hardly likely that he would have experienced the sense of fear which is recorded to have been his on the occasion of the first performance of "She Stoops to Conquer" at Convent Garden some hundred and thirty odd years ago. For the word "success" loomed up for this revival of the famous old comedy almost from the moment that the first curtain arose. * * * Mr. Bellew was especially successful in the scene of the first meeting with Miss Hardcastle, and in the subsequent love scene, where, discarding his air of constraint, he woos her with easy grace and charm. Miss Robson satisfies the eye as Kate Hardcastle, and adds the charm of a vivacious and sprightly personality. Mr. Dodson plays Diggory in just the right vein of eccentric comedy. Mr. James played Hardcastle without a suggestion of the comic opera grotesqueness which so often mars it, and Mr. Bellew and Mr. Mills made as dashing a pair of lovers as one might wish to see.

WINCHESTER LAW.

Chicago Nonunion Teamsters Armed With Rifles.

"CANNOT DISARM THEM," POLICE SAY

Mayor Dunne States That Presence of Armed Men In Streets of City Shall Not Be Allowed—Three Men Hurt In Riot.

CHICAGO, May 2.—Chicago witnessed today the spectacle of 1,000 nonunion teamsters armed with Winchester rifles protecting the wagons of the Employers' Teaming company. Superintendent Reed of the Employers' Teaming company states that the rifles may be carried without infraction of the law. Chief of Police O'Neill said that he would make no attempt to remove this bristling martial effect from Chicago's streets, saying:

"I will not seek to prevent what appears to be legal. There is no law that empowers me to prohibit men from carrying unconcealed weapons, and I will make no attempt to do so.

"I have seen many men carrying rifles in the streets of Chicago, and I never have been called on to molest them. I could not interfere. I have cautioned my men to warn all nonunion and union men not to carry concealed weapons, but in the matter of rifles I am powerless."

When Mayor Dunne was informed of the fact that rifles would be carried by nonunion men he was visibly disturbed, and he declared that the police would not be permitted to authorize the carrying of arms by any one.

"The chief of police will give no authority to any one to carry arms," the mayor said. "I had not heard of the matter before, but the city of Chicago will not authorize the carrying of arms."

Wholesale importations of nonunion men from St. Louis and the arrival of Strike Breaker Farley from New York has given a new turn to the strike.

Immediately on his arrival Farley held a conference with representatives of the employers. Plans for putting him in charge of all strike breakers are said to have been decided on.

Every wagon sent out by the Employers' Teaming company is protected by a rifle in the hands of the driver or his assistant.

This announcement is made by officials of the Chicago Employers' association. Two thousand rifles were ordered, together with ammunition belts, and distributed to the drivers. The move has been carefully considered and the legal aspect looked into. The officials of the Employers' association say they are acting under the clause in the second amendment of the federal constitution, which says, "The right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed."

Under decisions of the United States supreme court it is declared every man has a right to protect his life or property with firearms, provided such arms are not concealed.

Three men were struck by flying bullets during a riot at the rear of Marshall Field & Co., wholesale store, Fifth avenue and Adams street, when Louis Street, a colored nonunion teamster, fired five shots into a crowd.

The riot brought fifty policemen to the scene.

Street was driving his wagon out of the alley when the crowd jeered him. Soon sticks, stones and other missiles were thrown at him, many striking him. It was at this juncture that Street drew his revolver and fired.

Instead of fleeing the crowd, thoroughly enraged, made a rush for the wagon. The teamster was dragged from his seat and was being severely beaten when the police arrived. By vigorously using clubs the police managed to disperse the crowd. Street was arrested.

Serious riots took place last night. One was at West Harrison and Desplaines streets, where a mob, containing many women and numbering fully 2,000, attacked sixteen nonunion men who were going to the depot under the guard of a squad of police. Stones and other missiles were hurled at the men, and it was with difficulty that the police were able to protect them from the crowd. Several nonunion men were injured with stones, and many of the mob suffered wounds from the clubs of the policemen. A number of arrests were made.

Fear Rebels on the Border.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Senor Munoz, the Guatemalan minister here, called at the state department to talk further with Acting Secretary Adee respecting movements across the border in Mexico which his government fears portend the organization of a revolutionary expedition directed against Guatemala.

Defaulting Cashier Held.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 2.—The chief of police here has arrested Maro S. Potter, the defaulting cashier of the Davisboro (Ga.) bank, who skipped out leaving a shortage of $25,000 there, on the identification of T. Hall, a former citizen of Davisboro, who happened to meet Potter on the street.

Nan Patterson's Counsel Asks No Compromise Verdict.

DEATH OR LIBERTY FOR THE GIRL

"The Case," He Said, "Is One of Deliberate Murder or Suicide; There Can Be No Manslaughter About It."

NEW YORK, May 2.—"This case is one of deliberate murder or suicide. There can be no manslaughter about it. There should be no compromise verdict. She is either guilty of murder in the first degree or not at all."

With these significant words Abraham Levy, counsel for Nan Patterson, brought to a close his five hour argument in defense of the former "Floradora" chorus girl, charged with the murder of Caesar Young.

During the long argument Miss Patterson faced the jury unflinchingly and watched every movement of the men who are to determine her fate.

The courtroom was crowded throughout the day, most of the attendants being women, who struggled to get a look at the defendant. At one time the judge was compelled to stop Mr. Levy while court officers expelled from the room some women who persisted in discussing the case in audible tones, to the annoyance of all present.

Mr. Levy reviewed all the testimony in detail and declared not a word had been introduced which showed any purpose on the part of Miss Patterson or her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. Morgan Smith, to threaten the life of Caesar Young.

In his plea for his chorus girl client Mr. Levy dwelt at length on the "poor defenseless girl," who was more sinned against than sinning, and paid his respects to Assistant District Attorney Rand in forceful terms. In referring to his opponent's handling of the case he said:

"He is the gentleman who has testified most in this case—the man who has supplied all the missing parts in the real testimony of real witnesses. It may be that that is a part of the duty of the prosecutor, but, gentlemen, if I were he—if I had all the police department of New York behind me, if I had a score of learned assistants, if I could by a touch of an electric bell summon to my aid all the great organs of this great city, I don't believe—I don't believe, gentlemen, I would myself testify against a poor, defenseless girl. I think I would be fair with her and fair with you."

The suicide theory was strongly emphasized by Mr. Levy, who contended that the powder stains on Young's fingers proved he had shot himself. Mr. Levy scouted the idea that a girl would be able to make such an assault on a trained athlete like Young. He also ridiculed the idea that Miss Patterson should have chosen a crowded public street as a place for murder when she had so many opportunities to attack Young where there would have been little danger of detection. Assistant District Attorney Rand will follow for the people, and it is probable the case will go to the jury today.

Paderewski, Better, Is at New York.

NEW YORK, May 2.—Ignace Paderewski, who has been suffering from nervous shock, has so far recovered that he came on from Boston last night in his private car. Dr. Francis E. Fronczak, the pianist's physician, issued the following statement: "Mr. Paderewski continues to improve and is quite comfortable. He went out driving with Mme. Paderewski in Boston. I was quite sure he would be able to bear the journey here without injury."

Sag Harbor Bank Fails.

SAG HARBOR, N. Y., May 2.—The Peconic bank, a state chartered institution, with a capital of $25,000, has closed its doors here. A state bank examiner is at work on the books, and officers of the bank say they think it will reopen on May 4. The bank was largely controlled by Francis H. Palmer, who is said to have owed the bank $40,000.

Mortgage Bill Introduced.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 2.—The expected amendments to the mortgage tax bill, already in the hands of Governor Higgins, were introduced in the senate last night by Chairman Lewis of the senate committee on taxation and retrenchment. In introducing the bill Mr. Lewis said that no change in the principle underlying the bill had been made.

Santaniello Guilty of Manslaughter.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 2.—The jury hearing the case of Francesco Santaniello, charged with murder in the first degree in killing Antonio Longobardi here, returned a verdict finding the defendant guilty of manslaughter. Judge Ralph Wheeler sentenced Santaniello to not less than four nor more than eight years in state prison.

Anonymous Donor Gives $500,000.

NEW YORK, May 2.—At a meeting of the trustees of Columbia university here announcement was made that $500,000 had been provided by an anonymous donor for erecting and equipping a college hall for undergraduates. The building will take the place of the old King's college on King's farm and will be started at once.

Ames Murder Trial at Rochester.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 2.—The trial of Berry G. Jackson, colored, charged with the murder of Charles F. Ames in the suburbs of this city, has opened here. It is alleged that Jackson killed Ames in a quarrel and buried his body in the cellar of a tenement house. Hon. George Raines is conducting the defense.

DUNELLEN STREETS WILL BE IMPROVED

COUNCIL PASSES THREE ORDINANCES—RAINWATER MAKES MEADOWS MARSHY.

Three ordinances for street improvements were passed on first reading by the Common Council of Dunellen at its regular monthly meeting last night. All of them were brought up on petitions from residents.

Two of the ordinances cover changes of grade on Washington and Dunellen avenues, the two most attractives streets of the borough. Washington avenues is to be improved from the Central railroad northward 900 feet. The corner of Dunellen avenue at the same street is to be improved southwest to Bonegut brook. The changes are designed to do away with long-standing annoyance from backed-up water after rainfalls, against which property owners of the borough have been talking and agitating for some time.

The third ordinance orders the laying of sidewalks on Washington streets, on the east side of the park, between Dunellen avenue and First street.

The contract for macadamizing Dunellen avenue, which was voted at the last meeting, was let to P. C. Staats, of Dunellen. He will receive nineteen cents per foot for excavating and twenty cents per foot for macadamizing.

Mr. Sanford, whose trees caused a stir in the Council at a special meeting two weeks ago because they were set two feet over the house line onto the sidewalks of North avenue at the western end of the borough, appeared before the Council to call the attention of the body to the fact that rain water from the borough streets had been running across his meadows for years, converting them into unhealthful marsh. He suggested that the Council meet with him at his property and look over the land, to arrive at some agreement whereby the conditions complained of be bettered. The Council voted to meet Mr. Sanford for that purpose May 13.

The last formal act in the granting of the gas franchise to the P. S. C. was accomplished in the signing by the Mayor and Clerk of all the papers submitted by the corporation. There was no comment on the formality. It went through as a matter of routine Collector Day is looking for the dollar mentioned as the compensation in the franchise, and refuses to regard it as a legal fiction. The company will probably pay up.

On motion of Councilman Kyne, it was voted to purchase 200 feet of much-needed fire hose.

PERSONAL.

Elston M. French, of Somerset street, was at Lakewood over Sunday.

Miss Ruth Shupp, of Madison avenue, has gone to Plymouth, Pa., for the summer.

Mrs. A. T. Slauson, of East Ninth street, who has been ill, is now improving nicely.

Miss Clara M. Rhoads, of Madison avenue, is attending a convention of trained nurses at Washington.

William Doud, of Duer street, who has been ill with an attack of tonsilitis, is slightly improved. He underwent an operation on Sunday which it is hoped will greatly strengthen his throat.

point near the sewage beds, as there would be a necessity for more water in the proposed improvements on the sewage farm. The extension will cost the city about $100.

Mr. Bullock requested that the ordinance prohibiting the erection of lumber yards in the business section of the city, be returned to the fire and buildings committee for further consideration and this was done. At the request of Mr. Tolles, the tax ordinance was adopted on third reading, and Mr. Wilson's motion that the ordinance to widen Park avenue between Second street and the railroad, be adopted, was carried.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Martin Roth and family, of West Fifth street, have moved to Manning avenue.

—Lawyer J. Fred Huff and William Newcorn will go to Monmouth County Thursday to argue in a case over the division of an estate in the Orphans' Court there.

—John Dend, employed at the local store of the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company, has ben promoted to the position formerly held by Henry Angerbauer, who har been made manager of the company's store at Bayonne.

—Edward F. Duffy, of Newark, N. J., has accepted a position to manage the branch office of J. S. Bache & Co, stock brokers, of New York, which was opened in the new Scheer building at 788 Broad street, Newark, today.

Charles Zimmer, of Manning avenue, has resigned his position with the Aluminum Plate and Press Company, and expects soon to secure a position in New York.

LIGHTENS WOMAN'S WORK.

The Bissell Carpet Sweeper is without question the greatest labor-saving machine of the age, as it has relieved woman of one of the hardest tasks she has to perform. Sweeping is no longer dreaded by the woman possessing a Bissell sweeper, as it not only reduces the labor of sweeping, but it saves backaches, brightens and preserves the carpets, prevents the dust and dangerous carpet germs from floating about the room and settling upon the furniture and draperies or from filling the lungs of the operator, thus making the task of sweeping a pleasure. In the matter of economy alone, no housekeeper can afford to be without a Bissell, as one will outlast forty brooms.

Every Bissell Sweeper is Guaranteed.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINTIY.

Workmen are engaged in changing the grade of the new gravity railroad that runs to the G. & G. crusher. It was found that the grade was a little bit too steep for the smooth operation of the fourteen-hundred-foot railroad. The gang was busy at the job all day Sunday. Interested sightseers watched them.

Wilson Frederick keeps right at his work in the United States Express Company's office. The routine of the office, despite the length of time he was kept from it by his terrible injuries, is not come hard on him, and he continues to gain strength.

The workmen finished up the contract at the First Baptist church today. Arrangements will now be made for the reception of the congregation into its own home next Sunday. Special music and other exercises will mark the event.

Most of the talk relative to bringing the school matter into the courts has died down. It is beginning to look as if the erection of the structure would be allowed to go on without interference.

Quite a number of pleasure seekers from surrounding places enjoyed boating on the New Market pond Sunday. Both fleets look attractive in new coats of paint.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Campbell are spending the last of a three-weeks' stay with friends in Boston.

The Sunshine Society's entertainment will take place tonight at Holy Innocents' church.

The workmen have finished putting the top dressing on the road between the village and South Plainfield.

Mrs. Mahlon Dayton and children have been visiting relatives in Bryn Mawr, Pa.

Mrs. C. T. Rogers has almost entirely recovered from her grave illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Foster Sofield have been entertaining friends from Newark.

Edson Davis has returned to Rutgers College after his Easter vacation.

Clarence Harrison has taken up his residence in New Brunswick.

Mrs. Stanley Day is recovering from her attack of pleurisy.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The raid on crap shooters by the local police, near Galvin's Park several Sundays ago, while netting no prisoners, had the effect of putting a stop to the game which had been flourishing in that end of town for several weeks.

Dudley Babcock, of Columbia College, has been spending his Easter vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wright Babcock, of the borough.

Mr. and Mrs. William Dean, who have been visiting Mrs. Dean's mother, Mrs. Charles Mooney, have returned to their home at Summit.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Putnam, of Second street, have been visiting Mrs. Putnam's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Frents, of Westfield avenue.

Another arrest Sunday afternoon for being drunk and disorderly. With this luck the local police department should soon be self supporting.

Miss Evelyn Buckley, of South avenue, who has been visiting her aunt, Miss Susie Parse, returned home yesterday.

The Misses Housien, of Cranford, have been visiting their aunt, Mrs. John Marsh, of Park avenue.

John Falvery, who has been spending several days at his home at Dover, has returned.

William H. Lee lost one of his road team of horses Sunday night with colic.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Miss Sarah Giles is teaching at East Brook in place of Miss Bessie Tappen, who recently resigned.

Thomas Linaberry and family are now occupying the house vacated by Mrs. George Ryno.

J. J. Hanan has removed into the place owned by Joel Manning in the village.

Some poultry raisers in this vicinity have spring chickens ready for market.

Wilson Day entertained his brother from Plainfield yesterday and Sunday.

Mrs. Boss and children are visiting friends out of town.

PISCATAWAY SCHOOL DIFFICULTY UNSETTLED

WILLIAM JEFFERY BELIEVES THAT THE PEOPLE MISUNDERSTOOD VOTE.

William Jeffery, the local real estate specialist, has sent the following, self-explanatory letter, for publication:

Editor, The Daily Press:

It is quite certain to my mind, and to the minds of many others present at the school meeting, held at New Market on April 27, that two-thirds of those that voted did not know that they were voting for or against the two little schools. The motion was that the vote on the New Market school should be taken as to whether it should be $20,000 or less and a large number of those who voted following that motion simply tore off that part of the ballot which referred to the New Market school and wrote on it the amount for the New Market proposition, and then at the last minute a number of women trotted in depositing ballots without any reference whatever to the two smaller schools.

The Maple Grove school is unsanitary, and is too far from Rushmore avenue and Fourth street for little children to walk to during the winter, and the cost of transportation to the New Market school will amount to considerable, because a number of houses will be erected in addition to those which are now being built, and which will bring the number of small children up to at least fifty for this section and some relief will have to be doled out because the people will not stand for having their children yanked about the township in conveyances in the cold bitter days, necessitating the carrying of lunches and staying away from home all day. We believe now that New Market has the large school that they will not object to getting the smaller school for our vicinity. One of the two courses is now open and it is up to the residents of Rushmore avenue and Fourth street section to decide which one they will take.

William Jeffery.

—J. Edmund Skiff and a vested choir will begin their service at the First M. E. church on Sunday.

—The meeting of the McAll Auxiliary will be held at the Public Library tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock.

—H. D. Hibbard, of the Manganese Steel Safe Company, has been granted four patents for a locking mechanism for a safe.

CITIZENS SHOT DOWN

Warsaw Troops Fire Indiscriminately on the People.

SCORES ARE KILLED AND WOUNDED

Mobs Reply With Bombs, Killing Three Cossacks and a Policeman. Shooting Was Unprovoked. Woman and Children Dead.

WARSAW, May 2.—Nearly a hundred people were killed or wounded in disturbances in various quarters of Warsaw when the troops, apparently uncontrollable, violating all orders to act with moderation, fired into crowds of rioters here.

The workmen in retaliation resorted to the use of firearms and bombs. Many women and children are among the dead and dying. What approaches a reign of terror exists in the city, and it presents a most gloomy aspect, the temper of the entire community augurring ill for a peaceful solution of the trouble.

May opened with every prospect that the recent gloomy forebodings would find contradiction in a peaceful ending. Glorious weather ushered in the beginning of the celebrations, and all factories, shops and offices of every description were closed. The first disturbances occurred when a procession of several thousand workmen, carrying red flags, marched along Zelazna street.

The demonstration was quite orderly and proceeded without molestation for some distance. Suddenly several squadrons of uhlans appeared, but without interfering with the procession, and took up a position along the sidewalks while the workmen passed through the lines. Then a company of infantry approached from the front, and immediately the cavalry charged into the procession, driving it with the flats of their swords into a disorganized mass.

When the cavalry withdrew the infantry fired a volley, whereupon the demonstrators turned and fled. The infantry continued to discharge volleys into the retreating, shrieking multitude. Thirty-one persons were killed and many wounded, and of the latter it is believed that fifteen will die.

The shooting is described as having been quite unprovoked. It has aroused the most intense indignation among all classes in Warsaw. Many of those who were killed or wounded were shot in the back, showing that they were running away when they were struck.

Another terrible scene was enacted at the corner of Zlota and Sosnore streets when workmen fired from behind a wall at a patrol, which immediately opened fire on the passing crowds, killing or wounding twenty persons.

The first bomb throwing occurred at 9:35 o'clock last night, when a bomb was thrown into a Cossack patrol near the Vienna station. Three Cossacks and one policeman were killed and two ladies who were leaving the station at the time were severely wounded by the explosion of the bomb. Cossacks and infantry fired a number of volleys, and it is reported that many persons were killed or wounded. Troops surround the whole of the disturbed neighborhood.

At 10:45 o'clock last night disturbances broke out at the Zombkowska gate of the suburb of Praga, across the Vistula river. A great crowd had assembled there, threatening the troops, when hussars fired upon the crowd and killed four and wounded others.

At Lodz a crowd of rioters stoned a military patrol, whereupon the soldiers fired and killed three men and wounded a boy. Later a similar scene occurred in Balueki square, in Lodz, when two persons were killed.

All this bloodshed is likely to very seriously affect the situation and may cause a general strike. The temper of the people is at white heat, and there is much apprehension regarding the possible events of May 5, the one hundred and fourteenth anniversary of the proclamation of the Polish constitution, when disturbances and demonstrations always occur.

Only passenger trains are leaving Warsaw, and these are crowded with refugees and manned by officials of the engineering departments, all the engine drivers, firemen and porters having quit work.

Bomb Explosion at Capital.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 2.—A bomb was exploded here in an apartment house room occupied by two men. Both of them were injured, one of them seriously. The other man was only slightly hurt. It is believed the men were terrorists preparing the bomb for use when it exploded. An inquiry into the cause of the explosion is being made by the police.

Orange Grove Mills Destroyed.

BALTIMORE, May 2.—The Orange Grove flouring mills of the C. A. Gambrill Manufacturing company, valued at $200,000, on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad ten miles from Baltimore, were totally destroyed by fire last night, which blocks the main line of the Baltimore and Ohio and has destroyed all telegraphic communication.

Aged Divine Dead at Orange, N. J.

ORANGE, N. J., May 2.—The Rev. Anson Du Bois is dead at the home of his son in East Orange, aged eighty-three. He was prominent in the Dutch Reformed church for forty years and in 1865 served as president of the general synod of that church in America.

Electrical Workers on Strike.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 2.—One hundred inside electrical workers have struck here after a refusal by the employers to meet a demand of an increase in wages from 35 to 40 cents an hour.

LADY AMELIA MADE A RECORD.

Favorite at Jamaica Forced All the Way by Race King.

NEW YORK, May 2.—Lady Amelia, the 9 to 20 favorite and carrying 126 pounds, won the first race, five and a half furlongs, at Jamaica. In doing so she broke the track record for the distance by covering the distance in 1:06 1-5, which is two-fifths of a second faster than the old mark.

Lady Amelia went to the front in the first furlong, but had to be hard ridden to beat Race King by one and a half lengths.

Czaraphine, second choice, won the Newtown selling stakes by three-quarters of a length from Old England.

Jockey Tommy Burns had a narrow escape from serious injury in the second race when his mount, Courier, fell. He received only a slight shaking up. Three favorites won. Summaries:

First Race.—Lady Amelia, first; Race King, second; New York, third.

Second Race.—Inspiration, first; Phoebus, second; Drone, third.

Third Race.—Merrick, first; Panic, second; Speedway, third.

Fourth Race.—Czaraphine, first; Old England, second; Arabo, third.

Fifth Race.—Incorrigible, first; In Line, second; Moonshine, third.

Sixth Race.—Incubator, first; Dolly Spanker, second; Amberjack, third.

Ivan the Terrible at Nashville.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 2.—At Cumberland park Ivan the Terrible, candidate for the Kentucky Derby, made his final appearance before going to the post for Louisville's blue ribbon event. Ivan won the seven furlongs handicap handily from Jake. Ivan rushed to the front at the drop of the flag and led throughout. In the stretch Jake crept up, but Ivan responded gamely when Munro called on him and won under mild persuasion.

Sixty to One Shot a Winner.

KANSAS CITY, May 2.—Footspring, at 60 to 1, won the first race, a four furlong dash, at Elmridge after a sharp brush with Girard. There were twelve horses in the race, and the starter had much trouble in getting them off, and when the barrier was finally raised Foxhall, the favorite, and Hackler were left at the post.

SLEW AGED WOMAN MISER.

Young Edward Pekars Coolly Confessed to the Murder.

NEW YORK, May 2.—After a two days' hunt for the murderer of Mrs. Sarah Rosenberg, the aged miser who lived in a squalid flat at 332 East One Hundred and First street here and was found with her head beaten in by a hammer and her throat cut, the police have arrested Edward Pekarz, the young man who boarded with the woman and who disappeared after the murder.

Later, through an interpreter at the Tombs, where he was brought to appear before Coroner Scholer, the prisoner made a full confession. He said:

"I boarded with the old woman ever since I came to this country and have been drunk most of the time. Tuesday morning I was in need of money and Scheider (his employer) would not give me any.

"Then I asked him for a hammer and he let me take one. I had a knife of his in my pocket, but Scheider didn't know it.

"The old woman was in the kitchen cooking when I entered. I crept up behind her and struck her on the head with the hammer. As she fell I struck her several more times. Then I pulled out the knife and cut her twice in the throat. I thought that that had finished her, so I lifted her on the bed, took out a bag of money from her corset, went out and locked the door."

Body of Fitz-Hugh Lee at Richmond.

RICHMOND, Va., May 2.—The body of General Fitz-Hugh Lee lies in state at the city hall here. The special train bearing the remains of General Fitz-Hugh Lee reached Richmond yesterday afternoon and was met at Elba station at the head of Broad street by an imposing array of state military, Confederate veterans, state and city officials and memorial organizations. The casket containing the body was drawn by six black horses, at the head of each horse being a member of the Richmond Howitzers in a full dress uniform of gray, and the march was taken up for the city hall.

Dr. Harper's Health Is Fine.

NEW YORK, May 2.—Dr. William R. Harper, president of Chicago university, who is in this city and who recently underwent an operation for cancer, was under examination for two hours here by specialists. In speaking of his condition later Dr. Harper said: "My general health is fine. I weighed 170 pounds when the operation was performed by Dr. McBurney. My weight now is 182. I am back at work and put in as many hours as I did before my illness. I took a run on to New York for a few days' rest."

General Porter Accepts French Cross

PARIS, May 2.—General Horace Porter has advised the foreign office that owing to his resuming the position of a private citizen he has accepted the grand cross of the Legion of Honor, which the French government some time ago bestowed upon Secretary Hay and himself.

Women Wise And Foolish

The Husband Exalter. Good Talkers—Strenuous Entertainers

It's funny how some women enjoy rattling their matrimonial chains so that every one can take notice. It is as if they cried, "Behold me, the slave who enjoys it!"

The fun of the thing is that half the time the supposed lord and master is a mild little man, incapable of dictating to a mosquito, instead of the terrible "he who must be obeyed" they represent him to be.

"I'd like to, yes, very much, but Charlie wouldn't let me!" one often hears these self made slaves remark, whereas the truth is that Charlie wouldn't care a hang either way.

But sometimes a man really is a tyrant.

Usually, however, the woman has herself to blame for that.

A friend of mine, a great big stunning girl, married a little bit of a man with a nasty, critical way about him, as small men often have, and a very exaggerated idea of his own importance and opinions. Before her marriage she was independence personified, but since then she doesn't breathe without his permission. He criticises everybody and everything, and she simply has no will of her own. It is almost ridiculous for this great, splendid, clever woman to see life only through the eyes of this wizened up specimen of manhood who has not the broad outlook of an ordinary man even. He tells her exactly what she shall do and exactly what she shall wear. He even goes over the list of her lifelong friends and weeds out those he does not fancy. And she calmly acquiesces regardless of past favors and ties.

It is just as if she realized his smallness and meanness and wanted to give him more than the ordinary amount of respect and all that sort of thing in order to exalt him in her own eyes and in those of her friends.

But the really strong man doesn't care for that sort of slavishness on his wife's part, and he doesn't need it.

Bright Conversationists.

I know of several girls who are invited around merely because their conversation is cheerful and not personal.

When you come right down to it the number of women who can really talk well is woefully small. Why will women dwell on themselves, their troubles and difficulties? Men don't do that, and men have their share of the world's knocks—yes, indeed! Yet how many men would be invited out if they did nothing but talk shop and wonder whether Jones was going to close that deal tomorrow or if the tailor would make that coat collar fit better in the back?

Perhaps—who knows?—it is this very ability to throw off cares which allows men to accomplish so much more than women.

As a rule, it is hard work that pulls a man down, while it is almost invariably worry that gives a woman nervous prostration.

Too Much Hostess.

"There is such a thing as entertaining one's guests to death," remarked the popular woman. "Nothing makes me so nervous as a visit to a house where every day has been planned out beforehand. I feel as if an invisible arm were pushing me all the time, and I want to sit down, figuratively speaking, in my tracks like a balking horse.

"That sort of thing is all right for a children's party, where complications are apt to arise if the children's attention is not kept distracted all the time, but the average adult wants some blanks in her day that she can fill to suit her own fancy. She is even glad of a chance to lounge around a bit, to read a book or merely to have a heart to heart talk and become better acquainted. Try taking it easier when you have people at the house, and, believe me, they will enjoy their visit much more. MAUD ROBINSON.

Kate Bonnet

By FRANK R. STOCKTON

Copyright, 1902, by D. Appleton & Co., New York.

This is a chapter of happenings, and the next happening was a letter from that good man, Ben Greenway, and it told the most wonderful, splendid and glorious news that had ever been told under the bright sun of the beautiful West Indies. It told that Capt. Stede Bonnet was no longer a pirate, and that Kate was no longer a pirate's daughter. These happy people did not join hands and dance and sing over the great news, but Kate's joy was so great that she might have done all these things without knowing it, so thankful was she that once again she had a father. Kate was in such a state of wild delight that she insisted that her uncle should make another visit to the governor's house and take her with him, that she herself might carry the governor the good news; and the governor said such heart-warming things when he heard it that Kate kissed him in very joy. But as Dickory was not of the party, this incident was not entered as part of the proceedings.

Now society, both in Spanish Town and Kingston, opened its arms and insisted that the fair star of Barbadoes should enter them, and there were parties and dances and dinners, and it might have been supposed that everybody had been a father or a mother to a prodigal son, so genial and joyful were the festivities—Kate high above all others.

At some of these social functions Dickory Charter was present, but it is doubtful whether he was happier when he saw Kate surrounded by gay admirers or when he was at home imagining what was going on about her.

There was but one cloud in the midst of all this sunshine, and that was that Mr. Delaplaine, Dame Charter, and her son Dickory could not forget that it was now in the line of events that Stede Bonnet would soon be with them, and beyond that all was chaos.

And over the seas sailed the good ship the Royal James, Capt. Thomas in command.

CHAPTER XXXIII.

THE TIDE DECIDES.

IT was now September, and the weather was beautiful on the North Carolina coast. Capt. Thomas (late Bonnet) of the Royal James (late Revenge) had always enjoyed cool nights and invigorating morning air, and, therefore it was that he said to his faithful servitor, Ben Greenway, when first he stepped out upon the deck as his vessel lay comfortably anchored in a little cove in the Cape Fear river, that he did not remember ever having been in a more pleasant harbor. This well-tried pirate captain—Stede Bonnet, as we shall call him, notwithstanding his assumption of another name—was in a genial mood as he drank in the morning air.

From his point of view he had a right to be genial; he had a right to be pleased with the scenery and the air; he had a right to swear at the Scotchman, and to ask him why he did not put on a merrier visage on such a sparkling morning, for since he had first started out as Capt. Thomas, of the Royal James, he had been a most successful pirate. He had sailed up the Virginia coast; he had burned, he had sunk, he had robbed, he had slain; he had gone up the Delaware bay, and the people in ships and the people on the coasts trembled even when they heard that his black flag had been sighted.

No man could now say that the former captain of the Revenge was not an accomplished and seasoned desperado. Even the great Blackbeard would not have cared to give him nicknames, nor dared to play his blithesome tricks upon him; he was now no more Capt. Nightcap to any man. His crew of hairy ruffians had learned to understand that he knew what he wanted, and, more than that, he knew how to order it done. They listened to his great oaths and they respected him. This powerful pirate now commanded a small fleet, for in the cove where lay his flagship also lay two good-sized sloops, manned by their own crews, which he had captured in Delaware bay and had brought down with him to this quiet spot, a few miles up the Cape Fear river, where now he was repairing his own ship, which had had a hard time of it since she had again come into his hands.

For many a long day the sound of the hammer and the saw had mingled with the song of the birds, and Capt. Bonnet felt that in a day or two he might again sail out upon the sea, conveying his two prizes to some convenient mart, while he, with his good ship, freshened and restored, would go in search of more victories, more booty, and more blood.

There were great prospects before our pirate captain. Perhaps he might have the grand good fortune to fall in with that low-born devil, Blackbeard, who, when last he had been heard from, commanded but a small vessel, fearing no attack upon this coast. What a proud and glorious moment it would be when a broadside and another and another should be poured in upon his little craft from the long guns of the Royal James.

Bonnet was still standing, reflecting, with bright eyes, upon this dazzling future, and wondering what would be the best way of letting the dastardly Blackbeard know whose guns they were which had sunk his ship, when a boat was seen coming around the headland. This was one of his own boats, which had been posted as a sentinel, and which now brought the news that two vessels were coming in at the mouth of the river, but that as the distance was great and the night was coming on they could not decide what manner of craft they were.

This information made everybody jump, on board the Royal James, and the noise of the sawing and the hammering ceased as completely as had the songs of the birds. In a few minutes that quick and able mariner, Bonnet, had sent three armed boats down the river to reconnoiter. If the vessels entering the river were merchantmen, they should not be allowed to get away; but if they were enemies, although it was difficult to understand how enemies could make their appearance in these quiet waters, they must be attended to, either by fight or flight.

When the three boats came back, and it was late before they appeared, every man upon the Royal James was crowded along her side to hear the news, and even the people on the prizes knew that something had happened, and stood upon every point of vantage, hoping that in some way they could find out what it was.

The news brought by the boats was to the effect that two vessels, not sailing as merchantmen and well armed and manned, were now ashore on sandbars, not very far above the mouth of the river. Now Bonnet swore bravely. If the work upon his vessel had been finished he would up anchor and away and sail past these two grounded ships, whatever they were and whatever they came for. He would sail past them and take with him his two prizes; he would glide out to sea with the tide, and he would laugh at them as he left them behind. But the royal James was not ready to sail.

The tide was now low; five hours afterward, when it should be high, those two ships, whatever they were, would float again, and the Royal James, whatever her course of action should be, would be cut off from the mouth of the river. This was a greater risk than even a pirate as bold as Bonnet would wish to run, and so there was no sleep that night on the Royal James. The blows of the hammers and the sounds of the saws made a greater noise than they had ever done before, so that the night birds were frightened and flew shrieking away. Every man worked with all the energy that was in him, for each hairy rascal had reason to believe that if the vessel they were on did not get out of the river before the two armed strangers should be afloat there might be hard times ahead for them. Even Ben Greenway was aroused. "The de'il shall not get him any sooner than can be helped," he said to himself, and he hammered and sawed with the rest of them.

On his stout and well-armed sloop the Henry, Mr. William Rhett, of Charles Town, South Carolina, paced anxiously all night. Frequently from the sand-bar on which his vessel was grounded he called over to his other sloop, also fast grounded, giving orders and asking questions. On both vessels everybody was at work, getting ready for action when the tide should rise.

Some weeks before the wails and complaints of a tortured sea-coast had come down from the Jersey shores to South Carolina, asking for help at the only place along that coast whence help could come. A pirate named Thomas was working his way southward, spreading terror before him and leaving misery behind. These appeals touched the hearts of the people of Charles Town already sore from the injuries and insults inflicted upon them by Blackbeard in those days when Bonnet sat silently on the pirate ship, doing nothing and learning much.

There was no hesitancy; for their own sake and for the sake of their commerce, this new pirate must not come to Charles Town harbor, and an expedition of two vessels, heavily armed and well manned and commanded by Mr. William Rhett, was sent northward up the coast to look for the pirate named Thomas and to destroy him and his ship. Mr. Rhett was not a military man, nor did he belong to the navy. He was a citizen capable of commanding soldiers, and as such he went forth to destroy the pirate Thomas.

PAUL JONES' BODY.

Interesting Details From Ambassador—France to Honor Remains.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Interesting dispatches have been received at the state department from Ambassador Porter giving additional details regarding the recovery and identification of the body of John Paul Jones. The ambassador says:

"The intelligent, painstaking and conscientious work of the scientists who completed the task of identifying the remains of Admiral Jones was most interesting.

"Finding that the body showed some signs of changing in appearance from exposure to the air, as soon as the examinations were completed I had it treated at the Ecole de Medecin with a preparation which I am assured will prevent any deterioration. The body was then redressed in the shirt and sheet in which it was found and carefully packed so as not to be injured by shocks in transportation and replaced in its original coffin. This was inclosed in a leaden casket with a plate glass showing the head and chest and hermetically closed.

"Seals were then affixed in such manner that it could not be opened without breaking them. This was placed in an outer coffin of oak, and the remains were then quietly transferred from the School of Medicine to the American church of the Holy Trinity and placed in the receiving vault, where it lies covered with the American flag.

"Any time in June will be a good season for the removal of the remains from Paris. It is stated that the features are wonderfully well preserved and bear an expression of sleeping in calm repose.

"I am very glad that a squadron is to be sent to carry these honored remains to the land which Paul Jones so heroically served. When the body is borne through the city of Paris we can count upon the French government to provide a military escort commensurate with his rank and take every possible measure to do honor to his memory. I shall remain here for the ceremony."

Roosevelt Party Had No Luck.

GLENWOOD SPRINGS, Colo., May 2.—President Roosevelt and members of his hunting party were in the saddle from 8 until 4:30 o'clock, returning without a pelt of any kind. They did not even sight any game. Secretary Loeb has reached camp. The hunters did not occupy their old camp on East Divide creek, as the president desired to await Mr. Loeb's arrival in the present quarters on West Divide creek. New bear tracks in great number have been reported near the Penny ranch, on East Divide creek, where luck went against the hunters when they started out.

Frank Havens Shot by Stenographer.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 2.—Frank Havens, secretary of the local board of underwriters, was shot in his office last night by his stenographer, Julia Cravers, aged twenty-three years. The ball entered his head, and he died soon after. It is claimed that the shooting was accidental, Miss Cravers playfully pointing the revolver at Havens' head and commanding him to throw up his hands. She is under arrest. Havens was thirty-eight years old and the father of two children.

Recommend Hooker's Removal.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 2.—Legislative proceedings for the removal of Justice Warren B. Hooker of the Eighth judicial district from the supreme court bench of this state were unanimously recommended in the report of the assembly judiciary committee to that house last night of its investigation of the charges affecting the justice. The report is signed by eleven of the thirteen members of the committee.

Commodore Nicholson Dead.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Commodore Somerville Nicholson, U. S. N., retired, died here last night, aged eighty-three years. He was a native of New York and entered the navy in 1839, retiring in 1881. He was navigating officer of Commodore Perry's flagship on the expedition to Japan in the fifties and was present at the signing of the American treaty with that country.

Will Not Expel Gingrich.

LANCASTER, Pa., May 2. — President John S. Stahr has formally announced to the students of Franklin and Marshall college that the faculty would not grant their petition requesting the expulsion of Freshman Oscar Gingrich of Lebanon, who recently shot into a crowd of sophomores who were hazing him and wounded one of them.

Charged With Killing Her Child.

MANCHESTER, Va., May 2.—The case of Mrs. Sheppard K. Smith, charged with beating her five-year-old son to death, was again called in the police court here. The case was postponed until Thursday, awaiting the arrival of her husband. Meanwhile parts of the body of the boy are undergoing microscopical examination.

Bought Detroit Road For $2,000,000.

SPRINGFIELD, O., May 2.—Otto Bannard, chairman of the bondholders' committee, purchased the Detroit Southern railway at the master commissioner's sale here. His bid was $2,000,000. Mr. Bannard, who is president of the New York Security and Trust company, was the only bidder.

Found Buried Gold and Wine.

FORT MADISON, Ia., May 2.—While removing an old cistern wall from an excavation, James J. Malley discovered in the debris bags containing $11,500 in gold and two small casks of wine. As soon as removed the bags and the kegs crumbled. The cistern had not been used for forty years.

DIAMOND DUST.

The Hobokens defeated the Ridgewoods at Ridgewood Sunday afternoon by the score of 7 to 6. It was the strongest aggregation met this season by the Hobokens, as the Ridgewood were reinforced by five of the New York Americans: Conroy, 3b; Elberfield, ss; Williams, 2b; Anderson, of; Kleinow, lf. "Lefty" Davis and Spering formed the battery. Sprague played right field and Diehl was on first base for the Ridgewoods. The Hobokens had their regular lineup, and aside from a few errors, due to the bad condition of the grounds, put up their usual fast, snappy game.

Local fandom was greatly disappointed on Saturday when it was learned that the game between Plainfield and Chatham was called off on account of the weather. The two teams were here but returned home early. Not only were the fans disappointed, but the players as well. They were anxious for a contest, and the locals felt sure that a third victory would be theirs. McKenna, formerly of the Hoboken pitching staff, accompanied the team and was to have occupied the box against the Morris county boys. Mac has been pitching in Brooklyn and has record is a good one. Commencing with Saturday the local management expect to have Linderman as the regular twirler and it is predicted that his work will be entirely satisfactory. Unfortunately, Jimmie Beisel injured his arm a few days ago, and he may not be able to do any twirling for some time. That he has the makings of a good pitcher there is no doubt, and with more experience he will be among the very best in the business. He has all the curves and excellent control, and his friends wish to see him do well.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The Brotherhood of the First M. E. church has postponed its reception to Rev. A. C. McCrea until Friday, May 12.

Preparatory services will be held at the Congregational church tomorrow night and the communion services on Sunday morning.

The Junior Christian Endeavor Society of the Congregational church will meet Thursday afternoon at 3:45 o'clock as usual.

The regular communion service and reception of new members will be held at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church on Sunday morning.

Beginning on Sunday, R. Wilson Derby will sing in one of the churches at Perth Amboy, having resigned his position at the First Presbyterian church.

The Women's Association, of the Congregational church, will meet in the church this afternoon at 2:30. Work will be begun sewing for a missionary family.

The members of the Christian church on Grove street will conduct a fair beginning Monday of next week and continuing until Thursday. There will be numerous booths for the sale of articles and a musical programme each evening.

Rev. A. C. McCrea will make an address in Vincent chapel tomorrow night at a special meeting of the Women's Home Missionary Society. Mrs. S. H. Tugwell will sing a solo and an offering will be received for one of the home mission schools.

The preparatory lecture and service will be held at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church Friday night at 8 o'clock. After the lecture the Session will meet to examine those offering themselves for admission to the church on profession of faith and also those who come by dismissal from other churches.

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the First Baptist church will hold a meeting of special interest tomorrow afternoon. Miss Whitney will read a sketch on Japanese art, Mrs. Robert Lowry will present a paper on "Forces in the Conflict," and the paper on current events will be read by Miss Ida Yerkes.

SOCIETY NOTES.

Walter Serrell, of Myrtle avenue, who has been detained at home by illness, is much improved.

Mrs. J. Evarts Tracy, of West Eighth street, who was operated upon Sunday for appendicitis, is improving.

Among the Plainfielders registered at the Chalfonte, Atlantic City, are Mr. and Mrs. Walter McGee, Miss McGee and A. B. Willis.

Mrs. Benjamin Arrowsmith Hegeman and daughter, Miss Virginia Hegeman, returned on Sunday from a delightful trip to Bermuda. They will soon return to this city.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Florence Serrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Serrell, of Myrtle avenue, and John P. Reynolds, of Charlestown, S. C. They will be married in the fall.

Invitations have been sent out by Mrs. Frederick Goodhue Mead for a tea in honor of Miss Kay and Miss Lowe to be given Thursday, May 4, from 4 to 6 o'clock, at Mrs. Mead's home, "Sunnyside," on East Front street.

Runaways in Two Collisions.

A team of horses belonging to Boice, Runyon & Co., took fright at Second street and Park avenue yesterday and struck W. F. Arnold's carriage, springing the rear axle, and at Ninth street they dashed against Pine Yetman's horse. The latter was knocked down and slightly injured.

SUPREME COURT OPENED

distinction to the bar, and to the bench?

"Brethren of the Union County Bar, on this occasion, which can have no parallel in your lives or mine, it is fitting that we should ask ourselves these questions, and take counsel together.'

"No lawyer does his duty by the State, who is unmindful of the dignity of his calling, or who is not willing at all times to have his professional conduct measured by a standard as strict as that which we apply to the judicial office itself. Our judges spring from the bar, and State and National councils in this country are dominated by the bar. This free people has conferred upon us inestimable privileges, and if we are unworthy of them, then are we ingrates indeed.

"The great French Chancellor, D'Agueseau, well said of our profession, that it is 'An order as ancient as magistracy, as noble as virtue, and as necessary as justice.'

"Sir John Davys declared that the profession of the law 'is to be preferred before all other human professions or sciences, as being most noble for the matter and subject thereof, most necessary for the common and continued use thereof, and most meritorious for the good effects it doth produce in the commonwealth.'

"These words do not unduly magnify our office. To lawyers who live up to the high standard of our predecessors, and from day to day perform the trusts reposed in them, sinking self and fighting with all their energies to protect the property, the reputation, the honor and as times the lives of their clients, always devoting to others their skill and fidelity and indefatigable zeal, it becomes a second nature to be true to every trust, and that is the secret of their power. Bribery and corruption have for generations been barred from the halls of justice, a condition for which other departments of public life have striven in vain. Is the reason for this proud distinction hard to find? It is none other than the personal integrity of the bench and bar.

"If we are to maintain this high standard, it behooves us, like those of our predecessors whose memory we revere, to cultivate a 'chastity of honor, which feels a stain like a wound.'

"May it please the court, with these sentiments and on behalf of the bar of Union County, I pledge your Honors our unstinted efforts toward making the history of our labors here, worthy of the best traditions of the bar of the State."

After a five minute recess, the court took up the regular order, calling the several cases on the calendar.

A ROUTINE MEETING.

No Important Business Transacted by Hospital Governors Last Night.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Governors, of Muhlenberg Hospital last night, only routine business was transacted.

The report of patients for the month of April was as follows: Remaining in hospital April 1, 28; admitted, 55; total number treated, 78; discharged cured, 39; improved, 6; unimproved, 2; died, 2; remaining, 29; operations, 37. In dispensary—number of patients, 45; visits of patients, 137; operations, 3.

Mr. Anguerbauer's Advance.

Henry Anguerbauer, who has been employed at the local store of the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company, on West Front street, for the past nine years, has been chosen by the company as manager for the new store to be opened at 32d street and Avenue D, Bayonne, on Friday and Saturday, May 19 and 20. The selection of Mr. Anguerbauer for this position reflects credit. He entered the employ of the company nine years ago passing bills and from that position he has gradually worked himself up to be a very valuable assistant to Manager Vanderhoff, of the local store.

Medical License Examinations.

The regular examination for the medical license of New Jersey will be held at Trenton June 20-21. Applications must be filed with the secretary of the State Board of Medical Examiners on or before June 10. Applicants who do not hold a high school diploma, or its equivalent, may take the county examinations for teachers on the first Friday and Saturday in May, or the State examination for teachers on the second Thursday, Friday and Saturday in June.

Schools Reopen.

All the schools in the city and borough reopened after the Easter vacation yesterday. At the chapel exercises at the Plainfield High School, Mr. Travell spoke briefly of his trip to Washington during the vacation. He ended up with words, encouraging the pupils to do their best during the remainder of the year.

—A hustling merchant never keeps a good article; he always sells it. That's why those fancy strawberries at Nenman Brothers' are bought up as soon as they are shown.

WIVES ARE USING THEIR HUSBANDS' RHEUMATISM POWDER FOR THEIR COMPLEXION.

A Strange Complaint From Rheumatic Benedicts.

The man who brings home a box of his favorite bonbons must expect his wife to eat three-quarters of them, as a matter of course. And if he is so dainty as to use talcum powder after shaving, it is the right of his wife to use nine-tenths of every box. But it would seem reasonable that a man might claim the right to have exclusive use of the box of Volta powder that he brings home to cure the pains and aches which he suffers from rheumatism, especially when no one else in the family has a touch of it.

But not so. There is a paragraph in the circular which comes around the box which says that the wonderful brown powder will improve the complexion and give rosy cheeks—that persons whose faces and bodies have been filled with pimples for years may, by the use of the brown powder sprinkled in the shoes for a time, thereafter enjoy the finest and clearest complexions.

It's only human nature for the woman who has worried about such a disfigurement to seize upon the opportunity for certain cure—but she won't tell her husband about it, for fear of being laughed at; and so the poor man wonders if the powder can be evaporating, and berates the innocent manufacturers for not warning him about it.

Primarily, Volta is the greatest of all rheumatism cures—discovered by the celebrated Italian physicist, Prof. Allessandro Volta—but the very nature of its wonderful blood purifying qualities, which enable it to dissolve and release the urates that cause rheumatism, also expel the other impurities of the blood; which cause pimples, boils and the like. There is no cosmetic, no spring medicine, no other blood purifier that is at once so simple, so innocent, and yet so effective as Volta. And best of all, you don't have to drug your stomach. Volta is simply sprinkled in the shoes, and absorbed into the blood through the pores of the soles of the feet.

Its cures of rheumatism, sciatica and kindred troubles have been simply marvelous—though heretofore limited to those who happened to know of the agents from whom it could be secured. Now all the largest drug and department stores have it; and any druggist can get it for you, from his wholesaler. On sale at L. W. Randolph's, 143 West Front street, John P. Powers, Somerset street and Craig place, or you can order it by mail, direct from the American Volta Co., 13 Astor place, New York City. Price, $1.00.

Park Club's Achievement in the Last Twelve Months.

TRUSTEES - ELECT

Cash Receipts Over $16,000—Reports for the Year Are Read.

The most successful year in the history of the Park Club has just closed and in the reports presented at the annual meeting last night, it was shown that during the last fiscal year, the membership has doubled, the present number being 201. S. St. John McCutchen presided at the meeting. Charles B. Morse acted as secretary pro tem in the absence of Allen B. Laing and Charles L. Nichols, A. V. Heely and F. H. Ball were inspectors of election.

According to the custom three trustees were elected to serve three years. Those chosen were Dr. B. VanD. Hedges, J. B. Betts and Charles Dupee. On nominations this committee was elected: Ernest R. Ackerman, A. V. Heely and John Valiant.

The report of Nelson A. Miller as treasurer, was gratifying. The general fund showed cash receipts of $16,116.66, and a cash balance of $134.31. The building fund showed the following items: Cash on hand, October 1, 1903, $974 60, which together with the amounts received from subscribers and the Plainfield Trust Company, with interest, totals $6,716.59, all of which has been disbursed. The women's furnishing fund showed receipts and disbursements of $305.01. A summary shows the assets to be $26,411.08 and the liabilities including bonds due in 1907, $9,300; note at bank, $2,500; dues paid in advance, $78 50 and net worth, to be $26,411.08. With the presentation of this report Mr. Miller retired from the office and a vote of thanks was given to him.

Following the annual meeting there was the meeting of the trustees, when these officers were elected: President, S. St. John McCutchen; vice president, Edward H. Ladd, Jr.; treasurer, J. B. Betts; secretary, C. Everitt Murray. George T. Rogers was chosen chairman of the house committee. The other committees will be appointed later. The excellent manner in which President McCutchen and the other officers directed the affairs of the club last year was commented upon favorably by the members.

LICENSES GRANTED IN UNION CO. COURT

SEVERAL APPLICATIONS ALLOWED IN COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.

In the Court of Common Pleas of Union County yesterday morning, presided over by Judge Vail, the following licenses throughout the townships were granted:

Ward, Garwood; Herman J. Becker, Garwood; John J. Maher, New Providence; Berthold Heim, Fanwood.

The following applications were laid over until Saturday next: John Vogel, township of Linden; Samuel K. Brent, Roselle Park; Louis J. Coombs, Fanwood; John James, Springfield; Jacob Glaser, Springfield township.

Consider Library Gift.

The Board of Directors of the Plainfield Public Library met last night and after transacting routine business, considered O. T. Waring's gift of a transparency of "El Capitan in the Yosemite Valley," to the art gallery. It was decided to refer the matter to the art committee with power.

Col. Tyler Not to Speak.

Col. Mason W. Tyler, who was to have delivered an address before the Board of Trade tomorrow night, has been called to Washington, D. C. Another speaker will be secured in his place.

To Take Charge of Choir.

Mrs. Charles F. Odell, of Tarrytown, N. Y., recently engaged as organist at the Church of the Holy Cross will assume her duties on Sunday.

CRESCENT COMPANY GIVES A "LADIES' NIGHT"

MINSTREL SHOW AND DANCE FEATURES OF THE PROGRAMME.

Crescent Company, No. 13, U. R. K. of P., had one of the most successful affairs in its history, last night, when it gave the third of the season's receptions to its women friends in Perseverance lodge rooms. The main hall was filled to its capacity, fully 400 people being present and enjoying the entertainment and dance that followed.

The feature of the programme was the appearance of the Perseverance minstrels, who again score a big hit with their conglomeration of songs, jokes and dances. The young men were all in natty costumes of duck trousers and outing shirts and they were longly applauded as the curtains were drawn after the singing of "In the Evening by the Moonlight." Alexanders Muir was in his accustomed place as interlocuter and George B. Cose, Harry Blimm, Thomas M. Muir and B. C. Firstbrook wielded the tambos on the end. Solos were given by these principals and also by Elmer D. Cutting, George Pope, William Tunison, Tony Lusardi, Ira C. Bowers and Jack Todd. Edward Clark was the efficient accompanist.

Other numbers on the programme were an illustrated lecture on "Damon and Pythians" by David Bowden and violin selections by Miss Mamie Seal, accompanied by Miss Mary Asden. With the conclusion, dancing was taken up and enjoyed until well after midnight, refreshments being served during an intermission. Professor O'Reilly's orchestra furnished the music.

The committee which arranged and had charge of the affair consisted of Walter L. Hetfield, chairman; Samuel J. Robinson and Harry Keene.

WM. BROWN LOSES HIS DRYDOCK SUIT

SHOWN ON TRIAL THAT HE DID NOT BIND AGREEMENT.

William Brown, of Dunellen, has lost his suit to compel the Brown Drydock Company, of Jersey City, to turn over its business to him for $42,000. Brown sought to prove that the company's directors agreed to sell him the business for certain considerations, amounting in value to the sum mentioned, but that the president afterwards refused to accept the tender of money and stock agreed upon, and would not consent to deliver the premises into his control.

At the trial of the case it was shown that no money was paid, and the court ruled against the plaintiff on the ground that nothing passed between the parties to bind the agreement.

Agriculturists Meet.

The quarterly meeting of the Somerset County Board of Agriculture was held in the Court House at Somerville Saturday afternoon. The rain caused the attendance to be rather meagre. A. A. Cortelyou, of Neshanic, read a paper on "Corn," and a general discussion followed. The Rev. William Johnston, of Somerville, was unable to be present, and so Major Dungan read the domine's paper on "Crops in Porto Rico." State Secretary Dye said that during the past year there were 25,655 acres of corn in Somerset County that yielded 1,352,750 bushels, which at 60 cents a bushel netted the farmers of the county $769,650. He urged the farmers to increase the yield this year by at least ten bushels to the acre.

Women's Night.

To mark their last meeting of the season, which will be held June 6, the members of the Men's Club, of the Congregational church, will make that session a "ladies' night." The affair was voted at the meeting of the organization last night. The club accepted an invitation from the Men's Club, of the First Baptist church to a social meeting next Monday night.

Herring Hearing Tomorrow.

The hearing in the supplementary proceedings against Dr. G. D. Herring, in the hard-fought rent suit brought by C. H. Hand and F. H. Smith, will begin tomorrow morning before Supreme Court Commissioner John H. VanWinkle, in the latter's offices on East Front street.

MILK LICENSES GRANTED

Board of Health Issues Permits at Its May Meeting.

SOME ARE REFUSED

Plumbers File the Necessary Bond, Though a Few Fail to Do So—Month's Statistics.

One of the most important matters considered at the May meeting of the Board of Health, yesterday, was that in reference to the granting and renewal of permits to sell milk and cream. While many permits were renewed, several failed to apply and some not having come up to the necessary requirements, were refused permits.

These milk dealers had their permits renewed:

Chris Kelley, Claus Peterson, Fred W. Gray, J. A. Smith & Bro., Charles F. Drake, John I. Finley, Marchant Bros., R. H. Krog, W. W. Drake, Charles Johnson, L. D. Morris, Charles Keller, Patrick J. Regan, W. H. Moffett, J. H. Knight, D. Swenson, Herbert H. Williams, A. P. Voorhees, J. W. Beetham, Peter Neuman, Willswood Farms Dairy Company, E. R. Waldron, Peter Rose, J. P. Gavin, E. P. & D. E. Gavin, L. C. Meeker, William Lindsay & Son, Mrs. N. E. Risberg, James L. Love, Mrs. Thomas King, K. Rottberg, Louis Pollock, A. Kunsman.

The health officer reported that the following milkmen had not applied for a renewal of their permits to sell milk:

W. H. Clark, C. F. Debele, I. W. Fisher, Alexander Gerden, P. J. Haines, G. W. Henry, S. Hetfield, A. R. Phillips, G. W. Smalley, F. M. Suydam, W. S. Terry, F. Weiland, G. R. Wooden, Callahan & Son, F. H. Firstrbook, L. G. Henry, K. Sacher, C. O. Smith, S. Sharkey, Mrs. George A. Schuck, Robert Sierah.

The above were referred to the food and drink committee with power to grant, providing applications were made and all conditions complied with, on or before May 10th.

The health officer was directed to notify these milkmen to make application on or before May 10th and if they failed to do so, they would not be all owed to sell milk in the city after that date. The penalty for selling milk in the city without a permit from the Board of Health is a fine of not more than $100.

The applications of D. S. Cole, M. C. Jennings and the Stillwell Milk and Cream Company and J. Hummel were referred to the food and drink committee with power so grant, provided certain conditions were complied with.

The following bonds were filed by the plumbers desiring to work in Plainfield:

Louis Morel, Jr., D. H. Pound & Bro., F. M. Masker, Herman F. Moosebrugger, John J. Leahy, George Kuldeshes, J. C. McVey & Son, A. H. Enander, D. S. Dunavan, D. W. Littell & Son, M. Armstrong, George J. Tobin, A. M. Griffen, Daniel Hogan.

The health officer was instructed to file no plans, accept no fees and give no inspections to those plumbers who have not filed their bonds.

The following men failed to file a renewal of their bonds:

D. J. Galbraith, A. S. Giles, J. J. Heideloff, C. W. Krause, H. C. McVey, J. L. Miller, C. M. Raybert, Jacob Voehl, Jr.

During the month of April the following returns were made to this office: Seven marriages, thirty-one births, three still-births, nineteen deaths.

Stay Benefit Payment.

An order from the Supreme Court, stating the payment of the Catholic Benevolent Legion $1,000 benefit to the heirs of Mrs. John Anderson, who won the interesting suit for the money against the heirs of the husband in the Court of Chancery, last week, after a year of litigation, has been secured by the defeated litigants. The next step in the case will be the filing of an appeal in the Court of Errors by Counsellor William Newcorn, lawyer for the Andersons.

Missionary Workers' Topics.

The Woman's Home Missionary Society, of the Crescent Avenue church, will hold its regular monthly meeting one Friday at 3:30 o'clock in the church parlor. Topics—"Foreigners in the United States" and "The Freedmen." Members are requested to bring items of interest regarding these subjects.

BUYS BUSINESS BLOCK

J. A. Staats Purchases Property in East Front Street.

J. D. MOON SELLS

Consideration $16,500—Frontage 58 Feet—Purely An investment.

The activity in the transfer of city business property still continues, the latest deal of importance being the sale of the Joseph D. Moon property on East Front street to J. A. Staats, of the Hotel Kensington, who recently purchased the Hotel Iroquois property at Park avenue and East Second street. This last deal was effected by Charles H. Lyman, the real estate broker, who has been very successful in the selling of property both here and elsewhere.

The property, which is located between police headquarters and that of Roth & Co., the butchers, has a frontage of fifty-eight feet and a depth of 175 feet, and the consideration was $16,500. It is now occupied by H. W. Marshall, the laundryman; J. W. F. Bamberger, the barber, and William Beiter, the locksmith. With the sale goes a half right to the driveway between the store occupied by Mr. Beiter and Roth & Co.

The property is one of the most valuable in the business part of the town. Mr. Staats purchased it purely as an investment.

MASTERPIECE FOUND HERE IT IS SAID

ENGLISHMAN OFFERS HENRY HAURAND $500 FOR IT.

For a small oil painting presented him several years ago by the late Julius Scott, Henry Haurand, of East Front street, received an offer of $500, yesterday. It was made by an English artist who is at present stopping in this city but was promptly refused because of the associations connected with the gift.

The painting, which is a hunting scene, was purchased by Colonel Scott for a few dollars at an auction in a West Front street place. Just before his death he gave it to Mr. Haurand as a memento with the statement at the time that it was worth considerable more than he had paid for it. The painting has been in need of retouching and a few days ago it was sent to Audsley's art store. There it was seen by the English artist who inquired for the owner after examining it critically and then made the offer. Mr. Haurand was surprised to learn of its value but declined to sell at any price owing to the warm friendship that had always existed between himself and Colonel Scott.

GREATER LINCOLN LIGHT.

Piscataway Township Arranges Big Improvement.

The Piscataway township committee last night decided to extend the lighting district to include the whole of greater Lincoln. According to the plans adopted the new lighting district for the booming Lincoln will begin at Harris lane school house and extend to Green brook, along that stream to the Central's tracks at Dunellen and thence to the East Bound Brook line and to the school house again.

When this improvement is made the road from Plainfield to Bound Brook will be lighted by electricity its entire length which will be good news to automobilists.

Apologized for Being Hit.

Charles Hyde, whose automobile bowled over Ensign Mages, of the Salvation Army, at Front street and Park avenue yesterday forenoon, called at Police Headquarters this morning to explain the accident to Chief Kiely. He had heard that somebody reported to the police that his machine was going at a fast clip when the accident occurred, and wanted the chief to know, from his own mouth and on his word of honor, that the auto was going at its slowest possible speed, which is not more than three or four miles an hour. The accident occurred, he said, through a miscalculation on the part of the Salvation Army man. The latter, Mr. Hyde said, recognized his own fault in the incident, and had apologized "for getting in the automobile's way."

Mrs. J. P. D. Kirch, of the borough left today for Tarrytown, N. Y., her former home, to visit her mother, who is ill.

HEALTH BOARD'S WORK

Quick Action Prevented the Spread of Scarlet Fever.

DAIRIES INSPECTED

Much Accomplished in Ridding City of Privy Vaults — Ready for Granting Barbers' Permits.

During the past month the city has been practically free from communicable diseases, continuing the excellent record of the past season. At the May meeting of the Board of Health, yesterday afternoon, the number of cases reported were what might be expected in a place the size of Plainfield. There were three deaths from tuberculosis. There were five cases of scarlet fever, three of diphtheria, one of typhoid and thirteen of measles.

On April 18, it was reported that two children at the Irving School were desquamating. Investigation by the school physician showed that they had scarlet fever. There being no physician in attendance and the mother not knowing the character of the disease they were allowed to go to school for a week before the disease was discovered. Every precaution was taken by the Board of Health to prevent a spread of the disease, the school rooms were disinfected, patients' books and pencils burned and the patients themselves placed under quarantine. As a result no other cases developed.

Health Officer L. R. Thurlow visited twenty-five dairies, the majority of which were found to be in good condition; thirty-six samples of milk were analyzed, only two of these being poor quality. Steps were taken to have this milk either raised in quality or excluded from Plainfield. The milk as a whole was of very good quality, especially in the bacteria.

Excellent work has been done during the past month in ridding the city of privy vaults. That section lying between East Sixth street, Park avenue, Franklin place and East Ninth street, was inspected for vaults only; in each case where a vault was found on the premises, a notice was served to have it abolished. Over one hundred such notices were served and this work will be continued. The health officer was instructed to continue the work on the house-to-house inspection and to employ such assistants as necessary.

The reports of the tenement house inspection were returned by the secretary of the State Board of Tenement House Supervision for further information; this was obtained during the month and notices will now be served in all cases of violation of the tenement house law.

The health officer was instructed to have the necessary permits and blanks prepared in accordance with the new barber ordinance and to notify all barbers that their applications for permits must be made on or before June 1.

These inspections were made during April: Water tests, 15; smoke tests, 3; sewer connections, 41; cesspool connections, 5; cellar closets, 8; alterations to plumbing systems, 5; defective plumbing systems, 1; visits to houses with communicable diseases, 45; inspection on complaint, 8; house-to-house inspections, 47.

WILL SHOOT AT SEA GIRT.

U. S. Regulars to Practice Marksmanship on the Seashore Range.

General Frederick D. Grant, commanding the department of the East, has issued orders detailing the United States troops to go to Sea Girt for rifle practise on the New Jersey range. They state that the arrangement is made by courtesy of the authorities of this State.

Companies E and H, of the Eighth Infantry, will proceed to Sea Girt from Fort Jay, May 10, and Company A, of the Eighth, will go from Fort Slocum the same date. When these have finished, Companies F and G will go from Fort Jay and Company B from Fort Slocum.

Major R. H. Wilson, of the Eighth Infantry, will command the camp during the time the regulars are there. The details of the visit will be arranged through Bird W. Spencer, inspector-general of rifle practise of New Jersey.

Looking at Court House.

Director J. W. Logan, R. W. Hoagland, T. E. Gibson and A. P. Stephen, of the Somerset County Freeholders, went to Norristown, Pa., yesterday to look over the new court house and jail, for ideas on the proposed new court house at Somerville.

Miss Mamie Swackhamer, of Whitehouse, has returned home after a visit with Plainfield relatives.

HEAD SLEUTH ARRESTS ALLEGED HANDBOOK MAN

CHIEF KIELY SAYS HE HAS EVIDENCE AGAINST WILLIAM SCHORB.

William Schorb, of East Front street, alleged by the police to be a handbook man, was arrested by Chief Kiely yesterday afternoon. For the benefit of those who are unlearned in the ways of the world be it explained that a handbook man is a racetrack bookmaker on a small and unofficial scale.

Schorb was called into police headquarters shortly after 1 o'clock in the afternoon, as he passed by the door. The chief told him briefly that he was under arrest, and searched him. The chief wouldn't say this morning what he found on Schorb, but intimated that evidence was among the things disclosed.

The prisoner was taken to Elizabeth, to enable the county prosecutor to keep in close touch with the case. He was arraigned before Justice Kelly in Elizabeth, and waived examination. He was held in $500 bail for the Grand Jury. William G. DeMeza appeared for him. Henry Haurand went on his bond.

Chief Kiely refused to divulge the nature or extent of the evidence against Schorb.

"We have evidence enough to convict any man," was all he would vouchsafe.

It is said, however, that the police had several bets placed through outsiders.

Schorb, it is said, succeeded another man in the handbook business about three months ago.

"We couldn't get at the other man," said the chief when asked about that report, "because he was foxy enough to do all, or practically all his business in Somerset County."

POSTAL CARD CANVASS BRINGING GOOD RESULTS

SHOWS BOROUGH'S CESSPOOL SYSTEM TO BE EXPENSIVE.

Postal cards sent out several weeks ago by Collector George F. Brown at the request of the North Plainfield Council in order to learn the expense of the present cesspool system for comparison with the cost of sewers, are beginning to be sent back by property owners. In nearly every instance they show that the residents are paying twice as much for the present antiquated method than what they would, for the modern way, figuring in the cost of maintenance and the payment of interest and principal on bonds.

Up to this time the district bounded by Somerset street, Greenbrook road, Grove street and Green brook has alone been canvassed but within a few weeks sections are to be asked for figures. These will be used by the Borough Council in its discussion of a sewage system as proposed by Mayor Smalley at the last meeting.

Pupils' Musicale.

The sixth musical given by the younger piano pupils of Miss F. May Grant took place at her residence in East Seventh street last evening. Two of the promising pupils are Miss Ethel Vail, of Elmwood place, and Miss Sadie Moskovitz, the latter who is just seven years of age. Both delighted their listeners with their classical selections. Later in the month Master James Vail, of Richmond terrace, will give a series of musicals, assisted by his teacher, who will give vocal selections.

Princeton Seniors Greet Spring.

According to an annual custom at Princeton, which marks the real opening of spring for the students, the members of the senior class took possession of the steps of "Old North" for the nightly singing session Monday night. This is a unique custom at Princeton, and has been in vogue there many years.

Deputy Collector's Good Work.

Deputy Collector W. W. Bowley is meeting with success in rounding up the borough's delinquent taxpayers. Up to the present time he has secured $150 from poll taxes alone, while the real estate and personal debts are rapidly being cleared.

Rasores Club Officers.

These officers were elected at the annual meeting of the Rasores Club held yesterday: President, Mrs. Horace Kimball; vice presidents, Mrs. I. C. Pierson, Mrs. W. D. W. Miller; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Henry R. Halloway.

JAP WILL RULE RUSS

Dr. Whitney Makes Prognostication in Church Club Talk.

SCORES ARISTOCRATS

Bad Ideals of Russian Grand Dukes Responsible for Bad Government —No Chestnuts in Truth.

Before the Men's Club, of the Congregational church last night, Rev. Dr. G. H. Whitney, of First place, former president of Hackettstown Institute, made an address on "The Ideal." It was in the nature of an informal talk and anecdotes and illustrations were frequently introduced, but one striking statement marked the discourse.

"The aristocrats govern Russia," said Dr. Whitney, speaking of the difference between good and bad ideals, "and their ideals are bad. Because the ideals of the aristocrats are bad the government of Russia is bad, and the Japanese will rule them."

Dr. Whitney did not dwell on that thought any further, more than to say that the ideals of the Japanese are high and "getting higher," so that his audience did not learn why the venerable educator expected the Jap to "rule" the Russ.

The talk was filled with humor of a light and delightful kind. Among other things, Dr. Whitney solemnly contended that there was no such thing as "chestnuts" in the vocabulary of Truth.

"A man said 'chestnuts' to me the other day when I was speaking to him," said the speaker, "and I took him by the arm and led him to the porch. "Chestnuts?" said. "No such thing! I'll show you a chestnut. There it is," said I, pointing. "I don't see it," he said.

"Maybe it isn't strange he didn't see it, because it was 95,000,000 miles away. I was showing him the sun. There's a chestnut for you!"

Dr. Whitney's talk received warm and prolonged applause. During the social hour that followed it was mildly lionized.

Before the address Dyckman Winckler played violin selections, and with refreshments of sandwiches, cake and coffee were being discussed at the latter end of the evening selections from J. V. Beekman's talking machine were enjoyed.

The refreshment committee of the club last night comprised Charles Belknap, Arthur Millard and John Gaub.

William Howard, of Rahway, former county clerk, is foreman of the Grand Jury, and the Plainfield members are H. C. VanEmburgh, Thomas Hanna, Frank W. Runyon, Herbert W. Buxton and Henry B. Paul. The petit jurors from this city are Alexander Ayers, Harold C. Durar, Michael O'Keefe and Edward Willis. They will not be obliged to report until Monday. Jacob Krimey has been chosen Grand Jury constable and Peter V. Weaver, court constable.

Lodge Register.

Under the direction of Grand Master Workman George Parker Sutton, of Collingswood, a neat pamphlet containing the names of all the subordinate lodges of the Ancient Order United Workmen, together with the names of each recorder as well as the Grand Lodge officers, has been issued and sent to each member in the State.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

If you are looking for desirable real estate consult W. H. Terhune & Son and they can always accommodate you.

Heagland's express. That name is synonymous with rapid and expert delivery of packages—one at a time or a number of them.

Fruits of the finest growth and most careful packing are always to be found at the store of Alex Lusardi, West Front street.

Amber joy, liquid delight. Beer. That is, some beer. The beer A. Bohren bottles is that kind. Telephone your order.

Fruent's West Front street store is headquarters for everything in the musical line. Drop in some time and see the display of phonographs.

J. Hervey Doane, the Park avenue jeweler, carries only the best goods and that is why he can guarantee every article. The prices are right.

Park avenue is the street to which our way should tend if you have clothes to clean or dye. G. O. Keller's store is the place to leave them.

Overwrought nerves are soothed by nothing to such an extent as by a Turkish bath. Perfect bath service at Brookside Sanitarium, North Plainfield.

The Nickle Yara cigar is still holding its own against all competitors. M. C. Dobbins, the maker and seller, says the sales have been increasing steadily.

Charles Conover & Co., the painters and decorators of Elmwood place, are carrying a fine line of domestic and imported wall-papers. An early selection is desirable.

Not only does W. W. Dunn, the Park grocer, make a specialty of fresh goods and low prices, but his delivery system is one of the best in the city. He solicits a trial order.

An electrical plant may easily be ruined by an inexperienced workman. Allen B. Laing, the North avenue electrical contractor, has men in his employ who are strictly reliable.

The Hotel Waldorf is located on East Front street and it has superior accommodations for either permanent or transient guests. Proprietor Windham would be pleased to have you call.

The Sanitary Washing Company makes a specialty of family washing. A postal sent to the office at Muhlenberg place and South Second street will bring a representative to your home.

Smalley Brothers, the North avenue market men, handle the very best Jersey pork, sausage and poultry. They have been in the business for many years and know how to make selections.

Clothes make the man. Not always, but lots of times. Often enough to make clothes the most important subject of daily life. Let H. Solomon, Somerset street, make 'em; they'll make you.

For anything in the line of general hardware, the store of Worth & Marsh on Somerset street (Heidelelt's old stand) is the place to go. They are making a special showing of seeds and garden tools.

Marchant Bros., North avenue. That's the place. Leave your orders for milk and cream there. Every order is met with the delivery of the richest cream, the purest milk to be found anywhere.

Every man who would be well dressed needs but to step at James R. Blair's haberdashery to get the latest suggestion. Everything there in the line of hats, caps, neckwear, gloves, half hose and linen.

Cleaning and dyeing. Are you interested? Brown & Brown, West Second street, are the dyers and cleaners that fastidious women prefer. Why? Simply because they "know how." Few so-called dyers do.

Has Peck got you? You are glad of it, if he has. The business that goes to Peck's store, West Front street, stays there. No woman can shop there "for the first and only time," unless she dies after the initial trip. The stock is a winner.

When you trade with Roth & Co., the East Front street butchers, you are always sure of getting the best cuts of beef, fresh or salt and fish that is absolutely fresh. The firm has a reputation for selling only first quality meat and the prices are within your reach.

The time for looking after the garden and farm has arrived and if you need implements the place to get them is at the H. H. Gayle Hardware Company. This company carries a very large line of garden and farming implements of the best manufacture, all guaranteed goods.

It isn't only a new building that is the Plainfield Trust Company's claim to the public attention. It has a new way of doing business that is keeping the wise and thrifty wage-earner and business man looking at it. The Trust Company is fast becoming the financial center of this section.

BOOK NEWS.

Public Library Notes.

Children and the Public Library.

Of social work, one of the most important aspects is everywhere recognized to be the work done with children. The work of a Public Library which is both educational and social is no exception. And if it is one of the most important works, it is also one of the most interesting. With the recognition of its importance, libraries are coming to make more adequate provision for it. No Public Libraries are erected now without at least one room for children, which if possible is presided over by some one whose especial duty it is to see that the children's wants are supplied. There is no more interesting room for one visiting the Public Library to go to than the "children's room," with its low shelves, attractive pictures, tiny tables and chairs, enthusiastic attendants, with happy-faced children all about, children of all sizes and from all conditions of life, the older ones busily reading, their smaller brothers and sisters as busily engaged with the picture books. Without a visit to the homes of some of these children, it would perhaps be difficult to realize what such a room may mean, with all its brightness, its abundant provision of good books, and its ever-ready welcome. That such rooms meet a distinct need is evidenced by the large attendance of small visitors.

Though Plainfield's Library has no children's room, or special attendant for children, it has a "children's corner," where their books are kept, and near enough to the desk so that their questions may be readily answered and such help given them as they need. Effort is made to select only the best books and to make them as accessible as possible. With its limited funds the Library is unable to do any more at present. It is not uncommon to see the one table quite surrounded with children, two on one chair and others sitting on the floor. It is certainly a most popular feature of the Library and one which it is hoped may have its effect in so stimulating the desire for good books that our young people may turn away from the stuff offered them on news stands, with their crudely covered blood-curdling tales, their unreal views of life, and their undue stimulation of the imagination, and to turn away also from that form of literature by which the soulless purveyors corrupt the pure minds of children.

Not all of the Library's work is done at the Library. Schools and Library are whenever possible working together to bring about the love for good literature. One way by which this is done is through a modification of the "traveling library." To the Lincoln, the Bryant, and Irving schools, and also to St. Mary's school, a selected lot of about 100 books is sent. These are divided among the grades, and each teacher circulates her quota among the pupils. Some of these bear directly on the grade work, others are purely for recreation, and the plan has, through the disinterested work of the teacher, been attended with unqualified success. Children who, because of the distance, would be practically debarred from the use of the Library, are thus put in touch with the best children's literature, and this under the guidance of the teacher, who, knowing the needs of the individual child, can recommend intelligently. Miss Griffin, principal of the Bryant and Lincoln schools, says of the plan: "Pupils who have not been connected with the Public Library and have shown little desire for reading, pupils who have very little reading matter in their homes, have become interested in good reading and really have seemed to appreciate the privilege of having access to part of the Public Library. In several cases mothers and older sisters have seemed as grateful as the pupils themselves"; and Miss Petrie, principal of the Irving school, says: "Through the circulation of the books a desire to read has been cultivated; and as the books are classified to each grade, we find them a great help in adding information to the study of geography and language. We are also assured that the use of the books has done much in a general way toward raising the standard of intelligence, especially in the higher grades." Beside this work, to each teacher is given a card on which she can take an increased number and retain for a longer time the books needed in bringing a given topic vividly before her pupils. For example, if the geography of a country is being studied, interesting and fully illustrated books on that subject are supplied in quantity and these are passed freely about among the children, and who can doubt that the child's mind receives a more lasting impression from this method than in the old way when no such use of illustrative material was thought of. In fact, from the lower grades up, modern methods of teaching require abundant illustrative material, and it is just here that the Library can serve the school.

Another large use made by the schools is reference use. Is an essay to be written, a debate worked up, or fuller material asked than that supplied by the text book? Then the pupil is sent to the Public Library and is given such assistance as his needs require. One year, with a view of teaching pupils the more intelligent use of the Library's resources, regular instruction was given by the Librarian to the pupils at the Library, whole classes visiting the Library for the purpose. Unquestionably this made of them much readier users of books, but the pressure of Library work in other directions made it impossible to continue it. In fact there are many avenues of service to the children of the community that are closed because the necessary funds are lacking to enter upon them. With a children's room, such for example as will be found in the neighboring city of Passaic, with enough books and with an attendant whose whole work should be with children, the possibilities of services are almost endless. We cannot dwell on this, however, but must content ourselves with doing what is within our power, which is to supply the best books, to give the children as much help as time will allow, and always a welcome at the Public Library.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Mrs. Helen Weill gave the last of her series of lecture-readings at the home of Mrs. G. P. Mellick, of East Seventh street, Monday morning, her subject being "A Blot in the 'Scutcheon."

—If your income taxes too many vacations you will take too few. If you own, and rent, one or a dozen houses or pieces of property, tenantless which are not instantly repaired will keep you "property-poor." Publicity prevents "property-poverty."

—Medals were presented to the winners in the Leal's field meet, Monday, by John Leal. Manning received for scoring the greatest number of points among the seniors, a cup offered by E. S. Hooley. Daniel and George Hooley, who were tie for second place, received a gold medal offered by Mr. Leal. Otis Averill and Painter, winners of points among the juniors, each received a silver medal given by Dr. G. W. Endicott.

RAND DEMANDS LIFE

Nan Patterson Withers Under Scorching Ordeal.

PROSTRATE, CARRIED OUT OF COURT

District Attorney Most Cutting When He Sneeringly Quoted, "This Butterfly"—Verdict Is Expected Early Today.

NEW YORK, May 3.—Swooning in the arms of her counsel and a court officer, who were half leading, half carrying her across the "bridge of sighs," Nan Patterson was carried to her cell in the Tombs completely prostrated as the result of Assistant District Attorney Rand's repeated denunciations.

In a courtroom crowded with well dressed women who had struggled to gain admission as they never struggled at theater or opera the woman who is accused of shooting the man for whom she professed the deepest love sat beside her counsel and tried to keep her nerve under the terrible denunciation of the earnest young lawyer who believes that the law demands her life.

There was color in her face when she entered the courtroom in the morning. It had left her cheeks long before the hour for recess came. By that time Mr. Rand had dissected and analyzed the testimony to the point where he said that there was everything to show that Young was tired of Nan, had been so for weeks and was trying to get away from her.

He had sacrificed Mr. Levy previously and had declared that every point made in the counsel's argument was "based upon a lie." He marveled, he said, "at the sublime audacity of Levy, who came into court empty handed except for mud."

But he was most cutting when he talked of the "Florodora" girl, "this butterfly," he quoted sneeringly.

"Does any one suppose that Caesar Young was not sober on that morning?" he said again. "Why, all he had to drink was half a dozen bottles of stout shared with his mistress. He wanted to be quit of this disgraceful mess he had got himself into with this woman. His better nature had once more reasserted itself."

The woman who sat upright, dressed all in black, next to Mr. Levy, kept her eyes fixed on the prosecutor, but an almost imperceptible swaying of her body from waist to head showed the strain. Again and again she sought to regain her poise, but as often the swaying commenced again.

The eyes of the crowded courtroom were upon her—curious, prying women's eyes, a few sympathizing, but most of them just coldly interested.

Would she faint away or collapse or would she be able to pull herself together? The women watched curiously and speculated. Rand was demanding not justice, not mercy from the jurors, but just the determination of one fact:

"Did Caesar Young kill himself or did Nan Patterson kill him?"

The ordeal of the morning was too much for her, and after listening to Assistant District Attorney Rand's vigorous denunciation she was led half fainting out of the courtroom and collapsed as she was crossing the "bridge of sighs."

Prominent Banker Dead at Pittsburg

PITTSBURG, May 3.—Charles Edward Speer, president of the First National bank of Pittsburg, died last night at his home of acute indigestion. Mr. Speer was one of the most prominent bankers of western Pennsylvania and widely known throughout the financial world. He was sixty-eight years old and had been connected with the First National bank since he was eighteen years old, entering that institution as messenger and rising to the presidency, which he had held for fifteen years. He was an elder of the First Presbyterian church and a leading light of that denomination in this section.

Students Ostracize Gingrich.

LANCASTER, Pa., May 3.—The students of Franklin and Marshall college have executed their threat to ostracize Oscar Gingrich of Lebanon, who recently shot a fellow student while being hazed, by leaving the class room upon his entrance. A majority of the students remained away from services at the chapel because of the presence of Gingrich. The faculty has not yet taken any action.

McCormick Received by Loubet.

PARIS, May 3.—Ambassador McCormick was received by President Loubet at the Elysee palace here with that military pomp which traditionally marks an ambassador's first meeting with the head of the republic and accepted his credentials with many friendly words.

Found a Useful Bug at Waco.

WACO, Tex., May 3.—Chief Howard of the entomological bureau, department of agriculture, at Washington, has been notified of the discovery in Falls county, Tex., of a peculiar bug which is destroying the boll weevil. The insect was found on a plant at or near Waco.

Big Cooperage Plant Destroyed.

BALTIMORE, May 3.—Kimball, Tyler & Co.'s cooperage plant, at Eighth and Gough streets, Highlandtown, a suburb of this city, has been destroyed by fire. A rough estimate is that $100,000 damage has been done.

Sugar Beet Sugar Plant Destroyed.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 3.—The plant of the sugar beet factory at St. Louis Park, a suburb of Minneapolis, was destroyed by fire. The plant, it is said, represented an investment of [illegible]

Band of Masked Men Robbed Gilbertsville (N. Y.) Bank.

EXPLOSION AROUSED THE VILLAGE

Bandits Cut All Wires Leading Out So That Alarm Could Not Spread. Held Back Many at Pistol Point and Escaped.

ONEONTA, N. Y., May 3.—A band of masked robbers rode into the sleeping village of Gilbertsville, about eighteen miles from here, at 3 o'clock in the morning, blew open the modern and supposedly burglar proof safe in the private bank of E. C. Brewer and made good their escape with booty estimated at between $5,000 and $10,000. When the startled villagers were awakened by the muffled roar of the explosion and had been halted by the pistol fire of the retreating bandits they found that the robbers had completely isolated Gilbertsville from the outside world by cutting all the telegraph and telephone wires. Efforts to communicate with neighboring towns were futile, and when the village folk finally started in pursuit the robbers had gained a lead which could not be overcome.

Gilbertsville, which is a community of 500 souls, set in a populous district of Otsego county, is dazed by the bold attack, which rivals in the details of its thoroughness, its daring and its success the exploits of the most notorious bandits of the western country.

It is believed there were five men in the band. That all were heavily armed was shown by the frequency of their fire when the first of the villagers arrived in the vicinity of the bank. The men first pried open the front door of the bank. Not a light glimmered in the village, and they evidently set about their work leisurely. Two holes were drilled into the heavy steel doors of the newly installed safe, and into these the explosives, believed to have been nitroglycerin, was inserted. The explosion which followed wholly wrecked the safe and shattered every window in the bank building. Portions of the safe were found many yards from the building.

The robbers hastily gathered up all the money exposed by the explosion and started on a run just as the first of the awakened villagers reached the scene. Among the first to arrive at the bank were W. F. Ward and C. A. Daniels, who encountered the robbers and were held in check by their threats to shoot. Other residents quickly came up, but in the meantime the invaders were making good their escape, firing as they went.

The alarm spread rapidly through the town, and in a short time everybody was awake and hurrying to the bank. Then an attempt to communicate with the neighboring towns was made in the hope of intercepting the burglars. Telegraph offices and the telephone exchange were opened, but the operators found only dead wires. Then plans for pursuit were quickly made. Postmaster W. S. Root and C. P. Root, his brother, started for Mount Upton, the nearest railroad station, six miles away. They had gone but half a mile when they came upon a team hitched to a telegraph pole. One of the horses had become entangled in the harness and thrown himself. The robbers apparently had made an attempt to right the harness in the darkness, but finally abandoned the effort and made off. The team proved to have been stolen from a neighboring barn.

Continuing on their way, Postmaster Root and his brother came upon a one horse surrey near Mount Upton. An axle of the vehicle was broken, and a short distance away was the horse, belonging to a farmer in the vicinity and taken from his barn during the night.

From Mount Upton word of the robbery was sent to all the neighboring towns. Posses were organized, but their efforts to locate the men have so far proved futile.

Mr. Brewer, who has conducted the bank at Gilbertville for many years, said that he could make no statement as to the extent of the loss at this time. It is believed that nearly $10,000 in cash was kept in the safe. Mr. Brewer is wealthy and is said to be able to make good the loss to depositors.

It is certain that three of the men who committed the Gilbertsville robbery are the professional postoffice and bank burglars who blew open the safe of the postoffice at Port Dickinson, adjoining this city, ten days ago.

The three men were seen at Mount Upton, where a description of them was obtained. One is a large, tall man, another short and thickset, and the other medium sized.

The men have committed many daring burglaries in this vicinity during the past few weeks.

The Binghamton police received word that three men answering their description boarded a westbound Delaware and Hudson passenger train at Unadilla without having bought tickets. A party of officers were in readiness when the train reached this city, but the men left the train at Sidney.

From that place it is thought that they escaped on a northbound Ontario and Western train.

Plainfield, N. J., May 3, 1905.

An exchange reports the scarcity of shad in the fish market. Suckers are still plentiful in the stock market.

There are a thousand arguments that might be offered in demonstration of the value of newspaper advertising as a means of bringing together producers and distributors on the one hand and consumers on the other. The force of argument, however, is feeble in comparison with the force of positive proof.—Ex.

After reading the banns for the weddings of two girls in his parish to members of other parishes, a Trenton priest took occasion to score some of the young men sitting in front pews for not getting married. Probably if he cautioned the benedicts in his care to cease telling of the high cost of living, the bachelors would not be so timid about entering into the married state.

During the last year a marked improvement has been noticed in the Newark Advertiser and today it is an altogether different paper than it was twelve months ago. Apparently the editorial management was not content to have it known as "the other paper" in Newark any longer and the Newark News must be having all the trouble it wants. As a result of the hustle it has gotten on itself, the Advertiser has found it necessary to get a bigger and faster press. Accordingly an order has been placed with the Hoe people for one that will print 48,000 eight page papers in an hour.

FOR A GOOD CAUSE.

Miss Herford's Appearance to be for Benefit of Local Charities.

A rare treat is in store for those who are planning to hear Miss Beatrice Herford in her original monologues at the Park Club, tomorrow night, under the auspices of the Cup Bearers' Circle of King's Daughters. Miss Herford possesses rare talent and she never fails to delight all who hear her. In addition to enjoying a fine entertainment, patrons will assist a worthy enterprise, including the support of the King's Daughters' nurse, the Children's Home, the Baby Camp on the mountain, and besides a fund will be started with which to place an elevator in Muhlenberg Hospital. Tickets for the entertainment are now on sale at Armstrong's drug store.

250 WORDS A MINUTE.

Wonderful Demonstration on a Blackboard.

Raymond Kelley, of Chicago, last evening, at the Plainfield Business College, gave an interesting demonstration of speed and excellence in Gregg short hand. He wrote upon the black bord at a rate of 250 words a minute. He also wrote backwards, upside down, blind-folded and in a language unknown to himself. All of his notes he read back accurately. This system which he uses, though comparatively new, has made a sweeping success and is now being taught by the majority of the leading schools. After the demonstration Mr. Kelley gave a talk full of practical points of great value to the students.

Mr. Kelley's visit here was in the interest of the students of both the Plainfield High School and the Business College.

Thrown From Car.

Harry Ryan, an engineer at the Rushmore Dynamo Works, on East Fourth street, is suffering from the result of a fall from a moving trolley car. The accident occurred Saturday night at Watchung avenue and Fourth street. The car stopped on Mr. Ryan's signal, and he started to board it. When halfway up the step, he alleges, the conductor pulled the bell and the sudden starting of the car threw him into the road. His knees were so badly hurt that he hasn't been able to leave the house since.

Mr. Arnold Going Abroad.

City Treasurer William F. Arnold is planning a three months' trip abroad. He will sail within a short time. He will go chiefly for the sea voyage in the hopes that he will fully regain his health and strength.

SHAKING UP Y. M. C. A. NINE AND MANAGEMENT

MEMBERS MUST PRACTICE MORE—MAGNATES MUST HUSTLE FOR MONEY.

Urgent need of hustling was drilled into the baseball management of the Y. M. C. A. at a meeting Monday night. A general survey of the situation disclosed the fact that the team was in poor shape from lack of practice, and that money was not as plentiful in the coffers of the magnates as an assurance of a successful season would demand.

The players have not turned out for practice enough to get into the habit of playing together, and Captain Marsh is spurring the whole squad into stiff work. The team will play a pick-up combination next Saturday, and put in the whole of next week in drill work. It is hoped to have the nine in good playable shape by the week following.

The lack of money, while not as acute as absolute poverty, is bad enough to awaken concern. The committee was told Monday night that it ought to get out and hustle without let-up. The members will go out after the simoleons, and get their friends to do likewise, like frenzied financiers. There is another entertainment in the baseball benefit series, and Magnate Armstrong hopes the receipts from that will boost the team's balance considerable.

Clarkson Awaiting Sentence.

Frank Clarkson, a former letter-carrier attached to the local postoffice, was arraigned before Judge Cross in the United States District Court at Trenton, on Monday, and pleaded guilty to embezzling a letter containing $15 addressed to Dr. George W. Endicott, of Park avenue. The penalty for the crime is from one to five year imprisonment. Clarkson will be sentenced next week. He is represensed by City Judge William N. Runyon, who will make a strong plea for leniency before the court.

Cut Fare Newark to Cranford.

The Public Service Corporation Monday reduced the fare between Newark and Cranford from thirteen to ten cents, and the fare from Elizabeth to Cranford from eight to five cents. This was done in persuance to a clause in the franchise granted the Public Service by Elizabeth's Board of Aldermen, which provided that after the expiration of five years the fare should be lowered from eight to five cents between Elizabeth and Cranford. The time limit expired on Sunday.

LIGHTENS WOMAN'S WORK.

The Bissell Carpet Sweeper is without question the greatest labor-saving machine of the age, as it has relieved woman of one of the hardest tasks she has to perform. Sweeping is no longer dreaded by the woman possessing a Bissell sweeper, as it not only reduces the labor of sweeping, but it saves backaches, brightens and preserves the carpets, prevents the dust and dangerous carpet germs from floating about the room and settling upon the furniture and draperies or from filling the lungs of the operator, thus making the task of sweeping a pleasure. In the matter of economy alone, no housekeeper can afford to be without a Bissell, as one will outlast forty brooms.

Every Bissell Sweeper is Guaranteed.

NIAGARA FALLS POWER BILL.

Long Debate at Albany Ends In Defeat of Measure.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 3.—In the debate on the Niagara falls power bill Mr. Malby said: "Canada is granting to power companies franchise after franchise. It makes no difference what the United States does to guard the falls, the Canadian falls are so much lower that they can drain ours, and the Canadians can go on selling us power as they are doing now.

"Enough power goes to waste in Niagara to light this state from one end to the other. By using even a part of it we can make the state prosperous as it never was before. The sight of a happy industrious community is better than the finest waterfall in the world."

Senator Cassidy held that it would be as reasonable to protest against the Chicago drainage and Welland canals on the ground that they lowered the falls by taking water from the great lakes.

"The bridal couples who sit on Goat island and listen to the gurgle of the falls might as well protest that this bill is an assault upon the coal mines," said Senator Cassidy.

The bill was defeated.

Antitip Law Passed.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 3.—A special from Madison, Wis., says: "The Stout antigraft bill is now a law, the governor having affixed his signature to it. It provides that whoever corruptly gives or offers any agent, servant or employee any gift or gratuity whatever with intention to influence his actions in relation to his employer's business or any employee who requests or accepts such a gift shall be liable to a fine of from $10 to $500 or by such fine and imprisonment for one year. It is claimed that this law if enforced will put a stop to the giving of tips to porters, bootblacks or waiters."

From "The Inland Printer," Aug. '04:

Tasteful composition has a large share in the production of the specimens although ink and paper have done their share, the typography has given the stamp of distinction to nearly every piece. A thorough appreciation of the suitability of certain type-faces to different kinds of printing has been the chief factor in producing this good work. Refers to Stafford, Trinter

ALL POLAND AROUSED

Vengeance For Workmen's Slaughter In General Strike.

FORTY DEAD AT WARSAW MORGUE

Church Congregation at Kalisz Attacked by Military and Police For Singing Patriotic Songs—People Deeply Exasperated.

WARSAW, May 3.—The committee of the Social Democratic party of Poland and Lithuania has issued a manifesto proclaiming a general strike and calling on all the workmen in Poland to quit work at once in consequence of the slaughter of their comrades by the troops.

Workmen are going from factory to factory compelling their comrades to strike, and the probability of further conflicts arouses the keenest apprehension.

The bodies of the thirty odd persons killed by the troops on Zelazna street are still lying in the morgues awaiting identification. Ten of the wounded who were taken to hospitals died there.

During the encounter on Jerusalem street the troops not only fired a volley without any provocation or rioting by the people, but they also used the butts of their rifles and their bayonets and swords. Many women and children had their heads and limbs broken.

Some of the injuries were of a terrible nature, and there were cases where the soldiers entered the courtyards of houses and attacked those hiding there.

When the troops fired after the bomb was thrown near the Vienna railroad station four persons were killed and seven were wounded. All the windows in the neighborhood were shattered.

The bomb struck the head of a Cossack's horse, blowing the horse and rider to atoms and killing two other Cossacks and two women.

In Zombkoff street hussars fired two volleys into the crowd.

At Lodz a woman who was looking out of a window was shot by a Cossack.

At Kalisz during a service in a church the congregation began singing patriotic songs, whereupon soldiers and police entered the building and attacked the people, wounding many of them.

A free fight ensued, during which weapons were wrested from the police, shots were exchanged, and stones were thrown.

The industrial population is deeply exasperated over the sanguinary results of the encounters. The strikes inaugurated on a large scale here, at Lodz and in other cities are rapidly spreading, and 75,000 persons are on strike in Lodz. Cossacks are patrolling the streets of Warsaw by companies on account of the danger to smaller detachments.

A great crowd which gathered in front of the police station to which the corpses of those killed had been taken demanding the bodies of their dead was dispersed by Cossacks.

Ten Years For a Unique Crime.

DES MOINES, Ia., May 3.—August Leuth must serve ten years for one of the most remarkable crimes in the annals of Iowa as a result of the affirmation of his sentence by the supreme court. He was convicted on a charge of kidnaping a wealthy farmer and his wife and secreting the woman in an abandoned schoolhouse near Tipton while he sent the farmer back to the bank after a ransom of $50,000. The woman escaped, and her husband returned with a sheriff's posse.

Farr Got Off Easy.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 3.—Federal Judge Clark refused to grant a motion for a new trial in the case of William Farr, who was recently convicted of using the mails for fraudulent purposes in connection with an alleged law school of Washington, Omaha and Chattanooga. Farr was sentenced to four months in prison and to pay a fine of $500, both of which were suspended and a fine of $25 assessed on his promise of good behavior.

Modjeska Benefit Netted $12,000.

NEW YORK, May 3.—Prominent actors and actresses now in this city joined in a testimonial benefit to Mme. Helena Modjeska and appeared individually and with her in scenes from "Macbeth" before an audience which filled the Metropolitan Opera House. It is estimated that more than $12,000 was realized from the performance. Mme. Modjeska briefly expressed her thanks in a curtain speech and was warmly applauded.

Kaiser and Empress at Venice.

VENICE, May 3.—Emperor William of Germany, Empress Augusta and Princes Eitel Frederick and Oscar, on board the imperial yacht Hohenzollern, which was escorted by the battleship Friedrich Karl and the cruiser Sleipner, have arrived here. The German ships cast anchor in the basin of St. Mark amidst the booming of cannon and salutes from a myriad of gondolas.

Gladden Will Not Resign.

COLUMBUS, O., May 3.—Dr. Washington Gladden, answering a rumor that he intended to resign as moderator of the national council of the Congregational church, said: "I have no present intention of resigning the position. The future must take care of itself." Dr. Gladden asked to be excused from making a more extended answer to the report.

Bishop Libert Off For Rome.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 3.—Bishop Libert, head of the Catholic church in Hawaii, has arrived here from Honolulu on his way to Rome. He will call on President Roosevelt en route with a letter from Governor Carter.

THE STRIKERS SCORE

Dissensions Arise In the Ranks of Chicago Team Owners.

STREET FIGHTING GROWS APACE.

Peaceable Citizens Wantonly Attacked by Hoodlums—Presbyterian Pastor, Brutally Assaulted, Captures One Ruffian.

CHICAGO, May 3.—The strike situation in Chicago has assumed a peculiar aspect, and interests which have been opposing the striking teamsters are not as united as heretofore. The cause of this slight dissension is the Team Owners' association, which has contracts with the railroads and many of the large firms throughout the city to transfer their merchandise. Until now it was supposed that the Employers' association and their allies were firmly bound together in the fight for supremacy against the teamsters.

The Team Owners' association, which employs none but union teamsters, flatly refused to make deliveries to any of the firms involved in the strike when ordered to do so by the Employers' association. When the employers received this ultimatum they notified the team owners that unless the request that no discrimination be made in deliveries were granted an effort would be made to have all existing contracts between team owners and the business houses and the railroads canceled.

The Employers' Teaming association sent word to the large team owners that they desired to know where they stood in the present fight. Many of the members of the Teaming association have contracts for the delivery of coal with the team owners, who have so far failed to make any deliveries since the commencement of the strike.

The team owners at first would not give a definite reply as to what could be expected of them. At the Union League club a meeting was held between representatives of the Employers' association and the large team owners. It was the desire of the members of the Employers' association to bring as much pressure to bear upon the team owners as possible, and with this view they had invited to the conference representatives of the railroads entering the city. The team owners stated their position exactly. They would not attempt to deliver coal to any firm where a strike is now in progress, giving as reasons for their refusing that their own men would be called out and they would be involved in the trouble, with which they considered they had no direct concern. They were informed that if they would not make deliveries their contracts with the business houses, amounting to millions of dollars annually, would be canceled. This did not change their attitude, however, and they persisted in their refusal to take part in the strike.

The railroad men, contrary to the hopes of the members of the Employers' association, did not exert the influence on the team owners that was expected. They took practically the same stand, declaring that the fight was something into which the railroads did not properly enter, that they had contracts with the team owners, that these contracts were at present being fulfilled to their entire satisfaction and that they could see no reason why the railroads should be dragged into the struggle.

An exception to the general attitude of the Team Owners' association was made by the Central Supply association, a large concern which employs 380 teams. The officers of this company declared that they would make deliveries wherever their contracts called for them, irrespective of strike conditions.

The fighting in the streets was even more fierce and savage than has occurred yet. The strikers and their sympathizers attacked the nonunion men at every opportunity, assailing them with bricks, stones, clubs, knives and any and every other offensive weapon upon which they could lay their hands. The fighting occurred in the heart of the business section of the city, men being shot down within 200 feet of the retail store of Marshall Field & Co., clubbed nearly to death at the corner of the Auditorium hotel in plain view of hundreds of ladies who were compelled to run from the mob to save their own lives. In many instances men walking along the streets who had no active connection whatever with the strike were assaulted by hoodlums, who beat them first and later accused them of being strike breakers. A notable instance of this kind was that of Rev. W. K. Wheeler, pastor of the Ninth Presbyterian church, who, while passing the corner of Des Plaines and Adams streets on his way to the Pennsylvania depot, was attacked by three men, who knocked him down and beat him severely.

Rev. Wheeler was at the Union railroad station waiting for his two sons to return from their vacation in the country. Having a little time to wait he walked west in Adams street. At Des Plaines street three men darted from a hallway exclaiming: "There is the ——. He did it this morning."

Rev. Wheeler was assaulted with brass knuckles and "billies." One of the clergyman's assailants sat upon him and continued to pommel the victim. Rev. Wheeler, using all his strength, clung to this assailant until the police opportunely arrived. The minister's prisoner gave the name of James Blau. The police followed the other two assailants for two blocks and fired repeatedly at the fugitives, who, however, ran into an alley and disappeared.

Weather Probabilities.

Fair; south winds.

Kate Bonnet

The Romance of a Pirate's Daughter

By FRANK R. STOCKTON

Copyright, 1902, by D. Appleton & Co., New York.

Mr. Rhett met people enough along the coast who told him where he might find the pirate, but he found no one to tell him how to navigate the dangerous waters of the Cape Fear River, and so it was that soon after entering that fine stream he and his consort found themselves aground.

Mr. Rhett was quite sure that he had discovered the lair of the big game he was looking for. Just before dark, three boats, well filled with men, had appeared from up the river, and they had looked so formidable that everything had been made ready to resist an attack from them. They retired, but every now and then during the night, when there was quiet for a few minutes, there would come down the river on the wind the sound of distant hammering and the noise of saws.

It was after midnight before the Henry and the Sea Nymph floated free, but they anchored where they were and waited for the morning. Whether they would sail up the river after the pirate or whether he would come down to them, daylight would show.

Mr. Rhett's vessels had been at anchor for five hours, and every man on board of them were watching and waiting, when daylight appeared and showed them a tall ship, under full sail, rounding the distant headland up the river. Now up came their anchors and their sails were set. The pirate was coming!

Whatever the Royal James intended to do, Mr. Rhett had but one plan, and that was to meet the enemy as soon as possible and fight him. So up sailed the Henry and up sailed the Sea Nymph, and they pressed ahead so steadily to meet the Royal James that the latter vessel, in carrying out what was now her obvious intention of getting out to sea, was forced shoreward, where she speedily ran upon a bar. Then, from the vessels of Charles Town there came great shouts of triumph, which ceased when first the Henry and then the Sea Nymph ran upon other bars and remained stationary.

Here was an unusual condition—three ship of war all aground and about to begin battle, a battle which would probably last for five hours if one or more of the stationary vessels were not destroyed before that time. It was soon found, however, that there would only be two parties to the fight, for the Sea Nymph was too far away to use her guns. The Royal James had an advantage over her opponents, since, when she slightly careened, her decks were slanted away from the enemy, while the latter's were presented to her fire.

At it they went, hot and heavy. Bonnet and his men now knew that they were engaged with commissioned war vessels, and they fought for their lives. Mr. Rhett knew that he was fighting Thomas, the dreaded pirate of the coast, and he felt that he must destroy him before his vessel should float again. The cannon roared, muskets blazed away, and the combatants were near enough even to use pistols upon each other. Men died, blood flowed, and the fight grew fiercer and fiercer.

Bonnet roared like an incarnate devil; he swore at his men, he swore at the enemy, he swore at his bad fortune, for had he not missed the channel the game would have been in his own hands.

So on they fought, and the tide kept steadily rising. The five hours must pass at last, and the vessel which first floated would win the day.

The five hours did pass, and the Henry floated, and Bonnet swore louder and more fiercely than before. He roared to his men to fire and to fight, no matter whether they were still aground or not, and with many oaths he vowed that if any one of them showed but a sign of weakening he would cut him down upon the spot. But the hairy scoundrels who made up the crew of the Royal James had no idea of lying there with their ship on its side, while two other ships—for the Sea Nymph was now afloat—should sail around them, rake their decks, and shatter them to pieces. So the crew consulted together, despite their captain's roars and oaths, and many of them counselled surrender. Their vessel was much farther inshore than the two others, and no matter what happened afterward they preferred to live longer than fifteen or twenty minutes.

SO ON THEY FOUGHT AND THE TIDE KEPT STEADILY RISING.

But Bonnet quailed not before fate, before the enemy, or before his crew; if he heard another word of surrender he would fire the magazine and blow the ship to the sky with every man in it. Raising his cutlass in air, he was about to bring it down upon the cowards he berated, when suddenly he was seized by two powerful hands, which pinned his arms behind him. With a scream of rage, he turned his head and found that he was in the grasp of Ben Greenway.

"Let go your sword, Master Bonnet," said Ben; "it is o' no use to ye now, for ye canna get awa' from me. I'm nae older than ye are, though I look it, an' I've got the harder muscles. Ye may be makin' your way steadily an' surely to the gates o' hell an' it mayna be possible that I can prevent ye, but I'm not goin' to let ye tumble in by accident so long as I've got two arms left to me."

Pale, haggard, and writhing, Stede Bonnet was disarmed, and the Jolly Roger came down.

CHAPTER XXXIV.

BONNET AND GREENWAY PART COMPANY.

It was three days after this memorable combat—for the vessels engaged in it needed considerable repairs—when Mr. Rhett of Charles Town sailed down the Cape Fear River with his five vessels—the two with which he had entered it, the pirate Royal James, and the two prizes of the latter, which had waited quietly up the river to see how matters were going to turn out.

On the Henry sailed the pirate Thomas, now discovered to be the notorious Stede Bonnet, and a very quiet and respectful man he was. As has been said before, Bonnet was a man able to adapt himself to circumstances. There never was a more demure counting-house clerk than was Bonnet at Belize; there never was an humbler dependent than the almost unnoticed Bonnet after he had joined Blackbeard's fleet before Charles Town, and there never was a more deferential and respectful prisoner than Stede Bonnet on board the Henry. It was really touching to see how this cursing and raging pirate deported himself as a meek and uncomplaining gentleman.

There was no prison-house in Charles Town, but Stede Bonnet's wicked crew, including Ben Greenway—for his captors were not making any distinctions in regard to common men taken on a pirate ship—were clapped into the watch-house—a crowded and uncomfortable place it was—and put under a heavy and military guard. The authorities were, however, making distinctions where gentlemen of family and owners of landed estates were concerned, no matter if they did happen to be taken on a pirate ship, and Maj. Bonnet of Barbadoes was lodged in the provost marshal's house, in comfortable quarters, with only two sentinels outside to make him understand he was a prisoner.

The capture of this celebrated pirate created a sensation in Charles Town, and many of the citizens were not slow to pay the unfortunate prisoner the attentions due to his former position in society. He was very well satisfied with his treatment in Charles Town, which city he had never before the pleasure of visiting.

The attentions paid to Ben Greenway were not pleasing; sometimes he was shoved into one corner and sometimes into another. He frequently had enough to eat and drink, but very often this was not the case. Bonnet never inquired after him.

Greenway made known the state of his own case whenever he had a chance to do so, but his complaints received no attention, and he might have remained with the crew of the Royal James as long as they were shut up in the watch-house had not some of the hairy cut-throats themselves taken pity upon him and assured the guards that this man was not one of them, and that they knew from what they had heard him say and seen him do that there was no more determined enemy of piracy in all the Western continent. So it happened, that after some weeks of confinement Greenway was let out of the watch-house and allowed to find quarters for himself.

The first day the Scotchman was free he went to the provost-marshal's house and petitioned an interview with his old master, Bonnet.

"Heigho!" cried the latter, who was comfortably seated in a chair reading a letter. "And where do you come from, Ben Greenway? I had thought you were dead and buried in the Cape Fear River."

"Ye did not think I was dead," replied Ben, "when I seized ye an' held ye an' kept ye from buryin' yoursel' in that same river."

Bonnet waved his hand. "No more of that," said he; "I was unfortunate, but that is over now and things have turned out better than any man could have expected."

"Better!" exclaimed Ben. "I vow I know not what that means."

Bonnet laughed. He was looking very well; he was shaved, and wore a neat suit of clothes.

"Ben Greenway," said he, "you are now looking upon a man of high distinction. At this moment I am the greatest pirate on the face of the earth. Yes, Greenway, the greatest pirate on the face of the earth. I have a letter here, which was received by the provost-marshal and which he gave me to read, which tells that Blackbeard, the first pirate of his age, is dead. Therefore, Ben Greenway, I take his place, and there is no living pirate greater than I am."

Says "Pugilism Does Not Pay."

CINCINNATI, O., May 3.—James J. Jeffries, champion heavyweight pugilist, states that he will retire from the prize ring and from the stage and go into business with his brother Jack in California. He will leave the stage on May 15, arrangements having been made to cancel all engagements after that date. Jeffries takes this action at the request of his wife. In addition to this Jeffries says that pugilism does not pay.

Alma Dufour at Elmridge.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 3.—Alma Dufour, the winner of the fourth and feature event at Elmridge, broke the track record for a mile and seventy yards, going the distance in 1:45. Bon Mot was a poor second, and Elliott was third. Hattie Carr easily won the first race, finishing three lengths in front of Princess Tulaine, the odds on favorite. Alma Dufour and Drexel were the winning favorites.

St. Louis Whist Players Won.

PHILADELPHIA, May 3.—Three hundred and twenty persons participated in the opening day's play of the eighth annual congress of the Women's Whist league in Horticultural hall here. Top score for the Washington trophy was made by the Hamilton club of St. Louis, with a record of twelve matches. Manheim club, Philadelphia, was second, with eleven matches won.

Braden and Orient Won.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 3.—The spring meeting has closed at Cumberland park. D. Austin's riding was the feature of the day. In five mounts he was first three times and second twice. T. P. Hayes won with Braden and Orient, and his Ice Water was second in the last event. Little Mike in the sixth race was played for a good thing.

Gold Enamel Won by a Neck.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 3.—In the handicap Cruzados, the favorite, lost to Gold Enamel. Cruzados and Sad Sam led from the start, but in turning for home Clark, on Sad Sam, forced the favorite to the extreme outside, giving Gold Enamel the race by a neck.

No Evidence of Foul Play.

DETROIT, Mich., May 3.—Mrs. Martha Turner, who was arrested here in connection with the death of her neighbor, aged Mrs. Katherine Wood, has been released. A post mortem examination showed that Mrs. Wood died of a rupture of the aorta due to excitement. There was no evidence of a blow in the stomach.

SPORTING NEWS.

DIAMOND DUST.

A scrub team defeated the Whittier School nine Monday by a score of 9 to 3.

The Y. M. C. A. ball team will meet on Crescent Oval tomorrow and Friday night at 6 o'clock for practice and at 8 o'clock on Friday night there will be a special meeting at the association hall for baseball candidates.

SOCIETY NOTES.

Miss Ruth Titus, of Madison avenue, is the guest of friends at Glen Cove, N. Y.

Miss Kay, of Brookline, Mass., is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Shepard, of "The Gables."

Mr. and Mrs. Martin I. Cooley, of the borough, and their daughter, Mrs. Patrick, of West Point, are home from a trip abroad.

Thomas Aldrich, of New York, has moved with his family into the house on Grove street, recently purchased from Mulford Estil.

Miss Nancy Lawson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lawson, of Salem, Mass., formerly of this city, is visiting at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Grayden, of West Eighth street.

Mrs. Frederick G. Mead, of East Front street, will give a tea at her home, "Sunnyside," tomorrow afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock, in honor of Miss Kay, of Brookline, Mass., and Miss Lowe, of Park avenue.

Owing to the illness of Mrs. J. Evarts Tracy, of West Eighth street, the tea which was to have been given there this afternoon for Miss Mary K. Whiton, will be held at the home of Mrs. Eugene Hatch, of West Eighth street. Mrs. Tracy, who was operated upon Sunday for appendicitis, is improving steadily under Dr. Endicott's care.

Miss Kyrics Talk.

Miss Levasti D. Kyrics, of Albania, European Turkey, delivered a missionary talk to the Women's Foreign Missionary Society, of the First Presbyterian church, yesterday afternoon. She dilated on the difficulty of mission work in her country. Mrs. Bond, a member of the church, a veteran missionary who taught Miss Kyrics in Albania, is entertaining the latter at her home.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

This the painting and decorating season; have things freshened up for the rejuvenated world. James C. Hansen, West Front street, is the painter par excellence.

L. Moralier & Son, of Park avenue, have been in the jewelry business locally for many years and can be relied upon when they recommend gold, silver or similar ornaments. They have an expert repairer who knows how to fix disabled watches. Why not let him look at that discarded one of yours?

The bricklayer who contracts to build a house knows that he has many hundreds of bricks to pile up before he is through, but when he starts it is surprising how soon the result is attained. Just so with a bank account. Keeping at it steadily brings a large sum. The City National Bank will tell you how to start the account.

The spring of the year is looked upon as the time for renewing furnishings at the house and that is why Shirley & Johnson, in the corner store of the Babcock building, extend a special invitation to Plainfield women to view their stock of rugs, carpets, mattings, shades and curtains. It was never more complete and prices were never so low.

M. Weinberger, the West Front street clothier, is showing a superior line of clothing for men and boys. The suits are of the best quality, made according to the latest style and the prices are very low. You can purchase clothing here at prices that will surprise you for the best goods. The men's furnishing goods department is just filled with bargains.

FAIR TO CONTINUE.

Band Concert Benefit to be Extended Until Saturday Night.

Owing to the large crowds and the demands of many of the supporters, Ben LaVere and his assistants have decided to continue the band concert fair for the remainder of the week. The attendance was again at the "top-notch" last night and the enthusiasm was as evident as at the opening. The singer at the entertainment was Edward Webster, who gave "Take a Car" and other of Haviland's song hits.

By special arrangement, Johnny Nester, "The little man with the big voice," has been secured for tonight and will demonstrate his superior abilities in "coon shouting." During the remaining nights the fair is open, other favorites will make their appearance, giving the latest songs with illustrations.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—The Sesame Club will meet tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. H. McKidowney, 440 West End avenue, New York city.

—In buying butter you want the best and that is why Neuman Brothers handle Rockdale print and Rockdale creamery. It will pay you to note the low price in either instance.

—Miss Beatrice Herford, who is to deliver original monologues for the Cup Bearers' Circle of King's Daughters at the Park Club tomorrow night is an artist of exquisite skill. She delights all her audiences. Tickets on sale at Armstrong's drug store.

PERSONAL.

Miss Isabel Scarborough, Miss Mildred Niles and Elgin Niles, of Adams, Mass., have returned home after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. George B. Wean, of West Fourth street.

Mrs. Samuel Bye and Mrs. John Goodman and son, Charles, of West Front street, have returned from a visit with Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Bye, of Lambertville, and friends in Bucks county, Pa.

C. T. Kissam's Funeral.

Charles Taylor Kissam, formerly of this city, died in the Presbyterian Hospital, in New York, on Sunday after a long illness. The funeral will take place this afternoon from Adams' chapel, in Park avenue, New York.

CITIZENS' MOVEMENT FOR A BOROUGH

SOUTH PLAINFELDERS APPOINT A COMMITTEE FOR THAT PURPOSE.

Citizens of South Plainfield gathered last night at Temperance hall to take action on the proposition to incorporate that village as a borough, it being argued that it would be for the better interests of the taxpayers. A committee of twelve was appointed to make plans and it will meet Friday night. If the village becomes a borough it will not have to share the expense of the $30,000 school at New Market. A committee was also appointed to look into the validity of the recent school meeting's vote.

The borough committee consists of P. J. McDonough, J. F. TenEyck, Samuel Manning, John Gary, Patrick Kane, William Hamilton, H. Manning, Robert Horne, W. E. Smith, William Norman, Adolph Steengraffe, Rufus Delafield.

William Hamilton was chairman of the meeting and Harry Manning secretary.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Miss Mattie DeCamp Surprised on Natal Day.

Miss Mattie DeCamp, of 70 Jackson avenue, was given a birthday surprise party at her home, last night, the affair being arranged by her aunt, Mrs. John Stevens, of Watchung avenue. There were about forty guests and the festivities included playing games, such as hunting peanuts and pinning the tail on the donkey, blindfolded, and instrumental and vocal music. In the peanut hunt, Karl Smith won first prize, and William Taylor and booby prize, a bisque match receiver.

The room was decorated by William DeCamp with American flags, pink and green crepe paper and potted plants. Those who contributed to the success of the occasion by assisting in the games and in serving refreshments were Mrs. John Stevens, Mrs. Benjamin Moore, Mrs. Bateman Thatcher, Mrs. John Dunn, Mrs. Erwin Walter, Mrs. James Stewart, Mrs. Runyon and Mrs. DeCamp.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The Salvation Army will hold a special meeting in Reform Hall on Tuesday night, May 9.

Preparatory services will be held at the Congregational church tonight. The pastor, C. L. Goodrich, will be in charge.

The Sunday-school lesson for Sunday will be taught by Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck at the prayer meeting in Trinity Reformed church tonight.

Madame Lyons will give an entertainment at the Mt. Olive Baptist church on Friday night, May 19. There will also be a large chorus of voices.

Under the auspices of the Young Ladies' Mission Circle of the First M. E. church, an entertainment will be held in Vincent chapel on Thursday night, May 25.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Baptist Foreign Missionary Society, of New Jersey, will be held tomorrow at the Baptist church, Bordentown, N. J. Sessions at 10:30 a. m., and 2 o'clock p. m. Mrs. Safford from Boston, the foreign secretary of the Board, will be one of the speakers.

CLOSED PORTALS.

The members of Martha Washington Council, No. 23, Daughters of America, will pay a fraternal visit to Golden Rod Council, of New Brunswick, tomorrow evening, leaving the North avenue terminus at 7 o'clock.

Discussed the Milk Question.

The question of milk inspection was discussed thoroughly at a meeting of the borough Board of Health, Monday night. Heretofore all samples have been examined by L. R. Thurlow, of the city board, but the borough authorities contemplate securing their own inspector. At the meeting, arrangements were made to have Mr. Thurlow continue in this capacity until the change could be made. As a rule, the milk sold in the borough is of a high standard and the board insists that it shall be.

Circuit Court Case.

The case of Louis A. Clement, of this city, against Nelson Runyon, administrator, and John B. Mills, in which the plaintiff seeks to recover on an assignment made in 1901, on a house erected in this city by Herman Hansen, a carpenter, was decided in the Circuit Court at Elizabeth today. The court gave judgment to the plaintiff for $953 with interest and costs.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. C. Smith, of Grandview avenue, received a telegram on Sunday announcing the birth that morning of a son to her daughter, Mrs. William E. Bergman, at her home in Dennison, Ohio. The young man weighs nine pounds and both mother and son are doing well.

HOD CARRIERS THREATEN STRIKE

Work on High School and Other Big Building Operations May be Tied-Up.

DEMAND HIGHER WAGES

Union Men Ask $2.75, An Advance of Twenty-Five Cents—Bosses Refuse the Demand.

A demand for higher wages has been formulated by the Hod-carriers' Union of this city. Although it has not been formally presented to the bosses as yet, the latter know that the men want more money and have taken pains to make it plain to the journeymen that they wont get it unless pressure is successful.

The hod-carriers threaten to go out on strike Monday unless their demands are granted.

At present the hod-carriers receive $2.50 a day. They want $2.75, and so voted at a meeting held Monday night in Trade Council hall. Their leaders believe this is a good time to present the demand and press it home, because there are a number of brick buildings in the course of construction, and a building boom has struck the center of the city.

Before action was taken on the question the union men sounded the bosses on it. Every contractor in the city, it is said, made it distinctly understood that he was firmly opposed to the advance. The receipt of that information did not deter the men from a continuation of their agitation for more money.

The two sides are marking time at the present juncture, but something of a very positive nature is pretty certain to happen within a day or two. The next move, it is expected, will be made, as was the first, by the journeymen.

MISSION SOCIETY ANNUAL.

First M. E. Church Organization is in Strong Financial Condition.

The Women's Home Missionary Society, of the First M. E. church, held its annual review meeting in Vincent chapel last night. It was well attended Mrs. E. Clark, Jr., presided.

Mrs. Doane, the secretary, read the annual report. The feature of the report was the statement that the society had met every obligation and pledge of the year in full. It is in a strong financial condition.

Rev. Dr. A. C. McCrea, the new pastor of the church delivered a talk on home mission work in the Southwest. Dr. McCrea has travelled extensively in that section of the country, and has made a close and personal study of the mission conditions there.

The music of the meeting, which took the place of the regular midweek prayer service, included a solo by Mrs. S. H. Tugwell.

Tree Stopped Runaway.

The girth around Dr. E. Wanser Love's horse broke while the doctor was driving through Craig place, in the direction of Grove street, last night, and frightened the animal into bolting. Halfway down the block the horse took to the sidewalk, and continued his run to Grove street on the edge of the lawns. On the far side of Grove street one of the loosened shafts slid around a tree, and the horse was wedged to a standstill. The broken girth was the extent of the damage.

Burial of Daniel Allen.

Funeral services over the body of Daniel Allen, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. I. P. Allen, were held from the parents' home yesterday afternoon. Rev. G. E. Schneegas, of the German Reformed church, was in charge and interment was made in the Baptist cemetery. The floral tributes were numerous and very pretty.

Thrown Beneath His Wagon.

The sudden dropping off of a front wheel, threw Christopher Maden beneath his wagon at Third and Liberty streets yesterday afternoon. The rear wheel passed over him but he escaped with a few severe bruises. His horse ran away but was caught after going a short distance.

COMEDETTA AT CASINO.

Clever Play Feature of May Festival to be Given by Grace Church Women Saturday.

From the present outlook the May festival to be given on Saturday at the Casino promises to be a huge success. This affair is in charge of the women of Grace church and if work and thought deserve recognition the success of this festival is assured.

The musical programme is in charge of Joseph Shellabarger and will include clever vaudeville, good singing and classical music. The evening performance will open with an overture from Tannhauser, played on two pianos by Mrs. Albert H. Atterbury, Mrs. John Stevens, Miss Frances Weir and Miss Maude VanBeskerck. A clever comedetta entitled "Sugar and Cream" will be given by the following cast: Miss Grace Kaufman, Miss Annette West, William Cook and George S. Eing.

TENNIS CLUB ELECTS.

J. Hervey Doane President of the Cedar Brooks.

The Cedar Brook Tennis Club held its annual meeting last night and elected these officers: President, J. Hervey Doane; vice president and chairman of the tennis committee, Chauncey B. Keens; secretary and treasurer, Vincent B. Miner; chairman of the grounds committee, Charles H. Hall.

One of the club courts is now in condition for play and the others will soon be. It is proposed to arrange a strong schedule of tournaments and matches. The members comprises some of the best tennis players in the city and a successful season is anticipated.

Use our Street Names.

William Jeffery, the promotor of Berkeley Heights real estate, has named all the streets out through the tract he is exploiting after Plainfield thoroughfares. The signs have been printed and will be placed in position as soon as possible. Mr. Jeffery says he chose Plainfield street names because they are "pretty good" and the city directory furnished a handy list from which to copy.

Mrs. Booth Speaks Tonight.

Mrs. Ballington Booth, so well and favorably known through her great work among convicts and ex-convicts, will speak at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church tonight at 8 o'clock. She will speak of her work which cannot fail to interest all who know of Mrs. Booth's efforts. By mistake it was announced last night that this meeting would be held tomorrow night.

Rich Production Tonight.

Nearly all of the costumes for the Mikado tonight are new, having been made for this production. The chorus is the finest ever heard here and consists of seventy-five voices. Seats will be on sale at Armstrong's until 6:30 o'clock. Doors will be opened at 7:45 and the performance will begin at 8:30 sharp. Don't miss the best entertainment of the season.

Boat Club to Hold Dinner.

The Wanamassa Boat Club, which has a large membership in this city, has arranged to hold an informal dinner at the Hotel Churchill, Broadway and Fourteenth street, New York, Saturday evening, May 20. G. Harold Whitney and Fred A. Martin are members of the committee which has the plans in charge.

Vacation for Teacher.

Miss Phoebe Lovell, of the High School faculty, has been granted a vacation for the benefit of her health. Miss Lovell left just before the Easter vacation, intending to return within a week or two after school began, but she has decided to discontinue her work until after the long vacation.

For a West Seventh Street House.

Architect Fred Lancaster has made plans for an attractive dwelling house on West Seventh street, near Monroe avenue, for Miss Elizabeth Smalley, of Craig place, and carpenters and masons are now figuring the cost of construction, which will be between $5,000 and $6,000.

Justice Moffett Worse.

Justice Elmore D. Moffet, who is suffering from blood poisoning, the result of using corn plaster is in a worse condition today. His physicians regard the case as very grave.

Dancing Class Soiree.

Eugene O'Reilly's dancing class will hold a "soiree and dance" in the I. O. T. hall, North and Park avenues, Friday night, May 12. Refreshments will be served.

TENNIS CRACKS TO PLAY HERE TUESDAY AFTERNOON

WARD AND WHITMAN WILL APPEAR ON LOCAL COURTS.

Lovers of tennis among the members of the Plainfield Country Club will enjoy a rare treat provided for them by the tennis committee for Tuesday afternoon, when Ward and Whitman, the crack tennis players, will appear on the club courts in an exhibition tennis match. This will be one of the great features being planned for the season and the club is quite fortunate in being able to secure these players to visit Plainfield.

It has been arranged to have the play begin at 4:15 o'clock in the afternoon and undoubtedly there will be a large gallery present to witness the play of these experts with the racquet. Additional interest is attached to the event as either one of these players may be chosen as a member of the team that is to visit England soon for the purpose of capturing international honors. At present Ward is in the South with other crack players, in training, while Whitman is in New York.

There is now a revival in interest in tennis such as has not been known in several years and the tennis committee of the Plainfield Country Club has provided one of the most attractive schedules in its history.

NOISY JUNKMAN.

Louis Levine Arrested for Annoying His Neighbors Daily.

Because he knocks the bottom from ancient washboilers and does other noisy things seven days a week, Louis Levine, a junkman whose place is at 23 Elm place, was arraigned before City Judge Runyon this morning, under a complaint by Health Inspector Addis. Levine has made his neighbors miserable in the pre-breakfast period daily for months, and general complaint has been made over the racket. According to Addis, he never attempts to make a distinction between Sunday and the rest of the week, and has given no indication of observing any other day as a Sabbath. The magistrate allowed Levine to go with a warning, but promised him a heavy penalty if another complaint of the same character is made.

CHURCH TRUSTEES.

Park Avenue Baptist Church Officers Are Chosen.

The trustees of the Park Avenue Baptist church, has organized by electing these officers: President, Roland C. Treadwell; secretary, John H. Doane; treasurer, L. E. Schofield.

The treasurer was authorized to pay off the floating indebtedness on the church from the fund received through the self-denial contributions. This amounted to about $500. The church is now in the best of condition spiritually and financially and through the earnest efforts of Pastor Finn is doing good work.

PICKPOCKETS AT CIRCUS.

Six Arrested Following Barnum & Bailey's Show.

When the afternoon performance of the Barnum & Bailey circus at Elizabeth closed yesterday six alleged professional New York pickpockets were arrested. The prisoners were all young men and well dressed. They police say they were working on open trolley cars crowded with people on their way home from the circus.

Circus Crowd From Here.

Scores and scores of Plainfielders were among the spectators at the Barnum & Bailey circus in Elizabeth last night. One of those who went estimates that there were about 400 other Plainfielders in the big tent with him. The 6:29 train, on which most of the circus-lovers travelled from here, was heavily loaded. Some of the local people who didn't go to the show last night will see it in Somerville today and tonight.

Papers on Japan.

In connection with the study of Japan, papers of unusual merit were read yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, of the First Baptist church, held in its lecture room. "Japanese Art" was the theme of Miss Jennie Whitney's paper and "Forces in the Conflict" was a subject admirably treated by Mrs. Robert Lowry. Interesting current events were given by Miss Ida Yerkes.

Borough Council Tomorrow Night.

The North Plainfield Common Council will hold an important meeting tomorrow night. A discussion of the sewage system project will be among the matters considered.

ITALIAN PROTESTANTISM

Crescent Ave. Church Hears of Work of the Waldensians.

CONTRIBUTE TO IT

Answer Eloquent Plea for Support of the Oldest Evangelical Church From Rev. Francesco Rostand.

Support of the Waldensian church, the fountain head of evangelistic propaganda, and the representative of the Presbyterian church in Italy, was eloquently urged upon the members of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, last night, by Rev. Francesco Rostand, a prominent Waldensian minister who is touring the country in behalf of his church.

Dating four centuries or more before the Reformation, the Waldensian church, which began in Waldensia, Piedmont, Northern Italy, is the oldest Protestant church. It kept the Protestant spirit alive in Italy through all sorts of persecutions at the hands of the dukes of Piedmont, and ever since religious liberty was granted to the Italian people in 1848 it has sought to spread the doctrine of the open gospel throughout the entire nation.

The speaker cited some interesting figures to prove that his church is playing an important part in the evangelization of the world, and that it is engaged in a work that touches America directly.

There are only 19,600 people in Waldensia, but from this population the Waldensian church has drawn a membership of 18,510, and has sent out 160 pastors into present-day work. It has forty-nine churches in the mission field, and fifteen in Waldensia. It supports sixty-six preaching stations.

In supporting the Waldensian church, Rev. Mr. Rostand pointed out, the people of the American Presbyterian church will provide for the spread of the gospel in their own country. There are fifteen pastors of the church at work among the Italians in America, and, moreover, the workers at home were spreading the propaganda among the future emigrants.

Of the religious state of the Italian people under the influence of the Catholic church the clergyman spoke sadly. The Italian people, he said, were getting farther and farther away from religion, and there was acute need for the work in which the Waldensians have engaged.

The speaker attributed the decadent state of religion to the allegation that Papal heads had always given more attention to the political side of their organization than to the religious side. Religious knowledge was at so low an ebb in Italy, he said, that university students attracted to a service in his church, were seen to look helplessly for the Book of Revelations in the neighborhood of Genesis during the reading of the scriptures. He said that Catholic church authorities frequently perverted scriptural quotations to suit their own ends in placing inscriptions over places of worship.

After the talk a collection was taken for the benefit of the Waldensian work. The good-sized audience contributed generously either in cash or by pledges.

EXEMPTS TO DO THE HONORS.

Will Play Hosts at State Convention of Firemen in Trenton.

Elaborate preparations have been made by the Trenton Exempt Firemen's Association for the reception of delegates to the firemen's convention, which will be held in Turner Hall, in that city, May 17. Among the important business is some action to secure from the State compensation for the service rendered by the firemen in the old volunteer days.

There will be sixty companies represented from different parts of the State, each sending four or five delegates. It has been decided to hold no street parade, as the business before the convention will occupy the greater part of the day.

They Like Physical Exercise.

W. S. Tyler, chairman of the police board, reports that the policemen are much pleased with the opportunity to secure physical exercise at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium and that those who at first were opposed to the plan, are now among the first to appear for exercise and the last to leave. A little later in the season Mr. Tyler hopes to have more time to devote to the police and he may decide to take regular exercise with the policemen in the gymnasium, believing that it will be of great benefit to him. Mr. Tyler also has other plans which he hopes to have adopted during the year will tend to increase the efficiency of the department.

POLICE PENSIONS IN FORCE ERE LONG

CHAIRMAN OF POLICE BOARD FAVORS THE SCHEME.

Being impressed with the advantages to be derived from a well regulated pension system in the police department, Councilman W. S. Tyler, as chairman of the police board, hopes to be able to secure the adoption of such a system here before a great while. It will be remembered that he incidentally spoke of the matter at one of the early meetings of the Common Council, adding that it was his intention to bring it up later, for a free and full discussion.

While the force is now comprised chiefly of young men, Mr. Tyler recognizes the fact that it will be only a question of time when their places will have to be filled by others owing to advanced age. An instance of this is now to be seen in the department in the case of Thomas McCue, who has served the best years of his life there. At present it is not possible for the city to provide for him in his old age and unless some pension is adopted, he will have to be retired later on without receiving any compensation for his years of service.

According to Mr. Tyler's ideas, it is proposed to deduct a certain small percentage from each regular man's salary and thereby establish a fund which will be large enough in time to pay a pension when a man is to be retired. No doubt the city will contribute to some extent to this fund, provided the State laws will permit it. Mr. Tyler is greatly interested in this subject and he will undoubtedly present it to the Common Council within a short time. He believes that if properly started the system would be approved by a majority of the members as well as the citizens in general.

LIKED HIS SINGING.

Johnny Nestor Makes a Big Hit at the Band Concert Fair.

Johnny Nestor, one of the best concert singers in the business, delighted a large audience at the band concert fair in Saengerbund hall, last night, when he appeared in the usual programme. He is small of stature but extremely large of voice and has the ability to use it. He sang, "She Waits by the Deep Blue Sea" and "Keep a Little Cosey Corner in Your Heart for Me," in such a satisfactory manner that he was encored twice. His accompanist was Mr. Bell, of Haviland's New York house.

The fair will not close until Saturday night and Chairman LaVere secured Mr. Nestor's promise to be the last soloist. For tonight and tomorrow night, other well known vocalists have been secured.

Cop Shoots Many Dogs.

For the past two weeks Roundsman John Flynn has been busy shooting dogs found roaming in the West End. Hardly a day has gone by without two or three appeals for an official bullet from residents annoyed by stray or vicious dogs. The roundsman has proved himself such an adept at potting dogs that "Carrie Nation" Higgins, of the ready gun, is scarcely missed any more on the Boulevard and the surrounding section.

Four Sprinklers at Work.

There are now four watering carts doing duty on the city streets, the fourth cart being ordered out on Monday. While this number is able to do its share, there are many sections of the city which should be sprinkled at this time. The Public Service Corporation is still operating its sprinkling car over the local lines and thus making life more bearable for patrons of the road as well as those living along the lines.

Crescents' Annual Fair.

The third annual fair of the North Plainfield Crescents will be held on the grounds at Somerset street and Fairview avenue, Friday afternoon, May 19, at 2:30. The proceeds are to be for the benefit of the Crescents' baseball team, one of the strongest juvenile nines in the borough.

In Miss Burns' Honor.

The Misses Bessie and Beatrice Young, of Newark, gave an enjoyable party Monday evening, at their home on Thirteenth avenue, in honor of Helen V. Burns, of this city, who has been their guest for the past week.

—There is no truth whatever in the report that D. Demolli & Co., caterers, of 331 West Front street, have decided to give up business here. They are here to stay, and will continue to serve exquisite French bread, pastry and confections to a wide and increasing patronage. 5 4 8

CRACK COLORED NINE NEXT FOR DAABSTERS

PHILADELPHIA GIANTS' BATTERY TO BE BOWMAN AND JOHNSON.

The appearance of the Philadelphia Giants on Crescent Oval, Saturday, against the locals, should attract an unusually big crowd. The Giants are without doubt the best aggregation of colored players now on the diamond and the fact that they defeated the Newark Eastern League team three straight this spring at Atlantic City, shows that they are fast enough for league company. The Daabsters will have to keep a hustle on all the time in the contest.

The Giants will present their strongest lineup, using Bowman and J. Johnson for the battery. The former is considered one of the best pitchers in the business. Invincible Monroe will be on third base to coach his team. The other players are all well known.

The local management will present its regular lineup, which is strong enough to make the contest interesting for the colored aggregation. Linderman will likely be selected for slab duty, with the reliable "Pete" Lamar behind him. The other positions will be the same. The game will be called at 3:30 o'clock and the lineup will be as follows:

Plainfield—Cosgrove, cf; Oldring, 2b; Kiernan, ss; Leonard, 3b; Driscoll, 1b; Oregan, lf; Connolly, rf; Lamar, c; Linderman or Beisel, p.

Philadelphia Giants—Moore, cf; Grant, 2b; Johnson, ss; Monroe, 3b; White, 1b; Hill, lf; McClellan, rf-p; Foster, rf-p; J. Johnson, c; Bowman, p.

NAN PATTERSON FAINTS.

In Comatose State for Hours After Jury Disagrees.

Nan Patterson, the chorus girl, whose third trial for the murder of Caesar Young, the bookmaker, ended in a second disagreement and the discharge of her jury at 2:30 o'clock this morning, slept until late in her cell in the Tombs today.

Following the receipt of the news of the jury's failure to agree upon a verdict the girl had fainted and she remained in a comatose condition for nearly two hours in her cell until revived by the Tombs physician.

Improving Water Co.'s Grounds.

The Plainfield Water Supply Company is making several big improvements in the grounds about the Netherwood pumping station. The whole plot has been plowed up and graded, flower beds have been placed in convenient places and sodded borders will set them off until the new grass is fully grown. A stone wall with an imposing gateway entrance is to be built along North avenue and pretty walks will wind about from the superintendent's home, the standpipe and the engine room.

McAll Delegates.

Delegates to the annual meeting of the McAll auxiliaries in this country, to be held in Providence, R. I., next Wednesday and Thursday, were elected at the meeting of the Plainfield Auxiliary yesterday morning. Mrs. Lawrence Myers, Mrs. A. V. Healy, Mrs. F. G. Mead, Mrs. Wright and Mrs. F. O. Herring were the ones named. Mrs. Mead, the president of the auxiliary, read extracts from the "McAll Record."

Operator Was Over-Zealous.

Many newspapers throughout the metropolis and suburbs were misled yesterday, into announcing either by editions or bulletins that Nan Patterson had been acquitted. The report was sent out from New York by an over zealous telegraph operator who failed to have it authenticated. It was generally believed until late last night, no word being given out to the contrary.

Realty Expert's New Horse.

William Jeffery has recently purchased a fine horse from Stonewall Jackson and expects from Studebaker & Co. two handsome carriages. This he find necessary as some of his clients are afraid to ride in his automobile.

Appointed Deputy Grand Regent.

Clarence Goss, of this city, was appointed one of the supervising deputy grand regents of the Royal Arcanum at the closing of the State Council meet in Lakewood yesterday.

Afternoon Tea.

Mrs. Charles Duvier, of West Fifth street, entertained a number of friends at an afternoon tea yesterday.

CHURCH CONVENTION PROGRAM ANNOUNCED

Plans for Annual Meeting of the Diocese of New Jersey.

BISHOP TO PRESIDE

Sessions on Tuesday and Wednesday — Service at Grace Church — Meetings in Casino.

Preparations and the programme for the 127th convention of the Episcopal church of the diocese of New Jersey, which will be held in this city on Tuesday and Wednesday are about complete. It is expected that the convention will be one of the largest and most important yet held in that diocese and there will be at least 250 accredited delegates with possibly a number of visitors. Grace church alone will provide for the entertainment of the delegates and visitors and it has perfected the plans for this part of the convention.

The convention will convene Tuesday morning, May 9, at 10 o'clock in Grace church. Bishop Scarborough will be the celebrant at the Holy Communion and his assistants will be Rev. Dean Bristin Brake, D. D., of Princeton; Rev. Dean Perkins, of Vineland; Rev. J. P. Taylor and Rev. Erskine M. Rodman, of this city. The preacher at this service will be Rev. Dr. J. F. Olmsted, rector of St. Mary's church, Burlington. It is expected that the clergy of the diocese will attend in a body.

The convention will then meet for organization, after which an adjournment will be taken for lunch. This will be served at the Casino, where the remaining business sessions will be held. Resuming at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, the business will be considered. In the evening at 8 o'clock there will be a missionary service.

Bishop Scarborough will preside and the speakers will be Rev. Charles Fiske, of Somerville, and Rev. W. H. Burkhardt, of Grace church, Haddonfield.

The convention will meet again Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, after the service to be held at Grace church, and further business will be considered. Lunch will be served at noon by the women's guild of Grace church, after which the remaining business of the convention will be disposed of. The convention will adjourn Wednesday afternoon.

ELIZABETH TO CELEBRATE.

Will Mark the Battle of Elizabethtown With a Water Carnival.

A water carnival, in which at least 200 vessels, including one of the vessels of the United States navy, will take part, will be held on Staten Island Sound, from the Singer factory to the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad bridge, on the night of June 8, when Elizabeth celebrates the 125th anniversary of the battle of Elizabethtown.

Captain John Dooley and Michael Begian have interested themselves in this matter and already they have secured the consents of fifty local boat owners to take part with their decorated boats in the aquatic event.

Triangles Against 'Bunders.

In a match game, to count for the cup offered by the Saengerbund, the Triangle bowlers will meet the Bund five as Saengerbund Hall Saturday night. Capt. Chauncey B. Keens, of the Triangles, is working his men hard to clinch the victory.

Brass Band at Men's Meeting.

The National Brass Band of the Salvation Army will furnish music at the Y. M. C. A. meeting on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Brigadier Atkinson will conduct the meeting and some members of the band will relate their experiences.

Appointed Census Supervisor.

The secretary of state has appointed J. J. Stahl, of Somerset street, supervisor for North Plainfield in the state census to be taken next month. Two assistants to make personal canvass will be named later.

No Canoe Club.

It is not probable that the Y. M. C. A. Canoe Club, which was formed last year for the first time, will be reorganized this summer. Interest in the club was never very lively.

Rev. Mr. Bond to Speak.

Rev. Lewis Bond, of this city, will speak at the meeting of the Plainfield Rescue mission tonight at 8 o'clock, in German Reformed church.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

J. J. Leahy, the Richmond street plumber, is an expert in his business and his work is always the best.

When you want the best coal mined place your order with V. W. Nash, of Park avenue, and you will get it.

When you want fire insurance or a desirable piece of property consult George F. Brown, of Somerset street.

Putnam & DeGraw, the West Front street dry goods dealers, have received a fine line of summer goods well worth your inspection.

One of the up-to-date meat markets is that conducted by J. A. Koob, at Watchung avenue and Second street. He sells the best meats.

Stonewall Jackson, of the borough, who sells horses, has the reputation for fair dealing. He has all kinds of horses for all kinds of work.

Persons who are particular about where they have their hair cut or get a shave, generally stop at E. B. Maynard's shop on North avenue.

Get your coal from G. O. Stevens. You know him and his way of doing business. A square deal for every man that orders coal is his motto.

Like a sip of wine or something stronger? A pleasant indulgence, if not abused. Get the wine or liquors from L. Hoerster, Somerset street. Pure.

There is scarcely a person who is not affected with corns and ingrowing toe-nails, and instant relief will be obtained through Dr. E. B. Stowe's treatment.

Stair building is a business that requires close attention and John Herrmann has always made it a study. He is thoroughly competent to undertake contracts in this line.

At 816 Liberty street, G. Mastendonato conducts one of the most complete ice cream parlors to be found in the city. Just the place to enjoy yourself on a warm evening.

Sweets to the sweet. This polite aphorism usually refers to candy for the womenfolk. If you put it into effect let the sweets be those of Henry Mehrtens, East Front street.

O. M. Dunham, of Park avenue, carries men's furnishings exclusively and his stock is one of the best to be found in the city. Patronize this store when in need of anything in his line.

Every patron of Timbe's restaurant on North avenue, is a satisfied one. This is due to the par excellent meals served there. Have you tried the famous business men's lunch yet? It is the best ever.

Kelb's candy specials are the talk of the town. He gives the very best goods, strictly fresh, without charging for the name. He makes good ice cream, too, and will deliver it any day in the week.

Gnashing of teeth. It is well enough in fiction, but the more you do it in real life the worse your teeth become. Don't gnash your teeth; have them put in perfect trim by Dr. D. G. Atwood, East Front street.

There is world of comfort and satisfaction in a good smoke at the close of a day's work. To get a good cigar is necessary and J. P. Kirch has them. Better buy a box and have them handy for yourself or friends.

Beside dispensing the best soda water, L. W. Randolph, the West Front street druggist, sells drugs and medicines that can always be relied upon and as for prescription work, Mr. Randolph's reputation is well-known.

A thing of beauty is a joy forever. Handsome residential grounds are a delight to the eye and a boon to property value. The Belleview Nursery will tell you how to improve yours by placing the right kind of trees, shrubs and plants.

Chairs give the final touch of home-like appearance to the room. Let what may be in the living room or the salon, if the chairs are not attractive the apartment looks uncomfortable. Chairs for the masses and for the few at Pierson & Jones, East Front street. Porch chairs, as well as others.

During the next few months, the Mack Scudder Grocery Company at Park avenue and Fourth street, will make a specialty of everything in the vegetable line, strictly fresh each day. If there is anything you think you would like for dinner just telephone them for it and it will be selected carefully and delivered promptly.

—If your books are "tangled" your business is tangled. A good bookkeeper will stop enough "leaks" to pay his salary; and a want ad. will find him for you.

—Fred Donovan, of North avenue, who has been very ill, is convalescing slowly. It will be some time before he can return to his position at T. W. Randolph's drug store.

—D. W. Robertson's Projectoscope Co. will show in the Y. M. C. A. Hall tonight for the last time this season. They turned away over 400 the last time they appeared in this hall.

J. H. Jewett, of West Seventh street, has moved to Central avenue.

AN ORDINANCE

to Lay Out and Widen Park Avenue From the Southeasterly Side Line of West Second Street to the Northwesterly Line of the Right-of-way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey.

Whereas, The Common Council have judged and hereby do judge that the public good requires that Park avenue should be widened on the southwesterly side thereof between the points named in the title to this ordinance, therefore

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That Park avenue in the City of Plainfield from the southeasterly side line of West Second street to the northwesterly line of the right-of-way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, be laid out and widened on the southwesterly side of the center line of said avenue so that southwesterly of said center line it shall be of the uniform width of thirty-six and sixty-two one hundredths feet from said center line, which said center line begins at an iron monument in the intersection of the center lines of Park avenue and West Second street, as the same are now laid out and opened, and runs from said point in a southeasterly direction in a straight line to an iron manhole head, marked, in the intersection of the center lines of Park avenue and West Fourth street.

The lands, real estate and appurtenances to be taken for the widening of said Park avenue include all that part of the several properties now or formerly of the Plainfield Trust Company, Charles W. McCutchen, Rachel R. Bolce, Anna E. Bolce and Sarah R. Runyon which lies between the southwesterly side line of said avenue as now laid out and opened and a parallel line with the center line of said avenue and distant therefrom thirty-six and sixty-two one hundredths feet in a southwesterly direction.

Section 2. That the building line on said portion of said street shall be forty-one and sixty-two one hundredths feet from said center line.

Section 3. That the curb line shall be twenty-four and sixty-two one hundredths feet from said center line, making the sidewalk twelve feet wide and leaving for areas a width of five feet.

Said center, curb, side and building lines are delineated on a certain map made by H. C. VanEmburgh, C. E., entitled "Map showing proposed laying out and widening of Park avenue, from the southeasterly side line of West Second street to the northwesterly line of the right-of-way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, Feb. 1905," to which map reference is hereby made for greater certainty.

The lands, real estate and appurtenances to be taken and the lines of the proposed street as the same is hereinabove ordered to be laid out and widened, are shown on said map on file with the City Clerk, hereinabove referred to and made a part hereof.

Adopted by the Common Council May 1, 1905; approved by the Mayor May 1, 1905.

JAMES F. BUCKLE, Mayor.

Attest: J. T. MacMurray, City Clerk.

AN ORDINANCE

for the Assessment of Taxes for the Year 1905.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That pursuant to the statutes and ordinances and resolutions in such cases made and provided, there shall be assessed and raised by tax for the year nineteen hundred and five, for the general purposes of said City, exclusive of School, Library, Poor, Fire and State and County taxes, the sum of Forty-Nine Thousand Five Hundred Dollars ($49,500). (This sum includes the sum of Twenty-Nine Thousand Two Hundred Dollars ($29,200), to be raised by general tax for street improvements); for the expense for said year for lighting the public streets and places in said City, as ascertained and determined by resolution of the Common Council and certified to the Assessors of said City, a sum of Thirteen Thousand Eight Hundred Dollars ($13,800); for the principal of such sewer bonds (except obligations payable out of assessments and temporary obligations) as may mature during the ensuing fiscal year, under and by virtue of the Act of the Legislature, entitled "An Act to provide for drainage and sewerage in cities in this State," approved April 7, 1880, and the several amendments thereof and supplements thereto, and proceedings had and taken thereunder in said City, and principal of sewer note maturing during said year under Chapter 33, P. L. 1898, being a supplement to said Act, the sum of Four Thousand Dollars ($4,000); for interest on the obligations of the City issued under said last mentioned Acts, the sum of Six Thousand Four Hundred Dollars ($6,400); for the support of the City Poor, the sum of Six Thousand Five Hundred Dollars ($6,500), (included in the last named sum is the sum of One Thousand Dollars for the purpose of supporting and maintaining such indigent patients as may be sent to Muhlenberg Hospital by order of the City Physician, Overseer of the Poor, or other proper authority of the City, pursuant to Chapter LXXVI, P. L. 1886, payable December 31, 1905, pursuant to the contract between said Muhlenberg Hospital and the City); for the maintenance of the Public Library and Reading Room, the sum of Four Thousand Seven Hundred Dollars ($4,700); for the maintenance of a Fire Department, to be under the control and government of said City, the sum of Twenty-Five Thousand Dollars ($25,000); for interest on School Bonds authorized under City Ordinance, to fall due during the said year, the sum of Thirty-Seven Hundred Dollars ($3,700); for principal falling due May 2nd, 1905, of bond issued for purchase of land for garbage disposal purposes under Chapter XL of the laws of 1895 and supplement thereto, Seven Hundred Dollars ($700); and in addition to the foregoing, a license fee of Two Dollars ($2) to be paid by the owner of every dog within the City of Plainfield.

Adopted by the Common Council May 1, 1905; approved by the Mayor May 1, 1905.

JAMES F. BUCKLE, Mayor.

Attest: J. T. MacMURRAY, City Clerk.

Racing Receipts Falling Off.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 4.—The gross receipts of racing associations in New York, operating under the state racing commission in 1904, was $3,805,126 as against $4,014,823 in 1903. These figures are contained in the annual report of the state racing commission to the legislature, just made public.

Rustling Silk Won Baby Stakes.

KANSAS CITY, May 4.—Rustling Silk, nicely handled by Buchanan, won the Baby stakes for two-year-old fillies at Elmridge after a stirring finish with Anna Day. Lady Navarre, favorite, was third. Bertha E. made the running until a furlong out and then quit under the heavy impost.

Miss Affable at St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, May 4.—Miss Affable in the fifth race was the only winner at long odds at the fair grounds. Little Scout, held at 6 to 5, ran a good race and defeated the best field of the day in the fourth event.

Roosevelt Party Stormbound.

GLENWOOD SPRINGS, Colo., May 4.—The president's party did not hunt, as the rains which had been falling for two days now have turned to wet snow, and the hunters are remaining close to the camp. They were unable to make the East Divide and may work directly across the Garfield creek.

Cassidy Bill Passed.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 4.—Senator Drescher, Republican, of Brooklyn furnished the one vote lacking to pass the Cassidy bill extending powers of eminent domain to power companies so as to permit them to condemn private property for the construction of power transmission lines.

A CALL FOR TROOPS

Leading Business Men of Chicago Tired of Labor Riots.

POLICE CANNOT CONTROL THE MOBS

Mayor Dunne Has Declared Against Asking For Military Aid—Citizens Point to List of Seventy-five Injured on Streets.

CHICAGO, May 4.—Rioting in the streets in connection with the teamsters' strike has become so prolonged and so fierce that many of the leading business men have concluded that there will be neither peace in the city nor safety for business interests until the state militia has been called out to restore order.

A committee of members of the Employers' association has gone to Springfield to confer with Governor Deneen and to request him to order out state troops. The labor unions have several representatives at the state capital, and it is likely that they will also be heard before any action is taken by the governor.

Chief of Police O'Neill says he is confident that he has control of the situation and can keep peace in the city. Mayor Dunne supports him in this view and has declared that in his opinion the emergency has not arisen requiring the presence of troops.

On the other hand, business men point to the long list of injured which marked the rioting and the great number of persons who have been hurt and declare that these lists of injured alone are sufficient proof that the police department is not sufficiently strong to cope with the situation. No complaint is made against the police department, for the officers have dispersed every mob with which they have come in contact and have guarded wagons night and day with the greatest vigilance. But despite the utmost efforts of the police fighting continues in the streets and is if possible more vicious on each succeeding day.

While policemen have been able to disperse mobs and guard wagons, they have not been able to prevent the many attacks that are made on non-union men in the business portion of the city alone. The situation, business men say, will be tenfold worse when express wagons and retail delivery wagons are sent to remote parts of the city.

Despite the orders of Mayor Dunne many wagons of concerns against which strikes have been declared were handled by men armed with rifles and shotguns.

The first rifle shot fired during the strike went whizzing through a crowded thoroughfare. The shot was fired by a guard on a wagon of the United States Express company while it was passing through a crowd of strike sympathizers at State and Randolph streets. In driving past the corner the driver of the wagon reined his horses suddenly. A guard within the wagon poked his head instantly from the wagon and, seeing a street car conductor stooping as though to throw a missile, pulled the rifle trigger without the slightest hesitation. No person was hit, and it was said later that the conductor, who narrowly escaped death, was intent solely on his legitimate work of "throwing a switch."

The request of the employers that the police be allowed to ride on their wagons was refused by the chief of police. Positive orders were issued that under no circumstances must the officers mount the wagons, and they will continue to march abreast of the wagons on the street or keep along with them while walking on the sidewalks.

One hundred and fifty wagons of the seven express companies went to and fro across the city and in many instances completely unguarded and at no time under the supervision of more than one or two policemen. Every wagon carried a guard, armed with rifles or double barreled shotguns. The guns were in plain evidence throughout the day, and no attempt was made to interfere with any of the express companies.

Deneen Has No Request For Troops.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 4.—A delegation representing the Illinois and the Chicago Federations of Labor called on Governor Deneen to place before him a copy of resolutions adopted by the Chicago Federation of Labor requesting the governor not to send troops to Chicago until he had personally investigated conditions. Governor Deneen told the committee that no request for troops had been made on him. The proper course to pursue, the governor said, was for such a request to come from the sheriff.

Peconic Bank Will Reopen.

SAG HARBOR, N. Y., May 4.—The affairs of the Peconic bank have been adjusted, and the bank will resume business on Monday. The shortage of $41,000 in the accounts of Francis H. Palmer, the cashier, has been partly covered by property and stocks turned over to the bank by Palmer and the balance by the stockholders by an assessment of 50 per cent.

"The Dictator" In London.

LONDON, May 4.—Richard Harding Davis' "The Dictator," which Charles Frohman presented at the Comedy theater last night, kept the house in peals of laughter. Willie Collier's clever acting was so appreciated that he had to respond to calls for a speech at the close of the performance.

HOPES TO BE FREE

Nan Patterson's Fate Hangs In the Balance.

JURY SAID TO BE DEADLOCKED.

Accused "Florodora" Girl Interviewed After Jurymen Had Retired—Confident of Being Freed From Murder Charge.

NEW YORK, May 4.—With the jury which is considering her case still out, Nan Patterson sits in her cell in the Tombs, buoyed by the hope that at the end of their deliberation the twelve men will agree to a verdict of not guilty. Miss Patterson's hopes are based partly on rumors which were current about the criminal courts building that the first ballots taken in the jury room were decidedly in her favor. The jury was given the case shortly after 1 o'clock.

The latest report of the opinions of the jury is to the effect that six stand for acquittal, five for a compromise verdict and one for murder in the first degree.

The jury has sent to the courtroom for articles of clothing worn by Caesar Young at the time he met his death and for the skeleton which was exhibited during the trial by the prosecution in its endeavor to show that the victim of the tragedy could not have inflicted the wound himself.

The jury was taken out to dinner at 8:30 o'clock. They were surrounded by a platoon of policemen and followed by a great throng. As they made their way toward a restaurant the jurymen were greeted by cries of:

"Set her free!"

"Set Nan free; she deserves it!"

It was 10:05 o'clock when the jury returned to the criminal courts building after dinner and resumed its consideration of the case.

After the jury retired the accused girl was taken back to her cell in the Tombs.

While Recorder Goff was charging the jury Nan Patterson's attitude changed from one of complete despair to renewed hope.

"When I went into court," she said, "I hadn't recovered from the effect of Mr. Rand's abuse yesterday. I was weak and nervous and afraid I would collapse.

"But as soon as the recorder began his charge I felt a great sense of calmness and relief. I felt encouraged.

"It seems to me that the charge was in my favor. I suppose I think so because the recorder instructed on so many points that Mr. Levy instructed him to.

"When the jurors went out I felt, of course, a sickening anxiety, but I soon gained confidence and hope."

So confident does Nan feel of acquittal that she has had all her effects packed and a programme of her movements mapped out in case the verdict should be in accord with her hopes. She said that she would go direct from the courtroom to the Hotel St. Paul, at Sixtieth street and Columbus avenue, and remain there until time to take the train for Washington. She was living at the St. Paul at the time of the tragedy.

She plainly showed the effects of the terrible strain upon her system. Nevertheless the general opinion in the courtroom was that the recorder's charge had been strongly in favor of the prisoner. Lawyer Levy said that he was entirely satisfied with the charge and that he confidently expected an acquittal.

The scenes about the court building and the Tombs after the jury retired were some of the most remarkable ever witnessed at a trial in this city. The fact that the jury had retired seemed to spread like wildfire, and soon there was a large crowd about. On Center street a battalion of mounted patrolmen and many police reserves succeeded in keeping the cars moving and a few vehicles going through.

On the Elm street side, however, there was a practical stopping of all traffic. Now and then trucks intermittently moved when the mounted men made particularly strenuous efforts to get them through, but more often they were blocked.

It is known that the recorder has been on the verge of physical collapse for several days. He has been threatened with pneumonia, and only a desire not to cause another mistrial kept him on the bench. His physicians told him he was running a great risk.

Factory Collapsed at Omaha.

OMAHA, Neb., May 4.—Three persons were killed and six injured by the collapse of a three story brick building at Thirteenth and Grace streets. The building was occupied by the Omaha Casket company, and the killed and injured were employees of the concern. The collapse of the factory was due to a heavy windstorm which near the factory assumed the proportions of a small tornado.

Bowen Sails From San Juan.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, May 4.—Minister Herbert W. Bowen, who has been summoned to Washington and who left La Guayra, Venezuela, on May 1 on board the steamship Philadelphia, arrived here. After a short stop the Philadelphia, with Mr. Bowen on board, proceeded on her way to New York.

Cuba Honors Lee's Memory.

HAVANA, May 4.—In token of appreciation of the distinguished service and friendship for Cuba of the late General Fitz-Hugh Lee, the senate and house has sent a message of condolence to the family of General Lee.

AT GUILD BANQUET.

Secretary Morton Speaks on Railroad Rate Laws.

VOICES ROOSEVELT'S AMBITIONS.

"Many Abuses In Transportation Business," He Says, "but They Are Growing Less; Fewer Rebates and More Equality."

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Many members of the international railway congress met last night at a banquet at the Raleigh hotel as guests of the American Railway guild. While the welcome to the foreign delegates was the keynote of the speeches following the repast, words showing the interest in the work of the congress were not lacking. Secretary Paul Morton took occasion to give fresh expression to President Roosevelt's ambition regarding railroad rate legislation.

Theodore N. Ely of the Pennsylvania railroad was toastmaster. The response to his welcome was made by Ernest Girard of Brussels, acting president of the permanent commission of the congress. George F. Baer, president of the Philadelphia and Reading railroad, voiced American interest in foreign ideas as to transportation.

The relation of forestry to railroads was set forth by Gifford Pinchot of the United States bureau of forestry.

W. F. Allen of the guild spoke of the work and pleasures of the congress.

Mr. Morton's toast was "The President of the United States."

After describing President Roosevelt as one of the "most remarkable men of all the remarkable men who have occupied the White House" Secretary Morton continued:

"It will not be amiss on this occasion before this assemblage for me to say something of the attitude of the president on the railroad question. He wants nothing but what is right, and he is as anxious that no injustice shall be done to the railroads as he is that justice shall be done to the public.

"Unfortunately there have been abuses in the transportation business. Fortunately they are growing less every year. It is very gratifying to those who know that today there is less discrimination, fewer rebates and more equality in freight rates than ever before in the history of the country.

"But through one device or another there still remain here and there preferential rates which favor certain large shippers and which bear down unjustly on others. This is the condition of affairs that the president is doing his best to remove.

"The private sidetrack arrangements, by which unfair inside rates have been enjoyed by some of the big industries of the country; the earning of more than a fair return on private car investments, the payment of commissions of various sorts or rebates or preferential rates in any form ought to be entirely discontinued."

Police After Bank Robbers.

UTICA, N. Y., May 4.—The burglars who blew open the vault and safe in the Gilbertsville bank slept in a barn about half a mile from Mount Upton. It is known that there were four men in the party and that the total amount of cash taken was not far from $3,000. The police in pursuit say that the thieves stole a third team and after driving about an hour freed the horses from the wagon, and the animals returned home. The last heard from the burglars they were headed toward Norwich.

Five Candidates For Senator.

HARTFORD, Conn., May 4.—The caucus of the Republican members of the general assembly to nominate the successor to the late United States Senator Orville H. Platt will be held in the house chamber this afternoon. There are five candidates—namely, former Governor George P. McLean of Simsbury, Congressman Frank B. Brandegee of New London, Congressman E. J. Hill of Norwalk, State Senator Allan W. Paige of Bridgeport and State's Attorney Donald T. Warner of Salisbury.

Garfield Suffering From Carbuncle.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 4.—James R. Garfield, commissioner of corporations, who is in southern California to investigate oil conditions, is suffering severely from a carbuncle and consequently is temporarily hampered in pursuing his work. Both the Santa Fe and the Southern Pacific railroad companies have thrown open their offices and records to Commissioner Garfield and his assistants.

Amanda von Dowitz Held.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Amanda von Dowitz, who is claimed to be the Baroness de Vitz of Austria and who was brought here from New York to answer the charge of larceny of clothing from Mrs. William Slater of this city, has been examined by Assistant District Attorney Given. Mrs. Slater through her housekeeper requested that the case be nolle prossed.

Veteran Congressman Dead.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., May 4.—Major William M. Robbins of Statesville, N. C., a member of the Gettysburg battleground commission and for six years a member of congress from the Seventh North Carolina district, is dead at the home of his son in Salisbury, N. C. He was seventy-seven years old.

W. H. Vrooman Dead at Geneva.

GENEVA, N. Y., May 4.—William H. Vrooman, for thirty-one years superintendent of schools in this city, is dead here, aged eighty-three years. He was born in Canajoharie and was graduated from Union college with the class of 1846.

Plainfield, N. J., May 4, 1905.

Advices from Chicago would lead to the belief that when speaking of municipal ownership the Windy City people really mean mob ownership.

Terry McGovern is said to be crazy. As most ex-prize fighters are convinced that they possess dramatic art, we may expect at any time to hear of Terry taking an emotional part on the stage.

Now that the Nan Patterson case is ended and the James H. Hyde squabble is becoming uninteresting, the people will be allowed to hear something about Terrible Teddy and the Grizzly.

A petition for municipal ownership of water supply has been introduced in the Common Council at Elizabeth, the home of John Kean. Don't suppose for one instant that city fathers have any idea that they can earn a little on the side for summer vacation.

The daily newspaper makes no claim to be the only effective advertising medium, but as a means of favorable influencing the larger proportion of the residents of the territory covered by its circulation it is unquestionably the best, says the Philadelphia Record. What the venders of rival forms of publicity think of this proposition is evidenced by their acts. For instance, when weekly and monthly magazines wish to increase their own advertising patronage they appeal to advertisers through the newspapers And as recently as Sunday last the company which controls the advertising privileges of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company solicited business through a page "ad" in a Brooklyn paper. Such tributes to the drawing power of newspaper space are irresistibly convincing.

AMUSEMENTS.

George Ade, the author of "The College Widow" and other Savage successes, after a short visit to the Orient, returned to San Francisco last week. He is under contract to write two comedies this summer, but says he will do no more in the way of comic opera, as he finds work like "The County Chairman" less exacting and more satisfactory. He will return East after a brief stay in California.

"The Prince of Pilsen" has made such a big hit at the New York Theatre its run has been prolonged two weeks and it will remain at this house till Saturday evening, May 6. A great attraction at popular prices is in demand on Broadway, if the attendance this brilliant musical comedy is drawing is any criterion of judgment. The theatre has been packed at every performance since the opening of the run of this piece. Monday, May 8, an old favorite will return in George M. Cohan in his musical play, "Little Johnny Jones."

LIGHTENS WOMAN'S WORK.

The Bissell Carpet Sweeper is without question the greatest labor-saving machine of the age, as it has relieved woman of one of the hardest tasks she has to perform. Sweeping is no longer dreaded by the woman possessing a Bissell sweeper, as it not only reduces the labor of sweeping, but it saves backaches, brightens and preserves the carpets, prevents the dust and dangerous carpet germs from floating about the room and settling upon the furniture and draperies or from filling the lungs of the operator, thus making the task of sweeping a pleasure. In the matter of economy alone, no housekeeper can afford to be without a Bissell, as one will outlast forty brooms.

Every Bissell Sweeper is Guaranteed.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINTIY.

The graduating class of the borough high school comprises the following seven pupils: Anna Minehart, Nettie Baldwin, Lillian Fedderman, Stella Kick, Enid Fonda, Agatha Badum and Clara Gray.

A dance, conducted by Frank Brosbart, at Apgar's hall, last night, was well attended. The music, under the direction of Mr. Brosbart, was a feature.

Friends of Mrs. Rebecca Swackhamer have returned word of her safe arrival in Joliet, Ill., where she is visiting relatives.

Contractor P. C. Staats will use stone from the Garretson & Gray crusher in his macadamizing work on Dunellen avenue.

Squier and Nelson will be the battery of the village nine against the C. F. C., of Plainfield, in Saturday's game.

The next meeting of the Aid Society, of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, will be held in District number 2.

J. W. Gifford, who bought the Smith automobile for $400 at auction, refused an offer of $600 for it.

The junior team will play the Plainfield high school scrubs next Wednesday afternoon, in Plainfield.

The houses of James Manning and Silas Naylor are to be connected with the water company's main.

Firman Gise is making cement blocks to be used in the foundation of three houses.

Howard Baily and Howard Baily have won gold watches in an advertising contest.

Fred Touzeau has entered the employ of William Dealaman.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Pleasant news. Galvin's Park is to reopen under new management. The park is to be made up-to-date and great things are promised. If this is true the 'Plains should rejoice for with Sunday dances and shell games worked upon the innocent public by fakirs in the past, the town has hardly cared to stand sponser for the place.

The Suburban A. C., of the borough, is arranging to hold another onf the club's dances, the date being May 11. This will be the last of the series of dances given by the club during the winter season.

The Young People's Society, of the Methodist church, the Junior League, held one of its interesting weekly meetings yesterday in the church.

Fanwood Bucket and Engine Company met last night in the company rooms. Only the regular monthly routine business was transacted.

The 'Plains and Westfield bowling teams open the bowling tournament which starts tonight on the Saengerbund alleys, Plainfield.

Howard D. White, principal of the school, has been entertaining a friend from Carlisle, Pa., for a few days.

Miss Cora Miller has returned from a visit with relatives and friends in Newark.

Miss Marion Clark still continues to improve from a serious attack of pneumonia.

John Wade has been entertaining relatives from Chatham for several days.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., meets tonight in the Library rooms.

John Long is havng a new dwelling house erected on Stanbery avenue.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

It is estimated that this county will save nearly $10,000 by the acceptance of the Strong act reducing the membership of the Board of Freeholders, which change will be made on January 1. The salaries of the five members of the new board will be $7,500 a year, while the present cost to the county is $17,000 a year.

Quite often an electric light fixture is broken or put out of order by miscreants. When this happens the matter should be brought to the notice of Mr. Horne at the pumping station and the light will be fixed by the company without delay.

Albert S. Manning has installed in his pleasant home a new bath room and modern water facilities for household use. The water will be drawn by a windwheel from the small spring lake on the premises.

M. W. Payne and son have the contract for the foundation work of the house being erected by Frank Faulks in the village.

Mr. Manning has several contracts for putting up wind mills in the surrounding country.

The commencement exercises of the Piscataway schools will be held June 14.

FRUIT TREES FROM EAST.

Lynn, Mass., Man Was the First to Introduce Industry Into California.

It was a Lynn (Mass.) man who carried to California her first fruit trees. E. A. Ingalls, a '49-er, took from Lynn to California 55 years ago the shipment of cultivated fruit trees that started the state's great fruit-growing industry. When the gold fever broke out Mr. Ingalls, a young man then, took passage round the Horn. The voyage required 133 days. All the pioneers carried such things as they thought would be useful and profitable to sell or trade, but Mr. Ingalls' luggage was the most cumbersome of any, for his fruit trees were numerous and of all sorts. He disposed of these trees at a good price, and then set out for the interior to find gold. He found none. His luck was miserable. So he returned to Lynn again and there his life was as successful as in California it had been unsuccessful. Mr. Ingalls was a lawyer, and a business man in Lynn and his is one of the most honored names in the town's history. It should be one of the most honored names in California's history, too. It was no small thing to have started that great state on her magnificent fruit-growing career.

'PHONE DISPLACES RUNNER

Spread of Modern Means of Communication in Abyssinia Phenomenal.

Abyssinia no longer depends on fleet-footed horse and rider for messages, but is a land of telephone moderness. Already there exists 80 miles of telephone lines and 1,000 miles more have been planned out. A statement issued by the Italian ministry of posts, which is interested with the work, shows that the undertaking is being conducted in the face of several uncompromising obstacles. In some districts the posts have to be continually reerected because, through torrential rains turning the land into soft bog, they have fallen down. In drier districts wooden posts are devoured by insects, and when they are replaced by others of iron they are carried off by the population to be converted into useful implements of husbandry. This necessitates a special police for telephonic lines, which have to be constantly patrolled.

Trout That Are Not Trout.

Theodore Gill, of the Smithsonian institution, in calling attention to the misnaming of our native fish by early settlers, instances among others the trout. The Pilgrims, finding in New England streams a fish that reminded them of the trout of England, gave it the same name, although Izak Walton would have told them that it was not a trout but a char. In Maine landlocked salmon, and in certain lakes another salmonid fish, were also called trout. In the south the name trout was given to black bass. In California a peculiar fish was named trout, apparently for no other reason than its possession of spots. The Gila river trout is not a trout at all.

Spots on the Sun.

Father Ricardo, director of the meteorological observatory at Santa Clara college, near San Jose, Cal., has discovered three large spots on the sun, one of them larger than the earth and the other two of still greater magnitude. The larger of the spots is a slight distance below the sun's equator and the two smaller ones some degrees above it. One of the small spots appeared to grow in size, and the discoverer believes that they will still further increase.

Salaries in Russia.

In the Russian army a lieutenant is paid about $20 a year, a captain about $300 and a major $450.

SUFFERED TORMENTS.

Absconding Tax Collector of San Francisco Held at St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, May 4.—"I never took anything which would affect people who were not able to stand the loss," said Tax Collector Smith of San Francisco, under arrest here. "Large corporations would send in their checks for taxes. I would convert some of these to my own use.

"One of these was a check for nearly $40,000 from the Southern Pacific railroad. I did not take all of this sum. I always hoped to be able to pay back the money I had taken, but I got in too deeply, and when exposure became certain I fled.

"For weeks before exposure came I suffered torments. I could not sleep, I could not eat. I was under a constant nervous strain. Sometimes I would be seized with a fear that somebody was coming to examine my books, and I would remain at the office all night to prevent it. Now I have no friends here or anywhere else," he concluded.

When told of the arrest of Leona Brooks, who registered at the Jefferson hotel as Mrs. B. Smith, the former tax collector denied that he knew her or had met her at the Jefferson hotel. The woman has said she came here in response to a telegram sent to her at Hot Springs by Smith, who asked her to meet him in St. Louis. The woman said she had a talk with Smith at the Jefferson hotel, but did not see him but once. She said Smith supplied her with money when she went to Hot Springs.

Commission Has Too Many Duties.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Robert Mather of the Rock Island system again was before the senate committee on interstate commerce. Discussing the rivalry for commerce, he said that when the gulf ports had shipping and transportation facilities commerce must flow more and more to those ports. No changes were necessary in the present law except the restriction of the scope and power of the interstate commerce commission. It had too many duties and not sufficient time to perform its legitimate functions.

Double Suicide at Blackpool.

BLACKPOOL, England, May 4.—The bodies of Robert Rushton Shaw, an Englishman who formerly lived at Burnley and inherited a small fortune from his father, and his wife Elizabeth, to whom he was married in Philadelphia about five years ago, were found in a field in the suburbs of this town. Both had been shot, and there was a revolver beside the bodies. It is believed to be a case of double suicide. The couple were about to sail for the United States on a visit to Mrs. Shaw's mother in Philadelphia.

Rochester Banker Dead In Mexico.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning May 7.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—The making of a Christian; his exercise.—Jas. i, 22-27.

In the growth of a Christian exercise plays as important a part as it does in the development of the physical man. Spiritual life, like physical life, grows by exercise. If we neglect to use the muscles of the body they become weak and powerless, but if we judiciously exercise them they become all the stronger. An unused organ of the body loses the power to perform the function for which it was made, but when properly used it gains in power. In the dark recesses of Mammoth cave the fish are sightless, having lost the power to see by the long disuse of the organ of sight. On the other hand, people deprived of their sight become greatly acute in the senses of hearing and of feeling through their more frequent use of these senses. Neglect leads to loss and use to gain. These laws hold good both in the physical and the spiritual world. If we possess gifts and talents and neglect them we lose them, but if we will use them for the glory of God and the good of humanity they will increase in numbers and in efficiency. "Unto every one that hath shall be given and he shall have abundance, but from him that hath not shall be taken away even that which he hath."

The Christian should exercise in good deeds. "Be ye doers of the word and not hearers only." We should be hearers, but our religious experience should not be limited to hearing the truth. The man who only listens to the truth may think he is a Christian, but he deceives himself. To listen well, even to speak well, does not make a Christian or increase Christian virtues. "Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven, but he that doeth the will of My Father which is in heaven." Deeds determine character and destiny. And the more we do the more we can do. The more we give the more we will find we can give. The exercise of the gifts we already possess in prayer, in song and in service of any kind will increase the efficiency of these gifts.

Works of philanthropy we should ever be advancing. "Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this, to visit the fatherless and the widows in their affliction." Philanthropy is an important part of religion. It increases also with exercise. The more we visit, the more we sympathize with those about us in the afflictions of life, the greater becomes our desire to visit and to comfort the afflicted about us and the more God will use us in the ministry of consolation.

The Christian should grow in personal purity "and to keep himself unspotted from the world." There are many people who limit James' definition of religion to philanthropy, but this falls far short of the truth. Many are faithful in visiting the afflicted who fail miserably in keeping themselves unspotted from the world. They are selfish and ungodly, and yet because they are kindly and benevolently inclined in disposition they deceive themselves and others often into thinking that they are unusually religious. But God is not deceived. He demands pure hearts and pure lives and separation from the world. "Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world the love of the Father is not in him." Let us therefore exercise ourselves in all the Christian graces and virtues, and in so doing we will "grow in grace" toward the perfect pattern of Christian character set before us in Christ Himself.

Christian Endeavor In Jamaica.

That Christian Endeavor has obtained a firm foothold on the island of Jamaica is evidenced by the fact that the Jamaica union now numbers 170 Young People's societies and 70 Junior societies, with about 12,000 members. The reports of the past five years show that 1,400 decisions for Christ have been secured and about $2,160 given for missions. Dr. Clark is authority for the statement that John E. Randall has had more to do than any other man with the efficiency and prosperity of the Christian Endeavor in Jamaica.

JOHN E. RANDALL.

Briefs.

India now has 567 societies, with 18,200 members, according to a cablegram just received at the headquarters of the World's union, Boston.

Last year 110 California societies reported gains of more than 10 per cent.

The holding of cottage prayer meetings is a strong feature of Christian Endeavor work in Australia.

The French society in Boston, which started a few months ago with seven members, now has forty-two, and its pastor, Rev. Paul Elsesser, says it is the best help of his church.

The Pacific Christian Endeavorer tells about a young boy who deserted his vessel in the United States service in order to go home where sickness and death had entered and taken mother and sister. He returned and voluntarily gave himself up, accepting a deserter's punishment. And his action was due to the influence exerted upon his life by Floating Christian Endeavor society work on his vessel.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

May 7: "The Making of a Christian; His Exercise"—Jas. i, 22-27.

By REV. WALTER J. YATES, Ph. D.

"Like a man beholding his face in a mirror." So, says James, is the man that hears the truth and does not do the right which is made clear to him. He goes away and forgets how he thought and felt and what he really intended to do. He caught a momentary glimpse of himself, saw how he looked, knew he ought to look better, was ashamed of his appearance, thought what he could and ought to do to improve his looks, made up his mind to do it, then went away and let other matters crowd it all out of his mind, or at least so take all his energy that the impression of the face in the glass grew dim in memory, and he reckoned the face was not quite so dirty nor the hair so long nor the chin so much in need of shaving after all. He would let it go awhile longer. So he let it go. And those who met him and had to do with him knew him, as before, for the long haired, unshaved and dirty faced one, but they never suspected that he had thought once of cleaning up and becoming respectable in appearance. How could they now?

Oh, yes, it is essential, absolutely essential, that we be pure in heart! Of course religion is a matter of the soul. But it is well to occasionally recall the fact that this same soul is housed in a body. And you can tell quite surely from the outside of a house what kind of folks live inside. In fact, that is about the only means we have of judging most people.

What a person is may be known with certainty from what he does. The exercises of a Christian display his character and reveal the inner life.

More than this, these same exercises help shape the inner life and leave their impress on the soul. Every indulgence of passion, even if it issued in no word and was not followed by the blow of the fist and wounded no other man physically, did leave its mark on both soul and body of him who indulged it. It has modified all the life powers, and the man shall never again be just the man he was before.

Not every one who meets him will read his secret. Perhaps for awhile no eye shall be so keen as to detect the mark. But it is there, just the same, as a wrinkle which shall be deepened and hardened by each subsequent exercise of passion, until the most careless observer cannot fail to know who lives inside.

I think it is not physical recreations we are called upon to consider in this lesson, but those special exercises which aid in building up Christian character.

One of the first items, if not the most important, in daily life which need careful attention from those who would lead good lives is the matter of conversation. Unless one has given some care to this he will not believe the vast amount of evil there is in the ordinary talk of the great majority of those who call themselves Christians. There is scarcely one who has not been on his guard who will believe the actual facts regarding his own conversation when they are first brought to his attention. Listen for a few minutes to the conversation of any group of three or four persons, a group of which you may be a member. Note the references to those absent, how often they are anything but complimentary and kind; how often they are positively malicious; what innuendoes, insinuations and evil constructions are put on things that would as readily yield themselves to the opposite interpretation; what foolishness, vapidity and sometimes even viciousness are indulged in by those who are the professed followers of the Christ.

It would be an excellent thing if every chapter should have the sermon of John Wesley on "The Cure of Evil Speaking" read in one of the public meetings. It would be certain to open the eyes of many who are thoughtlessly guilty of great foolishness and ignorantly doing themselves and others much injury.

Daily reading of the Bible devotionally, especially the practical parts of the epistles on Christian duties, is a kind of spirit exercise that brings large results. The writings of Paul which touch on Christian living and the teachings of Jesus are a sort of looking glass which every one ought to use daily to see if his own features look like the face there set forth.

Prayer, which is more than asking God for things, ought to be constantly practiced. No soul grows much which does not exercise itself in this field frequently.

One of the most neglected exercises is that of religious conversation. This is different from quoting a passage of Scripture in the devotional meetings of the league. It is more than saying a few words about one's desires and intentions. Many shrink from revealing the inner depths of the soul to others, and it is well to be cautious that such confidences should be made only to those who will assist and not hinder the one who seeks help. The class meetings used to be of great value for this purpose, but these are things of the past in too many localities, and in others where something by that name still exists are most frequently far from serving the end to be desired. If you want to grow in grace and knowledge of the Lord Jesus Christ you will need to talk of him to those who know him. Counsel with them regarding your Christian life and experience.

If you wish to be a Christian that is worth while you will need to work at it persistently. Exercise yourself in all that belongs to a Christian to do and be. Keep it up steadily and not spasmodically. It is regularity that counts in this as truly as in physical development. Exercise yourself to have a conscience void of offense toward God and man.

WIVES WHO ARE CHUMS.

They Never Ask the Editor of the Woman's Page For Advice.

Why are so many marriages failures? Because the bride and groom have no tastes in common.

A man marries a girl because she is pretty; a girl marries a man because he has a good income or a good appearance. After they settle down together what remains? He likes to read; she wants to go out all the time. He is interested in athletics, she in poetry. She loves opera, and he won't go inside a theater unless to hear a comedy, and very often he has a sense of humor and she has none at all.

This last is positively a tragedy.

If men would realize how necessary a sense of humor is in a woman they would certainly look for it more carefully before committing themselves. The trouble with most men is that they make too many allowances for the differences between men and women. They think because a girl can't understand it is because she is a woman. It is not. It is because she is the wrong woman. There is a right kind of woman for every man, and she will have the same tastes as he has; she will laugh at the same things and cry at the same things.

That is being a real chum, and it is the married chums who lead happy lives.

Most women have no idea of the meaning of being chums. A husband tries to tell his wife things, and he gives up in despair because he thinks that, being a woman, she can't understand (which is a libel on womanhood), or she makes a scene when things don't go her way instead of stating her objections quietly and giving him good advice.

The papers are full of lovelorn wives asking for advice, and the advice is very simple. It is the same for all:

"Be his chum; be sunny and cheerful; forget your petticoats occasionally and your narrow prejudices; be a friend to him as his men friends are; share his trouble and, above all, his point of view; like the things he likes and take pleasure in the things which amuse him, and I am almost willing to wager everything I have that he will like your things and think everything you do is just about right in the end.

SUMMER DINING ROOM.

How to Furnish It Inexpensively and Yet Artistically.

Dining room furniture is expensive, and the furnishing of the summer house is apt to be a heavy consideration.

Why not adopt the following plan? Buy some neatly shaped pine chairs and a table and stain them a soft Flemish green. In the center of the table have an old rose jardiniere holding a fern. The floor may be covered with a green art square, and the woodwork of the room may likewise be stained the same tone of green.

Notice the room in the picture. How artistic and yet how simple it is! The fireplace is a good thing in the dining room of a summer house on account of chilly mornings and evenings. Bits of green and white china will add to the decorative effect. The casement window is the making of the room, and it is hung very simply with dimity curtains. Any woman might have a dining room like this for a very small sum.

To Retain Youth and Activity.

The determination to hold fast to all one's powers and keep going, the refusal to give down and coddle oneself, will keep man or woman young and active forever.

Kate Bonnet

By FRANK R. STOCKTON

Copyright, 1902, by D. Appleton & Co., New York.

"An' ye pride yoursel' on that, an' at this moment?" asked Ben, truly amazed.

"That do I," said Bonnet. "And think of it, Ben Greenway, that presumptuous, overbearing Blackbeard was killed, and his head brought away sticking up on the bow of a vessel. What a rare sight that must have been, Ben! Think of his long beard, all tied up with ribbons, stuck up on the bow of a ship!"

"An' ye are now the head de'il on earth?" said Ben.

"You can put it that way, if you like," said Bonnet, "but I am not so looked upon in this town. I am an honored person. I doubt very much if any prisoner in this country was ever treated with the distinction that is shown me, but I don't wonder at it; I have the reputation of two great pirates joined in one—the pirate Bonnet, of the dreaded ship Revenge, and the terrible Thomas of the Royal James. My man, there are people in this town who have been to me and who have said that a man so famous should not even be imprisoned. I have good reason to believe that it will not be long before pardon papers are made out for me, and that I may go my way."

"An' your men?" asked Greenway. "Will they go free or will they be hung like common pirates?"

Bonnet frowned impatiently. "I don't want to hear anything about the men," he said; "of course they will be hung. What could be done with them if they were not hung? But it is entirely different with me. I am a most respectable person, and, now that I am willing to resign my piratical career, having won in it all the glory that can come to one man, that respectability must be considered."

"Weel, weel," said the Scotchman; "an' when it comes that respectabeelity is better for a man's soul an' body than righteousness, then I am no fit counsellor for ye, Master Bonnet," and he took his leave.

The next morning, when Ben Greenway left his lodging he found the town in an uproar. The pirate Bonnet had bribed his sentinels and, with some others, had escaped. Ben stood still and stamped his foot. Such infamy, such perfidy to the authorities who had treated him so well, the Scotchman could not at first imagine, but when the truth became plain to him, his face glowed, his eye burned; this vile conduct of his old master was a triumph to Ben's principles. Wickedness was wickedness, and could not be washed away by respectability.

The days passed on; Bonnet was recaptured, more securely imprisoned, put upon trial, found guilty, and, in spite of the efforts of the advocates of respectability, was condemned to be hung on the same spot where nearly all the members of his pirate crew had been executed.

During all this time Ben Greenway kept away from his old master; he had borne ill-treatment of every kind, but the deception practised upon him when, at his latest interview, Bonnet talked to him of his respectability, having already planned his escape and return to his evil ways, was too much for the honest Scotchman. He had done with this man, faithless to friend and foe, to his own blood, and even to his own bad reputation.

But not quite done. It was but half an hour before the time fixed for the pirate's execution that Ben Greenway gained access to him.

"What!" cried Bonnet, raising his head from his hands. "You here? I thought I had done with you!"

"Ay, I am here," said Ben Greenway. "I hae stood by ye in good fortune an' in bad fortune, an' I hae never left ye, no matter what happened; an' I told ye I would follow ye to the gates o' hell, but I could go no farther. I hae kept my word an' here I stop. Fareweel!"

"The only comfortable thing about this business," said Bonnet, "is to know that at last I am rid of that fellow!"

CHAPTER XXXV.

AGAIN DICKORY WAS THERE.

HERE were indeed gay times in Spanish Town, and with the load lifted from her heart, Kate helped very much to promote the gaiety. If this young lady had wished to make a good colonial match, she had opportunities enough for so doing, but she was not in that frame of mind, and encouraged no suitor.

But, bright as she was, she was not so bright as on that great and glorious day when she received Ben Greenway's letter, telling her that her father was no longer a pirate. There were several reasons for this gradually growing twilight of her happiness, and one was that no letter came from her father. To be sure, there were many reasons why no letter should come. There were no regular mails in these colonies which could be depended upon, and, besides, the new career of her father, sailing as a privateer under the king's flag, would probably make it very difficult for him to send a letter to Jamaica by any regular or irregular method. Moreover, her father was a miserable correspondent, and always had been. Thus she comforted herself and was content, though not very well content, to wait.

Then there was another thing which troubled her, when she thought of it. That good man and steady lover, Martin Newcombe, had written that he was coming to Spanish Town, and she knew very well what he was coming for and what he would say, but she did not know what she would say to him; and the thought of this troubled her. In a letter she might put off the answer for which he had been so long and patiently waiting, but when she met him face to face there could be no more delay; she must tell him yes or no, and she was not ready to do this.

There was so much to think of, so many plans to be considered in regard to going back to Barbadoes or staying in Jamaica, that really she could not make up her mind, at least not until she had seen her father. She would be so sorry if Mr. Newcombe came to Spanish Town before her father should arrive, or at least before she should hear from him.

Then there was another thing which added to the twilight of these cheerful d.. s, and this Kate could scarcely understand, because she could see no reason why it should affect her. The Governor, whom they frequently met in the course of the pleasant social functions of the town, looked troubled, and was not the genial gentleman he used to be

Kate mentioned to her uncle the changed demeanor of the Governor, but he could give no explanation; he had heard of no political troubles, but supposed that family matters might easily have saddened the good man.

Still, there were dinners and little parties, and society made itself very pleasant; and in the midst of them all a ship came in from Barbadoes, bringing a letter from Martin Newcombe.

A strange thing about this letter was that it was addressed to Mr. Delaplaine and not to Miss Kate Bonnet. This, of course, proved the letter must be on business; and, although he was with his little family when he opened his letter, he thought it well to glance at it before reading it aloud. The first few lines showed him that it was indeed a business letter, for it told of the death of Madam Bonnet, and how the writer, Martin Newcombe, as a neighbor and friend of the family, had been called in to take temporary charge of her effects, and, having done so, he hastened to inform Mr. Delaplaine of his proceedings and to ask advice.

Having finished these business details, Mr. Delaplaine went on and read aloud, and in the succeeding portion of the letter Mr. Newcombe begged Mr. Delaplaine to believe that it was the hardest duty of his whole life to write what he was now obliged to write, but that he knew he must do it, and therefore would not hesitate. At this the reader looked at his niece and stopped.

"Go on," cried Kate, her face a little flushed, "go on!"

The face of Mr. Delaplaine was pale, and for a moment he hesitated, then, with a sudden jerk, he nerved himself to the effort, and read on; he had seen enough to make him understand that the duty before him was to read on.

Briefly and tersely, but with tears in the very ink, so sad, were the words, the writer assured Mr. Delaplaine that his love for his niece had been, and was, the overpowering impulse of his life; that to win this love he had dared everything, he had hoped for everything, he had been willing to pass by and overlook everything, but that now, and it tore his heart to write it, his evil fortune had been too much for him; he could do anything for the sake of his love that a man with respect for himself could do, but there was one thing at which he must stop, at which he must bow his head and submit to his fate—that he could not marry the daughter of an executed felon.

Thus came to that little family group the news of the pirate Bonnet's death. There was more of the letter, but Mr. Delaplaine did not read it.

Kate did not scream, nor moan, nor faint, but she sat up straight in her chair and gazed, with a wild intentness at her uncle. No one spoke. At such a moment condolence or sympathy would have been a cruel mockery. They were all as pale as chalk. In his heart Mr. Delaplaine said: "I see it all; the Governor must have known, and he loved her so he could not break her heart."

In the midst of the silence, in the midst of the chalky whiteness of their faces, in the midst of the blackness which was settling down upon them, Kate Bonnet still sat upright, a coldness creeping through every part of her. Suddenly she turned her head, and in a voice of wild entreaty she called out: "Oh, Dickory, why don't you come to me!"

In an instant Dickory was there, and, cold and lifeless, Kate Bonnet was in his arms.

REPORT HOOKER GUILTY.

Supreme Court Justice Says That He Will Not Resign.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 4.—The report of the assembly judiciary committee in relation to the investigation of certain allegations against Supreme Court Justice Warren B. Hooker of improprieties in connection with the Fredonia and Dunkirk postoffices presented to the assembly will not be moved for adoption when it comes up before the house as a special order today. Instead three resolutions prepared at an executive session of the committee will be presented by Chairman Fish or other members of the committee.

These resolutions provide for the adoption of the recommendation for removal under section eleven of article six of the state constitution, but not for the adoption of the findings of fact. The transmission to the senate of copies of the proceedings during the investigation is provided in the second resolution, while the third authorizes the assembly judiciary committee to formulate rules of procedure.

It was shown during the meeting that the adoption of the report with its findings of fact would virtually place the assembly in the position of having found Justice Hooker guilty.

Governor Higgins was told last night of the rumor persistent in the western part of the state that Justice Hooker had sent his resignation to the governor.

"There is no truth in the report," the governor said.

At Dunkirk Judge Hooker said:

"There is not a word of truth in the report that I am to resign. There is no foundation for it."

This positive denial of published reports to the effect that Justice Hooker contemplated resigning from the bench of the supreme court on account of the report of the assembly committee at Albany was made late yesterday afternoon after the judge had read some of the out of town papers. Friends of Justice Hooker here say he will fight the case to a finish.

Governor Higgins said last night that he believed an extra session of the legislature, perhaps in June—"a little later," he put it—would be necessary for the disposal of the case of Supreme Court Justice Hooker.

Murder on Gunboat Peoria.

ST. THOMAS, Danish West Indies, May 4.—The United States auxiliary gunboat Peoria has arrived here from the island of Culebra, Porto Rico, and reports that while the armored cruiser West Virginia was in Target bay, Culebra, a coal passer named Lee killed another coal passer named Warren with a knife, cutting his left arm, stabbing him near the heart and slashing his lungs and bowels. Lee, when questioned as the cause of his deed, was unable to tell why he committed it.

Witness Missing In Hoch Case.

CHICAGO, May 4.—The disappearance of an important witness in the trial of the alleged "Bluebeard," Johann Hoch, is causing considerable anxiety in the state attorney's office. The witness who is missing is Mrs. Annie Holzapfel, a nurse who attended Mrs. Marie Welcker-Hoch during Mrs. Hoch's illness. It is said that the testimony of Mrs. Holzapfel is expected to supply a missing link in the chain of evidence which is being placed around Hoch.

Absconding Milwaukee Banker Held.

CHICAGO, May 4.—Henry G. Goll, absconding cashier of the First National bank of Milwaukee, was arrested at the Lakota hotel here and has been taken back to Milwaukee. He had been at the hotel four days and was registered under the name of A. C. Smith. The detectives tracked Goll from Milwaukee to several towns in Illinois, then into Indiana and finally to Chicago. He said he was willing to go back to Milwaukee. He refused to be interviewed.

Many Buildings Burned at Plainfield.

PLAINFIELD, Conn., May 4.—Fire destroyed a group of six or seven frame buildings in the center of the town, causing a loss estimated anywhere from $5,000 to $10,000. The Plainfield Foundry company's unoccupied plant and a boarding house next door were the largest buildings burned, the others being small barns and sheds. A spark from a passing engine is believed to have started the fire.

Cardinals For South America.

ROME, May 4.—In reply to the protests from certain of the South American republics that they are equally with Brazil entitled to representation in the sacred college, the Vatican has stated that it has been decided that at the next consistory a Brazilian cardinal shall be nominated and that later a second South American cardinal shall be designated.

Millinery Establishment Destroyed.

GREENVILLE, S. C., May 4.—Fire which broke out in the millinery department of the large dry goods establishment of the J. T. Arnold company completely gutted the store. The stock, which is valued at $60,000, is almost a complete loss. The origin of the fire is a mystery.

Hauled Down the Greek Flags.

SPORTING NEWS.

DIAMOND DUST.

"Phil" Smith will probably pitch for the Y. M. C. A. nine in its game against a pick-up team Saturday.

A good crowd witnessed the game yesterday between the Plainfield High School and Leal's and considerable cheering was in order.

Old reliable "Pete" Kiernan is a plasterer by trade and has always played fast ball. At short-stop he excels and being a warm-weather man great things are expected of his this season.

The customary challenges between the classes of the Plainfield High School for baseball games have begun. The first challenge has been issued by the Class of '06 for a game with the Class of '08.

The Leal's third team met and defeated the L. O. B's. on Hope Common, Tuesday by the score of 5 to 3. The L. O. B's. battery was Davis and Campbell, while Brown and Tillotson were in the points for Leal's.

The newspaper men's nine is scheduled to play against the High School Scrubs this afternoon. The paper men will line up as follows: Smith, p; Davis, c; Buckley, 1b; Hacquer, 2b; Vail, ss; Firstbrook, 3b; Hoffman, lf; Laing, cf; Dunn, rf.

Michael J. Leonard, who covers third for the Plainfield team, is employed by the Morse Rubber Goods Company, of New York. His sharp fielding and accurate throwing has spoiled many apparent safe hits and with the stick won many games that seemed hopelessly lost.

The sporting writer for the North American refers to Manager McGraw, of the New York Nationals as having turned out more dirty ball players than any other manager, and further says that McGann, the Giants' first baseman, should never be allowed to play. These comments were the result of the scrap in Philadelphia last week between the Quakers and Giants.

"Rube" Oldring is the "Kid" on the local team and during the week is employed by the Metropolitan Traction Company in a clerical position. So far his playing has been marvelous. He is a natural born player, a fearless base-runner, a good hitter and always in the game. In five games against "Red" Waller, he has a record of twelve safe hits and two sacrifice hits, and no strike outs.

"Pete" Oregan, who has been a favorite here, hails from Peekskill, N. Y., where he is employed as storekeeper at the Fleischman distillery. Two seasons ago he played with the Cincinnati National League team, but tiring of profesional ball, he gave it up to play in the semi-professional ranks. He is a fast fielder, an excellent batsman and his throwing has always been a feature of his work.

Walter A. Cosgrove, the star centerfielder on the local team, is a graduate of Princeton, '04, and was the crack fielder and batsman for four seasons of that speedy team of collegiates. The Westinghouse Electric Company demand his services during the week. Cosgrove is undoubtedly the best fielder in centre garden that ever appeared here. Once on the ball field he is gingered up to the highest baseball pitch attainable. His playing is sure to be one of the features this season.

Short-stop Monroe, of the Philadelphia Giants, is one of the funniest men in the baseball business. His coaching and antics during a game are alone worth the price of admission. From start to finish Monroe deals out "hot air." In a contest last season at Elizabethport against the Stars, it was "anybody's game" up to the seventh inning, when by a liberal use of "ginger," the colored champions forged ahead two runs to the good. Monroe then got in his fine work as a "hot air" merchant, proclaiming in strenuous tones that could be heard by every bleacherite, as follows: "Farewell, you Stars. We will have to leave you soon. We will return later on. When we do come back, we want you to bring down the sun and moon. The sun, moon, stars and the entire canopy of Heaven looks alike to us people. Let them come." The Philadelphia Giants will line up against the Plainfield "Giants," on Saturday, and it is expected that it will be one of the most hotly contested contest ever witnessed here.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

The first games in the State League Bowling tourney will be rolled on the alleys at Saengerbund Hall tonight, the Westfield and Scotch Plains teams taking the initial try. The competition is for a handsome silver trophy offered by the Gesang and Turn Verein and now on exhibition in L. Morler & Son's windows.

OBITUARY.

Charles Taylor Kissam.

A large gathering of friends from this city was in attendance at the funeral of Charles Taylor Kissam, a former well known Plainfielder, held yesterday afternoon, from Adams' chapel, in Park avenue, New York. Mr. Kissam resided for many years on Central avenue and took a great interest in the work of the local Y. M. C. A. and also of the Crescent Avenue church. He was a member of the Board of Directors at the former and also one of the building committee which superintended the erection of the present handsome structure at Front street and Watchung avenue. He left Plainfield ten years ago and since then has been residing in New York. At the time of his death he was treasurer of the Union Theological Seminary and was prominently identified with the work in the West Side branch of the Y. M. C. A. He died in the Presbyterian hospital after a long illness, leaving a widow and one sister.

LEALS NO MATCH FOR HIGH SCHOOL NINE

P. H. S. RUBS IT IN TO TUNE OF 29 TO 1.

Plainfield High School showed the Leal School that it is not in it in baseball this season, taking the opportunity to defeat the private school nine by a score of 29 to 1 on Crescent Oval yesterday afternoon.

During the first stages of the game there was promise of a keen struggle, but the work of the private school boys gradually lagged and finally they were playing in a childish manner. The Leal's team was glad to have the game shortened to seven innings when they saw how hopelessly they were lost. Even Glenny, the supposed crack catcher of Leal's, played a weak game behind the bat.

When it came to batting, Leal's could do nothing with either Burt or Smith, getting two hits off the former in five innings and one hit off the latter in two innings.

Tracy Howard played the best all-around game for Leal's, and obtained two of the three hits secured by his team. The P. H. S. team played a fine all-around game, Thompson and Smith batting especially heavily.

BATTLE WITH BEARS IN DEN

ADVENTURE OF TWO HUNTERS IN MOUNTAIN CAVE.

DOG IS TORN TO PIECES.

Men Are Lost in Wilderness and Take Refuge in Home of Animals—Four Bruins Killed in Desperate Fight.

Chichesterville, N. Y.—An experience abounding in danger recently befell Frank Bliss and Jake Van Thomson on West Kill mountain, and this is their story of the adventure:

Accompanied by two hounds, they had struck bear tracks early in the day, and followed them until toward evening, when it began snowing. They gave up the chase, and in trying to retrace their steps discovered that they were lost, not only in a mountain wilderness, but in a raging snowstorm as well.

Coming to a halt, they looked around and sighted a hollow in the rocks that, on closer inspection, revealed a cave that would furnish a refuge for the night. They immediately began gathering wood, and quickly had a huge heap of it, sufficient to last them until morning. They soon had a cheerful fire blazing, and as the firelight flooded the cave one of their dogs rose and, glaring toward the back of the cave, bared his teeth and began to bay loudly. Springing to their feet, the men looked in that direction and saw four pairs of eyes shining in the darkness.

"Catamounts!" exclaimed Van Thomson, and both hunters threw open the breeches of their guns and slipped in cartridges loaded with heavy buckshot. Simultaneously the eyes disappeared and the dogs bounded into the darkness of the cave. Grabbing up a blazing pine-knot, the hunters, with their guns in hand and hatchets in belts, followed.

At an angle in a wall they found a narrow passage leading into another cave, and their flaming pine knots brought a retreating bear into view. They were in a bear's den, probably the home of the one that they had been following all day. Urging on their dogs, they entered the second cave, and there saw four bears. One of them, a big male, was facing them, showing his teeth and growling threateningly at the dogs, which were springing at him. Behind him was the mother bear and two cubs, probably five or six months old.

Calling off the dogs for a clear aim, the men each let go one barrel of their buckshot at the bear's head. He rose on his hind legs and sprang upon the nearest dog and tore it to pieces, but while he was doing so the hunters killed the brave brute with their hatchets. A single shot killed the mother bear, and as her young tried to escape they, too, were finished and the carnage, which lasted not to exceed five minutes, ended with four dead bears and one dead dog, and it had all taken place by the light of the burning pine-knot, which had been dropped to the floor of the cave when they saw the bear.

After a thorough search as a matter of precaution, the hunters returned to the outer chamber of the cave and went to sleep by the fire.

On the following morning they got their bearings and went away, but returned in the afternoon and secured the carcasses of the bears, which they shipped down the Delaware and Ulster road to New York. The station scales showed that the largest of the bears weighed more than 300 pounds.

Her Ashes Buried in Workbasket.

New Rochelle, N. Y.—In accordance with a clause in the will of Mrs. Constance Miller, an aged and wealthy widow, her ashes were deposited in a work basket she had used for years and buried in a grave alongside the resting place of her husband, John B. Miller, in Woodlawn cemetery. Mrs. Miller always had a fear that she might be buried alive. To prevent that she left a stipulation in her will that her body be cremated. The undertaker placed the ashes in a glass jar which was tied into the basket.

Father Kept in Alcohol.

Paris.—At Viverols, in the Puy de Dome, Hector Granat, a former notary, has his father's body preserved in alcohol. Granat, Sr., has been dead 15 years. The body is in a zinc-lined receptacle with a glass front, and the notary is always delighted to exhibit his father's body to visitors.

WANT "SWIMMING HOLE"

Committee Appointed by the Board of Trade to Investigate.

SUGGESTIONS MADE

Location in Green Brook Below West End Avenue Proposed—Council Interested.

An important matter discussed by the Board of Trade last night was the familiar problem of "how to obtain public baths with the least possible cost," the latter being estimated at anywhere between $100 and $2,000. Numerous suggestions were made, the majority of them being for a location in Green brook below West End avenue, and H. W. Marshall and William Jeffery were appointed a committee to investigate.

Councilman Tolles, who attended the meeting, said the matter is one that the Council has had under consideration at various times and that it would be glad to accept any suggestions from the Board. At the present time, Plainfield boys have no "swimming hole" in the city limits and the idea of the Board is to give them one.

Action in regard to the "spite house" question was deferred for one month as the Common Council, according to Councilman Bullock, has the question in hand and will make a report within a short time.

Colonel Mason W. Tyler was unable to be present and address the Board last night but it is thought he can be secured for the next meeting.

GOLF ATTRACTIONS TOMORROW AFTERNOON

ON THE LINKS OF COUNTRY CLUB AND PARK CLUB.

The attractions at the Plainfield Country Club tomorrow will include the weekly competition for the Golf Committee cup, which was started last Saturday, play for the Women's Clock Golf cup and a team match with Columbia University team. This will be the first of a series of matches arranged for the season with some of the strongest clubs in the Metropolitan district. The team to represent the local club will be a pick of the best players and every effort will be made to establish a good record for the season.

While the number who returned their scores a week ago for the Golf Committee cup was not large, there was evidence of good work on the part of those who did, low scores being the rule. W. L. Glenney showed up in excellent form, winning the cup for the best gross score, and Julius Erickson, with a net score of 79 not only won the cup for the best net score but captured three points for the weekly competition cup.

There is sure to be a deep interest in golf on the part of the women and the clock golf contests, started tomorrow will bring out a good field. The women find these events more attractive than those requiring a walk over the whole course.

At the Park Golf Club tomorrow there will be continuation of play for the President's and Park Golf Club cups. This competition is increasing in interest and number of contestants.

The attractions at the Westfield Golf Club will include the monthly handicap play. Later on there will be contests for other cups, in addition to the team matches proposed.

Tribute to Senator Childs.

In The Herald's Sunday edition there was a list of State Senators whose terms expire this year. The writer thus referred to Senator Childs: "Samuel S. Childs, of Somerset, is as upright and intelligent a lawmaker as occupies a seat in either house. He is known as a man of undoubted integrity who devotes serious-minded consideration to the work before the Legislature, who studies with quiet but keen-eyed intelligence everything that is going on, who estimates men and measures at their true value, and who cannot be swerved from the paths of honorable duty by any influence or considerations whatsoever. It is a great thing for a county to be represented by such a man."

Robbed Freight Depot.

Thieves broke into the express office and freight depot of the New Jersey Central at Whitehouse Station yesterday morning and stole shoes, whiskey and a great quantity of other articles. Entrance was effected by prying up a window. It is believed the robbers made their escape on a coal train with their plunder.

SAFE WRECKER BAFFLED

With Nito-Glycerine William Clark Breaks All But One.

INTERESTING TESTS

Manganese the Only Safe That Withstands the Experiment—Bankers Witness the Exhibition.

In order to demonstrate the superiority of manganese steel over ordinary steel in the construction of safes and vaults, officials of the Manganese Steel Safe Company conducted at the Mobus stone quarry off the upper end of Somerset street, yesterday afternoon, one of the most complete and expensive tests its product has ever been given. For the especial benefit of a large gathering of bank officials from Brooklyn, Williamsburg, Hoboken and Jersey City, and residents of Metuchen who are organizing a savings institution, the methods employed by safe crackers were shown in half-a-dozen different ways, the idea being to make plain how easy it is for the ordinary vault to be robbed. The tests were satisfactory in every way and made a deep impression on the distinguished gathering.

William C. Clark, of Pittsburg, an expert in the use of explosives, conducted the demonstration, assisted by Acting Manager William Taylor and Superintendent Gesswein, of the local plant; secretary, Sidney L. Smith, of New York, and Salesmen James Sullivan and William Lendgren. A heavy section of ordinary steel plating, made by bolting five pieces together, was first taken. A small quantity of nitro-glycerine was poured in one of the cracks that can be opened up and it was discharged by an electric battery.

The plates were torn apart instantly and one of them was hurled 100 feet away. The same experiment was tried a second time and the top plate shot high in the air.

Following this a small bank safe made by a New York company, was drilled into and two and one-half ounces of nitro-glycerine were applied. When it was discharged, the safe door was blown off and went whirling through the woods, landing in a cleared spot fully 300 feet from the starting point. The remainder of the safe was toppled over, either weakened or torn apart in every joint. It took Mr. Clark just fourteen minutes to do the drilling, apply the explosive and discharge it.

For the sake of comparison, a big plate of manganese steel, which is always made of one piece, was placed upright and six ounces of nitro-glycerine were poured into a putty pocket in the center. When it was discharged the shock was terrific but the plate was not a bit affected beyond a slight discoloration of the surface. It was again taken and two pounds of dynamite were exploded directly in the same place and with the same result.

Burglars are frequently baffled by the impossibility of drilling into tempered steel but in recent years many of the experts have learned to use thermit to take out the temper and how it is done was shown by Mr. Clark. A small quantity of thermit was set off on a steel plate and it was rendered like ordinary iron in a few seconds, 5,200 degrees of heat being generated. The same amount was applied to a manganese plate but it had no effect as it has no temper to be removed. Several minor tests were made and in conclusion Mr. Clark declared that in a given time he could open any safe on the market, outside of those made by the Manganese company.

The safe and materials used in the tests weighed in all 9,160 pounds and were carried to the quarry by the Manganese Company's own team in charge of Michael Colvin and Isaac Steenson. There is a steep grade leading to it and according to Proprietor Mobus it is the heaviest load that was ever taken up, yet was accomplished with apparent ease by the handsome greys that do all the firm's hauling.

Third Dividend in Eighteen Months.

The Investors' Realty Company at a meeting held yesterday declared a dividend of 10 per cent. This is the third dividend the Company has declared since its incorporation 18 month ago: in consequence of which the shares are now selling for a good price. The Company deals wholly in unimproved free and clear land. Its officers are Samuel H. Craig, President, Alonza W. Weseman, Vice-President, William Jeffery, Secretary and Treasurer.

—Bear in mind that tomorrow Newman Brothers will put on sale 500 quarts of the very nicest North Carolina and Norfolk strawberries; quality high, price low.

"MIKADO" MAKES A HIT

Music Lovers Find it to be Best of Kind Ever Given Here.

AUDIENCE DELIGHTED

Attraction at Casino Superb—Wm. N. Runyon as Ko-Ko Immense.

Increased success attended the third Gilbert & Sullivan revival by William Holmes, at the Casino last night. The amateur cast be trained to present "The Mikado" did full justice to every line of the libretto, to every bit of dialogue, and brought out all the melody of the ever-delightful score. The production was warmly received by an audience that filled the house.

The opera was staged in a way that precludes criticism. The scenic effects of the two acts were charming and real, and the costuming was rich and complete to the last detail. The performance went with a smoothness quite beyond the amateur class.

This is the cast:

The Mikado of Japan, Howard T. Lewis.

Nanki Pooh (His son, disguised as a wandering minstrel, and in love with Yum-Yum), William J. Tallamy.

Ko-Ko (Lord High Executioner of Titipu), William N. Runyon.

Pooh-Bah (Lord High Everything Else), R. Wilson Derby.

Pish-Tush (A Noble Lord), Frederick J. Pope.

Nee-Ban (Attendant to the Mikado), Elmer D. Cutting.

Yum-Yum, Pitti-Sing, Peep-Bo (Three Sisters, Wards of Ko-Ko), Mrs. Florence Bennett-Young, Miss Anna Daley, Miss Ada M. Dunham.

Katisha (An elderly lady in love with Nanki-Pooh, Mrs. Ferdinando M. Ward.

Chorus of school girls, nobles, guards and coolies: Mrs. C. A. Braider, Mrs. S. B. Howe, Jr., Mrs. R. E. Humpston, Mrs. F. M. Letson, Mrs. A. I. Littell, Mrs. C. M. Nagle, Mrs. W. R. Townsend; the Misses Agnes Bailey, E. Edna Baldwin, Edith F. Boice, Mae Brouwer, Nellie S. Brown, Dorothea Bull, Emma C. Craig, Elizabeth Day, Ida M. Desaman, Josie Desaman, Irene B. Dunham, Mary H. Dunham, Eva C. Dunnavan, Ethel King, Kittie McKeon, Beatrice Miner, Alice L. Morgan, May E. Pound, Susan M. Pound, Anna Randall, Harriett C. Randall, Lou F. Randolph, S. Etta Randolph, Cornelia C. Sampson, Nora B. Sobenck, Mary Smith, Lizzie W. Stafford, E. Nellie Tabb, Abbie VanCleef, Ada Van Doren; Clifford A. Braider, Sidney R. Craig, F. T. Dickerson, Joseph S. Dunham, B. Hanrahan, S. B. Howe, Jr., R. E. Humpston, Joseph C. Martin, Albert E. Mathews, Willard M. Miner, Harry J. Northrop, William O'Keefe, P. A. Parsons, W. C. Rosencrantz, Walter M. Sampson, Theodore J. Shirley, B. F. Tallamy, L. V. Tallamy, Charles B. Titsworth, William Vivers, H. B. Weatherwax, Harry D. Williams, Edmund D. Young.

William N. Runyon scored his usual success. He took stellar rank with his initial appearance, and shone as the star all through the performance. His voice was strong and more resonant than it sometimes is, and the touch of raucousness that more than once has spoiled his singing in public was entirely lacking. He was persistently encored, and had a hard time ending his solos. His humor was of the characteristic kind; and he interpolated local lines that sent the audience into constantly recurring laughter.

In introducing "Yum-Yum," "Pitti-Sing" and "Peep-Bo" to "Pooh-Bah" Judge Runyon said, with a bland gesture in the direction of a seat in the left aisle, where City Clerk J. T. MacMurray sat:

"These are my three wards: First ward, Second ward, Third ward. Andy McArdell wouldn't let the Fourth ward out. The middle one is my bride-elect." The last sentence is in the lines, but it happens that the judge is responsible for the Second at election time. The audience appreciated the point.

R. Wilson Derby's "Pooh-Bah" was a delightfully humorous conception. His attitude of aristocratic dignity and portentious solemnity never slackened. Howard T. Lewis was funny even without his lines, and his stage "business" was matched by the oddities of Elmer D. Cutting as he chased his agile lord about the stage. Mrs. Ward and the other supporting members of the cast were quite as clever in their roles.

All the singing was admirable. The chorus was splendidly effective, and its performance, more than anything

LODGES ARE TO RUN BENEFIT CARNIVAL

FRATERNAL ORGANIZATIONS INTERESTED IN TEN DAYS' SHOW.

The fraternal organizations of the city are becoming interested in the Carnival and Fair to be held at West Fourth street and Darrow avenue, May 11 to 20, inclusive, for the benefit of Muhlenberg Hospital, and they are now arranging to take charge of the fair for one night each, the local lodges inviting sister organizations from other cities to come here and assist in the undertaking.

This scheme is causing considerable rivalry among the twenty odd secret orders here and no doubt it will enrich the treasury to a large extent. Watchung Council, No. 552, Knights of Columbus, has secured Wednesday night, May 17. The Masonic organizations and the Elks will have nights to be decided upon later.

All of the other lodges of the various orders have been invited to join in the competition and as soon as possible various nights will be set apart for them. These lodges include the Red Men, Odd Fellows, Royal Arcanum, Knights of Pythias, Ancient Order United Workmen, Jr. O. U. A. M., Independent Order Foresters, and others.

WOMAN TO PREACH ON "IMMORTALITY"

REV. ANTOINETTE B. BLACKWELL TO OCCUPY ALL SOULS' PULPIT.

Rev. Antoinette Brown Blackwell, the venerable woman minister, whose character and influence were so highly praised in a recent editorial in the New York Times, will occupy the pulpit at All Souls' church on Sunday morning. She will preach on "Immortality."

This is a much-praised sermon to which Mrs. Blackwell has given much thought and attention and through the influence of several Plainfield women she has consented to deliver the sermon in this city. Mrs. Blackwell is a talented speaker and she cannot fail to attract a large congregation.

THREE ENUMERATORS.

Fourth Ward Appointees Named—Plums Go by Districts.

Three of the census enumerators for Plainfield were recommended to the County Republican Committee at its regular meeting last night. The committee decided that the enumerators were to be appointed by election districts.

Only the Fourth ward was represented at the meeting, by Andrew McArdell and William Newcorn, and they handed in the three names for that ward. They named J. B. Martin, for the First district; Abram Angleman, for the Second district, and Jacob Krisey, for the Third district. The names from the other wards will be sent in.

No other business, aside from routine, came up at the meeting.

Middlesex Plans New Jail.

Middlesex County intends to make at least a start to obtain a new jail. At yesterday's meeting of the Board of Freeholders it was decided by resolution that $30,000 will be placed in next year's budget, to provide for the beginning of work on the improvements to the old jail. It is expected that it will take about $60,000 to put the jail in condition, and it is planned to spend $30,000 each year.

Beautifying Station Grounds.

The Central Railroad of New Jersey has begun to beautify the Elizabethport Station. A neglected spot of land between the tracks and the shops of the Company is being improved into a lawn, upon which flowers will be set, and the name of the station revealed in flowers. Improvements of a similar sort, but on a smaller scale are going on at the Elizabeth Avenue station.

Children's Benefit Affair.

Miss Dorothy Merrill, Miss Madaline Noonan and Miss Elizabeth Hawthorne will hold a fair at 1045 Dunellen avenue, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. The proceeds are to be for the benefit of the Children's Home.

—D. Demolli & Co., the caterers, emphatically deny the report that they are to sell out their business. "We serve the most desired and fastidious class of trade in the city and are doing better every day," said one of the firm yesterday. "The report is the result of jealousy."

PRISON LEAGUE WORK

Mrs. Ballington Booth Tells of Her Effort to Save Souls.

"CHERRY HILL" BLOT

Compares Philadelphia Penitentiary With Those in Other States—Has Accomplished Much.

Before an audience that almost filled the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, last night, Mrs. Ballington Booth, leader of the Volunteers of America, and the organizer of what is known as the Volunteer Prison League, which is doing so much good for convicts in the various prisons in this country, gave an intensely interesting address. With a charming personality, so well-known to thousands of her friends, Mrs. Booth related incident after incident to prove that the great work she has been doing for the past nine years among the prisons is bearing fruit.

She said that there are now about 84,000 men in the prisons in this country and to use her own words she "lifted the curtain to give those present a glimpse of the sorrow and sunshine to be seen there." She referred to the past nine years as the happiest in her life, although when she entered upon her work she was told that she never could accomplish much good, that the ex-convicts would soon drift back to the paths of sin. This she said had not been so and she had never seen a field so white with harvest. She had found that when men reach their extremity they were then ready to listen and cling to any rope thrown to them for help. She had found the hunger of the human soul not satisfied and in her humble way was endeavoring to teach these men of Christ and the better life. In this way she had been privileged to see them come out into the sunshine of faith like little children.

Continuing Mrs. Booth said in part: "I wish I could give you a peep into the prison chapels, to see the earnest faces, so responsive to all that is said to them. Some of the most unruly prisoners, those least trusted, are now living lives so sincere that no human effort could do what the divine has done. I have visited Sing Sing, Dannemora, Auburn, Trenton, Joliet and other prisons, but the one known as "Cherry Hill" in Philadelphia is the only one where the solitary confinement system is adopted. There a prisoner remains in his cell, and when for any reason he is obliged to leave it, his face is masked. He has little or no exercise and I found that the system is not scientifically carried out. There was no worship, no chaplain and I was told that it would do not good to visit that prison.

"In the course of time I received an invitation to go there. I spoke eight different times in order that all the prisoners might hear me, yet I did not see a face. However, the influence was for good and when I left there were many exclamations of 'Come again, Little Mother.' Recently, I was permitted to address an open letter to each prisoner there and a voluntary prison league of Volunteers is now established."

Mrs. Booth stated that there are now 30,000 members of this league among the ex-convicts, and convicts, all wearing the familiar button of the order. She related many thrilling experiences in connection with her visits to the prisons. In California, where there are 165 life men imprisoned and where insurrections are common, over one thousand prisoners listened to her with close attention. There were many touching incidents related showing the sympathy and help extended among the prisoners and to their families and how she had been enabled to help families of those who are paying penalties. She cited one instance where a man is serving a life term through the bungling work of his counsel. The district attorney afterward said that the man should not have received over six years. Mrs Booth said that she is particular to impress upon the prisoners the necessity of accepting Christ while in confinement and not waiting until the completion of their term. In conclusion she related a pathetic story of a prisoner who gave up his supply of tobacco and oil for his lamp for three months in exchange with another prisoner for a caged bird which he afterward released. It was his desire to give the bird his freedom, something which he could not have himself.

In the absence of Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, who could not attend, F. H. Andrews presided at the meeting and a sister member of the Volunteers sang a solo. As a result of the meeting assurances of considerable support were given by interested ones.

GEN. SCHWENK REBUKED

Forced to Resign as Grand Marshal for Memoral Day.

SOLDIERS SCORN HIM

Regulars and Militiamen Refuse to March Behind Former Oak Tree Man Because He Was Cashiered.

Through the stigma attaching to an old disgrace, General Samuel K. Schwenk, who, until a few years ago, was a resident of Park avenue, in Oak Tree, and well known in this city, has been forced to resign as grand marshal of the Memorial Day parade in New York city, a position to which he was elected recently by the Grand Army of the Republic.

General Schwenk performed gallant service as a volunteer officer during the Civil War, and for that received the brevet of brigardier general of volunteers. After the war he was appointed an officer in the regular army, and was retired as a captain in 1876. He was dismissed from the army after a trial by court martial on March 20, 1901. The General was a prominent member of the Grand Army of the Republic, and some of his friends, who thought his dismissal had been practically forgotten, managed to elect him grand marshal.

In this position he would have marched at the head of the regular and National Guard forces in the column, but when his appointment was announced officially a few days ago there was a great wave of protest. It was asserted that unless he resigned there would be no escort of regular or National Guard troops. General Schwenk was informed of the feeling against him and was told that his resignation was imperative.

General Schwenk was tried before a general court martial in New York city, charged with conduct unbecoming an officer and gentleman and with making and causing to be presented a false and fraudulent claim against the United States. The specifications alleged that he duplicated his pay account. The court found General Schwenk guilty of all the charges.

General Schwenk said last night that his difficulties in the army were due to his efforts to aid a friend who was in trouble.

During his residence in this vicinity General Schwenk was well-liked. His wife was superintendent of Marcomber chapel Sunday-school.

KO-KO ON "BOXING BOUT."

Lord High Executioner in "Mikado" Makes a Hit.

As an encore to his first solo, "I've Got a Little List," William N. Runyon, as Ko-Ko, in the Mikado last night, sang the following lines:

The gentlemen who went across the brook to see the fight
I've got 'em on the list, I've got 'em on the list.
They all united saying it was such a pleasant night
They never would have missed, they never would have missed.
It's funny how they claimed at first the kid was fairly whipped
Then turned and said the knockout came because he merely slipped
And that they only went to hear the music anyway.
They thought it was a concert—not a brutal low affray.
When the Somerset Grand Jury started sending out its list
There were several faces missed, there were several faces missed.

Veteran a Suicide.

Henry Giles, seventy-four years old, a veteran of the Civil War, was found in a woodshed on Mrs. Agnes Randolph's place, in Piscataway, hanging from a crossbeam with a rope around his neck, Wednesday morning. There was nothing to indicate that the case was anything but suicide. Giles is survived by a widow and two daughters in South Plainfield. He will be buried tomorrow afternoon, from his late home. Revs. H. N. Jordon and Frank Fletcher, of New Market, will conduct the service.

Registrar Smith Moving.

The work of moving the effects of the office of County Registrar Smith from the jail building into the new Court House at Elizabeth was begun Wednesday afternoon. It will be tomorrow afternoon before the work is completed, and the office in its new quarters will not be open for business until Monday morning. The books of record in the search room will be the last of the articles moved.

—The H. B. Claflin Company, New York, sold this week more than a million dollars worth of surplus wash goods by order of manufacturers. The Hill & Shupp store secured many good lots and will open their sale on them Saturday morning at 9 o'clock.

GRADE CROSSING EVIL

Board of Trade Objects to Dangerous Condition at Rock Ave-

TO NOTIFY RAILROAD

The Matter Was Called to the Attention of the Board by J. V. E. Vanderhoef.

The only railroad crossing in Plainfield, located on Rock avenue, just off West Front street, was the cause of wide discussion at last night's regular meeting of the Board of Trade. The tracks of the New Jersey Central at that point dip downward into Dunellen, having been left that way when the local elevating work was accomplished thirty years ago. Recently the property in that section has become built up and a great deal of traffic passes over the crossing which is not guarded by a flagman or even gates. In addition the crews of freight and coal trains often stop them on the grade and block the road for twenty minutes or half an hour, which is a direct violation of the State law.

The matter was called to the attention of the Board by J. V. E. Vanderhoef, who has property in that section and who uses the crossing a great deal. His action was approved by other members who know what danger exists, it being almost impossible to see trains approaching from either direction because of buildings. The question was discussed thoroughly and in conclusion a motion was passed, authorizing the secretary to call the attention of the railroad authorities to the complaints and ask that steps be taken to remedy the evils.

JUDSON VOORHEES DIES FROM SPOTTED FEVER

CRANFORD MAN VICTIM OF CEREBRO SPINAL MENINGITIS.

Judson Voorhees, well-known here, died yesterday afternoon at his home in Cranford from cerebro spinal meningitis. He was taken ill on Monday and rapidly grew worse, despite prompt treatment. Mr. Voorhees had been a resident of Cranford for many years, where he was engaged in business as a contractor. A week ago yesterday he and Mrs. Voorhees celebrated their silver wedding anniversary. He married Miss Emma Weiverton, of Sandy Ridge, this State, and she and one son, Harry, survives him. Upon the death of Samuel Wallace, several months ago, Mr. Voorhees was named by the will as an executor.

Funeral services will be held tonight at the late home in Cranford and again tomorrow afternoon at Somerville, where the interment will take place.

STRONG ATTRACTION.

Amusement Company Draws Full House to Y. M. C. A. Hall.

The Robertson Projectoscope Company, with a programme of moving pictures, illustrated songs, magic, and piccolo solos, proved a strong drawing card at the Y. M. C. A. Hall last night. Every seat in the house was taken, and standing room was all that late-comers could get.

The moving pictures were mostly humorous. Harry Willard, the soloist, sang illustrated songs and played the piccolo. Prof. Struck, magician, gave a skilful exhibition of sleight of hand and other wizardry.

Frank Smith East.

Frank Smith, the "lost" brother of the late Mrs. Charles L. Fair, whom the Nelson lawyers located in a Topeka, Kan., restaurant, has come on for a visit to his relatives in the East, and, incidentally, to clear away the formalities attendant on his claim to the money left him under the wills of his sister and mother. He is staying with his brother, W. B. Smith, in New Market. He arrived in the village Wednesday. This morning he came to Plainfield to look over the town.

Terrors Ate 'Em Alive.

The Netherwood Terrors defeated Leal's fourth team yesterday afternoon by a score of 15 to 14. Vandeventer and Doane formed the battery for the winning team, and Tilson and Averill for the defeated nine.

Preaches in Million Dollar Church.

Rev. A. C. Nickerson, pastor of All Souls' church, will preach in the Unitarian church, Fairhaven, Mass., on Sunday. This is one of the finest memorial churches in America, costing $1,000,000.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

TenEyck & Harris can supply you with the best grade of coal at the lowest market prices. Place your order now.

George Egel, Somerset street—that's the place. If you are a householder, see that your meat is purchased there. It will be the best on the market.

H. G. Adams, representing the Penn Mutual Insurance Company, writes policies that give the insured the greatest benefits at the least possible cost.

Eat less meat in warm weather than in cold, but see always, whatever the weather, that the meat you eat is good. Buy at J. W. VanSickle's, North avenue.

This is the time of the year when a good spring tonic is needed, such as Miller's famous malt extract. It is sold only at Dudley Miller's pharmacy on Park avenue.

Young man, listen: Why do you pause and hesitate over the purchase of new toggery? You need it. Quit gawking, and go to Greer & Greenwood, East Front street.

Good meat is the foundation of all dinners. Of course it must be the best and if you buy yours of Frank Neidig at Somerset and Race streets you may rest assured it is.

William H. Kiron is a competent and practical carpenter and will furnish you estimates if you contemplate erecting a home. His workmen are all thoroughly experienced.

It is unfortunate in being obliged to wear glasses, but when you do have to use them you want the best kind, the rimless style, such as Charles E. Vail, the Park avenue jeweler, sells.

Every time you make a deposit at the Dime Savings Institution your interest grows larger and before you realize it you have a good sized account. Better try this plan of saving money.

When teeth get to the point where many visits to the dentist is necessary, it means a lot of expense. It can be saved if B. J. Schreiner's celebrated dental wash is used; nothing like it in the market.

VanCamp & Franklin are now booking orders for carpets, mattings, rugs and shades for immediate delivery. Their store at Front and Somerset streets is filled with all the spring designs and styles and inspection is invited. This firm also makes and erects awnings.

Lacteal fluid. The name is high-falutin, but it really ought to be applied to the milk sold by William Lindsay & Co., Mountain avenue. Most of the stuff called "milk" is as different to the Lindsay article, as the fancy name is to the common, and the difference should be marked.

It makes no difference whether you want coffee, tea or groceries of any kind, you are always sure of getting the best at S. Scheuer & Co.'s store on West Front street, at prices much lower than elsewhere. It is the firm's aim to please every patron and in this it is successful. Trading stamps are given with every purchase.

The Rockdale print and creamery butter is known throughout the country and is everywhere regarded as the acme of perfection in the making of this product. It has held its high reputation against all competition and though the price declines, the quality gets better day after day. Neuman Brothers, the Watchung avenue grocers, are the selling agents for this district.

Soldiers at Madison Square Garden.

Opening on Monday night next, and running May 8 to 13, the programme for the ninth annual tournament will show how brilliant and popular the Military Athletic League's Soldier Show week is to New York and how it is welcomed. With its grand reviews, each night with United States troops, the National Guard, and visiting organizations in the scene followed by a programme in which the famous Eighth U. S. Infantry will give their splendid drills, the Third Battery, U. S. Field Artillery, a fine showing in platoon drills, driving and field practice, the Fifteenth U. S. Cavalry music riders, rough riding and fearless work, and the Ninety-first Canadian Highlanders, from Hamilton, Ontario, will be at their best, and their famous band with them, there is much to be seen. The Canadians, each year have won rounds of applause. At the matinees on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons, there will be an entire military programme, the competitive drills by the pupils from the military schools, being one of the features for Saturday.

AMUSEMENTS.

It is worth the price of admission to see Col. Gaston Bordeverry, the French rifle shot, do his hair raising and breath holding feats at the Hippodrome, which justifies the name, National Theatre. Thompson & Dundy, the originators of the present day entertainments for both masses and classes, have filled the programme at the Hippodrome with a symposium of acts marvellous to behold and almost too startling to believe. "The Circus on Mars" and "The Raiders" introduce a variety of entertainment unparalleled in this or any other country. Bishop Potter and other prelates, statesmen and captains of the industrial, financial and literary world who have witnessed the performance give it their heartiest approval. It's on Sixth avenue, 43d and 44th streets.

The Elizabeth Stars will play Wilmington at Elizabethport on Sunday, and a week from Sunday they will meet the Philadelphia Giants.

SHERIFF IN CONTROL

Chicago at the Crisis of Teamsters' Strike.

MAYOR IN TOUCH WITH GOVERNOR

Constant Fighting In Streets—Two Thousand Deputy Sheriffs on Duty. Next Step Will Be Call For Militia if Riots Continue.

CHICAGO, May 5.—Sheriff Thomas E. Barrett of Cook county has now taken active control of the strike situation here. So much pressure was brought to bear on him and on Mayor Dunne by business men who believe their interests to be seriously imperiled by the constant rioting in the streets that the sheriff has sworn in a large force of deputies, and he is taking active steps to do away with the present disorder. Two hundred extra deputy sheriffs are on duty, and it is expected that 2,000 deputies in all will be on duty today.

A committee of prominent business men, headed by John G. Shedd of Marshall Field & Co., went to Springfield to lay the situation before Governor Deneen and to declare that in their opinion conditions in Chicago were such that the militia is imperatively needed. The Chicago Clearing House association has adopted sweeping resolutions declaring that the riots in the streets were constantly increasing in fury and had gone beyond the civil power of the city and county to control. It was therefore the opinion of the members of the clearing house that the state troops should be at once called out.

Both Mayor Dunne and Sheriff Barrett have been deluged during the day with letters and messages declaring that conditions had become insupportable and that a stop to the rioting should be made at once.

Notwithstanding pressure for troops, Sheriff Barrett has determined to take the situation in hand himself, declaring that until he has done all he can he will not be justified in calling for the militia.

Mayor Dunne for three hours rode through the downtown streets in a buggy and on his return to the city hall declared that he had seen no violence, and he believed the police to be fully able to cope with the situation.

Mayor Dunne has had several conferences with Governor Deneen over the long distance telephone.

Sheriff Barrett last night said: "I will not call for troops until I see what can be done with the police and the deputy sheriffs working together. If I cannot control the situation troops will be asked for."

A Tragedy at Tampa, Fla.

TAMPA, Fla., May 5.—Captain C. L. Parks of the Independent line steamer H. B. Plant lies mortally wounded at his home in Hyde Park and Harry Bomford, a prominent plumbing contractor, is in the county jail as the result of a shooting affray which occurred at the residence of the former. Captain Parks found Bomford in his home with his wife and after bitterly upbraiding him for invading his home shot him, inflicting only a slight wound. Bomford then drew a pistol and shot Captain Parks just above the heart. Doctors believe the wound will prove fatal.

Dock Laborers on Strike.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, May 5.—The dock laborers here are on strike and have engaged in the intimidation of other laborers. The men, who had been receiving $1.25 a day and 24 cents an hour for night work, demanded 24 cents an hour for day and 36 cents an hour for night work. The employers have offered $1.50 a day and the old rate for night work. The volunteers, comprising merchants, clerks, lawyers and schoolboys, have been engaged in loading vessels. The troops are confined to barracks in readiness for trouble.

Knockout Drops or Sandbag Fatal.

NEW YORK, May 5.—Knockout drops or a sandbag are the supposed cause of the mysterious death of a well dressed young man who was found unconscious in Williamsburg and who later died in the Eastern District hospital. No marks of violence were discovered on him, and from the fact that Policeman Reilly, who found the man dying, saw some men running away foul play is suspected. The police say the body is that of A. B. Boyd of Asheville, N. C.

Opposition Has Caused Halt.

PHILADELPHIA, May 5.—The strong opposition aroused to the leasing of the city gas plant to the United Gas Improvement company has caused a halt in the proceedings for at least ten days. Both chambers of city councils have adopted a resolution directing the committee on finance of councils to advertise in all the daily papers of Philadelphia that bids for leasing the gas works will be received until Monday, May 15.

Korean Grafter Removed.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Minister Allen at Seoul, Korea, reports to the state department that a magistrate at Penyang who was charged with invading the treaty rights of many Americans and with extorting great sums of money illegally from the people finally has been removed from office. His peculations, according to the report, aggregated more than $100,000.

Two Unidentified Bodies Recovered.

GENEVA, N. Y., May 5.—During the last two days two bodies have been taken from the Cayuga and Seneca canal, both men and both unidentified at the morgue. One body found is believed, however, to be that of Julius Jepsen, living near Penn Yan.

AFTER THE ORDEAL.

Nan Patterson Shows Effects of Nervous Strain, but Is Recovering.

NEW YORK, May 5.—No positive steps were taken toward having Nan Patterson released on bail, it being agreed by her counsel and her father that, even though bail were possible at once, it would be better for the girl to remain quietly in the Tombs for a rest after the ordeal she has undergone for many days and nights.

Many alarming reports were circulated as to Miss Patterson's condition, it being declared that following her collapse when the third jury was dismissed without a decision on her case she had laid for hours in a comatose condition and was a physical wreck.

It was stated at the Tombs last night that Miss Patterson's condition is practically normal. She shows the effects of her trial, but is far from a real breakdown. She spent a large part of the day sleeping in her cell, being thoroughly exhausted from her long vigil and the nervous strain of the trial.

Miss Patterson's lawyers will endeavor to reach an agreement with the district attorney's office as to the amount of bail their client shall be required to give. They hope the sum will be a nominal one, but say they are ready to furnish a bondsman for any amount within reason. District Attorney Jerome was out of the city, and this fact also acted as a stay to further proceedings.

There is much speculation as to what course the district attorney will pursue with reference to the trial of J. Morgan Smith and his wife on the charge of conspiracy and what effect the testimony adduced at their hearing might have upon a possible fourth trial for Miss Patterson.

District Attorney Jerome at Albany said last night that the vote of the jury in the case of Nan Patterson would determine to a large degree his decision whether to put her on trial again for the murder of Caesar Young. If the jury was preponderantly against her he might try her again. If the majority was in her favor he might consent to her release. He would not comment on the jury's disagreement, though it evidently did not greatly surprise him.

Commissioners Will Await Report.

NEW YORK, May 5.—After a lengthy conference the insurance commissioners from five states outside of New York announced that they had informally considered the situation in the Equitable society, had talked with State Insurance Superintendent Hendricks of New York, who had assured the commissioners that the investigation as to the management would be completed by June 15, and had decided to await the result of the investigation.

International Railway Congress.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The seventh session of the International Railway congress has been formally opened here by Vice President Charles W. Fairbanks. The opening ceremony at the New Willard hotel was attended by nearly 500 delegates. Three hundred of the delegates are foreigners, and every railroad of importance in the world is represented. Vice President Fairbanks spoke words of welcome.

Wouldn't Let the Ape Smoke.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., May 5.—During the performance of a trained animal show a constable served a warrant on the management because a trained ape smoked a cigarette during the performance. The trial will be held in a justice's court. This is the most rigid enforcement of Indiana's new anti-cigarette law yet reported.

THE ARMADA'S FATE

Russian Second Pacific Squadron Hit by Typhoon.

NEBOGATOFF'S SHIPS NEAR SINGAPORE

Admiral Rojestvensky's Plans Delayed by Damage to His Vessels. Troops Open Fire on Church Worshipers at Lodz.

LONDON, May 5.—A special dispatch from Amoy, China, says that a typhoon which has swept over the coast of south China damaged the Russian second Pacific squadron, under Admiral Rojestvensky, considerably. The lighter vessels are reported to have been scattered.

Shipping men expect further delay in the execution of the admiral's plans as a result of the damage suffered by the fleet.

From Malacca, Straits Settlements, comes a report that Admiral Nebogatoff's division, consisting of one seagoing and three coast defense battleships, an armored cruiser and a gunboat, accompanied by five colliers, has passed Malacca, bound south. They are expected at Singapore shortly.

A Lodz (Russian Poland) telegram says that a terrible riot occurred at the Church of the Holy Cross. When a number of Roman Catholics around the edifice began singing revolutionary songs a Cossack patrol came up at a gallop and began firing into a crowd of people huddled on the church steps.

Some of the bullets entered the sacred edifice, striking the altar. Seven persons were killed. A panic inside the church followed, and many people were injured in the rush for the doors.

After the crowds had dispersed workmen in groups fell upon a member of the secret police who was found alone in the streets, and he was nearly beaten to death before he was rescued.

Further disturbances are anticipated, as the people are wild over the outrages.

At Moscow leading zemstvoists from all parts of Russia have assembled there for the congress summoned for today. A preliminary meeting of leaders was held privately last night to lay out a programme for the general meeting. A considerable advance over the programme of the December congress is contemplated.

Shaws Agreed to Die Together.

BLACKPOOL, England, May 5.—An inquest was held here last night into the death of Robert Rushton Shaw and his wife Elizabeth, the latter an American, and a verdict was returned that Shaw murdered his wife and committed suicide. A letter found on the body of Shaw said that he and his wife had agreed to die together because the differences between them were irreconcilable. The death of Shaw and his wife, according to report, followed upon the discovery by the former of a discreditable incident in the life of his wife two years before their marriage.

Put Dynamite In Kitchen Stove.

BRIDGEMAN, Minn., May 5.—James Hunter, a farmer living near here, put some dynamite with which he intended to blow out some stumps in the kitchen stove oven to thaw. He then forgot about it and went to town. Shortly afterward an explosion wrecked the house and killed his wife and two children. One of the children, a boy, was blown through a window. When Hunter returned home and found what had resulted from his forgetfulness he became violently insane and is now under restraint.

Contractor and Foreman Drowned.

UTICA, N. Y., May 5.—John McLoughlin, a wealthy contractor, residing at Massena, and John Gleason of Ontario, Canada, a foreman employed by McLoughlin, have been drowned near Carthage, N. Y. McLoughlin had the contract for doing some work for the Champion Paper company of West Carthage. While rowing across the stream to repair one of the guy wires the boat hit a cable and was overturned, precipitating both into the river.

Ex-Governor McLean Leads.

HARTFORD, Conn., May 5.—Ten ballots taken for United States senator to succeed the late Orville H. Platt at the caucus here of the Republican members of the general assembly resulted in no choice. The tenth ballot resulted as follows: Ex-Governor G. P. McLean, 100; Congressman F. D. Brandegee, 96; Congressman E. J. Hill, 14; State Senator Allan W. Paige, 26; scattering, 10; necessary for choice, 123.

Suit Comes In the Honeymoon.

BOSTON, May 5.—J. Frank Hale, a well known Boston broker, and his bride, formerly Tessie Andrea Mooney, an actress, who were married Tuesday, have been made defendants in a suit growing out of the failure of Longley, Hale & Co., brokers, of this city one year ago. The plaintiff is John A. Fisher, assignee and trustee of the firm.

Lincoln's Playmate Dead.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., May 5.—James Gentry, said to be the last surviving playmate of Abraham Lincoln, is dead at his home in Rockport, Ind. He was born in Spencer county, Ind., in 1819. Gentry was in his boyhood days closely associated with the war president. Lincoln once worked for Gentry's father.

Fatal Meningitis at Sandy Hill.

SANDY HILL, N. Y., May 5.—The third case of spinal meningitis reported in this vicinity has resulted fatally, the nine-year-old son of Orville Guy dying here.

Plainfield, N. J., May 5, 1905.

"What is a receiver?" asks an exchange. A receiver is the man who winds up a business after it has run down.—Dunellen Call.

Our office boy says that a receiver is the man who tells the court there is nothing left for creditors after his fee is paid.

In agitating a swimming "hole" for the small boy, the Board of Trade has taken up a popular idea and should earnestly pursue its efforts in the matter until the scheme is accomplished. Strange as it may seem there is no place in the city or borough, or nearby, where the youth can dive and splash about in the hot summer months. If the Board provides one, it will receive the blessing of hundreds of lads.

Gilbert & Sullivan's comic opera, "The Mikado," as presented at the Casino last night by amateurs was one of the best shows of its kind ever given in this city. In fact no musical production has ever surpassed it and few have been given that anywhere near equal it. William N. Runyon as "Ko-Ko," the part made famous by Digby Bell and DeWolf Hopper, captured the audience from the start and all others in the cast did exceptionally well.

else, demonstrated the skill of Mr. Holmes as a vocal instructor.

Mr. Holmes conducted the music himself, and the baton was wielded very well indeed.

The conductor was his own stage manager, but in this department of the production he was assisted by F. J. Pope and F. T. Dickerson.

The performance will be repeated tonight. This, as was mentioned, is the third Gilbert & Sullivan revival conducted by Mr. Holmes. In 1903 he presented "Patience," with a chorus of thirty-seven voices. The next year he revived "The Pirates of Penzance," using a chorus of fifty-three. The "Mikado" chorus comprises seventy voices.

The play will commence at 8:15 tonight instead of 8.30.

CHILDREN'S HOME ELECTS OFFICERS

TREASURER'S REPORT SHOWS INSTITUTION IN GOOD CONDITION.

The annual meeting of the Children's Home Association was held yesterday afternoon, when these officers were unanimously re-elected: President, Mrs. Horace Kimball; vice presidents, Mrs. Martin I. Cooley, Mrs. Laura S. Gilbert, Mrs. J. U. Peck; recording secretary, Mrs. Ruth O. Leonard; corresponding secretary, Miss Lucy H. Everett; treasurer, Miss Ella Serrell.

The report of the treasurer shows a gratifying condition of affairs. The balance on hand May 1, 1904 was $95.19 and including cash from sustaining members, annual subscriptions, board, interest on investments, donations, legacy from estate of Catherine B. Hegeman for furnishing fund, the total receipts for the year were $5,541.56. The total expenditures were $3,428.43, the balance on May 1, of this year being $2,131.13. The amount in the City National Bank is $2,087.37, with $75.76 cash on hand.

MRS. MEAD'S TEA.

In Honor of Miss Kay and Miss Lowe.

A charming tea was given yesterday by Mrs. Frederick G. Mead at her home, "Sunnyside," for Miss Kay, of Boston, fiancee of Rutherford Mead Shepard, and Miss Lowe, of Park avenue, fiancee of Frederick Mead Shepard. There were one hundred guests, including the younger society set, with a number from out-of-town. The home was decorated with apple blossoms and spring flowers.

Miss Kay and Miss Lowe received with Mrs. Mead. Others assisting were Mrs. A. D. Shepard, Mrs. John Doull Miller, W. E. Lowe, Miss Mead, Mrs. Charles W. McCutchen, Mrs. J. Kirtland Myers, Mrs. DeWitt C. Ivins, Mrs. F. H. Andrews, Miss Wadsworth, Miss Kaufman, Miss Rowland, Miss Smith, Miss Edith Bradley, Miss Patton, Miss Edith Fisk and Miss Talmadge.

Right of Property.

A twelve-men jury will try a right of property case in Justice Hand's court tomorrow morning, between J. S. Silver & Co. and Benjamin Farbman. The concern got a verdict against Morris Farbman, father of Benjamin, and attempted to execute it, but the latter claims ownership of the goods levied on.

Miss Mamie Meade, of West Eighth street, has returned from a visit to relatives in High Bridge.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINTIY.

When the borough Council meets next month it will, in all probability, be called upon to consider the laying of storm sewers all through the borough. A petition calling for the improvement is being circulated among the propetry holders, and practically all of them are signing. For years the borough streets, particularly in the business section, have suffered damage from backed-up water after rainfall, and abutting property owners have had their cellars flooded and their gardens ruined. It is generally felt that some action is necessary, and the sentiment has led to the circulation of the petition. It is believed that the petition will be acted upon by the Council; the interested citizens will push the question of the improvement with unremitting energy.

Another service is to be held by the First Baptist congregation in the Seventh-Day Baptist church Sunday. It is deemed best to put off the reoccupation of the Baptist church, although the repairs are practically completed, for a week.

Among the requisitions for road-building served on State Road Commissioner Hutchinson by the Middlesex freeholders includes 1.25 miles of work on the Stelton-New Market road and 1.25 miles on the Dunellen-Plainfield line.

The household goods of A. W. Warden, which have been in storage for some time, were sold at auction yesterday afternoon. Bidding was active, especially on some old pieces of mahegany.

There will be a business meeting of the Sunshine Society, of Holy Innocents' church, tomorrow afternoon. Reports on the recent entertainment, which scored a great success, will be handed in.

Word was received in the borough yesterday afternoon of the death of Edward Lockhurst, a former resident of Greenbrook, in Colorado. He went West several months ago on account of ill health.

The monthly business session of the First Presbyterian church will be held tomorrow. The meeting will be followed by a sociable.

Many local people attended the circus in Somerville yesterday afternoon and evening. Special cars were run from the terminus.

William Giddis has been transferred from the New York office of the Central railroad to the Jersey City office.

The three Marteus houses on Grove street are being made attractive by new coats of paint.

Robert Lowrie, Jr., has entered the employ of the Central railroad in a clerical position.

An improvement in the condition of Mrs. Jane Apgar, who has been very ill, is reported.

Mr. Pasrick Carroll has returned from a visit to relatives in Brooklyn.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wynkoop have returned from a stay in Lakewood.

Benjamin Pinie has recovered from his illness to a great extent.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The 'Plains or Suburban bowling teams both stand a good chance of carrying off the silver cup offered by the Saengerbunds in the tournament being bowled on their alleys. Both local teams have been defeating the best teams in this section during the past winter. The individual high score could come this way as several members of both teams can roll around the 200 mark.

The Philadelphia Giants, considered the strongest colored team in the country, will try to give Manager Daab's P. A. C. team its first defeat tomorrow afternoon at Crescent Oval.

"Christian Service" will be the topic of the weekly prayer meeting to be held tonight at the Baptist church. Mr. Hadley, of Plainfield, will lead the meeting.

The weekly Bible study class meeting will be held in the class rooms of the Methodist church. John Wade will teach the lesson.

Mrs. Frank Perry, of McKinley avenue, has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Henry Schreiner, of Mountain avenue.

May 1st saw but little changing among the residents. April 1 is the local annual moving day.

Miss Sadie Reger is spending Saturday and Sunday with relatives and friends at Morristown.

The members of the Amity Club enjoyed a meeting for reading and study last night.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The Ladies' Aid Society, of the Baptist church, held their monthly business meeting yesterday at the home of Mrs. Ida Harris.

Edward Gutshall has resigned his position as baggage master on the L. V. R. R. and has become abrakeman on the local freight.

Walton Smith is now employed in the store of H. B. Manning & Brother.

Rev. E. Thompson spent a few hours in town yesterday.

LITERARY.

The Booklovers Magazine for May gives its readers a forecaste of the charms of outdoor sights and sounds in an unusually attractive number. The illustrated paper by Waldemar B. Kaempffert, on "The Protective Mimicry of Insects," as a striking and popular presentation of some phases of the struggle for existence which goes on ceaselessly throughout the whole animate world, and will be a source of pleasure and profit to nature-lovers who wish to study the subject for themselves. Joseph Conrad, master of sea-craft, contributes a delightful dissertation on "Sailing as a Fine Art," wherein he expounds the philosophy of yachting seamanship in its relation to the development of character and conduct.

SOCIETY NOTES.

A GRAND INAUGURAL

Metropolitan Handicap Was Sensation at Belmont Park.

SYSONBY AND RACE KING RUN EVEN

Magnificent Racing Display Witnessed by 50,000 People—Greatest Crowd Ever Gathered on an American Track.

NEW YORK, May 5.—At the opening of the new Belmont park track here the spectacle furnished by the struggle in the Metropolitan handicap has seldom been equaled on any New York race course. An even dozen thoroughbreds went to the post, Delhi, Roseben, Leonidas, Pasadena, Tanya and Sigfight having been withdrawn. The scratching of Delhi convinced the race goers that Sysonby had outworked the son of Ben Brush, and they made the Keene three-year-old favorite at odds of 2 to 1. Beldame was heavily played by the general public at 4 to 1. These two carried the bulk of the wagers.

The greatest crowd ever gathered to see a thoroughbred horse race in America saw at Belmont park a sensational dead heat finish of the Metropolitan handicap in which James R. Keene's highly bred three-year-old, Sysonby, and O. L. Richards' hardy four-year-old, Race King, finished so closely together the judges were unable to decide which horse won. Speculation was at once rife as to whether the race would be run off, but both owners soon announced their satisfaction with the result as it stood, and the rich purse, amounting to more than $14,000, was divided.

Sysonby, for whom Mr. Keene last year refused an offer of $100,000, was the favorite in the betting, his stable mate, Delhi, having been withdrawn. Race King was offered the public at long odds, and there were few who thought highly of the Tenny colt's chances. The time of the race was disappointing, showing that the Belmont tracks are still "new" and slow.

After a rather tiresome delay at the post the horses were sent away. The start for the race, which was at one mile, was directly across the track from the grand stand, and the great crowd enjoyed the spectacle to the full. Santa Catalina had the rail and showed for an instant in front, but Sysonby was at her side, and before the first quarter pole had been reached the Keene colors flashed to the fore. Beldame's friends had a ray of hope for a moment as the mare drew out of the struggling mass and took third place.

Colonial Girl and Race King displaced Beldame and Santa Catalina, who dropped back hopelessly beaten. First Mason, stable companion of Colonial Girl, was not far away, and as the mass of colors whirled around the bend into the stretch and directly toward the grand stand a cheer went up from the field stand and ran down the broad lawns to the clubhouse like a roar of artillery. Sysonby was seen to bear away toward the outside rail, and at his side was Race King, the little swaybacked son of the famous Tenny.

To even the most hardened race goer the struggle between these two was such as to send a lump into the throat. There was an instant's silence as the thoroughbreds dashed along the rail. First one brown muzzle showed in front and then the other as the racers strained every fiber to gain an inch.

Shaw and Smith were driving like mad, but to no purpose, and their charges finished so closely together that the judges were unable to separate them.

Behind Sysonby and Race King, but on the inside rail, was Colonial Girl, winner of the World's Fair handicap at St. Louis. Both she and her stable mate, First Mason, ran a good race. The others were beaten off.

Drawn by the dual attraction of the opening of the wonderful new racing plant on the Hempstead plains of Long Island and the fourteenth renewal of the Metropolitan handicap, more than 50,000 people made the trip to Belmont park and were factors in the most notable event in the history of the American turf. The scene in the vast inclosure when the handicap horses paraded to the post was one not readily to be forgotten. In a cavernous grand stand, capable of seating a city, not a vacant chair was to be seen. On the broad expanse of lawn, skirting along the home stretch for a distance of nearly an eighth of a mile, people were packed together in one great black mass. Further along the stretch came the "field" inclosure which held its thousands, while to the left of the grand stand was the beautiful new clubhouse of the Westchester Racing association, its broad verandas and lawns filled with the more aristocratic of the racing classes. Augmenting this assemblage was a throng of pushing and shoving humanity gathered in the betting ring beneath the approach to the grand stand. As liberal as the architects had been in planning this feature of the track the unprecedented crowd found it all too small for comfort.

Rivaling in its extent of patronage, in the gayety of the costumes, in the setting of the scene and every detail of the surroundings a Derby day at famous Epsom Downs, the opening of Belmont park was a bewildering spectacle. Racing men of prominence came from all parts of the United States to take part in the inauguration of the new headquarters of the Jockey club, the governing body of eastern racing.

Added to the intense interest displayed in the new track came the unexpected result in the Metropolitan handicap, which never before in a history extending to 1891 has been marked by a dead heat. The enthusiasm of the great crowd as the two highly trained thoroughbreds came tearing down the long stretch, nod for nod, was thrilling. Beldame, the champion filly of last year, who had been liberally applauded as she was led to the post in advance of the rest of the field, was forgotten and in the ruck at the finish of the stirring contest. Half a score of other thoroughbreds, representing thousands of dollars in value, also were lost sight of completely as the two leaders rushed by the judges' stand.

Fifty thousand voices lifted in a tumult of excited cheering created a volume of sound to be comprehended only by those who heard it.

The winner of the first race quite unexpectedly came from the stable of August Belmont, chairman of the Jockey club. To Mr. Belmont, to his jockey, W. Davis, and his trainer, A. J. Joyner, the Westchester association presented three large silver cups as souvenirs of the inaugural contest over the Belmont course. Summaries:

First Race.—Blandy, first; Oliver Cromwell, second; Regal, third.

Second Race.—Veronese, first; Merry Boy, second; Green Room, third.

Third Race.—First Water, first; Vendor, second; Comedienne, third.

Fourth Race.—A dead heat between Sysonby and Race King; Colonial Girl, third.

Fifth Race.—Good and Plenty, first; Flying Buttress, second; Rube, third.

Sixth Race.—King Pepper, first; Onatas, second; Whorler, third.

Won World's Championship.

NEW YORK, May 5.—Trained to the hour, Tom Jenkins, wrestling champion of America, and George Hackenschmidt, the "Russian Lion" and the unvanquished grappler of the old world, met last night at Madison Square Garden in a struggle for the premier honors of the mat. Hackenschmidt, who was almost continuously on the aggressive, threw Jenkins with a half nelson in 31 minutes 15 seconds in the first bout. Hackenschmidt won the second bout and the match in 22 minutes 4 seconds with a half nelson and body hold.

Travis Won In Golf Tournament.

GARDEN CITY, N. Y., May 5.—Sixty-four of the sixty-eight golfers from the vicinity of New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Pittsburg who started in the qualifying round of the eighteen hole tournament of the Garden City Golf club qualified for the president's, governor's, club and Garden City cups. W. J. Travis, the international champion, who was paired with D. B. Fuller, Jr., of the Midland club of New York, won an easy victory in the first round.

Windstorm at Lexington Track.

LEXINGTON, Ky., May 5.—The feature of the second day at the Kentucky association track was the victory of The Thrall over Mum and Florentine, equal favorites in the third race. Ora Viva repeated her victory of the first day and this time was heavily backed. A furious windstorm just before the fourth race caused some alarm, many women flocking from the grand stand.

Baltimore Whist Players Won.

PHILADELPHIA, May 5.—The Baltimore Woman's club won the Washington trophy, the blue ribbon prize of the eighth annual congress of the Women's Whist League of America, now in progress in this city. The Baltimore team defeated the Hamilton club team of St. Louis by a narrow margin.

Jake Sanders at St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, May 5.—Deshabille, winner of the fair grounds inaugural, finished second to Jake Sanders in the feature event at the fair grounds. With this exception the horses ran close to form.

Ara Won the Feature.

KANSAS CITY, May 5.—Ara, well ridden by J. Hennessy, won the feature event here. Jim Bozeman, overlooked in the betting, galloped home an easy winner in the steeplechase handicap.

Legal Fight For an Empty Box.

NEW YORK, May 5.—After going through intricate legal proceedings to obtain from J. H. Butler a key found by him and believed to be the means of unlocking the hidden loot of the Franklin syndicate the trustee in bankruptcy learned that the safety deposit box which the key fitted had not been used since a year before the 520 per cent syndicate was started and that it has been empty since that time.

Roosevelt Starts For Garfield Camp.

GLENWOOD SPRINGS, Colo., May 5.—President Roosevelt hunted yesterday from the camp on West Divide creek, the party being unable to move camp because of the bad condition of the mountain trails. An early start was made today for Garfield camp, which probably will be the last camp of the present hunt.

Cortelyou to Head Equitable.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The rumor that Postmaster General Cortelyou is to be the president of the Equitable Life Assurance society is revived here. It took the form of a story that Mr. Cortelyou would accept the office if all the factions would agree to make him a formal offer.

Takahira's Wound Will Not Heal.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Mr. Takahira, the Japanese minister, has gone to Old Point Comfort. A wound caused by an operation for appendicitis never has closed satisfactorily, and the minister has not succeeded in regaining his strength.

Wireless For Sable Island.

HALIFAX, N. S., May 5.—The government steamer Lady Laurier will sail tomorrow for Sable island with apparatus for the equipment of a wireless telegraph station which is to be established on the island.

ANNA VALENTINA MUST DIE.

Board of Pardons Refuse Petition of Paterson's Citizens.

TRENTON, N. J., May 5.—The board of pardons has refused to commute the death sentence of Mrs. Anna Valentina of Paterson, N. J., who was convicted of the murder of Rosa Silva. The murder was prompted by jealousy.

The case has attracted attention because of the extraordinary efforts made to save the woman from the gallows. When the board met a Mrs. Coselli of Paterson presented a petition to the board asking that Mrs. Valentina's sentence be commuted to life imprisonment.

The petition was signed by several prominent men of Paterson and also by seven members of the jury by which Mrs. Valentina was convicted. After counsel for the woman had been heard the board made its decision refusing to interfere. When the decision was announced Mrs. Valentina's counsel said that he would apply to the United States court for a writ of habeas corpus on the grounds that the woman did not have a fair trial.

SHERRIE FOUND GUILTY.

Young Polander Convicted of Mrs. Kulas' Murder.

ROCKVILLE, Conn., May 5.—Frank Sherrie, the young man who has been on trial here for two weeks on the charge of murdering Mrs. Joseph Kulas, a Polish boarding house keeper, in her home in Somersville, has been found guilty, the jury deliberating for three hours. Sentence was deferred.

The case has been one of great interest on account of the brutality of the murder, and all through the prisoner, who was arrested Jan. 9 in a Hartford boarding house and who had concealed about his room several articles known to have belonged to boarders in the Kulas home, stoutly maintained his innocence, claiming that he was in Hartford all day on the date of the murder.

Sherrie was a former boarder at the Kulas home, and it was claimed murdered Mrs. Kulas by blows on the head while she was washing dishes in her kitchen. He then robbed the home of all the valuables he could find.

NO EXTRA SESSION.

Cheap Gas Bill Defeated In Senate at Albany.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 5.—Governor Higgins, interviewed here, said, "Inasmuch as all of the gas bills recommended by the committee of investigation have been passed excepting the rate bill for private consumers in New York city and owing to the fact that the commission bill gives power to regulate the price of gas to private consumers in the city of New York I do not feel that the situation is such as to make it necessary to call the legislature in extraordinary session for this purpose."

The senate reconsidered the vote by which the eighty cent gas bill failed of passage and then again defeated the bill by a vote of ayes, 25; nays, 23. Senator Brackett was the only addition to the Republican caucus forces.

SPORTING NEWS

DIAMOND DUST.

The Clinton Avenue Baseball Club has arranged a strong list of games for the season.

The fans are hungry for a game of ball. Last Saturday's postponement has only increased their desire to see a contest.

The colored population will be on the oval tomorrow to see the Philadelphia Giants play the Dasbsters. While they want the locals to win, there is also a desire to see the other team make the contest interesting.

Inasmuch as "Willie" Deegan, the deaf-mute pitcher, is now a member of the Hoboken team, the local management has arranged to have this crack twister of curves in Plainfield on Saturdays. He is expected to be on the bench tomorrow.

Tomorrow's game on Crescent Oval between the locals and Philadelphia Giants should be a battle royal. The Giants have been defeated by the local team before with Linderman and McKenna in the box, while the colored champions have also won against the team with these star twirlers on the slab.

Owing to the fact that the Connecticut State League, which opened its season this week, will enforce the rule against players in that league engaging in independent play on Sundays elsewhere, the Elizabeth Stars will lose five of their best men. In consequence Manager Burke is hustling to fill up his ranks. A fine of $200 will be imposed on any player violating the rule.

Ye baseball fans who know it all, get together! Here is a problem that is likely to put kinks in your brains, but it can be solved. Who will be the first man to do the trick? This is the problem: Six consecutive base hits are made in one inning and yet no runs are scored. The men follow each other in regular order and yet while six hits are made not a mother's son of them crosses the home plate. Impossible, you say? Not a bit of it. There is no trick in this problem.

The strength and ability of the Philadelphia Giants, who meet the Plainfield team on Crescent Oval on Saturday, can be judged by the following taken from the Newark Evening News: "Newark is planning to get square with the Philadelphia Colored Giants for that triple defeat at Atlantic City. Manager Burnham has arranged for a game with the Giants here on Friday, May 12, an open date in a Baltimore series here. The Philadelphia Giants are undoubtedly the strongest colored team in this country. They will be here in full force, 'Home Run' Johnson and all."

Lunch Wagon Wrecked.

The lunch wagon maintained at Albany and Neilson streets, New Brunswick, kept by Ben Silverstein, who formerly conducted the one at Second street and Park avenue, in this city, was almost completely demolished by three men Wednesday night. They became boisterous in the vehicle and were ejected by Silverstein, whose prowess in this line is known by many Plainfielders. All three were arrested and lodged in jail.

Passed Account of Administratrix.

In the Middlesex County Orphan's Court, yesterday, Judge Strong passed the account of Carrie G. Melick, as administratrix of the estate of Dayton Melick, of Oak Tree. It showed the estate to be worth $1,468 98 and a balance remaining of $700. The commissions allowed the administratrix amounted to $88.44.

Death of Former Plainfielder.

Cornelius U. Androvette, a former resident of this city, died Wednesday at his home in Huegenot, S. I., in his eighty-sixth year. The funeral will be held from his late residence tonight at 7:45 and the interment will be made at the convenience of the family in the Moravian cemetery, New Drop, S. I.

BIG TENNIS COURTS FOR Y. M. C. A. MEMBERS

LOTS ON WESTERVELT AVENUE TO BE USED HEREATER.

Two large and thoroughly appointed tennis courts are to be added to the physical deparsment of the Y. M. C. A. At their monthly meeting last night, the Board of Directors authorized Physical Director Henckel to have two lots on Westervelt avenue fitted for tennis. Work on the new courts was begun this morning, and will be rushed to completion without delay.

Until now the association tennis players have been compelled to use a cramped little court on the open space back of the gymnasium. So much interest developed in the game among the members that the space available became quite inadequate to the demands on it. The attention of the directors was called to the matter, and last night's action resulted.

The "backyard" is to be used as an open-air gymnasium. Basketball, hammer-throwing, quoits and sports of that character will be indulged in there, adding an attractive feature to association activities.

SOCIETY NOTES.

Mrs. Leighton Calkins and Miss Florence Huntington entertained a number of friends at the Plainfield Country Club Wednesday night.

Those who received at the Loyal Daughters' tea and sale at the home of Mrs. C. C. Burke, of Ravine road, on Wednesday, were Mrs. Dorsey Hyde, president; Mrs. C. C. Burke, Mrs. Peterkin, Mrs. W. H. Murray. At the fancy table were Mrs. E. E. Iremonger, Mrs. T. D. Wilson, Mrs. James Hassell, Mrs. S. H. Patterson. Mrs. Tetsuka, assisted by Mrs. W. W. Cerieil, was in charge of the Japanese table. At the cake table were Mrs. A. B. Davies, Mrs. Lucius Archer, Mrs. Marvin Rae, Mrs. John Kirkner, Mrs. Godwin. Mrs. Frederick Butler, Mrs. H. S. Hall and Mrs. E. F. Feickert were at the candy table and in the tea room were Mrs. Howard Williams, Mrs. Bunnell, Mrs. Wright, Miss Burke. Those chosen to look after the ice cream were Mrs. Walter Freeman, Mrs. U. S. Lewis, Mrs. R. E. Hall and Mrs. George Hall.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The Men's Club of the Congregational church will meet on Tuesday, June 6. This will be the last meeting for the season.

The members of Watchung Council, No. 552, Knights of Columbus, will attend communion at St. Joseph's church at 7:30 o'clock Sunday morning.

Rev. Mr. Beatty, of Arcot Mission, India, will speak to the members of the Young Women's Mission Band, in Trinity Reformed church tonight. Everybody welcome.

The Men's Club of the First Baptist church will hold its final meeting and entertainment for the season on Monday night. The programme will be an elaborate one. All of the men's clubs in the various churches have been invited.

Will Place Two Brick Stores.

Dr. Albert Pittis has filed plans with Building Inspector Doane for the alterations he is to make to the MacDonald property on East Front street, recently acquired by him. By them it is shown that he intends putting two brick stores in the front part of the present residential structure, taking out the ground floor in order to do it. The remainder of the building will be improved in various ways.

Judge Endicott Here.

MR. WIGHTMAN CHOSEN FOR HIGH POSITION

SELECTED AS SUPERINTENDENT OF ALTOONA SCHOOLS.

Out of thirty-five applicants, Superintendent Homer J. Wightman, of the borough schools, has been appointed supervising principal of the schools at Altoona, Pa. He will assume his new duties in September under a contract of three years, his annual salary to be $3,000, an increase of $800 over what he has been receiving in North Plainfield.

Mr. Wightman will have charge of 200 teachers. He was chosen unanimously by the Board of Education and next week will be in Altoona at the laying of the corner stone for a new high school to cost $300,000.

SAENGERBUND OPENS BOWLING TOURNAMENT

SCOTCH PLAINS LEADS OFF BY DEFEATING WESTFIELD.

The Scotch Plains and Westfield bowling teams competed on the Saengerbund alleys last night, for the State trophy offered by the Gesang and Turn Verein. The former won the match by a total score of 714 to 649. The following prizes were awarded for individual bowling last night: Ton of coal, Harry Radin; gold watch fob, George Veehl; fancy slippers, John Wirth; box of cigars, Henry Rummel and Harry Ryno; fancy necktie, Howard Woolston.

On the same alleys tonight, Somerville, Mountainside and Plainfield teams will compete for the trophy.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Mrs. Frederick Buckley, of Westfield, underwent an operation at Muhlenberg Hospital on Wednesday.

—Mrs. Frank Schaefer has sold her property on Duer street, off Greenbrook road, to John Hermann, of the borough.

—Strawberry shortcake—delicious; rhubarb and cocoanut pies—toothsome. At W. W. Warnock's, West Front street. Telephone your order.

—The borough firemen were called out yesterday afternoon for a grass fire on Magnolia avenue near the residence of Chas. Tallman. It was easily extinguished.

—Fancy Jersey asparagus is one of the features in Neuman Brothers' vegetable display. Three hundred and fifty bunches, just received, will go on sale tomorow.

Miss Herford Again Delights.

Under the auspices of the Cup Bearers Circle of King's Daughters, Miss Beatrice Herford, the well known monologist, delighted a large audience at the Park Club, last night, with her original impersonations and readings. She is a great favorite in Plainfield and her success last night was in keeping with the reception accorded her. Mrs. H. L. Hall had direct charge of the arrangements in connection with her appearance, the proceeds being for the benefit of the circle's beneficient work.

Has Neighbor Arrested.

Mrs. Jennie Baldwin, 736 West Front street, had Mrs. Emma Herring, a next-door neighbor, arrested this morning under a charge of stealing a $100 diamond ring. Mrs. Herring will be arraigned before Justice Nash this afternoon. She denies all knowledge of the alleged theft, and lays the arrest to spite.

Suit Over Ton of Coal.

To settle a dispute over a ton of coal, appraised at $4.50, the Consumer's Coal Company and Charles E. Utter will fight a suit before a full jury in Justice Hand's court tomorrow morning. Charles McNabb will appear for the coal company and Fred J. Huff will represent Utter.

Mr. Hawkins Recovering.

Joseph M. Hawkins, who was struck and injured by a train at the North avenue station some weeks ago, has been discharged from Muhlenberg Hospital. Mr. Hawkins is now at his home in East Seventh street and has recovered sufficiently to be able to sit on the porch.

Outing Committee Meeting.

The committee in charge of the Republican outing, of which William Newcorn, of this city, is chairman, met last night before the County Committee session, and arranged further details of the excursion. Advertising and tickets were voted.

BIG VAUDEVILLE BILL AT SAENGERBUND HALL

FOR OPEN AIR PUBLIC BAND CONCERTS FUND.

Beside the fair which has been running in Saengerbund Hall for the past week and which will close Saturday night, Ben LaVere has planned for another benefit for the summer band concerts. It will be in the nature of a vaudeville show arranged by "Billy" Redmond and will be given in Saengerbund Hall Tuesday night.

Redmond will be in direct charge and the artists he has secured include "Young," America's greatest juggler; Miss Nellie Florede, singing comedienne; James F. Ryan, monologist; "Billy" Murray, coon and comical songs, and "Musical Huehn," in a musical number. Ted Snyder, one of New York's best piano players, will be accompanist, and Redmond will also sing, giving, "Good Bye, Sweet Marie" and "We'll be Together When the Clouds Roll Bye." During the past season he has been with Dockstader's minstrels and has been accorded enthusiastic receptions wherever he appeared. The remaining artists are all high class people and the performance can be counted upon as being one of the best of the season.

Following the entertainment dancing will be in order and for those who do not care for it, prize bowling will be conducted on the alleys. There will be other features yet to be announced, all of which combined, will give "more than value for the money."

SOMERSET CO. TEACHERS TO MEET IN BOROUGH

ASSOCIATION SESSION SATURDAY, MAY 13.

The twenty-first annual meeting of the Somerset County Teachers' Association will be held in the Somerset street school, Saturday, May 13, beginning in the morning at 10:30. The opening exercises will be conducted by Miss Laura Sydenham and the programme will be as follows:

Announcements of nominating committee; three to five minute talks by ex-presidents and teachers; "Suggestion and Discussion of Language Work in Our Elementary Schools," Miss Louisa Connolly, of Newark; "Some Phases of Eccentric Mentality in Children," Dr. Grossmann, of this city; reports of committees; election of officers and report of treasurer.

An address will in all probability be given by President Walters, of South Bound Brook, and a collation will be served in the building at the close.

WANT STREETS VACATED

Ends of Fairview and Summit Aves. to be Improved.

PUBLIC HEARING SET

Remainder of Business at Regular Monthly Meeting of Borough Council of Routine Nature.

Preliminary action toward the vacating of the easterly ends of Fairview and Summit avenues, beyond Westervelt avenue, was taken at last night's meeting of the borough Council. Application to have an ordinance drawn up to this effect was made by Frank DeL. Hyde who, as the head of the Union County Investment Company, has announced that extensive improvements are to be made on the concern's property in that section and that a new street called DeLacy avenue is to be cut through between Westervelt and Franklin avenues to Mountain avenue.

Fairview and Summit avenues, as originally laid out on the borough map, extend through to Franklin avenue but the part east of Westervelt avenue has never been built and would hardly be known but for the stakes. There are no houses abutting and in order to properly improve the tract, the investment company finds it will be imperative to have the two streets end at Westervelt avenue. The ordinance was prepared and passed on its first reading to go into effect July 1. It is thought there will be no objections but it was designated that a public hearing be given in the Council chambers, Friday night, June 2.

The remainder of the business transacted during the meeting was of a routine nature, Mr. Arnold presiding in the absence of Mayor Smalley. The residents of Manning avenue petitioned for the establishment of a building line and residents of Franklin avenue asked for the grade to be established. Another petition presented by W. J. Suttfield, asking that storm sewers be laid in West End avenue and that it be macadamized, the property owners to pay sixty per cent. of the cost. All were referred to the proper committee.

On motion of Mr. VanArsdale, contracts were awarded J. Y. Wilson for furnishing crushed stone, and J. W. Manhattan for all flagging and curbing as follows: Stone, two and a half inch, eighty-five cents per ton; one and a half inch, ninety-five cents per ton; one inch, $1.10 per ton; dust, $1.10 per ton, these prices being five cents higher than last year; flagging, four feet wide and one and a half inches thick, fifty-we cents per lineal foot; four by six inch curb, fifty-two cents per lineal foot; four by four inch crossing, $1 per lineal foot; four by three, eighty cents; two by four, fifty cents; two by three, forty cents.

On motion of Mr. Krewson it was voted that $1,000 be borrowed for general purposes and an invitation from Winfield Scott Post for the Council to attend the Grand Army Decoration Day exercises was referred. The street committee reported spending $280 70 for repair work during the month and the following report was given by Mr. Arnold for the police: Arrests for the month, 13; sentence suspended, 8; committed, 1; fines collected, $53.

High School Teachers' Meet.

The High School Teachers' Association of New Jersey held its nineteenth semi-annual meeting in the Public Library at Newark this morning. Among the speakers were Dr. Henry Hopkins, president of Williams College, and Dr. Walter B. Gunnison, principal of the Erasmus Hall High School, who spoke on "The Proper Encouragement of Athletics." Several of the teachers of the Plainfield High School attended the meeting.

Ball Knocked Him Senseless.

While practicing with the High School baseball team, yesterday afternoon, on the Mountain avenue grounds, Grover Kipsey was struck in the head by a pitched ball and rendered unconscious. It was some time before he came to, but aside from a severe bruise no serious results are looked for.

P. H. S. After Cranford's Scalp.

A good sized crowd accompanied the Plainfield High School nine by trolley this afternoon to witness a game to be played between the local school and the High School at Cranford. The Plainfield boys anticipate a victory.

Olympias Defeated.

The Olympias were defeated by the North Plainfield Crescents, by forfeit, 9 to 0, on the Summit avenue grounds, this morning. In a game played last Saturday, the Olympias lost to the Crescents by a score of 18 to 4.

TEMPLARS TO MEET AT TRENTON TUESDAY

CHAPTER MASONS ALSO TO ASSEMBLE ON SAME DAY.

The forty seventh annual conclave of the grand commandery of New Jersey, Knights Templar, will open in Masonic Temple at Trenton Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock, with Grand Commander John C. Henry, of Newark, as presiding officer. Trinity Commandery, No. 17, of this city, will be represented by W. H. Sebring, Dr. D. C. Adams, B. Frank Coriell, Jacob Kirkner, Nelson Y. Dungan, H. W. Marshall, Samuel Bingaman, K. A. Meeker.

One of the principal matters to be considered will be the arrangements for the centennial anniversary to be celebrated in 1906. Considerable routine business is to be transacted in addition to the election of officers.

Tuesday evening the grand commandery of high priests of New Jersey will meet in annual session in Masonic Temple. Charles L. Chevey, of Madison, is president.

The session of Past Commanders' Association will be held Monday evening in Masonic Temple. The election of officers will be the principal business.

Wednesday morning the annual convocation of the Grand Royal Arch Chapter will be held. Grand High Priest Edgar L. Brown, of Jersey City, will preside. Leonard H. Greer, of Passaic, is secretary of the chapter. Jerusalem Chapter, No. 24, of this city, will be represented by High Priest Otto Mueck, W. H. Sebring, Dr. D. C. Adams, Jacob Kirkner, B. Frank Coriell, Nelson Y. Dungan.

Wednesday evening the annual banquet of the grand commandery will be held in Masonic Temple. It is expected that at least 200 representatives will be in attendance at the conclave and convocation.

FANWOOD BOWLERS WIN BY TWENTY-SEVEN PINS

SOMERVILLE TEAM DEFEATED IN THE SAENGERBUND TOURNEY.

The second game in the bowling tourney for the Gesang and Turn Verein State trophy, was rolled on the Saengerbund alleys, last night, between the Somerville and Fanwood teams. The later won by twenty-seven pins though the men on either side failed to distinguish themselves by any good work. The scores were as follows:

Fanwood.		Somerville.
Albert	125	Brown	96
Reick	116	Van Arsdale	143
Robinson	135	Matthews	139
Vanderbilt	145	Davis	136
Machin	153	Schell	133
	674		647

The tourney will continue tonight with the Triangles, of this city, and the Raritans, of New Brunswick, competing. On Monday night there will be three matches, Y. M. C. A. Business Men against Borough Exempt Firemen; Pastimes, of this city, against "Dutchy" Greenwald's team, of New Brunswick and The Young Men's Literary Association, of Elizabeth, against the local Post Office employes' team.

In the individual prize bowling on the Saengerbund alleys, last night, prizes were awarded as follows: Ton of coal, John Wirth; ham, John Retzer; fancy parlor lamp and silk umbrella, Mr. Machen; meat chopper, George Voehl; box of neckties, John Wirth; silk table scarf, Mrs. Retzer; dozen boxes talcum, Mrs. Rudolph Spiegel.

After Stillman Prize.

In the course of the coming week, examinations for the annual Dr. C. H. Stillman prize in Mathematics, offered by W. M. Stillman, will be given to the pupils of the Plainfield High School. As this is a prize in gold, the interest as former years promises to be keen.

T. A. B. Dance.

The T. A. B. Society held a dance in its hall, Fourth and Liberty streets, last night. It was largely attended. The committee was made up of W. H. Schaefer, Thomas O'Keefe, R. J. Birmingham, Thomas McInerny and Thomas Parent. Michael Higgins was floor manager.

KO-KO'S SHY AT COUNCIL

Original Verses in Mikado Show Bring Hearty Applause.

JUDGE RUNYON'S HITS

Jollies the Councilmen Over Street Sprinkling and Saloon District Measure—Carnival and the Bout.

The second performance of Mikado at the Casino, last night, under the direction of William Holmes, was even more successful than on the first night. That the efforts of those in the production was appreciated was attested by the enthusiastic applause given. Mrs. Florence Bennett-Young received bouquets of carnations and roses and Mrs. F. M. Ward a bouquet of carnations, the gift of friends.

William N. Runyon, as Ko-Ko, Lord High Executioner and E. Wilson Derby, as Pooh-Bah, Lord High Everything Else, divided honors in their mirth-provoking parts. Mr. Runyon added these new verses to his topical song:

The Plainfield Common Council has some notions really dear
Upon their little list, upon their little list.
Imagination ne'er conceived such things as now appear
Upon their little list, upon their little list.
They want to centralize the booze and bring it all uptown;
And when they see a lumber yard
they want to tear it down;
And when it comes to watering-carts
they raise this glad refrain:
"Jack Keely's too expensive; brothers, let us pray for rain."
If ere they tire of labor and on private life insist
Just think how they'd
missed!
The carnival for Muhlenberg will be a corking show;
Go put it on your list, go put it on your list.
And tell your friends and neighbors all,
no matter where you go,
To put it on their list, to put it on their list.
They need the money badly I'm sure you will agree;
They're quite unlike the churchmen
who shied at Johnny D.,
They like it tainted just as well, so prithee, don't recoil,
Nor fear to spend it just because it comes from Standard Oil.
The dollars spent for Muhlenberg, I solemnly insist,
They never will
missed!
The gentlemen who went across the brook to see the fight
I've got 'em on the list, I've got
'em on the list.
They all united saying it was such a pleasant night
They never would have missed,
they never would have missed.
It's funny how they claimed at first the kid was fairly whipped
Then turned and said the knockout came because he merely slipped
And that they only went to hear the music anyway.
They thought it was a concert—not a brutal low affray.
When the Somerset Grand Jury started sending out its list
There were several faces missed, there were several faces missed.

Bryant Nine Won.

The Bryant School nine defeated the East Fifth Street A. C. team, yesterday afternoon, by a score of 13 to 8. Harper and Summerset were the battery for the school boys and Ricketts and Bellows for their opponents. Harper, Moaris Summerset, Howard Smith and Chester Carr, of the winning team, made home runs.

Mrs. B. J. Shreve's Office.

Mrs. B. J. Shreve, of the First Baptist church, was elected corresponding secretary and treasurer of the Women's Baptist Foreign Missionary Society of New Jersey at the annual meeting held in the First Baptist church Bordentown on Thursday. Mrs. Shreve presented an interesting report as corresponding secretary.

—M. Abrams, the shoe dealer, has placed on sale all of Flynn Brothers' stock which he bought at auction, and his adv. on page eight of this issue tells of many bargains.

TIED AND GAGGED NIGHT WATCHMAN

BURGLARS DYNAMITED SAFE, BUT GOT LITTLE BOOTY.

A gang of five men held up John Carlo, the night watchman of the Bound Book Woolen Mills, about 1 o'clock yesterday morning and tied him up with a bag over his head and put him in the boiler-room with one of the men to guard him. The men then broke into the office building and blew open the large safe, the charge being so heavy as to break all of the windows and wreck the safe. A few pennies was all the reward they obtained. The watchman was found at 5 o'clock, when the fireman came to work.

BOROUGH PAYS BILL LONG IN DISPUTE

TRIED HARD TO MAKE SOMERSET COUNTY ANTE UP.

After a lengthy correspondence between Borough Counsel Charles A. Reed and the Somerset County authorities, the North Plainfield Council, last night, ordered the payment of a bill that has been in dispute since last fall. It was for $40, entered by William Jercloman and Robert Trewin for exhibiting the new voting machines previous to the last election. The machines were placed by the county and as it was not a borough election, the Council ordered the bill sent to Somerville. There it was refused and since then the argument has been going on by letter.

By a state ruling North Plainfield is compelled to reimburse the exhibitors and the bill was accordingly presented and passed last night.

SHOT AT HORSES.

Illegal Amusement of Four Small Boys With an Air Gun.

Percy Emery, a small Watchung avenue boy, and three of his boon companions amused themselves yesterday on the Richmond street bridge by shooting leaden pellets from an air gun at passing horses. One of the pellets went astray and hit James Wagner, teamster, in the neck. Detective McCarthy heard of the shooting and nabbed the boys, air-gun and all.

The boys captured with Emery are Isaac Elliott, Conrad Shroper and Charles Hand, Jr. The gun belonged to Emery, but the others used it whenever they got the chance. Judge Runyon read the riot act to the quartette and confiscated the gun. Emery said his father was coming for the gun, but the police are hardly likely to give it to him if he does.

Rounding Up the Crooks.

The private detectives employed by Barnum & Bailey's circus picked up twenty-seven crooks who were hovering about the crowds when the show exhibited at Somerville Thursday. All were recognized as "old-timers" whose pictures grace the Rogues Gallery in New York and who makes it a practice of following circuses about the country. They were turned over to Sheriff Cooper who will hold them in jail while their pedigrees are looked up.

Debele Buys Warren Chapel.

The present Warren chapel building on Chatham street has been sold by the trustees of the Crescent Avenue church to William Debele, of Somerset street. He will secure possession as soon as the new Warren chapel is erected at Watchung and Fairview avenues. Mr. Debele states that the purchase was made purely as a business venture and he is undecided as to what use he will make of it.

O. L. Adriance's Promotion.

O. L. Adriance, who during the past few years has been an agent at Bound Brook for the Prudential Insurance Company, has been promoted to the position of assistant superintendent of the Plainfield office, taking the place of John Connors, who will be transferred to another position with the Prudential.

Hiawatha.

And when Hiawatha gathered
Minnehaha to his wigwam,
Though the snow was piled about it
As with glacial Alpine turrets,
Came to her at once a genial
Glow of warmth that made her ha ha
As she ne'er before had ha ha'd;
For she saw the place was heated
By the coal of Geo. O. Stevens
Of the goodly town of Plainfield.

THEY WANT "HOME RULE"

South Plainfield Residents Anxious to be Boroughites.

A PUBLIC MEETING

Question is Discussed by Property Owners and Active Steps Taken Toward Incorporation.

Chafing under the county rule imposed upon them at present, the residents of South Plainfield held a second meeting, in Temperance Hall, last night, to consider ways and means of incorporating the village as a borough. The attendance was very large and from the determined spirit evinced the place will soon be enjoying "home rule."

An open discussion followed the calling of order and lengthy arguments on the subject of borough incorporation were made by William E. Smith, Samuel Manning, Peter J. McDonough, John Geary and Archie Steengrafe, all of whom are property owners and who have the best interests of the place at heart. They brought out many good points in favor of the project and showed by the manner in which they replied to questions that they have given the subject considerable thought.

Particular stress was laid on the school facilities afforded South Plainfield at present and which has caused more contention in the township than anything else in recent years. The residents have to send their children to New Market for the Ninth and Tenth grades when they could be easily accommodated at the South Plainfield school. There are other points in the school question that the residents believe they are capable and better able to determine for themselves and with the establishment of a borough it would give them the needed privilege.

Residents of Clinton avenue near Sampstown asked that they be allowed to come within the proposed borough line and Samuel Manning and Archie Steengrafe were appointed a committee to learn the aggregate assessable property in the district. A further committee composed of J. F. TenEyck, William Smith, Stelle Randolph, Samuel Manning, Thomas Brantingham, Peter McDonough and John Geary were commissioned to fix the boundary line and if necessary, to employ counsel.

Both committees were instructed to have reports ready on May 23 when the next public meeting will be held. William Hamilton was elected permanent chairman of the borough committee and H. J. Manning secretary.

TEAMS AND TOURNEYS.

Bigger Courts Have Started Tennis Activity in the Y. M. C. A.

Physical Director Henckel and Boys' Secretary Robbie personally supervised the start of the work in putting the new association tennis court on Westervelt avenue into shape yesterday. It is hoped to have the courts in perfect trim by next week.

With the accession of the roomy accommodations for the tennis players, interest in the game has jumped higher than ever before among the Y. M. C. A. men. Two or more regular teams will be formed and it is probable that one team, formed of the pick of the players, will represent the association in match play.

Plans are being discussed for tournaments among both the seniors and juniors. Mr. Henckle will have charge of one and Mr. Robbie of the other. Suitable trophies will be offered.

In College Tournament.

Among the contestants in the interscholastic tennis meet, under the auspices of the Columbia College A. A., which was started today, is Chester Briggs of Albert street, this city, and a member of the Senior class of the city High School. Is will be remembered by followers of the game that Briggs won the championship of his school for two years in succession, and although he did not enter the tournament for singles last year, he has not neglected keeping in form. His clever style of play is regarded by many in this city as likely to win for him a high place in the present tournament.

Disposed of Hotel Interests.

Wallace V. Miller, formerly proprietor of the Hotel Kensington, when it was known as the Hotel Grenada, and who has been in the same business at Perth Amboy for some time past, has disposed of his interests there and with his family has come to Plainfield, where they will remain for the present with Mrs. Miller's parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. D. TenEyck, of West Front street.

TENNIS CHAMPIONS TO GIVE EXHIBITION

FAMOUS PLAYERS TO BE ON LOCAL COURTS TUESDAY.

Members of the Plainfield Country Club and their friends are anticipating a rare treat for Tuesday afternoon, when Malcolm D. Whitman and Holcombe Ward will appear on the club tennis courts in an exhibition match. Whitman by his victory over R. F. Doherty, of England, in the International matches of 1902 kept the Davis cup in this country, and practically attained the championship of the world. He was American champion for 1898, 1899, 1900; winner of the "All-Comers' Match" for 1898; Middle States' champion for 1898-1899-1900; New York State champion for the same three years and with R. H. Carleton won the New York States doubles for 1898.

Holcombe Ward, of the Orange Lawn Tennis Club, is the present champion of the United States in singles, and with Beals C. Wright, holds the same title in doubles. He and Mr. Wright have been the representatives of the United States in doubles in the International competitions. He was the winner of the All-Comers' Tournament at Newport in 1904; was winner with Dwight C. Davis, of the championship doubles for the United States for 1899-1900-1901; was the winner with Dwight F. Davis of the Middle States' Championship for 1899-1900-1902; was winner with Dwight F. Davis of the Eastern Doubles' Championship for 1899; with L. E. Ware for 1903, and with Beals C. Wright for 1904, and with Mr. Wright won the Crescent Athletic Club invitation tournament of 1904 without meeting a single defeat.

Mr. Ward is the originator of what is known as the "Ward twist service," and which is being generally adopted by leading tennis players throughout the country. He always uses it and is interesting to observe this feature in his play.

Mr. Ward's sister is one of the assistants at Miss Hartridge's school and it is due to Miss Hartridge that Plainfield can see such an exhibition.

FREEHOLDERS MEET IN NEW COURT HOUSE

DIRECTOR J. FRANK HUBBARD COMMENTS ON THE EVENT.

The Union County Board of Freeholders met in the new Court House at Elizabeth on Thursday, for the first time. Being much pleased with the commodious room assigned to the Board, Director J. Frank Hubbard made it the subject of a short address when he opened the meeting. It was a source of much satisfaction to him, he said, that the Board was enabled to meet in the beautiful edifice which the county had constructed.

Mr. Hubbard stated that there were some minor additions to be made which were nominated in the contract. When these had been completed, a comprehensive report on the building would be submitted to the Board.

The principal business before the Board was that regarding the repair of old bridges, throughout the county and building new ones where needed. A number of committees were appointed to examine bridges and report back.

High School Scrubs Won.

The High School Scrubs defeated a pick-up combination, calling itself "The Newspaper Men" Thursday afternoon 8 to 3. Phil Smith pitched for the losers; he didn't exert himself to a noticeable extent. Bogart twirled for the scrubs and wasn't his enough to jar him much. The feature of the game was the smashing of bats. The game ended in the eighth inning because the second stick of the two available ones followed the first to smash.

Middlebrook Club Opening.

The golf course of the Middlebrook Country Club at Bound Brook, will be formally opened today for the season. Today's play will be preparatory to an important tournament to be held on Decoration Day. Within a short time the schedule for the season will be announced.

C. Williams Redivivus.

Charles Williams ended a twenty-day sentence in the county jail on Thursday. This morning, drunk and indifferent, he sagged against the judge's desk in the city court as the magistrate made it forty days more.

PUBLIC LIBRARY GIFTS

Ex-Councilman Brown Presents Historical Collection.

NEWSPAPER CLIPPINGS

Letters and a Map as Well as Some Old Books of Much Value Received.

The Public Library has recently received a very valuable acquisition to its local historical collection, the gift of J. B. Brown, of Park avenue. An old map of Plainfield dated 1853 is one of the items. This map was made when Plainfield was part of Essex County, and when the present Park avenue was called Cherry street and extended only to Seventh street, and what is now Madison avenue was called Mechanic street. The present city park, just back of the Library is noted as Stillman Park. It also has a view of Stephen Vail's house, Webster & Marsh's clothing warehouse, with a number of other landmarks which would doubtless be familiar to the older members of the community.

Mr. Brown was a member of the first Common Council of Plainfield, and had clipped from the local papers the proceedings of that body from time to time. These he has also turned over to the Library. Some letters which were written to him while a member of the committee appointed to look after the families of Company I, Third New Jersey Volunteers, he has also contributed. Doubtless the red, white and blue paper on which these were written would look familiar to the Civil War veterans. These letters mentioned members of old and well-known families of Plainfield and give a side of the history of the period not to be found in the published history. A subscription paper carried by Mr. Brown, by which the subscribers promised to pay to James Leonard, treasurer of the committee, the sums opposite their names for the benefit of the families of the Volunteers, "leaving their homes to defend the Constitution and Union." Among these names are Abraham Runyon, Wallace Vail, Elston Marsh, James L. Spencer, Dr. C. Stillman, Dr. Lewis Craig, J. S. Denman and others. A copy of the first and other early city charters are given.

All this matter is to be preserved, the clippings having already been mounted in the book begun by Mr. Brown and form a history of the work of the Common Council from May 15, 1871 to January 4, 1879. All this matter is valuable, and is just the sort of thing the Library wants to secure. As years go on, its value increases and it is greatly to be desired that all who have such matter in their possession should turn it over to the Public Library and thus secure its preservation. Two old books published in New Brunswick by Abraham Blauvelt in 1797 and 1801 and one in Elizabethtown in 1819 are among the lot. Though these are quaint and interesting in themselves, their chief value is owing to their bearing a local imprint.

Another old book bears the interesting title "Devout exercises of the heart in meditation and soliloquy by the late pious and ingenious Mrs. Elizabeth Rowe, 1798." One other book of value, though not for its local interest, is "California illustrated, including a description of the Panama and Nicaragua routes, by a returned Californian, 1852." This being an account of a trip to California is soon after the gold fever of 1849 is a book of much curious historical interest, which interest is further enhanced by its abundant stone engravings.

MAY BE HOMICIDE.

One Hotel Keeper Alleged to Have Shot Another.

A shooting affray in Linden Township, between two rival hotel proprietors, Benjamin F. Clark, who runs the Wheat Sheaf, and Louis Hergert, who runs the Linden House, may result fatally to Clark, who was shot through the leg, as alleged by Hergert. Blood poisoning has developed.

Hergert was arrested early yesterday morning at his home in Linden and lodged in the county jail at Elizabeth. Later he was released on bail.

Clark was also beaten, it is alleged, about the head by two negroes who were with Hergert and who so far have eluded arrest.

—D. Demelli & Co., the caterers, emphatically deny the report that they are to sell out their business. "We serve the most desired and fastidious class of trade in the city and are doing better every day," said one of the firm yesterday. "The report is the result of jealousy."

Carriages need repairing along while before they break down. Take your worn carriages to W. J. Conroy, Somerset street, and have it put in such shape as will preclude a breakdown.

In the many years that Herman Weber has conducted his grocery store at Liberty and West Second streets, he has always made it a point to have strictly high grade goods. He solicits a trial order.

A. M. Griffen, the East Front street hardware merchant, as usual offers a superior line of lawn mowers, garden and farming implements and seeds. In addition Mr. Griffen contracts to do first-class plumbing.

Meat me at Endress'. That is—or should be—the thought of every housewife. If you are meated—the word is new but you know what its means—at Endress' shop, you get the finest, tenderest flesh of the best bred stock.

Powers' pharmacy at Somerset street and Craig place, is headquarters for the best of everything in the line of drugs, medicines or toilet articles. In addition, his cigars are smoked by people who want the right kind and his soda can't be beat.

Squeaks from the shoe oracle: The chief shrine of the worshipper of fine footwear is at M. C. VanArsdale's, East Front street. All the latest, all the neatest, all the sturdiest, shapliest, most attractive shoes turned out by shoe designers and manufacturers at VanArsdale's. And the prices are always right.

Woodhull & Martin are offering for the porch and lawn, including porch rockers and chairs, garden hose, lawn settees and lawn mowers. The firm is also showing a fine lie of Peddie trunks, Jewett refrigerators and carpet sweepers of the best make. The home-made bakery is still one of the great attractions at this store. Wednesday is inspection day when the public is invited to see the process of making bread, cake, pies and rolls.

AMUSEMENTS.

The best claim to first place among comedies this season is given to "The Heir to the Hoorah," which is showing at the Hudson Theatre. It gives the happy smile as a constant feature of your face throughout the performance and causes outbursts of applause every minute. Evenings at 8:30. 44th street, near Broadway.

Marie Tempest, direct from the Criterion, London, in the "Freedom of Suzanne" is the offering at the Empire Theatre. Critics say that she rises superior in this play to any part she has ever taken, which is saying a good deal. At the Lyceum Theatre, Ethel Barrymore is to be seen in "A Doll's House." Evenings at 8:30. Matinees Thursdays and Saturdays.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the following Ordinance has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Council to adopt the same.

J. T. MACMURRAY, City Clerk.

Plainfield, N. J., May 1, 1905.

AN ORDINANCE

to Appropriate and Borrow Money, and to Secure the Repayment Thereof by the Issue of School Bonds, for the Purpose of Furnishing a School House in the City of Plainfield.

WHEREAS, The Board of Education of the City of Plainfield has decided by resolution That it is necessary to raise money for furnishing a school house, to wit, the new high school building in course of erection in the City of Plainfield, New Jersey, and has prepared and delivered to each member of the Board of School Estimate of said city a statement of the amount of money estimated to be necessary for said purpose, which amount it has estimated to be thirteen thousand dollars; and

WHEREAS, The Board of School Estimate of the City of Plainfield has fixed and determined the said sum of thirteen thousand dollars as the amount necessary for said purpose, and has made two certificates of such amount, one of which certificates has been delivered to the said Board of Education, and the other to the Common Council of said city; and

WHEREAS, The total amount of bonds for school purposes, including bonds heretofore issued for such purposes and not redeemed, does not exceed a sum equal to three per centum of the taxable valuation of the real and personal property in said city; and

WHEREAS, Said Common Council has by resolution appropriated the sum of thirteen thousand dollars for such purpose and has directed that the said sum shall be raised and borrowed for the purpose aforesaid, by the issuing of bonds in the corporate name of said city, bearing interest at the rate of four per centum per annum, which resolution was duly approved by the Mayor of said city; now therefore,

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That for the purpose of furnishing a school house, to wit, the new high school building in course of erection in said city, in conformity with the acts and proceedings above recited, and said sum of thirteen thousand dollars, be, and is hereby appropriated for the purpose aforesaid, and that the sum shall be raised and borrowed for said purpose by the issuing of bonds in the corporate name of the city, which bonds shall be each of the denomination of One Thousand Dollars and in the form annexed to, and approved by the resolution of the Common Council before referred to, which form is now on file in the office of the City Clerk of the said City of Plainfield, which bonds shall bear date the first day of June, one thousand nine hundred and five, all payable in gold coin of the United States of the present standard of weight and fineness, and which bonds shall bear interest at the rate of four per centum per annum. In order that a stated equitable amount of said bonds (in value) having regard to other school bonds already issued, shall become payable in each year within the time hereinafter specified, the bonds hereby authorized shall be made to mature as follows: On the first day of June in each year from the year one thousand nine hundred and eight, to the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty, both inclusive, one bond of one thousand dollars.

Sec. 2. That the proceeds of the sale of said bonds shall be deposited with the custodian of school moneys of said school district, and shall be paid out only on the warrants or orders of the Board of Education of the City of Plainfield, as provided by law.

Sec. 3. That for the purpose of meeting the principal and interest on the bonds hereby authorized, as the same may mature, there shall be assessed and collected each year by taxation, as other taxes are assessed and collected, a sum sufficient to meet the principal and interest maturing during such year.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that an ordinance, entitled "An Ordinance to lay out and open Stebbins place from the southeasterly side line of South Second street to the northwesterly side line of West Fourth street," a copy of which is subjoined to this notice, has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Common Council to adopt such ordinance at the regular meeting of the Common Council to be held in the Council Chamber, No. 149 North avenue, in the City of Plainfield, N. J., at 8 o'clock p. m., on Monday, the fifth day of June, A. D., nineteen hundred and five, at which time and place, prior to the adoption of said ordinance, said ordinance will be considered by the Common Council, and all persons interested may be heard before the Common Council with reference to the proposed ordinance.

By order of the Common Council.

JAMES T. MACMURRAY, City Clerk.

Dated: Plainfield, N. J., May 1, 1905.

AN ORDINANCE

to lay out and open Stebbins place from the southeasterly side line of South Second street to the northwesterly side line of West Fourth street.

WHEREAS, the Common Council have judged and hereby do judge that the public good requires that Stebbins place should be laid out and opened between the points named in the title to this ordinance, therefore,

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That a public street to be known as Stebbins place, be and the same is hereby ordered laid out and opened in said city as hereinafter specified, that is to say:

The centre line of said street shall begin at a point in the southeasterly side line of South Second street, said point being distant thirty-three feet in a course of south forty degrees and twelve minutes east from an iron monument in the centre lines of said South Second street and Stebbins place and running from said point, south forty degrees and twelve minutes east a distance of eight hundred twenty-eight and ninety-five one-hundredths feet to an angle point; then e south forty-eight degrees and forty-nine minutes east, a distance of one hundred fourteen and forty-nine one-hundreds feet to a point in the northwesterly side line of West Fourth street, and there to end. Said street shall be fifty feet in width, that is to say, twenty-five feet on each side of said centre line. Said centre and side lines of said street are delineated on a certain map made by Andrew J. Gavett, City Surveyor, and filed with the City Clerk May 1, 1905, entitled, "Map showing proposed laying out and opening of Stebbins place, from South Second street to West Fourth street, Plainfield, N. J., January, 1905," to which map reference is hereby made for greater certainty.

The lands, real estate and appurtenances to be taken for the laying out and opening of said Stebbins place, in addition to the lands already dedicated to the public, are described as follows: Beginning at a point in the northwesterly side line of West Fourth street, where the same is intersected by the northeasterly side line of Stebbins place, as laid down on said map, and running thence along said side line of Stebbins place, north forty-eight degrees and forty-nine minutes west, a distance of one hundred twelve and sixty-one one-hundredths feet to an angle point; thence north forty degrees and twelve minutes west, a distance of two and ninety-eight one-hundredths feet to the rear line of the West Fourth street lots; thence along said line, south thirty-eight degrees and forty-six minutes west, a distance of fifty and forty-nine one-hundredths feet to a point in the southwesterly side line of Stebbins place as proposed, thence along said side line, south forty-eight degrees and forty-nine minutes east, a distance of one hundred thirteen and forty-four one-hundredths feet to a point in the northwesterly side line of West Fourth street; thence along said side line of West Fourth street, north forty-one degrees and eleven minutes east, a distance of fifty feet to the place of beginning.

The lands, real estate and appurtenances to be taken and the lines of the proposed street as the same is hereinabove ordered to be laid out and opened, are shown on said map on file with the City Clerk, hereinabove referred to and made a part thereof.

Inspiration at Belmont Park Defeated the Favorite, Jonquil.

NEW YORK, May 6.—Inspiration, at 10 to 1 in the betting, easily won the Larchmont stakes at Belmont park, defeating the favorite, Jonquil, by four lengths. The field ran close together to the last quarter, where Inspiration drew away. Game Cock won the Meadowbrook Hunters' steeplechase in a driving finish by three-quarters of a length. Snuff was the pacemaker for a mile and a half. Summaries:

First Race.—Jacobite, first; Lillie B., second; Sidney F., third.

Second Race.—Old England, first; Jerry C., second; Neptunus, third.

Third Race.—Inspiration, first; Jonquil, second; Sinister, third.

Fourth Race.—Veribest, first, Cassandra, second; Calabash, third.

Fifth Race.—Game Cock, first; Snuff, second; Patagonian, third.

Whist Congress Ends.

PHILADELPHIA, May 6. — The eighth annual congress of the Women's Whist League of America has closed here. The most interesting contest was that for the Quaker City trophy, offered by the Cavendish club of this city. The winners of this contest were Mrs. E. T. Baker and Mrs. J. W. Green of the Women's club of Brooklyn and Mrs. O. G. Pfaff and Mrs. J. W. Moore of the Hamilton club, St. Louis, each receiving a silver basket as an individual prize.

Trying For an Auto Record Run.

NEW YORK, May 6.—With favorable weather conditions prevailing, Charles G. Wridgway, a prominent automobilist of New York, piloting a touring car, began a record breaking trial for 1,000 miles at the Brighton Beach track. With 500 miles to his credit in 12:20:34 Wridgway was 2 hours, 44 minutes, 56 seconds ahead of the record when he slowed down late last night owing to the rather uncertain light.

Travis Defeated W. C. Chick.

GARDEN CITY, N. Y., May 6.—Considerable interest was centered in the Garden City Golf club's invitation tournament here as Walter J. Travis of the home club met and defeated W. C. Chick of Oakley, Mass., by 6 up and 5 to play.

Security, Favorite, Won at St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, May 6.—The public united upon Security as the favorite in the first race here, and those who backed their judgment at 1 to 2 were rewarded, as the favorite, with Dominick up, easily disposed of his field.

Harvard Gun Team Won.

PRINCETON, N. J., May 6.—The Harvard gun team defeated Princeton here in a dual shoot by the score of 218 to 200. Both teams shoot at Philadelphia today in an intercollegiate match.

Ananias Proved True.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 6.—Ananias proved true at Oakland in the handicap at six and one-half furlongs, winning from Gold Enamel. Honiton was third.

Ida Davis at Elmridge.

KANSAS CITY, May 6.—Ida Davis won the fourth race, the feature at Elmridge, Glassful, favorite, was second and C. Q., a long shot, was third.

GENEVA, N. Y., May 6.—The Cornell and Hobart lacrosse teams played here, the match resulting in a tie—3 to 3.

SOLDIERS OR POLICE

Failure to Protect Chicago Workers Will Bring Troops.

FRENZIED WOMEN AID STRIKERS.

Governor Deneen Awaits Call From Civic Authorities—Riots Continue Wherever Nonunion Teamsters Are Unprotected.

CHICAGO, May 6.—A crisis in the teamsters' strike is expected to come today. State street retail merchants have decided to send out 1,100 wagons to make deliveries in all parts of the city. As far as possible these wagons will be guarded by deputy sheriffs and in some cases by policemen. It will be impossible for all of the wagons to be guarded by deputy sheriffs, but it is the intention to place two officers on each wagon as far as the number of deputies already sworn in will permit.

Sheriff Barrett is of the opinion that the number of deputies on duty will be ample for the work outlined. If it is not, it is said he will conclude that the sheriff's force and the police are not able to control the situation, and a request will be made for the state militia.

Governor Deneen has said that he will order out the troops if a request is made by Sheriff Barrett, and on the failure or success of the attempt at retail deliveries today depends the coming of troops.

It is said that only 2,000 men constituted the police force available for strike duty. Renewed confidence was expressed by the police officials in their ability to exercise a reasonable degree of control.

Delivery of goods in residence districts, though much enlarged, was not all smooth sailing. At Forty-sixth street and St. Lawrence avenue a crowd of a hundred persons rushed toward a wagon of Marshall Field & Co. and attempted to assault the nonunion driver. Using a heavy whip desperately upon his assailants and aided by two policemen, the driver saved himself from being beaten, but the wagon was showered with stones, sticks and tin cans. A patrol wagon loaded with police arriving dispersed the crowd after making four arrests.

Bricks and baseball bats were used with blood letting effect in Dearbon street near Nineteenth. Nearly a score of negroes, all nonunion men of the Employers' Teaming company, preparing to take out wagons to transfer goods for various establishments, were attacked by a mob of strike sympathizers. Several men were hurt, one severely.

Additions to the number of teamsters on strike will aggregate nearly a hundred. The new strikes are confined to individual concerns, chiefly wholesale grocery houses. All the principal wholesale grocery firms in the city are now under the ban of the teamsters' and the diminishing stocks in the retail stores are further placed in jeopardy. The union leaders also threaten to tie up the river service by calling out the tug men.

Express wagons, each one of which carried a guard armed with a rifle or a double barreled shotgun, went to and fro between depots and express offices without interruption other than that of an occasional stone thrown from the sidewalk or of some missile hurled from a window. Wherever a crowd could find a wagon with a small police guard or unprotected there was sure to be trouble if the driver was a nonunion man. In several cases the drivers were beaten and their wagons overturned and the goods stolen.

Three coal wagons, after making a delivery at the factory of Selz, Schwab & Co., were attacked by a crowd which pursued them for more than half a mile, raining stones, bricks and bottles on the police officers and the drivers. The riot began when stones and bottles were thrown from windows on the sixth floor of the Schultz Paper Box company factory. This was the signal for a general onslaught, and missiles were hurled from all sides.

As the wagons continued down Ohio street they were targets for persons in the windows of all the buildings and for the crowd which continued to follow them. Policemen charged the crowd repeatedly, but they were unable to keep it back. The mob was composed almost entirely of young men and women, the latter taking an active part in the rioting and urging the men to further violence. As the caravan passed Orleans street a large cannon cracker was thrown from the crowd, exploding under the feet of one of the teams. The horses were held back with great difficulty by the police. Terrific explosions of large fire crackers occurred at several corners, but a search among the crowd by several detectives apparently failed to find the persons who threw the explosives, as no arrest was made. At the Dearborn street bridge the police made a final charge and dispersed the crowd.

Fire last night broke out in the coal yard of the Peabody Coal company at Twenty-eight street and the Pennsylvania railroad tracks. A large crowd gathered, but no one would turn in an alarm because of the feeling against the Peabody company, which is a strong factor in the teamsters' strike. The blaze was seen from a distance by a policeman, who called the fire department. The police declare that the fire was caused by an incendiary.

The Starchers' Strike at Troy.

TROY, N. Y., May 6.—The starchers' strike at the Cluett, Peabody & Co.'s collar factory has been marked by no sensational features during the past two days. During that time there has been no trouble, as nonunion starchers have not been at work. Efforts at settlement are under way.

CHOATE'S FAREWELL

American Ambassador Guest of Honor In London.

BANQUETED AT MANSION HOUSE.

England Loath to Part With Our Great Diplomat—"Happy Relations," He Said, "Are Due to Lansdowne and Hay."

LONDON, May 6.—"Certainly the crowning hour of my life is this farewell benefit to the English stage."

So Joseph H. Choate characterized the farewell dinner at the Mansion House last night, at which undoubtedly was the most remarkable gathering of notables ever assembled at the historic residence of that picturesque personage, the lord mayor of London.

In the words of Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, "It would be impossible to collect a more representative gathering." All parties, classes, professions and opinions from the great metropolis represented by the lord mayor himself to the government represented by Arthur J. Balfour and the Marquis of Lansdowne, together with a few of the American community, were there.

Mr. Choate sat at the right hand of the lord mayor. Next to him was Mr. Balfour and then Lord Lansdowne. At the left of the lord mayor were the archbishop of Canterbury and the Duke of Wellington. There were present among others Conan Doyle, Thomas Lipton, Rudyard Kipling, Alfred Austin, Anthony Hope and many other notables, the aggregate numbering 300. Among the Americans were the entire staff of the embassy, Consul General Robert J. Wynne, Vice Consul Carnegie and Senator Spooner of Wisconsin.

Premier Balfour in toasting Mr. Choate said, "No greater honor could have been done me than to have proposed this toast."

On rising to respond Mr. Choate was greeted with rounds of applause. He spoke at considerable length and with much feeling. He said that he was homesick and glad to be returning to his native land, where old friends were diminishing as fast as new ones were making here. If he remained much longer, he said, he would have a worse disease than homesickness—namely, Anglomania. An American president had once wisely said that he would not trust an ambassador in England more than four years because the English would spoil him. They would not spoil him as the children of Israel spoiled the Midians, but contrarywise, by heaping compliments and benefits upon him.

He said he did not dare trust himself to speak of the honor he felt in being the guest of such an assembly gathered to say farewell. "Altogether too much credit has been attributed to me," Mr. Choate said, "for the happy and delightful relations now existing between the two countries. If I have contributed to maintain what I found on taking up my post the last six years will be the proudest of my life. But the real reason for the happy state of affairs between the countries does not belong to the ambassador. But the two men responsible for their relations are Lord Lansdowne and Mr. Hay.

"I have never been called into the presence of the king or his illustrious consort without finding them also full of friendship for the country I represent. The king's instincts for peace are unerring and his genius for conciliation perfect, as he has shown the world in recent weeks."

Former Bank President Acquitted.

CHICAGO, May 6.—Isaac N. Perry, formerly president of the National Bank of North America, was acquitted of the charge of setting fire to the Chicago Car and Locomotive company's plant at Hegewisch, Ill., to secure the insurance money. The jury was out only ten minutes. The locomotive works was burned several months ago while idle. The National Bank of North America had lent the car company several hundred thousand dollars, and Mr. Perry was charged with having set fire to the plant to recover the insurance to meet the claim of his bank.

Freshmen to Stand by Gingrich.

LANCASTER, Pa., May 6.—The freshmen class of Franklin and Marshall college held an inquiry in the case of Oscar Gingrich of Lebanon, the freshman who recently shot a sophomore while being hazed and whose expulsion from college was requested by the student body. As a result of the inquiry a resolution was adopted condemning Gingrich for carrying a revolver, but declaring that the class would stand by him and protect him from further insult.

F. T. Vering Killed by Moros.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—Governor Wright has cabled from Manila that the name of the stenographer who was killed at Jolo by unknown parties during an attack on the place by Moros was Ferdinand T. Vering, whose next of kin is Bertha Sarntheim, New Brighton, N. Y.

AFTER NEBOGATOFF

Japan's Fast Cruisers to Cut Off Third Squadron.

ROJESTVENSKY SAILS TO AID THEM

Riot Mob at St. Petersburg Hinder Work of Firemen—Anxiety For Fate of Czar's Warships In the China Sea.

LONDON, May 6.—Special advices from St. Petersburg say that at a fire in the important manufacturing district of Orokhovo a crowd of several thousand strikers interfered with the work of the firemen and created a riot. The fire hose was cut several times, and the crowd robbed the burning buildings and threw the goods in them into the water. A number of houses were burned.

There were conflicts between the crowd and the police, in which several persons were killed or wounded.

A St. Petersburg dispatch says that Admiral Rojestvensky has sailed south to meet the fourth division of the Russian second Pacific squadron, commanded by Rear Admiral Nebogatoff.

The admiralty has information that a Japanese division of fast cruisers and torpedo boat destroyers was sent south to cripple or destroy Nebogatoff's ships before they could effect a junction with those of Rojestvensky, and there is reason to believe that the Japanese took up a position in the strait of Sunda, through which Nebogatoff originally intended to make the passage into the China sea.

There is also reason to believe that Nebogatoff first approached the strait of Sunda, but, finding it too well guarded, put about and headed north for the strait of Malacca, his division lacking the protection of fast cruisers and being at a great disadvantage in meeting torpedo boat attacks.

The admiralty expresses much gratification at the fact that the admiral has successfully reached the China sea, but appreciates the fact that the composition of his division renders its particularly vulnerable to a swift adversary. This is especially true, inasmuch as the crews of his ships have not had the training in maneuvering or target practice which Admiral Rojestvensky's fleet had while off the island of Madagascar.

Anxiety here will only be completely relieved when it is known that a junction has been effected.

GOVERNOR DAVIS ILL.

Head of Canal Zone Administration Has Malaria—New Fever Cases.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—Secretary Taft cabled Governor Davis, at Panama, to return at once to the United States, placing Colonel Gorgas in charge of the administration of the canal zone until the arrival there of Governor Magoon.

Governor Davis is suffering from malaria, and his physicians advised him to leave the isthmus to recuperate. He resisted their appeals, however, fearing that his sudden departure at a time when the health conditions on the isthmus are adverse would be misunderstood.

The office of administration of isthmian canal affairs has received word that R. R. West of this city, deputy auditor of the canal zone, is ill at Panama with yellow fever. The dispatch reports two other cases—those of Charles Leech and M. M. Barrett.

Rudolph Hopes Against Hope.

UNION, Mo., May 6.—William Rudolph, condemned to be hanged on Monday, has been brought from St. Louis and placed in jail here. He occupies the same cell that held his partner, George Collins, who was hanged last year for participation in the same crime, the killing of Detective Schumacher. Rudolph said: "I have not given up all hope. I think the governor will yet commute my sentence." Governor Folk will not interfere in behalf of Rudolph. The governor has made his final decision in the matter known to Mrs. Rudolph and her son's attorney.

Fairbanks Received Delegates.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—After three hours of discussion the International Railway congress, which is working in five sections, adjourned to the White House, where Vice President Fairbanks received the members of the congress in behalf of President Roosevelt. Receptions were tendered the delegates also by President Samuel Spencer of the Southern railway and Mrs. Spencer and Major W. M. Grinnell of the Illinois Central railway and Mrs. Grinnell.

Loomis Hears From Secretary Hay.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—In a letter addressed to Acting Secretary Loomis, from Bad Nauheim, Germany, Secretary Hay speaks very hopefully of his health, which he says has improved steadily, while he has gained in strength. The secretary is reported to be taking daily walks of from two to three miles.

IN THE SHOPS

Albert Barber, of the Scott Press Works, has gone to Geneva, N. Y., in the interests of the firm.

Charles F. Meyer, Jr., has resigned his position at the Pedrick & Ayer shop and taken one at Pond's.

John Barrowman, who recently returned from England, has resigned his position at Potter's and next week will go to Tarrytown, N. Y.

William Jukes has been spending the past few weeks in Omaha, Neb., and other western cities in the interest of the Potter Press Company.

John Reinmann, who has been assistant engineer at the Potter Press Works, has secured a position as head engineer at the Aluminum Plate and Press plant at West Dunellen.

While the engineer of a shifter was shunting some cars into the Pedrick & Ayer shop, yesterday, he failed to notice that the lift door at the entrance was not all the way up. A flat car passed under safely but it was followed by a freight car that hit the door with a terrific crash, tearing away a great part of it. The engine was stopped in time to prevent any further damage.

CLOSED PORTALS.

INDIA'S NEED OF THE CHRISTIAN INFLUENCE

MISSIONARY FROM CHITTOOR TELLS OF IT AT TRINITY CHURCH.

Rev. James A. Beattie, who for eleven years has been a missionary at Chittoor, India, of the Arcot mission, delivered a talk on his work in the field and the conditions, spiritual and physical, that surround it, before the Young Women's Mission Band, of Trinity church, last night. Mr. Beattie is on a vacation trip, but he is spending most of his time in carrying messages from the field to the churches.

In describing the social condition of India, Mr. Beattie declared that the custom of child-marriage was responsible for a high death rate among the girls. Twenty-five per cent. of the girl-wives die in girlhood. The custom would be stamped out, he said, if Christianity was paramount in the nation's religious thought.

"Christianized nations give woman her proper rank," said the speaker. "In un-Christian nations she has a lowly place. As the morality of its women is, so is the morality of a nation; even its intellectual rank, I am inclined to believe, is fixed by the intellectual development of the women. So India sorely needs to be permeated with the Gospel of God."

Mr. Beattie held the lively interest of his auditors with descriptions of his home life. He caused the young women present to shudder by home pictures that included countless crawling things on the walls and floors, frogs and lizards behind pictures and doors, and frequent visits from deadly cobras.

"We have killed cobras in every room in our bungalow," he said. The girls gasped audibly.

After the talk, Miss Lillian Force, president of the society, expressed the organization's appreciation of the address.

Mrs H F. Crawford was secretary of the meeting. Miss Edith Major played the accompaniment to the singing. Miss Bodine and Miss Debele took up the offering.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Clifton Wharton, of Netherwood, has moved into the house he has just built on Belvidere avenue.

—Frank Hedden, of East Fourth street, purchased three high grade horses at a sale in Somerville Thursday.

—The police officers will probably end their recently established gymnasium work this month. It is deemed best to discontinue it in warm weather and the cops will most likely be released from compulsory exercise after the first of June.

Mrs. Maria Lunger, of Whitehouse, has been visiting relatives here for several days.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINTIY.

If it is found to be within their province under the law, the freeholders will probably offer a standing reward of $500 for the capture and conviction of horse thieves in the county. So many farmers and liverymen in the county have suffered at the hands of the theives, that it is felt some action is necessary, and at least two of the different local vigilant societies have appealed to the freeholders to hang the reward up. The matter came up at the meeting of the freeholders this week, but action on it was deferred, but it is doubtful if the law will permit the appropriation. The attorney general will be asked to advise in the matter.

Henry Giles, the aged suicide who hanged himself in the woodshed on Mrs. Agnes Randolph's place, Wednesday morning, was buried in Bound Brook this afternoon. The funeral service was held at his late home at 1:30 o'clock. Rev. Frank Fletcher conducted the service. It was attended by a number of the dead man's neighbors.

The Presbyterian C. E. Society held its monthly sociable last night, after the regular business meeting. Music and refreshments were the features. The committee comprised Miss Emma Craig, chairman; Miss Janie Churchill, Mrs. Casselberry, Miss Edna Coriell and Miss Edna Baldwin.

To while away the time profitably between strolls at the circus in Somerville Thursday, Shorty Alberts and William Giles held a peanut-eating and pin-lemonade-drinking contest. Alberts won, with a record of three quarts of peanuts and thirteen glasses of lemonade.

A reward of fifty dollars has been offered by the county authorities for the arrest of the man or men who broke into the smoke house of the Piscataway poor farm last week and stole 400 pounds of meat.

Charles Rogers' newly fitted hennery is one of the most complete and productive in the county. He has raised several broods already this season and has almost 100 chickens.

Mr. and Mrs. Wyckoff Voorhees have returned from a stay with friends in Centerville, Hunterdon county.

Valentine McLaughlin and John Peters, Jr., have returned from a visit to New Brunswick.

Several Endeavorers attended the county convention of the Y. P. S. C. E. yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Wilson have returned from a stay with friends in Martinville.

Miss Elsie Peters and Miss Stella Eick have resigned from the Methodist choir.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Services tomorrow at the Baptist church will be at the usual hours: Sunday-school, 9:30 a. m.; morning preaching, 10:45; B. Y. P. U., 7:15; evening sermon, 7:45. At the close of the morning sermon the monthly communion will be held.

SMITHS TO GO FREE.

Judge Foster Censures Grand Jury at New York.

NEW YORK, May 6.—In a decision in which he severely rebuked the grand jury Judge Warren W. Foster quashed the indictments against J. Morgan Smith and his wife Julia, Nan Patterson's sister, charging them with conspiracy in connection with the death of Caesar Young. Judge Foster says that no evidence whatever is disclosed against the Smiths and says that the grand jury in finding the indictments forgot both law and their own judicial position.

Nan Patterson has received a dozen offers by mail to bail her out, several from women. Altogether she got twenty-one letters during the day from persons who volunteered to come to her assistance. Her counsel has received a score of other offers to go on her bond in sums of from $5,000 to $20,000. A friend of Daniel O'Reilly, the chorus girl's counsel, is prepared to put up $50,000 should the district attorney require any such extraordinary amount.

With her sister, Mrs. Julia Smith, and Mr. O'Reilly the prisoner went through the pile of letters that kept heaping up with every mail. It was gratifying to hear of the widespread sympathy and substantial assistance offered.

But there seems no immediate hope of getting the actress out of jail. All day Chief Counsel Abe Levy, Daniel O'Reilly and their assistants searched for Assistant District Attorney Rand without success. Mr. Jerome was in Albany and only returned to New York last night.

Mr. Rand was not at his home in Rye and had not been there since the jury he sought so frantically to convince of the chorus girl's guilt was discharged.

Still another of the district attorney's staff, Mr. Garvan, from whom the lawyers hoped to get some satisfaction, could not be found. It was said that he and Mr. Rand were resting. That a fourth attempt will be made to fasten the crime of murder upon the prisoner is not even considered a probability.

JAPAN AND AMERICA.

Baron Kaneko Pledged Co-operation With the Stars and Stripes.

NEW YORK, May 6.—Baron Kaneko, special envoy from Japan, said in a speech before the Society of Colonial Wars at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel that his country and his countrymen welcomed the advent of America in the far east. In the event of Japan's success in her struggle with Russia he pledged co-operation with the stars and stripes, proposing an economic alliance which, he said, would place all Asia under the commercial domination of his country and the United States, and announcing that Japan would welcome the increase of the American navy in eastern waters.

"The more I have lived in this country," said the baron, "I have found that patriotism is born in the heart of every citizen, and we in Japan have told our soldiers to fight like the American colonists—in the morning like boys, at noon like men and in the afternoon like demons—whenever they had to face their country's enemies.

"We learned from George Washington that whenever he fought he had justice and humanity in his cause. What a glorious example your colonists gave to our country, which our soldiers are now emulating on the plains of Manchuria! We tried to follow your example in your straightforward diplomacy, so different from European.

"Some say the Japanese are trying to drive out the Americans from the Philippines. I can say now, for all of Japan, that it is not so. I can say solemnly that the Japanese will not consent to have you Americans leave the Philippines, for you stand for justice and Anglo-Saxon civilization.

"When the Panama canal is finished America will rule the commerce of the world. We are not afraid of you, for you are our good neighbor and the best friend we can have. We will welcome your navy, for where the star spangled banner goes there will be individual rights and political freedom and equality for all."

Jerome Secured a New Law.

NEW YORK, May 6.—District Attorney Jerome has returned from Albany, having accomplished the passage of his bill aimed at fraudulent debtors. The measure provides that where a debtor has obtained credit upon representations as to the condition of his business fails to produce his books for the creditor's inspection such failure shall be considered as evidence that his original statements were false and fraudulent.

Meriden May Be Shy of Bread.

MERIDEN, Conn., May 6.—Most of the bakers in this city are idle because of a strike of the union journeymen bakers, who refused to work for the alleged reason that the bosses have not signed an overtime contract submitted by the union. The men demand 30 cents an hour for all overtime work. Both sides say they will remain firm.

Lord Charles Beresford at Capital.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—Lord Beresford, vice admiral of the British navy, who is in Washington for a short visit on his way from the south, accompanied by Rear Admiral Higginson, commandant of the Washington navy yard, paid his respects to Secretary Morton and Rear Admiral Converse.

Policeman Held For Murder.

PITTSBURG, May 6. — Policeman Rufus Ullam, who shot and killed W. Def Lappe here, has been held to await the action of the grand jury on the charge of murder.

HOCH ON TRIAL.

Hospital Nurse Testifies as to "Bluebeard's" Conduct to Dying Wife.

CHICAGO, May 6.—Testimony as to Johann Hoch's relations with his sister-in-law, Mrs. Fisher, while his wife, Mrs. Marie Walcker-Hoch, was lying sick was given by Miss Gussie Hoelzapfel, the trained nurse who attended Mrs. Hoch until a few days before Mrs. Hoch's death. Miss Hoelzapfel was called by the prosecution to testify against Hoch, who is on trial before Judge Kerston charged with wife murder.

The nurse said that she disagreed with the sick woman from the first. Miss Hoelzapfel said she asked Hoch to dismiss her, but he refused, saying his wife was too sick to be left alone.

Notwithstanding Hoch's remark and his apparent affection for his wife, Miss Hoelzapfel said that he had spent most of his time in the kitchen with Mrs. Fisher whenever his sister-in-law was at the house. Miss Hoelzapfel said that she had remonstrated with Hoch and told him that his wife was jealous, and after that he had spent more time in the sickroom and less in the kitchen. Witness said the sick woman complained of pains in the abdomen, was very thirsty and could eat nothing. The nurse said that she had given injections to Mrs. Hoch by order of Dr. Reese. Witness admitted giving cocaine to Mrs. Hoch on three occasions when the patient had passed a sleepless night.

Hoch showed signs of the severe strain which he is undergoing and was very restless during the first part of the court's session.

Edward B. Frye, the New York detective who found the fountain pen which contained arsenic in Hoch's possession, testified. He said that when he arrested Hoch he persisted his name was Henry Bartel and that he was a salesman for a Rhine wine house.

WAR AGAINST "TAINTED MONEY"

New England Congregational Ministers Fire "the First Gun."

BOSTON, May 6.—What is described in a circular as "the first gun in our educational campaign" was "fired" today by the committee acting for the Congregational ministers of New England who have protested against the acceptance of John D. Rockefeller's gift of $100,000 by the American board of commissioners for foreign missions.

Today the committee mailed to every Congregational church and every Congregational clergyman in the United States four circulars. One of these is a letter explaining the significance of the movement; another is the statement recently issued by Dr. Washington Gladden of Columbus, O., moderator of the National Congregational council; a third is a sermon entitled "The Spirit of Protest," recently delivered by Rev. Artemas J. Haynes of New Haven, Conn., while the fourth is the work of the protesting committee and bears the caption "The Issue Before the Church."

The members of the committee whose names are appended to the last mentioned circular say that it was prepared "to call attention to the specific moral question confronting the churches if the principle involved in accepting this gift from Mr. Rockefeller is to be maintained."

Lawyers Have Their Opinion of Women Clients

A man lawyer has been giving his opinion of the woman client, and it is not flattering. On the other hand, the woman who has been through the mill of having business transactions with members of the legal profession has also her opinion of the man lawyer, and it is even less flattering to him than his judgment is to her. Experiences of suing to recover money due one and having the attorney claim half, two-thirds, in some cases even the whole of the amount recovered, and being brought into actual debt to the lawyer besides, is rather calculated to sour either man or woman against the legal profession and to induce the resolve in future to avoid lawsuits at whatever cost. It is only fair, however, to hear the man lawyer's side of the case too. To do him justice, he admits that an experienced business woman makes as reasonable and sensible a client as a man, but when it comes to the emotional, gushy, ignorant, clinging vine sort of female—excuse him. He never knows what she is going to do next. Emotional affairs are apt to prompt this sort of woman to lawsuits. She will visit the attorney and weep and implore him to help her in some matrimonial or love squabble. She manufactures tears so effectively that to get rid of her the lawyer frequently takes her case and brings about the result she desires. Then the fair client is apt to find herself not a bit happier or better satisfied than she was before, and, with the inconsequentialness of the old style woman or an idiot, she immediately 'bout faces and blames the lawyer bitterly for bringing all this misery into her life! So says the man lawyer.

"The czar's mother is forced to do all the cooking for the imperial family for fear poison may be introduced into their food." Let us hope the czar's mother herself will not poison the imperial family with her poor cooking.

May the old style of emotional, cowardly, irresponsible woman speedily disappear! It matters not how she vanishes, whether she is evolved out, drops out or evaporates. Just let her go, the sooner the better, and farewell forever to her!

"Thousands of letters have been received by the land commissioner of Boneset, S. D., from men who wish to marry the young women that drew farming homesteads in the recent opening of government lands on the Rosebud reservation." Just so! What a miserable, mercenary creature woman is to marry for a home! Isn't she?

"No; bonnet strings are not worn, except by old women," says the fashion editor. I have looked for weeks to see a pair of bonnet strings, and ne'er a string have I found, except on Salvation Army feminine folk. Evidently there are no old women any more.

And now Queensland, of the Australian federation, has granted full suffrage to women.

If Marie Feodorovna, dowager empress of all the Russias, had not sat upon the lid of reform for her own sex and set herself in all ways to keep them down and in ignorance and subjection, she would not now be in danger every moment of having that lid blown off by dynamite and herself and her family sent to kingdom come with all their sins upon their heads. The gifted, intelligent women of Russia would have gone over to her side instead of to the revolutionist terrorists. At least one or two loyal women would have relieved her of the necessity of going into the kitchen and perspiring over the imperial cooking, which not a human being could be trusted to do.

There are others than women who loathe tobacco. "I do not belong to a club of any kind," says John Burroughs, America's naturalist. "I would like to join a few good clubs of men if it wasn't for their infernal tobacco."

Honesty, decency, courage and common sense—these four go to the making of character, according to President Roosevelt. But often one finds that common sense is the scarcest of the four.

As usual, somebody is sneering at Mrs. Hetty Green, the richest woman in America. Now she is derided because she lives at the rate of $900 a year, dwelling in a flat for which she pays only $18 a month rent. Well, why shouldn't she? Has this republic, supposed to be a free country, come to that pass where a woman must live as other people demand she shall rather than in the way she desires for herself? Mrs. Green's tastes are altogether for the simple life we hear so lauded. She turns from the monkeyish circus in which public opinion would have her perform and lives her own life, as she has a perfect right to do, without interference from anybody. If more women lived their own lives instead of that laid down for them by fashion, this would be a better country.

The Romance of a Pirate's Daughter

By FRANK R. STOCKTON

Copyright, 1902, by D. Appleton & Co., New York.

CHAPTER XXXVI.

THE BLESSINGS WHICH COME FROM THE DEATH OF THE WICKED.

IT was three weeks after Martin Newcombe's letter came before Ben Greenway arrived in Spanish Town. He had had a hard time to get there, having but little money and no friends to help him; but he had a strong heart and an earnest, and so he was bound to get there at last; and, although Kate saw no visitors, she saw him. She was not dressed in mourning; she could not wear black for herself.

She greeted the Scotchman with earnestness; he was a friend out of the old past, but she gave him no chance to speak first.

"Ben," she exclaimed, "have you a message for me?"

"No message," he replied, "but I hae somethin' on my heart I wish to say to ye. I hae toiled an' laboured an' hae striven wi' mony obstacles to get to ye an' to say it."

She looked at him, with her brows knit, wondering if she should allow him to speak; then, with the words scarcely audible between her tightly closed lips, she said: "Ben, what is it?"

"It is this, an' no more nor less," replied the Scotchman; "he was never fit to be your father, an' it is not fit now for ye to remember him as your father. I was faithful to him to the vera last, but there was no truth in him. It is an abomination an' a wickedness for ye to remember him as your father!"

Kate spoke no word, nor did she shed a tear.

"It was my heart's desire ye should know it," said the Scotchman, "an' I came mony a weary league to tell ye so."

"Ben," said she, "I think I have known it for a long time, but I would not suffer myself to believe it; but now, having heard your words, I am sure of it."

"Uncle," said she an hour afterward, "I have no father, and I never had one."

And the wickedness which had so long shadowed and stained the life of Kate Bonnet was now removed from it. It was hard to get away from the shadow and to wipe off the stain, but she was a brave girl and she did it.

In this work of her life—a work which if not accomplished would make that life not worth the living—Kate was much helped by Dickory; and he helped her by not saying a word about it or ever allowing himself, when in her presence, to remember that there had been a shadow or a stain.

Even the Governor brightened. He had striven hard to keep from Kate the news which had come to him from Charles Town, suppressing it in the hope that it might reach her more gradually and with less terrible effect than if he told it, but now that he knew that she knew it the blessings which are shed abroad by the disappearance of the wicked affected him also, and he brightened. There were no functions for Kate, but she brightened, striving with all her soul to have this so, for her own sake as well as that of others. As for Mr. Delaplaine, Dame Charter, and Dickory, they brightened without any trouble at all, the disapearance of the wicked having such a direct and forcible effect upon them.

Dickory Charter, who matured in a fashion which made everybody forget that Kate Bonnet was eleven months his senior, entered into business with Mr. Delaplaine, and Jamaica became the home of this happy family, whose welfare was founded, as on a rock, upon the disappearance of the wicked.

CHAPTER XXXVII.

CAPT. ICHABOD PUTS THE CASE.

IN the river at Bridgetown lay the good brig King and Queen, just arrived from Jamaica. On her deck was an impatient young gentleman, leaning over the rail and watching the approach of a boat, with two men rowing and a passenger in the stern.

This impatient young man was Dickory Charter, that morning arrived at Bridgetown and not yet having been on shore. He came for the purpose of settling some business affairs, partly on account of Miss Kate Bonnet and partly for his mother.

As the boat came nearer, Dickory recognized one of the men who were rowing and hailed him.

"Heigho! Tom Hilyer," he cried, "I am right glad to see you on this river again. I want a boat to go to my mother's house; know you of one at liberty?"

The man ceased rowing for a moment and then addressed the passenger in the stern, who, having heard what he had to say, nodded briefly.

"Well, well, Dick Charter!" cried out the man, "and have you come back as governor of the colony? You look fine enough, anyway. But if you want a boat to go to your mother's old home, you can have a seat in this one; we're going there, and our passenger does not object."

The man in the stern was fairly young, handsome, sunburned, and well dressed in a suit of black. When Dickory thanked him for allowing him to share his boat the passenger in the stern nodded his head with a jerk and an air which indicated that he took the incident as a matter of course, not to be further mentioned or considered.

The men who rowed the boat were good oarsmen, but they were not thoroughly acquainted with the cove, especially at low tide, and presently they ran upon a sand-bar. Then uprose the passenger in the stern and began to swear with an ease and facility which betokened long practice. Dickory did not swear, but he knit his brows and berated himself for not having taken the direction of the course into his own hands, he who knew the river and the cove so well. The tide was rising, but Dickory was too impatient to sit still and wait until it should be high enough to float the boat. That was his old home, that little house at the head of the cove, and he wanted to get there, he wanted to see it. Part of the business which brought him to Barbadoes concerned that little house. With a sudden movement he made a dive at his shoes and stockings and speedily had them lying at the bottom of the boat. Then he stepped overboard and waded towards the shore. In some of the deeper places he wetted the bottom of his breeches, but he did not mind that. The passenger in the stern sat down, but he continued to swear.

Presently Dickory was on the dry sand, and running up to that cottage door. A little back from the front of the house and in the shade there was a bench, and on this bench there sat a girl, reading. She lifted her head in surprise as Dickory approached, for his bare feet had made no noise, then she stood up quickly, blushing.

"You!" she exclaimed.

"Yes," cried Dickory; "and you look just the same as when you first put your head above the bushes and talked to me."

"Except that I am more suitably clothed," she said.

"This is my old home," added Dickory.

"But you knew we were here?" she asked, with a hesitating look of inquiry.

"Oh, yes," said he, "I knew that the house had been let to your father."

Now she changed color twice—first red, then white. "Are you," she said, "I mean——the other, is she——"

"I left her in Jamaica," said Dickory, "but I am going to marry her."

For a moment the rim of her hat got between the sun and her face, and one could not decide very well whether her countenance was red or white.

"I am very glad to find you here," said Dickory, "and may I see your father and mother?"

"Yes," said she, "but they are both in the field with my young sister. But who is this man walking up the shore? And is that the boat you came in?"

"It is," said Dickory. "We stuck fast, but I was in such a hurry that I waded ashore. I don't know the man; he had hired the boat, and kindly took me in, I was in such haste to get here."

For a moment Lucilla bent her eyes on the ground. "In such haste to get here!" she said to herself; then she raised her head and exclaimed: "Oh, I know that man; he is the pirate captain who captured the Belinda, which afterward brought us here." And with both hands outstretched, she ran to meet him.

The face of Capt. Ichabod glowed with irrepressible delight; one might have thought he was about to embrace the young woman, notwithstanding the presence of Dickory and the two boatmen, but he did everything he could before witnesses to express his joy.

Dickory now stepped up to Capt. Ichabod. "Oh, now I know you," cried he, and he held out his hand. "You were very kind, indeed, to my friends, and they have spoken much about you. This is my old home; this is the house where I was born."

"Yes, yes, indeed," said Capt. Ichabod, "a very good house, bedad, a very good house." But hesitating a little, and addressing Lucilla: "You don't live here alone, do you?"

The girl laughed.

"Oh, no," she cried. My father and mother will be here presently; in fact, I see them coming."

"I will go meet your father and mother and the dear little Lena; I remember them so well," said Dickory.

She did not say anything, but turned her attention to Capt. Ichabod. She found that tall gentleman somewhat agitated; he seemed to have a great deal on his mind which he wished to say, feeling, at the same time, that he ought to say everything first.

"That's your father and mother," said he, "stopping to talk to the young man who was born here?"

KEARNS FLAYS MORMONS.

Utah Senator Declares They Have Built Up an Unscrupulous Monarchy—How He Won Wealth.

Washington. — Thomas Kearns, United States senator from Utah, who recently flayed the Mormon church on the floor of the senate, declaring the leaders had broken their pledge to the nation and had built up a monarchical institution within the republic, feels that the Mormon church is a blemish upon the good name of his state, from which he literally dug his fortune with a pick.

Kearns, who was born near Woodstock, Ont., in 1862, came to the

THOMAS KEARNS.
(Utah Senator Who Bitterly Assailed Operations of Mormons.)

United States with his brother. He went to work as a farm hand in Nebraska as soon as he was big enough. Then he got the mining fever and migrated to the Black Hills, prospecting. He did not find things to his liking there and went to Salt Lake City in search of employment. He was then 21. But he soon learned that his fortune did not lie in "the City of the Saints," and journeyed on to Park City, where he began to swing a pick in the Ontario mine at $3.50 a day. He was a good, steady workman, popular with "the boys," and handy in a fight.

In 1889 came the young man's opportunity. The Mayflower mine was to let and Kearns, with several others, took a lease. So well did things turn out that, in a year, he was married and fully started on the highway of success. In '92 he became one of the incorporators of the Silver King Mining company. This venture made Kearns wealthy and his stock in the mine was estimated to be worth $4,000,000.

From carrying a little tin dinner pail he became a political force. But he did not "put on airs," and did not forget his old companions. His election to the United States senate was brought about in 1901. But as he became wealthier, he still found it hard to change his simple style of living and came to adopt luxurious habits but slowly. He is blunt as ever, has but little polish, is full of energy, and fond of horses.

FOUNDATION TO BE SECURE

Builders of New Campanile at Venice Hope to Avert Another Disaster.

New York.—The downfall of that architectural glory of Venice, the Campanile, caused such dismay throughout the archaeological and artistic world that the engineers and experts charged with the rebuilding of the tower are determined to avert the recurrence of such a catastrophe, and their work, though slow, is certainly thorough.

According to the Illustrazione Italiana, while the demolition of the old tower's ruins was still going on Sig. Giacomo Boni found that structural weaknesses in the upper part, coupled with geological changes, had laid the Campanile low. The actual foundations themselves had not subsided relatively in any marked degree.

NEW CAMPANILE FOUNDATION.
(Is Being Made Secure to Prevent Another Collapse.)

It has therefore been necessary to minutely study the subsidence of the bed of the lagoon and the subsoil of the island as compared with the mainland, as well as the exact dimensions of the strata of sand, peat and clay through which the piles pass.

Previous examination has proved that these latter have retained their perpendicular position, and besides the clearing of all the lower outlying work at the base of the tower and solidly repairing any fissure or weakness that may menace the main structure, a square mass of hewn stone will be built above the actual foundations with a view of distributing the whole mass of the new edifice over a larger area.

Bloodiest Battle.

The most sanguinary of modern battles was probably that of the Moskowa in 1812, when, of the 130,000 French, 20,000 were lost, and of the 140,000 Russians, 60,000.

MRS. NELSON'S ESTATE IS OVERESTIMATED

SHE DIDN'T GET HALF OF REPORTED AMOUNT ON FAIR SETTLEMENT.

That the late Mrs. Hannah E. Nelson received $500,000 from the Fair estate when the suit over the disputed millions was settled is denied by a person very close to the heirs of the late Mrs Charles L. Fair. The reports that her estate is valued at half a million is laughed at by this person, who says it is doubtful if it is worth much more than $150,000 It is claimed that there is good reason to believe that Mrs. Nelson did not receive even half of the sum reported to have been her share.

When the inventory of the Nelson estate is filed at New Brunswick the exact amount left by the dead woman will be made known.

Frank Smith, the brother of whom the other Fair heirs had lost track, and who was located in Topeka only after the death of his mother, has instructed his own lawyer, regardless of Chandler & Beekman, the Nelson counsel, to demand individual settlement with the Fair heirs. He claims he is entitled to one-seventh of his sister's estate, and will fight for that amount.

OBITUARY.

Henry Jackson.

Henry Jackson, aged sixty years, colored, died at his home, 547 South Second street, on Wednesday, following a long illness. The funeral services will be held form the Mt. Olive Baptist church, tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. Interment will be in the M. E. cemetery.

Dr. Herring's Plight.

Dr. G. D. Herring wa put through an examination in supplementary proceedings before Supreme Court Commissioner John H. VanWinkle Thursday, to enable Charles H. Hand and Frank H. Smith to find out whether he had any money or property with which their judgement against him could be settled, admitted it was a matter of record that he had nothing very much of value and had no hope of ever getting anything. Among the things Dr. Herring submitted to the examiner was his bank book. It showed a balance of $1.18, which he said was all he had.

Diamond Ring Case Fails.

Miss Jennie Baldwin's charge of theft against Mrs. Emma Herring, whom she accused of stealing a diamond ring valued at $100, fell flat in Justice Nash's court yesterday afternoon. The complainant had no witnesses to corroborate her charge, and brought forward no evidence to sustain it.

SPORTING NEWS

DIAMOND DUST.

The All Nationals, with "Red" Waller in the box, defeated the Trenton Y. M. C. A. team on Wednesday by a score of 4 to 2.

The Bound Brook baseball team will open the season today at home with the Clinton Avenue Club. The Somerset county have organized a strong team and arranged a good schedule.

President Denman, of the Westfield Baseball Association, wants a series of nine games with Plainfield, instead of five. Wouldn't it be better to see how the teams measure up in the present number of games arranged. Upon the completion of this series Westfield may not want additional contests.

Runaway on Park Avenue.

A horse attached to a surrey in which were seated three children of Mrs. William Taylor, of Kensington avenue, ran away on Park avenue this morning but was stopped by Henry DeMott and David Thompson before any damage was done. Thompson fell under the animal's hoof and was slightly bruised.

In Justice Smalley's Court.

Suit has been instituted before Justice Smalley by William A. Lewis executor, against John A. Milne, of Harrison, to recover $150 upon a protested check given by Milne in the summer of 1902. The case is returnable on Tuesday, May 16. Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., is the plaintiff's lawyer.

Hotel Keeper Must Pay.

Judgement against Nelson L. Bonnell, keeper of a hotel in Garwood, in favor of Hugh King & Co., was given in Justice Hand's court this morning, in a contract suit for $58, due on a bill for wines and liquors. F. J. Blais appeared for the plaintiffs.

Bigger Bubble.

Charles Woolston and Marcus Hoyt, the only twin chauffeurs, have discarded their Olds runabout for a Rambler touring car of vivid green hue and chug-chug attributes. They received the new car last night. They are taking turns under the hands of a demonstrator.

BRUTAL TREATMENT OF RHEUMATIC PATIENTS.

Does the Stubbornness of the Disease Demand It?

The story is brought in from the cruel West by a recent traveler there, of a very primitive and painful, though perhaps logical method of treatment for rheumatism, in a certain sanitarium.

The foremost principle of the institution seems to be the enforcing of the most violent exercises upon the patient—one method being long and exhausting outdoor runs, until the patient sometimes actually drops in his tracks. The patient is followed in these runs by an athletic attendant, who is empowered to beat the almost exhausted patient if he shows any sign of lagging.

Thus the man whose joints are stiff and painful to the touch—who even walks with continuous pain—is forced to endure agony and exhaustion, in order that the tide of his blood may surge and flow through his veins with the greatest power and rapidity.

They say the treatment cures the most desperate case—if the patient's heart can endure the awful strain.

It's wonderful what people who are suffering will endure to be cured. It is pathetic to realize that the agony is absolutely unnecessary. All of this painful and exhausting exertion cannot accomplish as much as a certain brown powder that is sprinkled in the shoes. It is granted that the violence is better than drugging the stomach. But the brown powder does not go into the stomach. The pores of the feet absorb its virtues. The blood's circulation is stimulated. The urates are dissolved and carried out of the system. Stiff joints grow limber. Pains disappear. Muscles renew their elasticity and strength. Youthful vigor returns.

The heart is not exhausted. The treatment causes not a moment of pain. Relief is almost immediate; and the cure certain.

Why is such a marvelous powder practically unknown? is the natural question. Previously Volta Powder—an Italian discovery—has only been sold by a few agents; just since the first of the present year has it been put on the market and exploited. On sale at L. W. Randolph's, 143 West Front street, John P. Powers, Somerset street and Craig place. Or sent by mail, direct from the American Volta Co., 13 Astor Place, New York, on receipt of $1.00. Ask for Volta Powder—there is no substitute—nothing "just as good"—no other real cure for rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago and neuralgia.

HOD CARRIERS ARE ON STRIKE

Local Union Demands a Raise of Twenty-Five Cents a Day From the Employers.

BOSSES ARE FIRM

All But One Refuse to Grant the Demand—Non-Union Men Being Employed—Effect of Strike.

The Hod Carriers' Union went out on strike this morning. They demand an increase of twenty-five cents a day, or a jump from $2.50 to $2.75.

The Union formulated the demand for more money at a meeting held last Monday night. It was voted then to go out this morning if the increase was not granted by Saturday night. The advance was not forthcoming, and accordingly the men failed to report for duty this morning.

The membership of the Union is about fifty. The men say they include practically all the carriers in the city, but the bosses claim to have plenty of trained non-union labor at hand.

It is claimed by the men that five of the bosses have weakened already, and that only three of the contractors stand in the way of general concession. John Snyder, one of the bosses, has granted the demand of his employes. Several of the larger employers said this morning that there was no sign of weakening on their side, and that there wouldn't be.

Tallamy Bros., who have the contract at the new high school, are regarded by the men as the leaders in the fight against them. The Tallamys met the strike this morning by sending out a call for non-union laborers. Three of them were put to work, and the firm expects to have a full force, amounting to about eighteen, at work within a day.

The men will meet tonight at Trades' Council hall. The employers are said to be in a position to stand a protracted strike. During the three months allowed them by the strikers' first notice they have prepared for the fight, and it is said that their work has been put in such shape as will admit of a total cessation of labor without working much damage.

MAYOR SAT IN THE MAGISTRATE'S PLACE

CITY'S EXECUTIVE QUICKLY DISPOSES OF THE CITY COURT LIST.

City Judge Runyon was too sick to come downtown this morning, and Mayor Buckle, for the first time since he has been mayor, took the magistrate's place on the bench.

The Mayor's ruling were characterised by brevity and bluntness. "Excuses don't go," was his magisterial watchword, and the offenders got all that was coming to them.

Halstead McEleven, colored, who has been arrested twice for hanging around Townsend Rushmore's place to cast sheep's eyes at a maid, was sent to jail for sixty days. McEleven thinks the girl is pining away for him, and makes a nuisance of himself whenever he gets drunk.

Lewis Arington, arrested for drunkenness at the trolley depot yesterday, was fined $3.

Clarence Pope and Joseph Hughes, arrested on Hope Common for shooting craps, were allowed to go with a warning and a five-dollar fine hanging over their heads.

James J. Brown, an offender, was fined $10 for trying to clean out a Front street trolley car Saturday night.

John McClain, of Westfield, whose face is familiar in the local court, was fined $5 for drunkenness.

William McKain, drunk and disorderly, was fined $5 or twenty days.

Rehearsal Postponed.

The rehearsal by the children who are to sing at Memorial day exercises has been postponed from tomorrow afternoon to Wednesday afternoon at Reform Hall.

AFTER WATER COMPANY

Committee Says P. W. C. Made Misrepresentations.

MAY PASS REPEALER

If Concessions Are Not Made Lawmakers Will Kill Ordinance Recently Obtained by Corporation.

After a second thought on the matter, the members of the Piscataway Township Committee have become doubtful of the benefits to be derived from the ordinance they passed recently for the Piscataway Water Company. It is charged nowthat the company obtained the ordinance through misrepresentation, and the committee has taken steps to force concessions from the corporation.

So warm has the feeling of resentment against the company become that at the last meeting of the committee an ordinance repealing the privileges extended to the water company was discussed at great length, and came very close to passing. After a careful review of the steps that led to the passing of the original ordinance, and an informal discussion as to what the committee understood the company's aims to be at the time, it was finally decided to put off definite and drastic action for at least two weeks, to enable the company to lay its side of the case before the committee.

In the interim the township officers will put the matter right up to the corporation, in language that will admit of no misunderstanding. If concessions can be agreed upon everything will be satisfactory from the township standpoint. Should the company antagonize the committee, or refuse to concede enough to meet the body's idea of what is right and just, punitive action will be taken very promptly by the lawmakers.

BAND CONCERT FAIR CLOSED SATURDAY NIGHT

NEXT BENEFIT WILL BE REDMOND'S BIG VAUDEVILLE SHOW.

With fully 500 people in attendance all evening, the band concert benefit fair closed at Saengerbund Hall, Saturday night. The big crowd enjoyed the dancing and in addition was delighted by the appearance of "Billy" Hackenschmidt, brother of the wrestler, who gave several "coon" songs, with Theodore Morse, the great composer, acting as accompanist. Both "made good" and the singing and playing were applauded wildly.

The next affair for the benefit of the summer concerts will be the vaudeville show tomorrow night, also to be given in Saengerbund Hall. "Billy" Redmond has arranged the programme and the artists he has secured are all well known to New York vaudeville goers. The first number will be given at 8:20 and with the close of the entertainment dancing will be in order and continue until 2 o'clock. The prospects are that the combined bill will draw a crowded house.

WOMAN IN PULPIT.

Rev. Antoinette Blackwell Preaches on "Immortality" at All Souls' Church.

Rev. Antoinette Blackwell, of Elizabeth, occupied the pulpit of All Souls' Unitarian church yesterday morning. She preached her noted sermon on "Immortality."

"Science has no proof to offer against the doctrine of immortality," said Mrs. Blackwell, "and it may be said that immorality has almost, if not quite, been demonstrated and proved to a scientific certainty."

Her idea of Heaven was not a place of unending song and lazy enjoyment. She pictured an immortality of test and increasing strength, with the joy of conscious power and fruitful effort.

CLEARED $800 AT FETE

Women of Grace Church Make Success of Entertainment.

MANY ATTRACTIONS

May Dances in Afternoon—Music a Feature at Night—Those in Charge of Affair.

A sale and entertainment for the benefit of the heating plant of the new parish house was held by the Lenten Sewing Class of Grace P. E. church at the Casino Saturday afternoon and evening. The affair was conducted as a "Dutch fete," and was very largely attended. Over $800 was realized.

The Casino auditorium was arranged as a "Dutch" garden, with booths and sale tables about the walls, and serving tables scattered over the floor. The decorations were of an elaborate nature, and the auditorium was festal and flowery to a striking degree. The women and girls at the booths and tables were in Dutch costumes.

The afternoon was for the children. At 3 o'clock a series of May dances, around a regulation pole, were begun and at 5 o'clock the King and Queen of the May were crowned. Mollie Timpson was queen and Marion Ackerman king. Between the dances the "famous Peek Sisters" sang. The "sisters" were Helen Timpson, Caroline Martin, Florence Stewart, Louise Saunders, Catherine Titus, Mollie Perkins, Mabel Hooley, Louise Booth, Marjory Howard, Ethel Mest and Marion Hall; they were led by Miss Watts, of New York.

Among the attractions of the afternoon was Charles Hyde's automobile, which was used for the occasion as a "Seeing-Plainfield" affair.

In the evening the following programme of music and dramatics was presented: Songs by Miss Madeline Uhler and Harry Butler, Harry Burt and Miss Mary Anderson Rheinhart, and Willard Wadsworth; an eight-handed piano selection by Miss Weir, Mrs. Atterbury, Mrs. John Stevens, Miss VanBoskerck; a comedietta, in which Miss Grace Kaufman, Miss Nanon West, William R. Cook and George S. Ring took part. William E. MacClymont was the accompanist.

The various booths and attractions were in charge of the following: Dutch garden, Mrs. Rufus Delafield, Mrs. N. P. Rogers, Mrs. J. M. Sheilabarger, Miss Christie Scott, Miss Barclay, the Misses Stewart, Miss Strong, Miss Sykes, Miss Elizabeth VanBoskerck, Miss Morse; Mrs. Edwin Delafield was cashier of the garden. Palm garden, Mrs. Jabez Gilbert, Mrs. H. C. Irons, Mrs. Benjamin Wood, Miss Annie Murphy and Miss Nancy Lawson. Fancy tables, Mrs. Lewis G. Timpson, Mrs. Edward VanBuren, Mrs. Alfred F. H. Streuli, Mrs. Arthur Murphy, Mrs. Theodore Wilson, Mrs. Edwin Wright and Mrs. Hallock. Candy table, Miss Redman, Miss Smalley, Miss Lapsley. Chance table, Miss Dorothy Fleming. Children's grab-bag, Mrs. Harry Butler, Mrs. Barnhart. Welsh rabbit table, Mrs. T. M. Minford, Mrs. Iredell, Mrs. H. D. Hibbard. Silhouettes, Miss VanBoskerck. Lemonade, Mrs. Barker, Mrs. Theirs. Girls' Friendly Society table, Mrs. E. C. Perkins.

Miss Maud VanBoskerck was chairman of the general committee. J. M. Sheilabarger was in charge of the stage at night. Miss Lord arranged the children's festival in the afternoon, assisted by Miss Ryder, Miss Louise Holly, Mrs. Ackerman and Mrs. Rufus Lincoln.

Captain Martin in Big Tournament.

Captain Wm. B. Martin, of Co. K, left yesterday for Charleston, S. LOCAL GOLFERS BUSY

Many Events Saturday on the Two Courses.

COLUMBIA LOSES

In Team Match With Country Club 'Varsity Men Are Easily Defeated —Weekly Competitions.

In its first team match of the season, Saturday afternoon, the Plainfield Country Club defeated Columbia University by the score of 13 to 6. Stevens was the only member of the 'Varsity team that scored, while W. L. Glenney, of the home team, also a Columbia man, defeated his opponent 8 to 0. Dudley H. Barrows and Willard Wadsworth each scored against their opponents. The visiting team was outclassed in many respects by the home team and did not show up as strong as the Plainfielders.

The summary:

Plainfield Country Club—J. Whitney Baker, 0; W. L. Glenney, 8; H. D. Hibbard, 0; Dudley H. Barrows, 3; Willard Wadsworth, 2. Total, 13.

Columbia University—A. B. Palmer, 0; C. H. Blake, Jr., 0; O. E. Stevens, 6; F. V. Farrelly, 0; B. D. Segue, 0. Total, 6.

The weekly competition for the Golf Committee cup attracted the largest field of the season and indicates that this event will be one of the best on the schedule. The entry list was large and the scores were unusually good for this time of the year, the majority playing in mid-summer form. E. B. Shoemaker won the first three points with a net score of 72, while Dr. B. vanD. Hedges and E. A. Cruikshank divided the other three points, each receiving a point and a half.

These scores were returned for the Golf Committee cup:

E. B. Shoemaker, 80, 8—72; Dr. B. vanD. Hedges, 88, 8—75; E. A. Cruikshank, 93, 18—75; C. B. Morgan, 82, 6—76; S. D. Lounsbery, 84, 8—76; Charles A. Stover, 93, 15—78; Arthur Murphy, 87, 8—79; Willard Wadsworth, 79, 0—79; H. D. Hibbard, 86, 6—80; W. L. Glenney, 78, plus 2—80; G. W. Taylor, 95, 14—81; H. F. Fox, 94, 13—81; E. P. Goodwin, 91, 10—81; S. H. Patterson, 102, 20—82; G. T. VanBoskerck, 92, 10—82; J. Whitney Baker, 88, plus 1—84; A. L. Otterson, 106, 14—92; W. F. Merrill, 112, 19—93.

Another event of interest was the Women's Clock Golf contest. Mrs. E. E. Iremonger won first honors with a score of 23, while Mrs. Marvin Rae with a score of 24 finished second and Miss Elsie Burke with a score of 25 finished third.

In the competition for the Walter Gaston cup, on Thursday, Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers scored three points.

The event of interest at the Park Golf Club on Saturday was the weekly competition for the President's and Park Golf Club trophies. Honors were pretty well divided. Charles B. Morse won the first three points for the handicap cup and two points for the scratch trophy, while Charles A. Reed won three points for the scratch cup and two points for the other trophy. Rev. C. L. Goodrich and J. L. Watson divided the one remaining point for the President's cup and J. H. Howell got the other point in the scratch event.

These scores were returned for the two trophies:

Charles B. Morse, 102, 17—85; Charles A. Reed, 101, 15—86; Rev. Charles L. Goodrich, 108, 19—87; John L. Watson, 117, 30—87; Raymond B. Carroll, 91, 4—87; Rev. Dr. H. K. Carroll, 106, 18—88; J. H. Howell, 104, 14—90; Reuben Knox, 121, 30—91; S. St. John McCutchen, 107, 10—97; Walter C. McNaughten, 126, 29—97; George T. Rogers, 116, 17—91.

The chief event at the Westfield Golf Club on Saturday was the qualifying round for the June handicap cups, Classes A and B. These contestants qualified in Class A: W. J. Begert, 93, 4—89; C. E. Halsted, 93; E. B. Perkins, 98, 5—93; G. M. Cruse, 98, 5—93; H. E. Knight, 99, 5—94; R. L. Townley, 100, 4—96; R. K. Taylor, 107, 9—98; E. D. Floyd, 108, 4—104. Those who qualified in Class B were as follows: R. L. VanDyke, 103, 5—98; S. B. Simpson, 110, 8—102; W. H. Gladwin, 117, 6—111; E. H. Faulkner, 117, 2—115.

Building Loan Meeting.

The regular monthly meeting of the Union Building and Loan Association will be held tonight at their office, 143 Park avenue. The remaining shares left over from the new series opened last month, will be offered for sale.

—For Sale—A first class automobile. Particulars at Carnival Fair grounds, West Fourth street and Darrow avenue.

DAABSTERS KEEP IT UP

Giants Furnished Opportunity for Third Successive Victory.

SCORE WAS 3 TO 2

Visitors Contributed a Better Article of Ball, But Were Unlucky—The Tale.

Not even those redoubtable Philadelphia Giants could break into Plainfield's winning streak. They came near it, but the smash-up was averted 3 to 2. Young Mr. McKenna, who dug up the dirt around the pitcher's slab, got an everlasting thumping, but he bore up under the strain and strewed the bumps in lattice-work design so that his toiling playmates could get a chance to ping up the holes.

Looked at from the cold, impartial attitude of a visiting expert, the game was not an unctuous morsel for Plainfield. Those ebony Giants played slicker ball, and pasted the leather oftener, than the home experts. Luck, which signs with any team regardless of draughting or rabbit's feet, lined up with Plainfield and shoved the aspiring and worthy enemy into the chilly beyond. Thirteen clean biffs were registered off McKenn's delivery, and the best Plainfield could do against McClellan was a total of six. The Giants had more than twice as many men left on bases as the locals. Plainfield made two errors, and the Giants one. Inning by inning, the colored crew had less trouble in waving the enemy aside than the Daabsters.

Yet, the knockers sobbingly admit, it was a great and good game. From the tap of the gong until the last victim slid into nothingness it was a grand, sweet baseball song, and the beauty and chivalry around the arena never could forecast the ultimate and final finish of the conclusion. Of the enthusiasts there were about 1 500; a very perceptible percentage of the chivalry was colored. The result of the game left their faces lined with care.

Urged and sustained by the cheerful piping of Monroe, chief rooter, third-baseman and captain, who tried hard to prove that baseball is an innocent amusement and not a harrowing hunt for the tainted simoleon, the Giants started in business with a rush that caused some fluttering in the breasts of the assembled chivalry. In two innings they dinged out seven hits and scored their two runs.

A fast double play by Oldring and Driscoll, after Grant, the first man up had singled, checked the Giants in their opening half, but in the second session they wouldn't be denied. Foster started the break-up with a single to left, and stole second while Lamar was busy catching the business end of J. Johnson's strike-out. White whanged one to the safe deposit vault in left and Foster skipped to third. Grant dumped one in center and Foster fluttered into the dovecote, while White hovered at third. Hill whiffed, but Monroe, between bits of airy persiflage, plunked one to the good and White rippled in. Homerun Johnson doffed his sobriquet and fanned.

The Daabsters fell on McClellan for a have-at-you in their section of the inning and tied up the decision. After Kiernan, first man up, had plunked an easy one to Monroe, Young slashed out a two-bagger into left. Driscoll laced out a single with a gap so big that Young went to third and Dave reached second through the beneficence of fielder's choice. The Honorable Peter Lamar took the kink out of a drop and shot it so far afield that Moore couldn't get it back in time to head off Young at the plate. The relay to home went over J. Johnson's cocoa, and Dave followed Cy in.

Thereafter, until the eighth, it was no open-and-shut affair. The athletes balked one another with a grim determination that tickled the fanatics. In the fourth Oldring and Driscoll handled a pop from Grant for another double-up, and another thriller came in the fifth when White slammed a three bagger into left field. Young ran the globule down just inside the dip, and relayed it some fast. White was ambitious for a home-run and refused to loiter at third. He was extinguished at the plate on a sensational throw by Oregan from back of third base.

McClellan gave his own game away in the eighth. To begin with, he hit Cosgrove. Then he got excited over Oldring's bunt and slung the ball somewhere in the neighborhood of Randolph road instead of to first base. Cosgrove toddled in with the winning tally, and Oldring roosted on third. Connolly dumped an easy one into

ONE YEAR FOR FRANK CLARKSON

Letter-Carrier Who Pleaded Guilty to Rifling Mail, Sentenced by Court.

MINIMUM PENALTY

Nelson Runyon, of This City, Makes a Strong Plea for the Defendant—Term Begins.

One year in the Essex County penitentiary was the sentence pronounced today upon Frank Clarkson, the former letter-carrier attached to the local postoffice who pleaded guilty to abstracting $15 from a registered letter consigned to Dr. George W. Endicott.

The sentence was imposed by Judge Cross in the United States District Court at Trenton who informed the prisoner that it was the least he could give him, as his readiness to confess to the charge and save the government the cost and trouble of a trial had been taken into consideration. His term will commence today and with good behavior will be lessened to about nine months.

Clarkson was represented by Nelson Runyon, whose strong plea for clemency also had something to do with the lightness of the sentence.

The fallen letter-carrier was looked upon as one of the best men in the local service until the Endicott complaint came in. An investigation then showed that he had received the letter but instead of delivering it, had signed for it himself and appropriated the money. It was an incomprehensible act on his part as there was no attempt at concealment and when he signed he knew that it was certain detection as soon as the missing letter would be reported.

Clarkson ascribed his act to heavy debts and the hope that the money would be enough to release him from some of his most pressing creditors.

The maximum penalty for the crime is five years to which may be added a heavy fine. Mr. Runyon represented his son, City Judge W. N. Runyon, who is Clarkson's counsel.

JUSTICE MOFFETT DEAD

End Came Yesterday After Many Weeks Illness.

A RESPECTED CITIZEN

Was Civil War Veteran, a Former Assistant County Clerk and An Ex-Councilman.

Elmore Drake Moffett, justice of the peace and widely known in the city and county, died at his home on Orchard place shortly before noon yesterday. For many years he had been afflicted with diabetes and this combined with an affection of the foot brought about through the use of a patent preparation to ease inflammation from a corn, was the cause of death. He had been confined to his home for the past month and early last week began sinking slowly despite the efforts of his physicians.

Elmore D. Moffett was born at Bound Brook in 1840 but came to Plainfield soon after his marriage and had resided here ever since. He opened a grocery store on West Front street where Levy Brothers store now is and remained there until the building was destroyed by fire. He then entered the employ of the late Elias K. Pope, who had a grocery at Front and Somerset streets, which he afterward bought. Later on he formed a partnership with William Gardner and the firm had varying success until it sold out to the late George Rockefellow and Mr. Moffett went with him as book-keeper.

The sudden death of an attache in the office secured for Mr. Moffett the appointment as assistant county clerk under James Vosseller in 1882, which he retained for fourteen years. In this capacity he became acquainted in every part of Union County and his advice and judgment were frequently sought by office-holders at the county seat. He retired during County Clerk Howard's first year and has since been a local justice of the peace, his last office being at Second street and Central avenue where he conducted a grocery in connection with his legal business.

While a very busy man, Mr. Moffett took a decided interest in local affairs and in 1890 was elected to the Common Council on the Democratic ticket. He served two years, one of them as president, and was wielding the gavel when the so-called "Big Six" came into prominence. He was a veteran of the Civil War having served with distinction in Company G, Thirty-second New York Vols. On making his home in Plainfield, he joined Major Anderson Post, G. A. R., and was a past commander when it was merged with Winfield Scott Post. He was a member of Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. and A. M., and also the First Baptist church where he was a regular attendant. Personally, the "judge," as he was always called, was genial and whole-hearted and in his quiet, unassuming way had the happy faculty of making a friend of everyone with whom he came in contact.

Surviving him are a widow, who was Miss Darling, one daughter, Mrs. Ella Tams, of Trenton and one son, William Moffett, of this city.

The funeral services will be held from his late home Wednesday afternoon at 2:30, and by his own request, from the First Baptist church at 3 o'clock. Interment will be made at Hillside Cemetery.

Nabbed a Moter-Cycle.

Chief Kiely's automobile spotters were out on duty again yesterday. One three-horse-power motor-cycle driven by W. M. Cross, of Brooklyn, was the extent of the bag. Detective McCarthy and Patrolman O'Keefe pulled it up. Cross had neglected to hang out a New Jersey number. Mayor Buckle allowed the chauffeur to go upon his promise to push his machine through the city under foot-power.

New Pastor in Charge.

Rev. Theodore Englund, of Perth Amboy, the new pastor of the Swedish Pilgrim church, occupied the pulpit yesterday for the first, succeeding Rev. L. T. Lindholm.

—For Sale—Best ice cream and soda water—Ice cream tent—Carnival and Fair grounds. Every night May 11 to May 20.

Plea for Children's Clothing.

Miss Mary L. Orr, W. C. T. U. missionary at Ellis Island, makes an earnest appeal through the Union for children's and infants' clothing for distribution among new arrivals at the island. She says the high water mark in immigration has been reached during the last few weeks and there is great need for such clothing as indicated. Anyone desiring to make such contributions can send the same to the rooms of the local Union, 100 Madison avenue, on Thursday afternoons and they will be cared for.

Aid Children's Home.

A fair for the benefit of the Children's Home was held Saturday afternoon by the Misses Dorothy Merrill, Madaleine Noonan and Elizabeth Hawthorne at the Noonan home, Dunellen avenue. Miss Merrill and Miss Noonan, dressed in Japanese costumes, presided over the tables. Miss Hawthorne was a great attraction as a fortune teller. Some of the things on sale were donated by Henry Veehi, A. A. Vantine & Co., and the baker at Woodnull & Martin's. The sales netted $14.

Mrs. Odell at Holy Cross.

Mrs. Charles Odell, of Tarrytown, N. Y., the new organist and choirmaster at the Church of the Holy Cross, assumed her duties yesterday. The choir, a voluntary one, comprised ten mixed voices. At the morning service Mrs. William L. Saunders sang beautifully an offertory solo and Fred'k J. Pope assisted at the afternoon service.

Two Serious Charges.

John Lonch, an Italian, was arrested this morning with two complaints, made by Rosa Pullock and her father, Manino Pullock. The girl charges him with attempting to assault her yesterday, and the father accuses him of assault and battery. Justice Mosher will hear the case this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

—For sale—Golden crisp popcorn. Apply Carnival and Fair grounds, Fourth street and Darrow avenue.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

The Union Market on Somerset street is the place to buy choice meats, fresh and salt.

Ike Richards, of Somerset street, pays the highest prices for second-hand clothing.

Mosley & Sprague, the plumbers, would be pleased to do your work. Their prices are right.

Titus H. Laury has an established reputation as a contractor. His work always gives satisfaction.

Machine jobbing is done in the best and most thorough manner possible by the Valentine Gas Engine Co., of Sycamore street.

F. G. Wikoff, of West Fourth street, is ready to contract for hanging awnings, window shades, etc. He guarantees all work.

Trucking can be done in two ways: the right way and the wrong way. If you have a preference for the former go to H. J. Wierenga, North avenue.

Coal is one of the things we must have. But we needn't get bad coal unless we want to. L. A. Rheamue is in business to furnish us with the good.

Painting is like any other necessity. When it must be done it must be done badly, and every day of delay makes the case worse. Hurry your contract to Woolston & Buckle.

He is the baker who knows how. W. W. Warnock, West Front street. Buy bread and cake of him and you get bread that melts in your mouth and cake that delights your soul.

Like going through some well appointed gallery of ceramics—that is what a visit to J. W. Gavett's store, West Front street, is. Everything in pottery, porcelain of the finest make, china of the most substantial kind. Plenty of mugs and steins. Odd bits of ware.

Levy Brothers, of West Front street, are showing an unusually fine line of dry goods and dress goods of the latest pattern and best quality. The millinery department is second to none and you will find the hats of the proper style. If you say so the firm will make a hat exactly to your order.

It is a foolish young man who travels all the way to New York for his clothing and furnishings when Harry Werner's store is on West Front street. He carries a complete and strictly up-to-date stock. Range of styles always large, prices never other than reasonable. His store is full of good things for the fastidious dresser Cox, James O. Clark, Arthur N. Pierson, William M. Tuttle, Jr., William P. Tuttle, Jr., Randolph Perkins and Salter Storrs Clark. The president of the board is Salter Storrs Clark; clerk, William P. Tuttle, Jr.

Theodore Brogley, who keeps a barber shop in Main street, Somerville, was knocked down and robbed while on his way home in East Somerville Friday night. The thieves took Brogley's pocketbook, containing $14, and were frightened off before they succeeded in getting his watch. The freight station of the Central Railroad of New Jersey at White House, was broken into and robbed of a small amount of merchandise. The police have been arresting thieves who came to Somerville with the circus.

Watched New Tunneling Methods.

Engineers and contractors identified with prominent tunneling enterprises, inspected a new method of tunneling with channelers at the quarry of the Ingersoll-Sergeant Drill Co., at Glendon, Pa., Friday. The method attracted unusual attention on account of its availability for tunneling under the foundations of buildings, no heavy blasting being required. Afterward the party visited the company's plant at Phillipsburg. President W. L. Saunders, Vice President J. P. Grace, Sales Manager J. H. Jewett and Charles B. Morse, publicity manager, accompanied the party.

$9.00 Niagara Falls and Return via Lehigh Valley Railroad.

Grand Decoration Day excursion. Tickets will be sold May 27th, 28th and 29th, return limit to and including May 30th. A trip of three days to the famous Cataract, at minimum cost. Frank Rowley, agent, 218 West Front street, for further particulars.

WILL SHOOT TO KILL

Chicago Police Guards Given Imperative Orders.

STRIKERS MUST GET HELP OR FAIL

Federation of Labor Is Unsympathetic, Although Much Incendiary Talk Was Indulged In—Dunne Thinks Worst Is Over.

CHICAGO, May 8.—After a strenuous week, during which street riots were frequent and the calling of troops seemed imminent and at the end of which scandalous charges were made against the peace officers of Chicago, the teamsters' strike has rested at the beginning of its third week with the employers apparently in the advantage. The teamsters now appear to be in a position where they must either yield or decide to extend the strike by calling out thousands of other workmen engaged in affiliated unions.

The Chicago Federation of Labor took no action looking to an extension of the trouble, although a great deal of incendiary talk was indulged in. Resolutions charging the Employers' association with conspiracy and asking that State Attorney Healy start an investigation of their business methods were passed.

Today the business men will increase their efforts to bring the strikers to terms. Arrangements have been made by every business house involved in the trouble to double their force of nonunion men. It was said that all preparations have been made to start out 1,000 wagons, manned by nonunion men. Each of these wagons will be guarded by deputy sheriffs or policemen, and each one of these men has received explicit instructions from superior officers to prevent disturbances of any kind.

The instructions of each of the deputy sheriffs and each of the policemen is to use every possible means in their power to quiet the rioters, but if this means proves unsuccessful to use their revolvers and to shoot to kill. The strikers and their friends during the last days have shown little inclination to clash with the deputy sheriffs or the policemen.

Mayor Dunne has expressed himself as confident that the serious part of the strike was over and that there would be no more disturbance in the streets. Sheriff Barrett expressed a similar view. During the day the sheriff swore in as deputies several hundred employees of the firms against which strikes have been made.

The strike was extended somewhat during the day by a walkout of the employees of several wholesale groceries. Forty-four drivers were called out in three establishments.

BODY OF SYRACUSE GIRL.

Mrs. Kempter Charges M. F. Andrews With Attempt to Poison.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., May 8.—Mrs. Kempter, wife of Richard Kempter of Syracuse, N. Y., has identified the body of a woman found on Cutler mountain as that of her daughter, Bessie Bouton, and has started with the body for New York. The identification was made complete by the dental work on the teeth and by a scar on the right side of the left forefinger as well as by the hair.

The mother charged that Milton Franklin Andrews attempted to kill the girl with poison while on the Pacific coast.

The body of Bessie Bouton was found on Cutler mountain, south of Colorado Springs, on Dec. 17, 1904. The woman had been shot in the head and every article of her clothing removed.

The body had been placed face downward, and gasoline had been poured over the corpse and fired, destroying the face except the dental work.

Lieutenant Ross Drowned.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., May 8.—First Lieutenant Moses R. Ross of the artillery corps, stationed at Fort Monroe, was drowned in the moat at that post, near here. He was riding a bicycle along the cement walk which skirts the moat when the chain broke, precipitating him into the water. Lieutenant Ross was twenty-seven years old, a native of Pennsylvania and a graduate of Washington and Jefferson college. He was with the volunteer army in the war with Spain.

Baby Elephants Punished.

EASTON, Pa., May 8.—The eight baby elephants of the Barnum & Bailey circus have been shipped from Easton to Bridgeport, Conn., where they will be kept closely chained in the circus headquarters for three or four weeks as punishment for their wild stampede during a violent windstorm at Somerville, N. J.

Nan Patterson's Bondsman.

NEW YORK, May 8.—It is understood that the bondsman whom Miss Patterson's lawyers have announced is ready to act as surety for her in any reasonable amount is Edward J. Sparenberg, a retired pawnbroker of this city. Mr. Sparenberg is an intimate friend of one of the Patterson girl's attorneys, and it was in this way his interest was aroused in her case.

Passed 12,750 in Twelve Hours.

NEW YORK, May 8.—All records have been broken here on the number of immigrants passed quarantine. Within twelve hours 12,750 foreigners, arriving in nine ships, were permitted to enter New York, indicating that the spring influx of immigrants this year will probably exceed the records for former years.

SPRING SPORTS.

Lord Brassy, Arrived With Sunbeam, Is After the Kaiser's Cup.

NEW YORK, May 8.—Ready to take part in the great ocean yacht race across the Atlantic for the Emperor William's cup, Lord Brassey's yacht, the Sunbeam, has arrived with her owner and four guests aboard. She has covered 6,500 miles, 3,919 under sail, and has maintained a daily average of 194 knots. The craft will go to Erie basin at once to prepare for the race on the 16th inst. The yacht race for the ocean cup presented by his imperial majesty the German emperor will be started off Sandy Hook.

Brooklyn Beats Philadelphia.

BROOKLYN, May 8.—The Brooklyn Nationals defeated Philadelphia in the third Sunday baseball game of the season at Washington park by a score of 4 to 2. A batting rally by the local men when two were out in the seventh inning brought in three runs at a stage when the visitors seemed to have the victory well in hand. McGee's home run hit over the right field fence and a three bagger by Owens were the batting features of the game.

Auto Boats Start on Long Race.

ALGIERS, May 8.—Seven auto boats have started in the long distance race from this port to Toulon. The boats left the harbor at 6 o'clock in the morning. Lewis Nixon's Gregory, which was to have represented the United States in the contest, was not present. Every precaution has been taken to prevent mishap, two cruisers and seven torpedo boat destroyers accompanying the racers.

Chicago Shut Out St. Louis.

CHICAGO, May 8.—The Chicago Nationals made it four straight from St. Louis, closing the series with a shutout. Taylor's only pass was turned into a run, his wild pitch another, while Schulte's triple and a fumble by Brain scored the third point. Two pretty double plays spoiled all chances for St. Louis scoring. Score, 3 to 0.

Wants World Tennis Championship.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 8.—Miss May Sutton of Pasadena, champion woman tennis player of the United States, will leave for England this week to play a series of matches with Miss K. Douglas of England for the woman's tennis championship of the world. The games will be played in London.

Hoboken Team Beaten.

NEW YORK, May 8.—In an exhibition game played on the St. George's cricket grounds, Hoboken, N. J., the New York National league champions defeated the semiprofessional Hoboken team by a score of 4 to 2. Deegan and Elliott were the opposing pitchers.

Oldfield Defeated at St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, May 8.—By winning two heats, the last an extra event to settle a tie, A. C. Webb, driving a Stock car, defeated Barney Oldfield and Earl Kiser in a three cornered special match, the feature of the automobile race meet held at Delmar race track.

Chicagos Could Not Hit Rhodes.

CHICAGO, May 8.—The Cleveland Americans defeated Chicago here 2 to 0. Chicago was unable to hit Rhodes, who pitched in good form, allowing only two hits, which were scattered.

Ewing's Spit Ball Failed.

CINCINNATI, O., May 8.—Ewing's spit ball failed here, and the Pittsburg Nationals won in the tenth inning. Three of their four runs were scored on bases on balls and wild pitches.

St. Louis Made Clean Sweep.

ST. LOUIS, May 8.—The St. Louis Americans won the game here from Detroit, 2 to 1, and made a clean sweep of the series. Sudhoff won through the fast fielding behind him.

Herrera Denies Conspiracy.

MADRID, May 8.—Sarrion de Herrera, former king at arms of the Spanish court and who is charged with conspiring against the government of Brazil, maintains that Counani has been recognized as an independent state since 1872 and that the recruiting of men in Europe for the service of that state is perfectly legal. He denies the existence of a plot against Brazil and asserts that the diplomatic relations between Brazil and Counani are most cordial. He had been residing in Madrid for two years in the capacity of minister for Counani to Spain, Morocco and the holy sea.

Auto Racer Paid His Fine.

MERIDEN, Conn., May 8.—Thomas L. Shevlin, captain of the Yale football team, who is said to have raced the Boston express from New Haven to Meriden and beaten the train to this city, has surrendered to the police for violating the automobile speed law and paid $40 to settle the case.

William Pardonner's Son Killed.

NEW YORK, May 8.—William Pardonner, the twelve-year-old son of William S. Pardonner, president of the American Beet Sugar company, was run down and killed by an automobile near the entrance to Dyker Heights park, a suburb of Brooklyn.

Don Quixote's Tercenjenary.

MADRID, May 8.—This city is gayly decorated, and there has been a great influx of visitors and foreign delegates for the celebration of the Don Quixote tercentenary. All the South American republics are represented.

Antibucket Shops' Bill Beaten.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 8. — The board of trade bill was killed in the house by a vote of 73 ayes to 63 nays. The bill was framed to legalize transactions of the Chicago board of trade and put an end to bucket shops.

JAPANESE ARE ANGRY

Tokyo Press Advocates Bombardment of French Ports.

VLADIVOSTOK DESTROYERS AT WORK

Oyama Steadily Pushing Forward His Columns, Occupying Palaotun, Saalingan and Batzya and Burning Shahedzi.

LONDON, May 8.—Special dispatches from Tokyo say that the newspapers there bluntly describe the French assurances that they would preserve neutrality as falsehoods and declare that Japan would be justified in bombarding French territory and call upon the government to take vigorous action.

Among Japanese officials in London it is asserted that France put off Japan by fair promises in order to give Rojestvensky time to effect a junction with Nebogatoff's division.

Vladivostok dispatches say four Russian torpedo boat destroyers from that port when westward of Hokkaido, the northernmost Japanese island, seized and burned a small sailing vessel, captured the captain and then returned to port.

All the crew of the vessel except the captain succeeded in landing, but a steamer dispatched to the rescue of the burning derelict was forced to return on account of the storm.

Dispatches from Gadgeyadana, Manchuria, say the Japanese are advancing slowly and intermittently, pushing forward their columns successively from right to left under cover of a screen of cavalry and Chinese bandits. The advance has resulted in straightening the alignment of the opposing armies, Russian detachments which were far advanced on the flanks being forced to retire. Erdagou, to the eastward, was occupied, but under pressure by the Russians the Japanese later evacuated the place. On the left the Russian cavalry retired behind the Liao river, the Japanese occupying Palaotun, Sanlingan and Batzya.

The village of Shahedzi, on the railroad north of Changtufu, has been occupied and burned by the Japanese.

There has been a sharp brush with Chinese bandits on the extreme Russian right.

It is reported that the Japanese armies in the center have recently been re-enforced. The force at Field Marshal Oyama's disposal, according to information recently received, is 348 battalions, or 390,000 men.

The Japanese are said to have armed 25,000 or 30,000 Chinese bandits with captured Russian rifles. The Chinese population has been drafted by the Japanese for roadmaking and intrenching, and roads are being constructed to Silminpu, Banchensee and Nanga pass.

NABBED COUNTERFEITERS.

Secret Service Officers Get $9,000 In Bogus Twenties.

PORTSMOUTH, Va., May 8.—After a vigorous chase that led through several Atlantic coast cities Secret Service Officer T. E. Land of Boston has arrested Thomas Brewster, Charles Fairbanks and Robert Slack, all of San Francisco, charged with extensive counterfeiting operations.

The trio were located in Key West, Fla., but they succeeded in eluding arrest until they reached here. Land followed the accused men all the way up the Atlantic coast, visiting Charleston, S. C.; Savannah, Ga., and Wilmington, N. C. It is said that large quantities of bogus money have been circulated in all the cities through which the men passed.

Together with the prisoners, the secret service officer captured $9,000 in counterfeit money, most all of which is in the denomination of twenty dollar bills. The men were lodged in the Norfolk county jail at Portsmouth and will have a hearing today.

Secret Service Agent Land said that he had discovered that a large number of spurious bills were made in Buffalo, which was the distributing point of the gang that was operating.

Fishermen Rescued From Drowning.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., May 8.—The oyster sloop Christie, owned and sailed by Captain Samuel Jack of Stratford, was caught in a terrific squall yesterday afternoon between the Bridgeport lighthouse and Steeplechase island, and after her mast and sails had been carried away she was capsized and all of the fifty men aboard were thrown into the water. Those on the sloop comprised a fishing party, and many were exhausted when rescued.

Four-year-old Dead of Hydrophobia.

NYACK, N. Y., May 8. — Frances Stewart, the four-year-old daughter of Arthur Stewart of Upper Nyack, is dead at her home with hydrophobia. The child was bitten by a stray dog and for three days before her death was in terrible convulsions. The Stewarts are prominent citizens of Upper Nyack, and the wide publicity given the child's illness has resulted in a general war on stray dogs.

Pioneer Newspaper Man Dead.

BATAVIA, N. Y., May 8.—Robert S. Lewis, one of western New York's pioneer newspaper men, is dead here at the age of eighty-one years. He learned the printer's trade sixty years ago and had lived in this city about thirty years.

St. Clair Man Stoned to Death.

FOTTSVILLE, Pa., May 8.—After a religious quarrel with foreigners John Mellcho was stoned near his home at St. Clair. Later in the day his body was found on the highway. Five men are under arrest on suspicion of having caused the man's death.

Plainfield, N. J., May 8, 1905.

OBITUARY.

James McCarty.

James McCarty died this morning at his home, 1826 West Front street, near Clinton avenue, following an illness of several months' duration. He was born in Ireland and has been a resident of this city fifty years. He was seventy-two years old and is survived by a wife and four daughters, Mrs. Andrew Nolan, Mrs. Neaf Apgar, Miss Kate McCarty, of this city, and Mrs. T. A. McCarty, of Kearney, N. J., and one son, John C. McCarty, of DeKalb avenue. Announcement of funeral will be made later.

Edward Luckhurst.

The body of Edward Luckhurst, a former well known resident of Greenbrook, was brought to Dunellen today from Denver, Colo., where he died May 2. He left Greenbrook to go to Union Hill and because of failing health went west. He was in his fifty-first year and is survived by a widow and one daughter, Mrs. S. Stites. The funeral will be held from the Dunellen Presbyterian church tomorrow afternoon at 2:30

TEA IN DAUGHTER'S HONOR.

Given by Mrs. L. V. F. Randolph for Mrs. Parfitt.

The first of a series of teas and receptions for Saturdays in May was given Saturday afternoon by Mrs. L. V. F. Randolph, of East Front street, in honor of her daughter, Mrs. Charles D. Parfitt, of Canada, who is visiting her for the first time in a year. The home was attractively decorated with apple blossoms and flowering plants.

Mrs. Randolph was assisted in receiving by her five daughters, Mrs. Lee Ashley Grace, of New York; Mrs. Charles D. Parfitt, of Canada; Miss Marion Randolph, Miss Josephine Randolph and Miss Blossom Randolph. Assisting in the dining room were Miss Peckman, of Westfield, Miss Halloway and Miss di Verega, of this city.

There was a large attendance at the tea, although many were detained on account of the affair held for Grace church. Other opportunities will be given Mrs. Parfitt's friends to meet on the succeeding Saturdays in this month.

PERSONAL.

Joseph E. Morse, of Franklin place, is confined to the house with an attack of water on the knee.

Miss Jeanette Covert, of Interlaken, N. Y., is visiting at the home of her cousin, Mrs. F. M. VanEmburgh, of Westervelt avenue, the borough.

Miss Marion Nevius, formerly of Plainfield, but now of Washington, where she holds a Goverment position, spent Sunday with Miss Cory, of West Front street, near Sycamore avenue.

Miss Minnie Genevieve Morse, of Franklin place, left town on Saturday for a two weeks' visit at Hartford, Conn., where she will be the guest of Miss Emma V. Fish, formerly of Plainfield.

SOCIETY NOTES.

Clifton Wharton, Jr., and family, are now living in their new home on Belvidere avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Goodwin, of West Seventh street, returned last week from a sojourn in Florida.

Mrs. L. H. Biglow, Jr., and family, of Montclair, who have been visiting relatives here, have returned home.

CLOSED PORTALS.

The Oriental Degree, Jr. O. U. A. M., will be conferred on twenty-five candidates in a class initiation, on Wednesday evening, May 17, by the three councils in this city.

Plainfield Council, No. 911, Royal Arcanum, has issued a neat and comprehensive pamphlet in book form giving much information about the Council, together with a list of officers and members and other interesting data.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the First M. E. church will meet in Vincent chapel Tuesday afternoon.

the infield and Oldring was nipped at the plate. Oregan singled and Connoly went to third, but Kiernan popped a cinch to the pitcher and Connolly was caught at his perch.

Leonard, the regular third baseman, only played a half an inning, a split finger, the result of last Sunday's game in Hoboken, forcing him into retirement. Pete Oregan covered the bag, and Young went into left, as several references hereinbefore have intimated.

Clinton Ave., 6; Bound Brook, 5.

The re-organized Clinton Avenue team ambulated to Bound Brook, Saturday afternoon, and began its season by walloping the Bound Brook aggregation 6 to 5. Brampton, the erstwhile National League aspirant was in the box for the Floodtown people but even his prowess was of no avail with such batsmen as Britt Martin, Van Arsdale and "Skeeter" Mague facing him. VanArsdale, the Clinton Avenue pitcher, allowed but one hit. The game was opened by Mayor Brokaw, of Bound Brook, who sent a "loop-the-gap" ball over home plate, or very near it. The Plainfielders were in the game from the start and from indications Clinton Avenue will be heard from in the local baseball world during the coming season.

The two teams lined up as follows: Clinton Avenue—Barnes, 1b; Herman, rf; J. Martin, ss; B. Martin, 2b; Beekman, 3b, O'Loughlin, c; Taylor, cf; Mague, lf; VanArsdale, p. Bound Brook—Graham, c, lf; H. SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINTIY.

A business meeting of the Sunshine Society was held Saturday in the guild room of Holy Innocents' church. Reports on the recent entertainment were handed in.

The monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Society, of the Presbyterian church, will be held at the home of James Touzeau tomorrow afternoon.

The Baptists held their last service in the Seventh-Day Baptist church yesterday. Next Sunday their own church will be thrown open.

Mr. and Mrs. John Downey, of New York, have returned home after a visit to the former's father, Col. Downey, the village sage.

Communion was celebrated at the M. E. church yesterday. An offering for the Methodist hospital, Brooklyn, was taken.

Friends of Charles Wyhuskey visited him in St. James' hospital, Newark, yesterday. He is regaining strength rapidly.

Mrs. Alice Pierce, of Brooklyn, has been spending several days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pierce.

Raymond Whitford has entered the employ of the Rogers Silver Plating Company, Plainfield.

The music at the borough school commencement will be played by the Ladies' Orchestra.

Prof. Sutton Fletcher will lecture in the Presbyterian chapel Tuesday night, May 16.

Miss Margaret Osmun will spend the summer at the home of her brother, Z. P. Osmun.

Russell Burdick has succeeded Herbert Dunham as paper carrier in the village.

Richard Schweerer has joined the Levering & Garrigues force.

William Jenner has been ill for several days.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

One of the pleasanest of the season's social affairs was the bid euchre held Saturday afternoon in the brough fire house, the hosts of the evening being the married women of the borough's social set, the guests their husbands and friends. The innovation was a pleasing one, the wives making admirable entertainers. About twenty couples were seated at the tables, while those who cared not for the fortunes of the game enjoyed the evening in social chat. The women's first prize, a dainty center piece for table, was won by Mrs. Edwin C. Fancher. Mrs. Cruise was awarded second prize, a jardinier and palm. Mr. Cruise headed the gentlemen's list in games won and was awarded a pack of playing cards and leather card case. Second prize, a stick pin, was taken by Mr. Hoar. Following the awarding of prizes a dance and musical programme was enjoyed, the pleasant affair being brought to a close at 11:30.

Rev. Mr. Bright, of Drew Seminary, occupied the pulpits yesterday at the Methodist church. It is expected by the members of the church that the presiding elder will appoint Mr Bright temporary pastor of the church. He is a good speaker and worker. The several times he has occupied the local church pulpit he has been received favorably by all.

Sunday's warm spell was the first real Sunday baseball weather we have had. Many of the lovers of the game disappeared from town for the afternoon, returning in the evening from the direction of Elizabethport and Rahway, where Sunday baseball is permitted.

The 'Plains bowling teams lead in the bowling tournament being rolled on the Saengerbund's alleys. Even the second team, the Laurels, had no trouble in defeating Somerville Friday night and making the second highest club scores.

The 'Plains will have as its guests tomorrow the members of the W. C. T. U., who hold their annual institute meeting in the auditorium of the Baptist church. Three sessions will be held: morning, afternoon and night

The Philadelphia Giants-P. A. C. game at Crescent Oval Saturday afternoon was the best contest the local followers of the game have witnessed this season, the P. A. C. team winning by the score of 3 to 2.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Putnam and children and Mr. and Mrs. William Hazel and child, of Plainfield, spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frentz, of Westfield avenue.

BREAKS HUNT CAMP

President Roosevelt Left For Denver This Morning.

FAREWELL BANQUET TO COMRADES

Incidents of Closing Scenes In Great Colorado Hunting Expedition. Speech of Thanks to Ranchmen Friends.

DENVER, May 8.—The presidential special train left Glenwood Springs at 5 o'clock this morning. A daylight run was made to Denver in order to give the party an opportunity to enjoy the scenery. The train stayed ten minutes at Hanging bridge, one of the prettiest views on the Denver and Rio Grande railway.

President Roosevelt last night entertained at dinner his companions on his three weeks' hunt in the Rocky mountains. After the dinner the president bade them an affectionate farewell and promised that all would live forever in his fondest memory. At the dinner were P. B. Stewart of Colorado Springs, Dr. Alexander Lambert of New York, Guides Jacob Borah, John Goff, Brick Wells, John Fry and G. M. Sprague, Courier Elmer Chapman and Secretary Loeb.

In describing the function Mr. Chapman said:

"We sat just as we did in camp. Mr. Loeb was the only dude at the party. You reporter fellows ought to have been there. You could have got all kinds of 'pieces' for your papers."

Other members of the hunt said the party talked over the events of the three weeks and had a good time generally. The president was at his best. He was entirely rested and had just come in from a two or three hours' drive through the woods, where he had gone to study Colorado birds with Mr. Stewart. Mr. Stewart is a naturalist, who knows every bird in the mountains and can tell its habits and imitate its calls.

The dinner was served in a private dining room of the Hotel Colorado. The guests were dressed much as they were in the mountains. Flannel shirts were the rule, although the guides did discard their chaparejos and laid away their revolvers. The president and Mr. Loeb wore frock suits, and Dr. Lambert and Mr. Stewart were in plain business suits. Some of the stories told at the dinner later went into circulation, but it was understood they were not to be printed. They related entirely to incidents connected with the hunt.

The president spent a quiet Sunday. Three weeks ago the railroads planned to run excursions into Glenwood Springs, but the plan was discouraged by Secretary Loeb, who announced that no programme would be permitted which called for an address by the president. In spite of that fact large numbers of persons arrived on every train, and rather than disappoint them Mr. Roosevelt stepped out on the second floor balcony of the hotel after luncheon and, speaking briefly, said:

"I did not anticipate having the pleasure of meeting you here today, and as it is Sunday I am not going to try to make a speech to you. I shall merely say how greatly I am enjoying my visit to this beautiful state. I wish that in the last week up in the mountains there had been a little more weather like this. If there had been, I think we would have gone about two bears better. But still as we got ten I do not think we have any right to complain. I am sure I need not tell you how much I have enjoyed my holiday here.

"I appreciate deeply the kindness with which I have been treated by the people of your state, the people in your cities and the ranchmen right in the immediate neighborhood of where I was hunting. It is a great pleasure to see the men of Colorado and an even greater pleasure to see the women, and I do not know but what I am even more glad to see the small folks. I shall not try to make you a speech. I shall simply say again how glad I am to see you and be your guest."

The president's party was up early. After breakfast a limited amount of mail was got out of the way, and then the party went to the Presbyterian church. An invitation to the president and his party was extended by the Rev. J. Wilson Curren, and it was accepted. Just as the party was about to leave the hotel photographers requested a sitting that would include every member of the party. Chairs were grouped on the lawn in front of the veranda. As soon as it was over the president led off at a brisk walk which brought the party to the little church ten minutes later, all out of breath except Mr. Roosevelt. He seemed to enjoy the walk. Along the street he was cheered, and he responded by lifting his hat frequently, patting children on the head and bowing to parents.

In front of the church the Sunday school children stood in open formation, and as the party passed through the little folks sang. The church was crowded, and hundreds of persons stood outside near the open windows.

The Rev. Curren preached on the responsibility of the Christian church. He made no reference to the distinguished visitor except in his prayer, when he asked that the president be given the strength to carry on the duties of his office. The congregation remained standing until after the presidential party left the church.

Mr. Roosevelt set a rapid pace toward the hotel. Halfway to the hotel he expressed a desire to see the skins of the bears he had shot, and he turned back to the store of Frank Hayes, a taxidermist, who has been intrusted with their mounting. As the skins were laid out the president pointed to that of the first bear he had killed. He said that was his favorite, as it was the only one that had required more than ordinary sportsmanship to kill. The pelt is the largest of the lot. The bear was killed with two shots, both of which had to be fired with careful aim in order not to injure the dogs which held the animal at bay. As the pelts were laid on the floor Mr. Roosevelt showed how each animal was hit. The taxidermist remarked that every shot had been clean and not a skin had been injured.

The president ordered that the skins be mounted with closed mouths instead of open jawed. The president examined the skulls, which are to be sent to Washington to be added to the collection of C. Hart Merriam, biologist of the department of agriculture.

The taxidermist exhibited a cast showing the footprints of the first bear killed by President Roosevelt.

"I should like a duplicate of that," said the president.

"The original is yours if you will accept it," replied Mr. Hayes.

"That would make a good receiver for the cards of your Democratic senators," said Mr. Stewart.

A souvenir of the hunt which Mr. Roosevelt took to Washington is the dog Skip. This animal is a small black and tan terrier and was the most active animal on the chase. He has a habit of getting on the backs of the horses and skipping from one to another. When the other dogs are tired Skip is still running about investigating everything that excites his curiosity. Other souvenirs the president is taking are pictures snapped on the hunt by Mr. Stewart. They show the camps, the trails, the party in action, the dogs and the game after it had fallen. It is a prize collection which will never be published unless in some literary work the president may at some time conclude to put out.

The president lingered a long time over his luncheon and then went to his rooms. After satisfying the excursionists by speaking to them for a moment he went for a drive in company with Dr. Lambert and Mr. Stewart and then returned to the hotel, where he rested until dinner was served.

About 9:30 o'clock he went to the private car Rocket, in which he will travel to Washington.

SCHILLER CENTENNIAL.

Philadelphia Germans Honor Memory of Their Great Poet.

PHILADELPHIA, May 8.—The observance of the centennial anniversary of the death of Friedrich von Schiller, the German poet, by all the German singing societies and nearly all other German organizations in this city has opened here and will continue until Thursday. Commemorative exercises took place at the Schiller monument near Memorial hall, on the site of the centennial exposition in Fairmount park. The weather was fine, and fully 50,000 persons were present.

The exercises were preceded by a short parade from the grand driveway in front of Memorial hall to the monument. All the German singing societies of the city and other organizations were in line. The representatives of each of the German organizations placed flowers on the monument, and the head of the statue of Schiller was crowned with a laurel wreath.

The exercises were presided over by Albert Schoenhut, president of the Constatters' Volksfestverein. Addreses were made by Professor K. D. Jessen of Bryn Mawr college and Professor Daniel B. Shumway of the University of Pennsylvania. A chorus of 800 voices, accompanied by an orchestra of 100 pieces, sang several selections from Schiller's works.

A feature of the five days' celebration will be the complete production for the first time in this country on Wednesday and Thursday nights of Schiller's "Wallenstein" at the Academy of Music.

Schiller's Centenary at Berlin.

BERLIN, May 8.—The centenary of Schiller's death was celebrated at the university here, the students performing "The Robber" and holding a grand kommers. The king and queen of Wurttemberg attended the opening of an exhibition of relics at Schiller's birthplace, Marbach, where the poet's great-grandson, Count Gleichen-Russwurm, delivered a memorial address.

Murder or Suicide Near Waterbury.

WATERBURY, Conn., May 8.—The body of Joseph Haddah, thirty-one years old, a commercial traveler, has been found in the woods near Forest park pond, a revolver by his side and a bullet hole in his head. Though it looks like a case of suicide, Medical Examiner Crane thinks he may have been assaulted, robbed and murdered. His watch and money were gone. Haddah, it is said, was in business in New York as an importer of Turkish goods.

Jaffel Expelled From Egypt.

ROME, May 8.—According to an official communication, Vittorio Jaffel, an alleged accomplice of Gaetano Bresci in the assassination of King Humbert, was arrested by the Egyptian police for vagabondage and ordered expelled. Being a citizen of Italy, he will be returned to this country.

Captain Hobson to Wed.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 8.—Mr. and Mrs. George M. Hull of Tuxedo Park, N. Y., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Grizelda Houston Hull, to Captain Richmond Pearson Hobson, the wedding to occur at the home of the bride's parents on May 25.

Stork Flying Toward Rome.

ROME, May 8.—According to the Patria, a fourth child will soon be born to the king and queen of Italy.

MAY FASHIONS.

Gossip Concerning Materials and Colors Which Will Be Popular.

Voile is so soft and pretty that it is no wonder it is so well liked. It now bids fair to be among the very best fabrics of the season, though, to be sure, it is not altogether new. But women are learning that it is better to hold on to some things which have been found desirable than to be always seeking something entirely new. The voiles are presented in all the season's colorings and in white and black. This gives them a wide range of usefulness and adapts the material to almost any requirement and any kind of trimming. I have seen some voile gowns with velvet garnitures, others with lace, more with set pieces of fancy braid and still more with no ornamentation save tucks or shirrs or some other kind of hand work. There seems to be nothing not adapted to this semidiaphanous material. It is generally made over a skirt of taffeta either of the same or of a contrasting color.

But voile is a difficult material to manage, as it is so flexible, and the amateur dressmaker is bound to bedew it with tears before it is done. I think lace is the natural complement of this pretty stuff, and the illustration shows how it may be effectively applied. The sleeves are short to the elbows, and then comes a fall of three ruffles of lace hanging down well over the wrist. The waist is in the form of a short bolero, and along the front and around the neck is a notched band of fine white linen batiste, with tiny white linen buttons in the notches. It makes quite a dainty trimming.

Lace Much Used For Trimmings.

Laces for trimming of gowns and the short capes and coats may be any kind, but bruges, galloons, bretons and heavy carrickmacross, duchess, Irish crochet, cluny and several fancies in muslin and lace combination are the best except for the very thin lawns and batistes. For these valenciennes is the proper kind, for none of the rest is fine enough. Nearly all these are so made that there is an insertion to match. The new fancy for chemisettes creates an added demand for lace, and these are very dressy. They reach up quite as high as the stocks and are made in two styles. Some are only to be pinned on outside the dress, and thus they simulate a chemisette, while the others are so fashioned as to fill in the square or V shaped point in the waist. I saw some that were almost as bad as the guimpes of detested memory, but these are intended to fill in square necked waists. Many of the prettiest dresses are cut square in the neck and are to be filled in with the chemisette in the earlier part of the season and left open when it shall grow warm enough.

Hand embroidered dresses of batiste, lawn, white broadcloth, crepe de chine and the old-new radium silks are among the newest of the dainty and incidentally costly dresses for summer, which is now so very near to us. Besides the expensive hand wrought embroidered gowns there is an endless list of machine embroidered ones. In some the pattern is all over and in others only along the flounces and other portions intended for trimming.

Some Novel Shapes In Hats.

I have left myself but a small space to speak of hats. The subject requires a volume with a sequel, so I will say but a few words about the latest styles. This year women have so much latitude that every one can wear what she likes and still be in fashion. The funny but becoming little Tommy Atkins hat, sometimes called a pill box, is one of the nattiest. The continental comes next, followed by any number of toques, turbans, chic sailors made of milan braid, chip or silk braid plateau shapes, which set us wondering how they hold on, and no end of tip tilted, side elevated and bent brims, with so many flowers that the wearers look overloaded. Roses in bunches, in wreaths and in every conceivable manner are seen, and they are marked by wonderful perfection. There are plateaux of lace straw in single and also mixed colors, and all are pretty. The turbans seem rather better adapted to elderly faces than to the young.

The novelties shown in mohair dress goods pass belief, so many there are, and all of them excellent for wear and appearance. They are in stripes and checks as well as all black.

Mme. Carlier Wears the Cross of the Legion of Honor

The first Napoleon established the decoration of the cross of the Legion of Honor. It was to be bestowed on those who achieved noble and heroic deeds. Bonaparte scarcely thought a woman would ever receive the prize he intended specially for soldiers, yet this coveted decoration was given by the French republic to Mme. Emilie Carlier for bravery and heroism as conspicuous as were ever displayed on a battlefield. Several women have received the red ribbon of the Legion of

MME. EMILIE CARLIER.

Honor, but Mme. Carlier is the only one of her sex to whom the cross has been awarded.

Her husband was French consul at Siwas, Asiatic Turkey, among the Armenians. His young wife had accompanied him to the consulate, though both knew the danger in case of a clash between Turks and Armenians. The clash came. Maddened Turks began to slay, cut, kill, maim and drown Christian Armenians in the manner approved by the fanatical among followers of the prophet. The hunted Armenians took refuge in the French consulate. The Carliers prepared to defend both themselves and the refugees. In anticipation of an attack on the consulate by a Turkish mob Mme. Carlier had filled bags with sand, enough of them to barricade her windows. Under the direction of a faithful old servant she also learned to shoot, becoming an expert.

The mob came, thundering at the doors, howling and hurling stones and sticks. Mme. Carlier left her infant son with a nurse and took charge of the main entrance. Her husband guarded the side and rear of the house. The sand bags kept the windows. The front door was strong and had chains across. It was opened just sufficiently to admit the passage of the nose of rifle or revolver. Behind that door as the thrilling moments passed stood the hero woman with her death spouting weapons, picking off every Turk that came in range. At length the mob retired, and Mme. Carlier went at once to her baby. She found the baby had cut his first tooth.

For her brave work Mme. Emilie Carlier wears the cross of the Legion of Honor.

Woman Trader In a Mining Camp.

In 1898 Mrs. R. S. Hutcheon of Chicago learned that there was need of such small necessities as pins, needles and thread in the mining towns of Alaska. They were worth almost their weight in gold and scarcely to be had at that.

Mrs. Hutcheon has the commercial talent. She selected a small stock of goods adapted to the exigency and went with them to Dawson over the perilous route by land and down the Yukon river. It was a bad trip for hardship, and Mrs. Hutcheon was obliged to do much mental sciencing of herself to keep her courage up. But she sold her goods at gold dust prices, catching the mining town exactly on the boom.

The enterprising woman merchant came back for more goods and sold them too. Her first store in Dawson was a tent. She next built a frame house and established in it the principal dry goods and millinery house in Dawson. Her pluck and shrewdness have been amply rewarded. She expects to open a branch establishment in the Tanana district. She follows the mining booms.

The Daughter of Old John Brown.

Quietly, aloof from the world, all alone in a cottage at the foot of the mountains in Santa Clara county, Cal., lives Miss Sarah Brown, the daughter of John Brown of Ossawattomie. Of John Brown's twenty-one children she is the seventeenth. In 1874 Mrs. Brown and six children traveled across the plains from Kansas to California. They finally settled on some land in Santa Clara county and planted orchards.

One by one the brothers and sisters married and dropped away, leaving Sarah and her mother to take care of the farm, which they did, Mrs. Brown attending to the house, Sarah doing the farm work. Then Mrs. Brown died, too, and the lonely daughter, approaching middle age, was left all alone. She plows, prunes the trees and attends to the chickens. Yet with all her toil she has never yet become rich enough to buy the little fruit farm, but rents it from year to year.

By FRANK R. STOCKTON

Copyright, 1902, by D. Appleton & Co., New York.

"Yes," she answered, "and they will be with us presently."

"Very good, very good, that's quite right," said Capt. Ichabod hurriedly; "but before they come, I want to say—that is, I would like you to know—that I have sold my ship. I am not a pirate any longer, I am a sugar-planter, bedad. Beg your pardon! That is, I intend to be one. You remember, that you once talked to me about sugar-planting in Barbadoes, and so I am here. I want to find a good sugar plantation, to buy it, and live on it; I heard that you were stopping on this side of the river, and so I came here."

"But there is no sugar plantation here," said Lucilla, very demurely.

"Oh, no," said Ichabod, "oh, no, of course not; but you are here, and I wanted to find you; a sugar plantation would be of no use without you."

"Then I suppose," she said, her face turned up towards him, but her eyes cast down, "that you are going to say that you would like to marry me?"

"Of course, of course," exclaimed Ichabod; "I thought you knew that that is what I came here for, bedad."

"Very well, then," said Lucilla, turning her eyes to the face of the man she had dreamed of in many happy nights. "No, no," she added quickly, "you must not kiss me; they are all coming, and there are two boatmen."

He did not kiss her, but later he made up for the omission.

The moment Mrs. Mander saw Capt. Ichabod and her daughter standing together she knew exactly what had happened; she had noticed things on board the Belinda. She hurried up to Lucilla and drew her aside.

"My dear," she whispered, with a frightened face, "you cannot marry a pirate; you never, never can!"

"Dear mother," said Lucilla, "he is not a pirate; he has sold his ship and is going to be a sugar-planter."

Now they all came up and heard these words of Lucilla.

"Yes, indeed," said Capt. Ichabod, "you may not suppose it, but your daughter and I are about to marry, and will plant sugar together. Now, I want to buy a plantation. Where is that young man who was born here, bedad?"

Dickory advanced, laughing. Here was a fine opportunity, a miraculous opportunity, of disposing of the Bonnet estate, which was part of the business which had brought him here. So he told the beaming captain that he knew of a fine plantation up the river, which he thought would suit him.

"Very good," said Capt. Ichabod. "I have a boat here; let us go and look at the place, and if it suits us I will buy it, bedad."

So with Mrs. Mander and her husband beside her, and with Lucilla and the captain by her, the boat was rowed up the river, with Dickory and young Lena in the bow.

When the boat reached the Bonnet estate it was run up on the shore near the shady spot where Kate Bonnet had once caught a fish. Then they all stepped out upon the little beach, even the oarsmen made the boat fast and joined the party, who started to walk up to the house. Suddenly Capt. Ichabod stopped and said to Mr. Mander: "I don't care to walk up that hill, you know; and if you and your good wife will look over that house and cast your eyes about the place, I will buy it, if you say so; you know a good deal more about such things than I do, bedad. I suppose, of course, that will suit you?"

It suited Lucilla exactly. They sat in the shade in the very place where Kate had sat when she saw Master Newcombe crossing the bridge.

A small boat came down the river, rowed by a young man. As he passed the old Bonnet property he carelessly cast his eyes shoreward, but his heart took no interest in what he saw there. What did it matter to him if two lovers sat there in the shade, close to the river's brink? His sad soul now took no interest in lovers. He had just been up the river to arrange for the sale of his plantation to one of his neighbors. He had decided to leave the island of Barbadoes and to return to England.

The house suited Capt. Ichabod exactly, when Mrs. Mander told him about it, and Lucilla agreed with him, because she was always accustomed to trust her mother in such things.

So they all got into the boat and rowed back to Dickory's old home, and on the way Capt. Ichabod told Dickory that when they returned together to the town he would pay him for the plantation, having brought specie sufficient for the purpose.

It was upon a fine morning that the ex-pirate Ichabod thus addressed a citizen of the town:

"Yes, sir, I know well who once lived in the house I own. I knew the man myself; I knew him at Belize. He was a dastardly knave, and would have played false to the sun, the moon, and the stars had they shown him an opportunity, bedad. But I also knew his daughter; she sailed on my ship for many days, and her presence blessed the very boards she trod on. She is a most noble lady; and if you will not admit, sir, that her sweet spirit and pure soul have not banished from this earth every taint of wickedness left here by her father, then, sir, bedad, stand where you are and draw!"

THE END.

HISTORIC COIN IS LOST.

One of Thirty Pieces of Silver Paid for Betrayal of Christ Disappears from Collection.

New York.—"The mysterious fifth shekel" has again disappeared. The shekel is said to be one of the 30 pieces which were paid by the high priests of the synagogus of Jerusalem to Judas Iscariot for the betrayal of Christ.

The coin came into the possession of Marx Fischer, of this city, many years ago, and it was his prize possession.

OLD HEBREW SHEKEL.
(Illustration Showing What the Coin of Christ's Time Looked Like.)

With the discharge of Margaret Wallner from custody on a charge of stealing ancient coins from Fischer to the value of $60,000 the oft-disappearing shekel has again been lost trace of.

Fischer was negotiating with Mrs. Wallner to do housework with him, and after one of her visits he missed his box of coins. He had the woman arrested, but as her trunks and personal belongings were searched, and no evidence could be found, she was discharged.

It was ascertained during the first crusade that but five shekels of the ancient Hebrew currency were in existence, and they were reputed to be part of the payment to Judas.

All the other shekels have presumably been melted over centuries ago. Four of the existing shekels are owned by the British Museum, the National Museum of Paris, the Museum of Munich, and the Imperial Museum of Vienna.

The shekel which Fischer has just lost was once owned, it is said, by Godfrey, of Jerusalem, and was lost for centuries. Louis XI. of France was among its alleged owners. It was many times lost and stolen.

Fischer asserts that he refused some years ago $22,000 for the shekel, offered by one of the London Rothschilds.

An ancient Greek coin called "Adam and Eve," bearing representations of Jupiter and Venus, was part of the collection which has disappeared.

TO REBUILD RUSSIAN HOUSE

Structure Exhibited at the St. Louis World's Fair Will Be Preserved at Lake Geneva, Wis.

St. Louis.—The only Russian building at the St. Louis exposition has been torn down, but will be rebuilt on the country estate of R. T. Crane, at Lake Geneva, Wis. It stood in the Transportation building and was part of an exhibit from St. Petersburg. By students of Russian affairs it is considered a splendid example of Russian art and craftsmanship. Mr. Crane, whose business interest has taken him to Russia on several occasions, believes the structure a type of the best in Russian architecture, and for that reason he will preserve it. The building was constructed by peasant builders in the Possade Sargiewo, near Moscow, after designs by the native architect, Baarnowsky, who has done important work in St. Petersburg.

Although buildings of a similar character are still put up to-day in the interior of Russia, on a less elaborate plan, for small homes and pavilions, the style of construction is quite primitive, the exterior being that of a forest log cabin. The logs are neatly hewn, however, and notched together so closely that no open joints remain to be plastered. The fantastic taste of the peasants is indicated in the curiously sawn eaves, gables and cornices, which are elaborately ornamented and painted in the gayest colors. The material used throughout is a white pine from the forests around Moscow, effectively stained in the case of the carved furniture, all the interior decoration having been designed by Durnovo, whose works have been highly appreciated in the Russian buildings at many international expositions.

GARIBALDIAN MUSEUM OPENED.

French Republican Senator Made Amend For Crime of the Empire.

ROME, May 8.—The French delegation which came here for the unveiling of the monument to Victor Hugo have assisted, together with the Italian authorities, the veteran Garibaldian survivors at the inauguration of a Garibaldian museum next to the altar erected as a memorial of the battle of Mentana, twelve miles from Rome, where in 1867 General Garibaldi's volunteers were defeated by the French troops defending the papacy.

Ricciotti Garibaldi, the only surviving son of the hero, was present, walking with the aid of crutches. He was the object of enthusiastic manifestations. Among the many speeches of the occasion the most noteworthy was that of the French Senator Rivet, who concluded his address with the words, "In the name of republican France I come here before the sacred altar of Mentana to make honorable amend for the crime committed by the French empire."

The declaration was greeted with uproarious applause and cries of "Long live republican France!"

FOREST FIRES IN ROCKYNOOK.

Grave Fears Entertained That the Settlement May Be Wiped Out.

PLYMOUTH, Mass., May 8.—The forest fire which started on Friday near Darby Station, on the Middleboro and Plymouth branch of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, and which has twice been considered under control burst out afresh and, propelled by a strong southwest wind, swept onward toward the little settlement of Rockynook, in the town of Kingston.

The settlement was saved from destruction only by a sudden shift of the wind to the northeast. Should the wind return to the southwest it is believed that Rockynook will be wiped out.

The breast of the fire is ten miles wide, and probably fifty square miles have been burned over. Practically all the male residents of Kingston and Plymouth have turned out to fight the flames, and a large force of men has been brought to the scene by the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company. Immense tracts of white pine and birch have been destroyed, and the loss will be many thousand dollars.

AN OPEN AIR CURE.

President Trudeau's Advice to Those With Weak Lungs.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Dr. E. L. Trudeau, president of the National Association For the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, which meets here this month to plan a gigantic campaign against consumption, contributes an article on "Sleeping Out of Doors" to the May number of the Journal of the Outdoor Life of Saranac Lake, N. Y.

For those who are predisposed to consumption and are obliged to work indoors most of the day Dr. Trudeau declares that sleeping out at night is not only advisable but necessary if they are to preserve their health. He does not advocate sleeping in a tent, for the temptation on cold nights is to close the flaps under the impression that the canvas permits the air to pass through. This is not so, he points out, or canvas would not be used for sails.

The ideal sleeping out place, Dr. Trudeau says, is a second story veranda.

Sewing Machine Agent Killed.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., May 8.—George E. Allen, a general sewing machine agent, fifty-five years old, was instantly killed at Hooper, six miles west of this city, when his carriage was tipped over. He was on his way to Owego, when his horse was frightened by the automobile of George F. Johnson, manager of the Lestershire shoe factory, driven by Bert Baldwin. As the automobile passed the horse jumped to one side, tipping over the carriage, striking Mr. Allen's head against the electric car rail, crushing his skull. Mr. Allen had no regular home.

Naval Officer Met Accident at Sea.

LONDON, May 8.—Lieutenant Commander William S. Sims of the bureau of navigation at Washington, who was a passenger on board the American line steamer Philadelphia, which sailed from New York on April 29, arriving at Southampton yesterday, was thrown to the deck during a gale on May 2 and sustained a fracture of the collarbone. He will be confined to the hospital for five weeks.

Intrigues on Persian Frontier.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 8.—Persian frontier reports state that the governor of Ardebil has been recalled to Teheran in consequence of an attempt to move the frontier post at Beljasuwara into Russian territory. A conflict with the Russian frontier guard occurred, in which it is reported 100 Russians were killed.

Italia Had Twenty-one Stowaways.

NEW YORK, May 8.—The Italian steamer Italia, which has arrived from Italian ports, brought twenty-one stowaways, who smuggled aboard while the ship was embarking her passengers at Naples.

Expect an Overflow From Kilauea.

HONOLULU, May 8.—There is marked activity in the volcano of Kilauea. The flow of lava is increasing, and a rising in the center gives indications that there may be an overflow.

Shah Off For Europe.

TEHERAN, May 8.—The shah of Persia has started on his visit to Europe.

SPORTING NEWS

DIAMOND DUST.

Manager Lentz, of Garwood, has taken his Aeolian team to Cranford, and this season the nine will bear the name of that town.

The double umpire system will be used in the Plainfield-Westfield series, Merity officiating for Plainfield and Henning for Westfield. A square deal is all that the fans ask.

Eddie Daly is not fast enough for Syracuse, of the New York State League, and yet he is considered stronger than "Rube" Oldring. The latter can give Daly a big handicap and beat him out.

The Chatham A. C., of this city, defeated the Dunellen Field Club at Dunellen, Saturday morning by a score of 7 to 4. Blatz and Rutledge formed the battery for the Chathams and Moore and Bechtel for Dunellen.

Seward, who formerly played right field for Hoboken, was released because he was a poor fielder. Westfield picked him up last year and he became a fast fielder and a poor batter. This year he is playing at Perth Amboy.

The thirty-second degree fans are reserving their rooting powers for the first Westfield game on Saturday, May 20. May the weather as well as the game be red hot and as the best team will win, the honors will naturally come to Plainfield.

Westfield, 9; Matawan, 2.

The Westfield Baseball Club had a walkover at Recreation Park on Saturday when it defeated Matawan by a score of 9 to 2. The locals touched Pender up for sixteen hits, while Waller only allowed two singles. The score:

Westfield....	1	0	3	0	3	0	2	0	x	9	16	1
Matawan....	1	0	0	0	0	0	1	0	0	2	9	5

Batteries—Waller and Farmer, Pender and Sheck

Victim's Father Vengeful.

The father of George Williams, the Watchung grocer who was murdered in his sleigh last winter, has employed former Congressman Alvah A. Clark, of Somerville, to assist Prosecutor John F. Reger in prosecuting George H. Weed, the man now in the county jail charged with having committed the crime.

Whose Horse?

When the stablemen employed by F. T. Ostrom, an ice dealer, opened his barn this morning, they found a strange horse in the place. Nobody knew how it go there, and Mr. Ostrom reported the case to the police. No alarm for a lost horse had been received at headquarters up to noon.

Three Hospital Graduates.

The annual graduation of nurses from the training school at Muhlenberg Hospital will be held in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, Thursday night, May 25. There will be three graduates.

"Friends as Reformers."

Following the regular service at the Friends meeting-house on Watchung avenue, yesterday morning, Henry M. Haviland, of Brooklyn, read an interesting paper on the subject of "Friends as Reformers."

Coal Company Lost.

The Consumers' Coal Company lost its case against Charles E. Utter, over a ton of coal, in Justice Hand's court Saturday. The six-man jury rendered a verdict of "no cause for action." F. J. Huff appeared for the defendant.

Its Last Run.

The Watchung Hunt Club held its last run of the season Saturday afternoon. Eighteen riders turned out at the meet, which was held at the Netherwood Hotel.

P. H. S., 10; Cranford, 0.

The Plainfield High School nine defeated the Cranford Hill School on Saturday by a score of 10 to 0. Smith and Davis were the P. H. S. battery.

Locals, 6; Montclair, 22.

The Local School nine was swamped in a game with the Montclair Military Academy at Montclair on Saturday, the score being 22 to 6.

Break Ground for Building.

The contractors broke ground today for the erection of The Plainfield Trust Company's new building at Park avenue and Second street.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

There will be a meeting of the official board of the First M. E. church on Wednesday night.

The Brotherhood of the First M. E. church will meet with the Men's Club of the First Baptist church tonight.

The first quarterly conference of the First M. E. church will be held Wednesday night, May 17. Rev. Dr. Halleron, presiding elder, will be in charge.

Mrs. J. W. Schenck, superintendent of Marconnier chapel, has gone to Mt. Vernon, N. Y., for a week. Mrs. Reighton will be in charge of the chapel until her return.

SOCIETY NOTES.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Florence Waring, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Waring, of Park avenue, to Captain Chauncey Humphrey, of West Point.

Mrs. Milton O. Barkalew and daughter, accompanied by Miss J. Kissam, spent Sunday at St. Cloud Mt., West Orange, as guests of their father, Wm. Kissam, in honor of his natal day. Their visit was somewhat saddened by the illness of Mrs. Kissam.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Are you dry, hot and thirsty? Visit the soft drink tent at the Carnival.

—The horses in W. E. VanCourt's barn at Oak Tree, broke loose last night and got among the mules. There was a great kicking time, in which both the mules and horses were considerably scratched.

Vested Choir in M. E. Church.

The introduction of the vested choir of twenty voices at the First M. E. church yesterday was well received by large congregations both at the morning and evening services. J. Edmund Skiff, the new organist and choirmaster, was in charge.

Salvationists Secure Title.

Title to the lot on East Second street, next fire headquarters, was passed this morning from Mrs. J. T. Vail to the local Salvation Army Corps. The purchasers were represented in the deal by Counsellor W. S. Angleman.

Judgment for Mr. Endress.

In the Circuit Court, Elizabeth, this morning, judgement was given Fred Endress in his suit against Theodore Glazer, Jr., dealer in fats, bones, etc., for $824. F. J. Blatz, Esq., represented the plaintiff.

All Plainfield, 4; New Brunswick, 2.

An aggregation styled the "All Plainfield" team crossed bats at Riverside Park, yesterday, with the New Brunswick A. A., Plainfield winning by a score of 4 to 2.

Engagement Announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Feiring, of Harrison avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Anna Feiring, to Harry Kesselring, of the borough.

State Supt.'s Inspection.

State Superintendent of Schools Charles J. Baxter, of Trenton, was a visitor at the North Plainfield school today.

Fair Begins Tonight.

A fair begins at the Christian church tonight and continues until Thursday night.

DIOCESAN CONVENTION IN SESSION

Bishop Scarborough Formally Opens the Annual Meeting in Grace Church.

NEW JERSEY DIOCESE

Celebration of Holy Communion This Morning—Organization Effected—Proceedings at the Casino This Afternoon.

Episcopal clergymen and laymen from all over the diocese of New Jersey gathered at Grace P. E. church this morning, when the 131st diocesan convention, which will continue all day and part of tomorrow, opened.

The Seal of the Diocese.

RT. REV. JOHN SCARBOROUGH, D. D., BISHOP OF NEW JERSEY.

This is the first time in ten years that the convention has met in this city.

Nearly four-score clerics and more than twice as many laymen were in attendance. Parishes in the following places were represented: Asbury Park, Atlantic City, Beverly, Bridgeton, Burlington, Bound Brook, Camden, Cranford, Elizabeth, Freehold, Glassboro, Haddonfield, Hamilton, Keyport, Lakewood, Lambertville, Long Branch, Middletown, Millville, Morristown, Mt. Holly, Navesink, New Brunswick, Paulsboro, Perth Amboy, Princeton, Rahway, Red Bank, Riverton, Roselle, Salem, Sewaren, Shrewsbury, Somerville, South Amboy, Trenton, Vineland, Westfield, Gibbsboro, Bernardsville, Point Pleasant, North Plainfield and this city.

It was after 12 o'clock when the convention was called to order by Bishop Scarborough, and only the barest routine of organization was transacted before adjournment for luncheon was taken. Rev. H. Stanley Smith, of Lambertville, was re-elected secretary of the convention for the sixth year. The standing committees announced by the bishop had no Plainfielders on them. Seventy-seven clergymen responded to their names at roll-call.

Before the convention met a full communion service was held, beginning at 10:30 o'clock with an impressing processional in which a score of the clergy took part.

Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, rector of Grace church, welcomed the delegates to Plainfield from the chancel. He greeted them cordially not only in the name of the parish, but of the community.

Rev. John Olmsted, of St. Mary's church, Burlington, preached the convention sermon. His discourse was a forceful representation of the change in conditions surrounding the church, as evidenced in the reluctance of young men to enter the ministry. He declared that the devoted layman could do much to rectify the conditions, and restore the church to her old strength and standing among the institutions and professions of the world.

Mr. Olmsted laid much of the blame for the falling away of the young men's interest in the church to the influence of modern college life and thought. The scientific thought and atmosphere of the colleges, he declared, was antagonistic to the trend of thought in the church. The attitude of the men toward the church and church work, evidenced by the fact that two-thirds of the religious instruction of the young is left to women and half-grown girls, was also put forward as one of the primary causes of the conditions complained of.

Among the other things the speaker held responsible for the loss of vitality by the church militant was the tendency to demand attention to "specialized secular pursuits" from the clergy. The speaker said there was too much attention paid to parish calling and to "matters of secondary importance" along these lines. The speaker believed, however, that as a body the clergy were self-sacrificing, hardworking, devoted men, who lived sanctified lives.

The speaker condemned the modern trend of thought as too utilitarian. Self-aim, he said, was harmfully pushing altruism aside.

Bishop Scarborough conducted the communion service. The attendance of Grace parish members was large.

Immediately after adjournment the delegates went to the Casino, where lunch was served by the women of Grace parish. Covers were laid for 250. Eleven separate tables were spread, at the longest of which, on the east side of the auditorium, sat Bishop Scarborough on a slightly

GRACE P. E. CHURCH.

PLASTERERS IN A WAR

Object to Lathers Handling the New Plaster Boards.

UP TO THE MASONS

Labor Troubles Which Bother Local Unions—Move Checkmated.

After a war of words and threats, over the field of work in which the plaster board, which is used as a fireproof substitute for lathing, belongs, the lathers have been forced in a position where, apparently, they must defer to the masons—which means that the plasterers will put up the plaster board, and the lathers, by the rules of unionism, must not lay hands on it to earn money.

Plaster boards have come into wide use in the city in the past year or two and the use of them is becoming commoner, so that the settlement of the dispute between the two bodies of organized labor regarding the handling of it has assumed more than a little importance. To make the nature of the dispute between the bodies plain it is necessary to explain that the plaster board is nailed directly to the studding, obviating lathes. A thin coat of plaster is laid over it. It was held by the lathers that the board is, in its nature and application, a kind of lathe and belonged to their line. The plasterers held that it was plaster, and wholly of the nature of plaster work, and that this new-fangled plaster did away with lathing was a matter which the lathers, if dissatisfied, ought to settle with the inventor or the builder who used the invention, and not to seek to encroach on their, the plasterers', field.

The plasterers assumed control over the plaster-board work, and, by dint of persistence, made themselves recognized as the mechanics for that department of building. The lathers would not rest under what they termed the unwarranted presumption of the plasterers and finally, at a recent meeting, they framed a formal notice to the masons to the effect that they would not work on any building where the plasterers were allowed to put up the plaster-board.

The lathers thought they had the masons where they couldn't escape when they fired that shot, and smiled grimly after it was delivered. But the masons, after calm deliberation, returned a bolt that has just about knocked every pin from under the lathers in this particular dispute. This was the shot: "If you attempt to put your threat into execution, we will refuse to work on any building where lathers are allowed to put on plaster-boards."

Builders and others familiar with construction work agree that the return shot puts the lathers where they must grin and bear the present state of affairs. Plasterers are always a necessity on buildings, while the use of plaster-board on both walls and ceiling would obviate the need for lathers.

Speaking of the masons' union and its victory over the lathers, an old builder said yesterday that the organization has always been the foxiest and best-managed among the labor bodies. It is the oldest in the country, barring the glass-blowers' union, and has always kept itself free and clear of trade alliances. It fights its own battles, and refuses to be drawn into the troubles of other unions.

Benefit Society's Officers.

These officers have been elected at the annual meeting of the German Beneficial Society: President, Augustus Melcher; vice president, Rudolph Wurgler; secretary, Joseph Haurand; financial secretary, A. Wolf; treasurer, William Gartner. A resolution was adopted deciding to hold the meetings hereafter in Saengerbund Hall and it was also decided to hold the summer festival at Near Market on Sunday, June 4

Presbytery to Meet.

The Presbytery of Elizabeth will meet in the First Presbyterian church at Perth Amboy, on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock to receive and examine Rev. James H. Northrup and to install him as pastor of that church, H. A. Pearce, of this city, a student at Union Theological Seminary, will be examined as a candidate for the ministry.

To Talk to Men's Club.

The Men's Club of Grace church will meet on Monday night, May 15, at the Y. M. C. A., and listen to an interesting talk on "Panama," by Andrew McLane Parker, of New York. This meeting was postponed from last night owing to the Episcopal diocesan convention today and tomorrow.

BOARD DEMANDS AN EXPLANATION

Asks Superintendent Wightman to Make Satisfactory an Interview.

PASSES RESOLUTION

Head of Schools is Called Upon to Appear and Tell Why He Should Make Certain Statements.

As the result of an article published by The Daily Press in the issue of Saturday, April 30, the North Plainfield Board of Education in executive session, last night, adopted the following resolution:

"Whereas, It is manifestly improper for the Supervising Principal to publish criticism of the Board of Education, and

"Whereas, Certain statements reflecting on the Board of Education and attributed to the present Supervising Principal have appeared in a Plainfield newspaper of April 29th, 1905,

"Resolved, That we hereby call the attention of Mr. Wightman to these statements and require a personal explanation at the next meeting of this Board."

Supt. Homer J. Wightman.

The statement to which the Board takes exception was simply a confirmation by Mr. Wightman of certain stories regarding the resignation of teachers. He was interviewed by a Daily Press reporter and when pressed for an explanation for so many teachers leaving, gave as his opinion that one of the reasons was the dismissal of Robert Sanders, of the manual training department, without any apparent cause. He is popular with the teachers, Mr. Wightman said, and it led to them resigning. He also declared the closeness of the board in granting supplies to be another reason why several of the teachers refused re-appointment.

Mr. Wightman has made no denial of the statement as published and will in all probability give the board the explanation it desires.

TWO MORE MEN TO BE ADDED TO POLICE FORCE

BOARD ISSUES NOTICE OF EXAMINATION—APPLICATIONS WELCOMED.

An addition of two men is to be made to the police force. By order of the police board an official notice that an examination of candidates is to be held was issued at police headquarters this morning.

The addition will bring the total number of men on regular duty to twenty-one.

No date has been set for the examination, but it is understood that it will be held next week. The board is anxious to secure the pick of the young men in the city who are fitted for police duty, and applications from those desiring to become members of the force will be welcomed. The applicants may file their names at police headquarters, and notice of the date of the examination will be sent to them.

Young men of good health and grounded in the essentials of a common school education can pass the examination without trouble. Merit is the only thing that will figure in the appointments, and every one of the applicants will stand as good a chance of securing a position as the others.

WOMEN'S GOLF TOURNEY

Plainfield Country Club Members in Metropolitan's Contest.

SERIES ARRANGED

Schedule of Matches is Announced—Some Events Scheduled for Local Links.

The Women's Metropolitan Golf Association has arranged the most important schedule in its history for this season, and the women of the Plainfield Country Club are to make an effort to capture the honors. The plan tried last year has been adopted again, of dividing the team schedule into districts, to avoid long journeys in keeping the dates, and the winning teams of the two districts will meet on a neutral course on October 31, the course to be determined by the two captains. This is the schedule of matches:

First District.

Wednesday, May 24—Brooklyn vs. Richmond County, at Bridgeport; Nassau vs. Englewood, at Nassau.

Friday, June 2—Englewood vs. Richmond County, at Dongan Hills; Nassau vs. Apawamis, at Dyker Meadow.

Friday, Sept. 22—Brooklawn vs. Apawamis, at Bridgeport; Nassau vs. Richmond County, at Dyker Meadow.

Friday, Sept. 29—Brooklawn vs. Englewood, at Apawamis; Richmond County vs. Apawamis, at Apawamis.

Tuesday, Oct. 24—Brooklawn vs. Nassau, at Nassau; Englewood vs. Apawamis, at Englewood.

Second District.

Wednesday, May 24—Plainfield vs. Baltusrol, at Plainfield; Essex County vs. Morris County, at Morristown.

Friday, Sept. 29—Morris County vs. Plainfield, at Morristown; Essex County vs. Baltusrol, at Short Hills.

October—Morris County vs. Baltusrol, at Short Hills; Plainfield vs. Essex County, at Orange.

Accessibility and mutual convenience have caused the selection of the Dyker Meadow course for two of the matches, and both matches of September 29 will for the same reasons be on the one course, Apawamas. Baltusrol, which dropped out last year after winning the team championship three times, is again in the fold, and the Plainfield Country Club is a newcomer. The Pewleton Club, of Newburg, and Wee Burn, of Stamford, will not have teams this year, but with the women of the Dyker Meadow, Lakewood and other clubs in membership, they have the right of representation at the tournaments.

One day tournaments, a new plan, have been arranged by the women of the Metropolitan Golf Association for May 19, at the Richmond County Country Club, May 26, at the Apawamis Club, May 29, at the Plainfield Country Club, and for June 6 at the Englewood Golf Club. The Women's Metropolitan Golf Association championship will follow on June 13 to 17 at the Baltusrol Golf Club, and the one-day tournaments will be resumed in October, on dates to be fixed, at the Wee Burn and Hillandale links, both at Stamford and at Essex County. Should the one-day tournaments prove a go, other clubs are willing to be called on to act as hosts for more of them.

CHURCH CLUB DINES AT THE CASINO

BISHOP SCARBOROUGH AMONG THE FORTY GUESTS—INFORMAL TALKS.

The Church Club, of the Episcopal Diocese of New Jersey, held its quarterly dinner at the Casino last night. While not officially or even intentionally so, the dinner was preliminary, in the nature of the gathering, at least, to the Diocesan Convention that opened in Grace church this morning. Bishop Scarborough was among the guests, and other well-known clergy, besides active and prominent laymen of the diocese, were present. Covers were laid for forty.

John N. Carpender, of New Brunswick, president of the club, was at the head of the table. There were no set speeches, but brief talks were delivered by the Bishop, President Carpender, Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, rector of Grace church, and George S. Clay, of this city.

The Plainfielders present were Revs. E. V. Stevenson and E. M. Rodman, Hugh F. Fox, S. Seabury Guion, J. Paul Nolting, R. H. Depew, Howard Fleming and G. S. Clay. The club is only a year old.

ENTERTAIN MEN'S CLUBS

Kindred Organizations Guests of the First Baptists.

LARGE GATHERING

Presbyterian, Methodist Congregational, Baptist and Reformed Church Men at Meeting.

The Men's Club, of the First Baptist church, in holding its final meeting for the season, last night, entertained the various men's clubs of the city and its women friends. The Sunday-school room of the church was filled to over-flowing with members and guests and a programme of unusual excellence was presented. Among the clubs of the city represented were those from the First M. E., Crescent Avenue Presbyterian, First Presbyterian, Congregational, Warren chapel, Monroe Avenue, Seventh-Day Baptist, Park Avenue Baptist and Trinity Reformed, in nearly every case the pastor of these churches also being present.

The programme consisted of humerous sketches and recitations by Walter David, and vocal selections by the Empire State Quartette, all of New York. Mr. David is an impersonator of much ability and he kept the audience laughing continually. The selections by the quartette were of a high order and were well rendered and the vocalists were recalled many times. In addition to the quartette selections there were solos by F. P. Balcom and Mr. Cornwell, the former tenor, and the latter basso. They were generously applauded. Miss Edith Cairns accompanied Mr. Balcom on the piano.

Following the programme which lasted for over an hour, there was a social time and refreshments were served, under the direction of the refreshment committee, of which Kenneth Robbie is chairman.

Dr. Norman H. Probasco, as president of the club, was in charge of the programme and welcomed the visitors in a brief address. The club will not meet again until October, when the annual election will be held. Although the youngest church club in the city, it is one of the largest in point of membership and very enthusiastic.

WHITNEY ALTERNATE TO NAVAL ACADEMY

GETS SECOND HONORS IN COMPETITIVE EXAMINATION.

As a result of the competitive examination, held by Congressman Charles N. Fowler, at Elizabeth, in Saturday, April 29, for the purpose of selecting a midshipman at the Annapolis Naval Academy, from the Fifth Congressional District, of New Jersey, Arthur S. Whitney, son of Henry Whitney, of West Fourth street, receives the appointment of first alternate to Ward Smith, of Springfield, who will get the appointment.

Whitney is a member of the Junior Class at the Plainfield High School and stands high in his studies. For a long time he has been ambitious to take the competitive examination. Plainfield is now represented at the Naval Academy by Fred VanAuken, who is making excellent progress in his studies.

Walter McI. Wolfe, of Chatham and Robert F. Gray, of Summit, finished third and fourth in the competitive examination. Mr. Smith will be nominated as midshipman and the others as alternates in the order named.

Band Concert Vaudeville Tonight.

In addition to the big programme at Saengerbund Hall tonight, for the benefit of summer band concerts, the winners of all contests which progressed during the fair, will be announced. As an extra attraction to the list of vaudeville artists who are to appear, "Billy" Redmond has secured "Schick," the well known illusionists who is known as the "man who mystified Keller."

Miss Martha Jellig Engaged.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jellig, of 80 Wilson avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Martha Jellig, to Wm. A. Stites, of 141 Duer street. The wedding will take place on Thursday night, June 8, at the home of the bride's parents.

To Settle up Estate.

To settle the estate of Herman Quast three houses at 311, 313 and 313½ Plainfield avenue, will be sold at executor's sale, Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock sharp. P. H. LaTourette will be the auctioneer.

DR. BUCHANAN CHOSEN

Re-Elected School Physician by Borough Board.

NEED $4,000 NOW

People of North Plainfield to Vote on Suggested Appropriation on Tuesday, May 23.

By a vote of five to four at an adjourned meeting of the borough Board of Education, last night, Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan was re-elected school physician for another term. The name of one other candidate, Dr. Fred Hughes, was presented by Samuel Townsend, but though there were two aspirants, practically no discussion was held previous to action.

A few remarks were made by Mr. Valiant who declared that during his term, Dr. Buchanan had always proven his efficiency and so far as he could see nothing would be gained by making a change. The vote showed Messrs. Valiant, Needham, Cooley, Joy and McKelvey in favor of Dr. Buchanan and Townsend, Laing Woodruff and Lowe for Dr. Hughes.

Several other matters of importance were transacted, one of which was the fixing of Tuesday night, May 23, for a special meeting, during which the residents of the borough will be called upon to vote on a proposition authorizing the board to borrow and expend $4,000 for furnishing and making additional improvements to the new building. The clerk was instructed to post the notices as is customary.

Dr. J. H. Buchanan.

The matter of cross walks at Watchung and Mountain avenues, which has been in dispute, was again brought up by Mr. Townsend and it was motioned that the borough Council be requested to lay them without delay because of their need for school children attending the Watchung building. The Councilmen were asked to do this some time ago but they declared it was a matter the Board of Freeholders should attend to. Mountain avenue being under county supervision, and it was so referred. The freeholders promptly declared it out of their jurisdiction and nothing has been done. The Board is anxious that the walks be laid and will continue the agitation.

On a motion made by Mr. Cooley, Architect A. L. C. Marsh was authorized to instruct D. J. Galbraith to install the heating system in the new building, the same to cost $700. Mr. Cooley also motioned that $325 be appropriated for the purpose of enlarging and improving the laboratory of the scientific department in the present building, the members voting favorably.

Mr. Townsend made a motion that the postoffice authorities be asked to locate a mail box at Watchung and Mountain avenues and also reported that the truants were rapidly being dealt with. He has been giving the matter his personal attention for several months and through drastic measures in several instances has all but broken up the practice.

Oil Man's Will.

The will of Theodore F. VanHorn, the oil man, was filed for probate in the Surrogate's court at Somerville Saturday, by William Newcorn, counsel for the estate. The will mentions only the personal property, which is valued in the neighborhood of $3,000. His son, his daughter, and Mrs. Patience Manchester, who nursed him during his last illness, are among the legatees.

Concert at First Presbyterian.

Under the direction of Ulliers S. Braider, organist, a concert will be given at the First Presbyterian church on Thursday night. Those who will assist Mr. Braider are Miss Hortense Marie Sheldon, soprano; Miss Grace J. Carrel, contralto; Paul F. Handel, tenor; William Holmes, baritone; Miss Florence Wolfert, violinist and the Euterpean Glee Club.

INVENTOR OF TOY BALLOON IN WANT

PETER HENRY CHEVANTIER A STREET CLEANER.

Peter Henry Chevantier, who invented the rubber gas toy balloon, which has delighted countless children, is today so poor that he is compelled to live in a one-room hut on the outskirts of Westfield.

Chevantier is too proud to beg and has been known to go without food several days in cold weather. He is sixty-eight years old, and is at present working in the Street Cleaning Department of the town.

Chaventier was born in Paris. He made money out of the balloons and once had ten men selling them in New York. He fell from a train and when he recovered from his injuries his head was affected.

At one time he gave lessons in French and was an expert checker, pool and billiard player.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

Stop at the Kensington Hotel, North avenue, if you have no regular home or are a traveller in the city. Home comforts, hotel attractions.

Boice, Runyon & Co. can put in your winter supply of coal now at the lowest market price. The quality is the best and sure to give satisfaction.

Now is the time to place your order for next winter's supply of coal and Rugg & Cline, 61 West Third street, can serve you with the best quality at low prices.

No man knows a better baker than John Wirth. He does not go in for frills, but his bread and his cake and his service are all perfection. West Front street.

Who does not love fresh fish? He who does will find it at Fred Ivamy's store, West Second street. Mr. Ivamy is an expert in judging fish and is never fooled in his purchases. He sells his stock right.

Have you anything that would be better in a safe deposit vault than at home? Take it to the First National Bank. Finest vaults in the city. Accounts at the First National are in the right place. Safe from foolish finance.

When you want insurance of any kind consult E. F. Dorman, at Park and North avenues. He represents the best lines. Brokaw's dairy on East Front street is a model one and you can always get the best milk, cream, butter and eggs there.

Hill & Shupp, the West Front street dry goods merchants, have a superior line of goods for summer wear. The white goods and the dress goods department are models for choice of material and the prices will surely please you. The house furnishing goods department is filled with everything that one needs at this season of the year.

There is a patent and plain reason for the wide and ever-increasing trade that flows to the Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company stores. It is that the goods are so good, the range of stock in spices, tea and kindred groceries is so wide, the methods of doing business are so attractive and liberal that the housewife can scarcely avoid trading at them. The local store, on West Front street, is a shining example of the A. & P. system. Read its ad in another column.

Glen Summit Springs Hotel Will Open June 24th.

Announcement is made by Charles S. Lee, general passenger agent of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, that the Glen Summit Springs Hotel will, as above stated, open on June 24th. It will be under the management of J. H. Murdick, the same as last year. Under Mr. Murdick's management the hotel has met with deserved success, and with the improvements made last year at the hotel, it is now more delightful than ever before. 5 2 2 eaw

SPORTING NEWS.

DIAMOND DUST.

Linderman pitching for Perth Amboy defeated Poughkeepsie Sunday by the score of 9 to 0. Linderman allowed but two hits.

The Hopewell Baseball Club, of which Edward Golden, night telegraph operator at the Western Union, is the manager, opened its season Saturday.

The Philadelphia Giants defeated the Manhattans, with Waller in the box Sunday by the score of 6 to 0. The colored champions hit Waller in lively fashion.

It is estimated that nearly two hundred persons saw the opening game between Plainfield and Jersey City without paying. Saturday this extra number paid admission.

The new score board could not be used Saturday owing to its height. No means had been provided for reaching the board to place the score thereon. Next Saturday a step-ladder will be used.

The Crescent A. C. defeated the Summit A. C., Saturday afternoon by the score of 20 to 13. Dunavan and Force formed the battery for the winning team and Day and Remsen for Summit A. C.

Dave Lamar's team, the Cuban X Giants, will be the opponents of the Plainfield nine on Saturday. This team defeated the Philadelphia Giants in a series of contests and is rated equally as fast by many.

Although Nat Strong has written the local management about a game with the Murray Hills, it is not definitely decided whether such a contest will be arranged. The Murray Hill team will represent the Orange A. C. this season. Tyler and O'Neil will be the battery after the former concludes this season with the Columbia University team.

It will be of interest to the baseball fans to know that "Willie" Deegan, who is now a member of the Hoboken Club, and who will pitch on Sundays for the team, is learning to talk with good success. Although he is obliged to talk very slow, he has little difficulty in making himself understood. He now resents the statement that he is a "mute pitcher." He was an interesting figure at the oval on Saturday for a majority had never seen him before.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

The State trophy bowling competition continued at Saengerbund Hall, Saturday night, the Triangles defeating the Mountainsides, 657 to 616. Scotch Plains now leads in the contest with a percentage of 714.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. J. A. Chambliss, who has been in the South for some time past visiting relatives, and who sustained an injury while away, is rapidly convalescing. She is expected to return home within a short time.

Mrs. Margerum and daughter, Miss Cora Margerum, of Princeton, who have been visiting relatives in East Third street, have returned home. They will soon leave for South Dakota, where they expect to remain for some time.

Salvation Brass Band Here.

The National Staff Band of the Salvation Army, under the direction of Major Sheppard, of Newark, a musical entertainment was given at Reform Hall Saturday night. An open air meeting was held Sunday morning in front of the Hotel Kensington and at 11 o'clock services were held at Reform Hall. In the afternoon at 4 o'clock the band assisted in the services at the Y. M. C. A., and the last service was held at 8 o'clock Sunday night in Reform Hall.

JOY LINER WRECKED

Steamer Aransas, En Route to Boston, In Collision.

MISS ANNIE FIELD THE ONLY VICTIM

Bravery of Mate Crocker and Crew Saved the Passengers—Many Clung to Fore Masthead, Which Remained Above Water.

BOSTON, May 8.—It is believed here that Miss Annie Field, the girl who was reported missing after the sinking of the Joy line steamer Aransas, was a deliberate suicide.

Relatives of the girl say that she had been trying to commit suicide in various ways several times in the past three weeks.

The Boston papers are printing stories to the effect that the woman did not try to save herself when the collision occurred, but resisted efforts to rescue her and deliberately allowed herself to drown.

With the arrival at Vineyard Haven of the tug Patience came news here of one of the most remarkable marine disasters in the history of Vineyard sound shipping.

The Joy line steamer Aransas, bound from Boston for New York, was struck by the coal laden barge Glendower, in tow from Philadelphia for Boston, and sunk less than fifteen minutes later, but out of thirty-seven passengers and a crew of twenty-nine on the steamer, most of whom were asleep at the time of the collision, only one life was lost.

The scene of the collision was about a mile and a half southeast of Pollock Rip shoals lightship. The accident happened at 1:30 o'clock in the morning and at a point only thirty-three miles distant from Vineyard Haven and was caused by the thick fog which prevailed.

Mate Crocker was the hero of the occasion, getting the passengers and most of the crew into the lifeboats until these were filled. He remained on board with six men, four of them passengers, while the boats were putting some of their load on the barges. Before this could be done the Aransas sank, but Mate Crocker got the men to the fore masthead, which remained out of water, and all escaped.

The Aransas, Captain Rood in command, left Boston at 5:05 o'clock in the afternoon, and when a mile and a half from the Pollock Rip shoals lightship the tug Patience, with a tow of three Reading railroad barges, loomed up through the fog. The tug cleared the Aransas and the barges Franklin and Pine Forest, but the barge Glendower struck the steamer amidships on the starboard side opposite the engines, tearing open a great hole, through which the sea poured like a cataract. The Glendower was uninjured by the collision.

The engine room and fire room of the Aransas were quickly flooded, and some of the firemen barely escaped being caught by the torrents of water that rushed through the great hole in the steamer's side. It was seen at once that the steamer was sinking, and orders to lower the boats were given.

Among the passengers were five women and one child. All were saved, with the exception of Miss Field. Few of the passengers saved anything except their clothing and small hand baggage, so rapidly did the steamer fill with water and sink.

Confessed He Wrecked Bank.

WAVERLY, Mo., May 9.—Investigation by state auditors into an alleged shortage in the funds of the Middleton bank has revealed a note signed by Cashier E. H. Lewis in which, referring to Assistant Cashier Warner, Lewis wrote: "You must not accuse Mr. Warner of wrecking this bank. He had nothing to do with it. I did it all myself." The note was found in Lewis' private box. The police have been searching for Lewis since April 24, but have not found a clew. The auditors state that $62,000 is missing.

Open Verdict In Hart Case.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 9.—The report of the coroner's inquest into the death of John A. Hart of this city, who was killed in his stateroom on board the Joy line steamer Larchmont on a trip of the vessel from New York to this city, was filed, the coroner finding that Hart came to his death as the result of a gunshot wound in the head caused by the act or neglect of a person or persons unknown.

Fares Down Nearly 100 Per Cent.

CHICAGO, May 9.—The Illinois Central railroad announced a reduction of nearly 100 per cent in passenger fare between Chicago and Kankakee, Decatur and Bloomington. The object is to meet the competition of the interurban trolleys. The trains are to consist of an engine and passenger coach, no baggage to be carried, and stops are to be made not only at regular stations, but at crossroads.

Arlington Bank Fails.

RUSHVILLE, Ind., May 9.—The private bank which for the last eighteen months has been operated at Arlington by Horace Goodrich as president and Oliver Jones as cashier has closed. The failure is thought to be due to the fact that the bank with its limited capacity overreached its mark in making loans.

Garfield Left For Washington.

BEAUMONT, Tex., May 9.—James R. Garfield, commissioner of corporations of the department of commerce and labor, has arrived to investigate conditions in the oil fields here. Mr. Garfield left last night for Washington, from where he has been absent eight weeks.

DENVER'S WELCOME

Capital of Silver State Gives President Royal Reception.

LEFT FOR CHICAGO THIS MORNING.

Crowning Event Was Chamber of Commerce Banquet—All Towns Along Route Gave Evidence of Hearty Good Will.

DENVER, May 9.—President Roosevelt left here this morning in the private car Rocket by special train for Chicago.

The entertainment of President Roosevelt by the citizens of Denver last night was a fitting conclusion to a royal welcome here as he journeyed through Colorado from Glenwood Springs. All the towns along the Denver and Rio Grande railroad, over which the presidential party traveled, centered their population at the stations to greet the president, and every evidence of hearty good will was seen and heard.

The crowning event of the day came in the form of a banquet tendered to President Roosevelt by the Denver chamber of commerce at the Brown Palace hotel. It was a sumptuous affair, and the president was visibly pleased by the picture that unfolded itself to his eyes as he entered the banquet hall. Everything known to the decorator's art was called into use to embellish the commodious banquet hall. Tricolored streamers and shields interspersed with pictures of the president framed in flags almost hid the walls, and on the tables American Beauty roses added color to the scene. Hothouse plants were liberally distributed throughout the hall, tending an effective green. The menu was elaborate. Throughout the service of the courses stringed instruments blended in beautiful melody. The banquet continued until 11 o'clock, when the president was escorted to the private car Rocket, where he almost immediately retired.

At Salida, en route, the president, making a brief speech, said:

"I cannot say how I have enjoyed being in Colorado again. It has been the first three weeks' holiday I have had since I have been president, and I suppose it will be the last, and I have enjoyed it to the full.

"In greeting you let me say a word or two of special acknowledgement to the veterans of the civil war and to say how glad I am wherever I go to be greeted by the men to whom we owe it that we have a country to be proud of at all. Then let me say a special word of greeting to those at the other end of the line—to the small people. I have been particularly pleased coming through Colorado to see the care you are taking with your schools in the education of the children who will control the destiny of this state when we, who are now in our prime, shall have passed from the stage. I congratulate you upon your marvelous material prosperity. I congratulate you still more on the pains you are taking to educate the citizenship of the future, to educate the boys and girls who will be the men and women twenty years hence who will be controlling the destiny of this state. For important though material prosperity is there is this thing that is far more important, and that is the character of the individual citizen."

THOUSANDS FIGHT BLAZE.

Forest Fires Extending Six Miles Threaten Massachusetts Towns.

PLYMOUTH, Mass., May 9. — One thousand men, including trained firemen, paid laborers and volunteers who were fighting for their own and their neighbors' homes, struggled last night with the forest fire which started near here four days ago, had extended into four towns and, shifting frequently with the wind, threatened first one settlement and then another.

The front of the fire has extended for two miles, while its side lines reached six miles in the rear. It had laid waste seventy-five square miles and is by no means under control. Nothing but a soaking rain would, the fire fighters say, permanently stay the progress of the flames. The land burned over included valuable tracts of standing timber and thousands of cords of cut wood.

A northeast wind that early saved Rocky Nook, a settlement in the eastern part of Kingston, turned the flames backward, driving them again through Kingston into the town of Carver. At noon the wind changed to southwest, and the fire turned again, finally encircling Indian Pond, between the towns of Kingston and Plympton, and reaching to the very doorsteps of the hundred homes at Indian Pond village. Here the hardest battle of the day was fought. The villagers had removed their household goods and prepared for flight. An hour's work, however, saved the houses, though the lawns about them had in the meantime been burned black.

Plainfield, N. J., May 9, 1905.

Plainfield is honored in having the convention of the Diocese of New Jersey held here. The clergy and laity assembled together today represent a great body in the Episcopal church in America and are important factors in promoting the spread of Christian religion. A hearty welcome to them all!

North Plainfield's Board of Education has proven to the people of the borough that it is not in politics. It has done so by reappointing Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan as school physician. The present incumbent has shown that he is in everyway qualified to fill the position and has rendered very valuable service during the time he has occupied the office.

TROLLEY LOOP FIGHT SETS DUNELLEN AGOG

BELIEVED THAT CHESTNUT STREET WILL BE THE TERMINUS.

Anxious to use the new "single-end" cars on the main line as soon as possible, the P. S. C. has, according to statements from a source regarded as impeachable, decided to meet the demand for the location of the trolley loop in Dunellen at Gallagher's corner half way. There is every reason to believe that the loop will be placed at Chestnut street, which is considerably beyond the present terminus in the center of the borough, although not as far as the west enders would have liked. This arrangement, however, is satisfactory to Howard K. Bird and the other leaders in the movement for a terminus shift, and opposition to the loop will cease from that quarter if the company plans to install it at that point.

To the merchants and the residents of the borough's center the proposed compromise is as distasteful as the original proposition to put the loop at Gallagher's corner.

Councilmanic permission is necessary before the corporation can put its loop anywhere in the borough and a warm discussion will probably mark the meeting at which the question comes up, as those who want the loop in the center of the borough are understood to have made their minds up to fight any other plan on the floor of the Council.

Unless the two warring factions of boroughites get together, the borough may lose the terminus altogether. It is not improbable that the Council, torn between the arguments and threats of the opposing camps, may seek to avoid arousing enmity by refusing to grant the company permission to lay loop tracks over the sidewalk anywhere in the borough. Col. Hine, the chief of the P. S. C. traffic department, is reported to have said that if the borough refuses the company permission to cross the walk, the terminus will be shifted to the Rock avenue switch. In the event of such a change the disciplinary effect on the boroughites would be very great. The Bound Brook cars, on which the Dunellen patrons would then have to depend for transfer from Plainfield into the borough, run only at half-hourly intervals. The annoyance they would suffer is easy to be seen.

Col. Hine and Superintendent Brown, head of the Plainfield division, talked over the loop matter with Mr. Bird last week. It is believed that Col. Hine's compromise plan would be accepted by the "center-of-towners," who now demand "a loop at Apgar's hall or nowhere," if the Colonel could present it to them as clearly as he did to Mr. Bird. Probably the Colonel will take occasion to speak on it at the Council meeting at which the question of a franchise is broached.

P. H. S. SCRUBS WIN A PENNANT SERIES

DEFEAT THE WHITTIER SCHOOL NINE TWO OUT OF THREE GAMES.

By defeating the Whittier School nine yesterday decisively, the Plainfield High School scrub nine won the series of the best out of three games for the pennant offered by Kenneth Kobbie, boys' secretary of the Y. M. C. A. The game was interesting during the first few innings during which period the Whittier lads piled up five runs to the scrubs' nothing. But this was the end of their fun for in the fifth inning, Russell replaced Bogart in the box for the scrubs and he held his opponents well in hand for the remainder of the game. The scrubs started things a-going in the fourth inning and during the three following innings piled up fourteen runs, thereby winning the game.

The Whittiers tallied a run in the eighth inning, making the final score 14 to 7 in favor of the scrubs. The High School scrubs hit hard with men on base and this was the cause of the Whittiers' downfall. Jahn and Mosher for the scrubs and Harding for Whittier easily excelled in all-around playing. Lineup:

Whittier—Harding, p; C. Loizeaux, c; Pollard and Loughlin, 1b; Smalley and Woodhull, 2b; VanZandt, 3b; Randleph, ss; Westphal, lf; Rittenhouse and Alpaugh, cf; Pollard and Loughlin, rf.

SUBURBANS WIN; 6 PINS TO THE GOOD

STATE TROPHY CONTEST STILL CONTINUES.

Continuing the bowling tourney for the Gesang and Turn Verein State trophy, the Fanwood Suburbans and the Y. M. C. A.'s, Business Men's team met on the Saengerbund alleys last night. The former won by a margin of six pins, the local men bowling in poor shape with the exception of Frank Blatz, though he was below his average. The scores were as follows:

Suburbans.		Y.M.C.A. Business Men
M. Stewart	169	Voehl	139
Day	139	Neal	120
Gahagin	121	Blatz	149
Sheelen	147	Wirth	139
A. Stewart	117	Rummel	140
	693		687

The individual tourney resulted in the following prizes being awarded: Silver Cake basket and live goose, John Wirth; dress suit case, Harry Bowkett; filled fancy flower and fruit basket, Howard Woolston. George Voehl, of this city, and Joseph Alberts, of Scotch Plains, tied for a handsome parlor gas lamp, each getting fifty-seven out of a possible sixty pins. They will roll off the tie Saturday night.

The bowling last night was followed by a dance, the committee in charge being Adolph Barre, John Wirth, Charles F. Meyer, Jr., John Retzer, Anton Stenzenberger, Rudolph Spiegel and William Mahley.

RACE OF WARSHIPS

Ocean Contest Developed Many Weaknesses.

NOT A SINGLE VESSEL UNINJURED

Never In History of United States Navy Has There Been Such a Trial Between Ships of an Armored Fighting Fleet.

NEW YORK, May 9.—News of a remarkable ocean race, in which seven United States battleships took part, was brought to this port by the battleship Alabama, which has arrived in command of Rear Admiral Charles H. Davis and will go to the navy yard to be overhauled because of the poor showing which she made in the contest.

In his squadron were the Missouri, Kentucky, Maine, Kearsarge, Iowa, Alabama and Massachusetts.

The race began at 10 o'clock in the morning and ended at 6 o'clock in the evening, a wireless "quit" signal going out from the Alabama, which was then miles in the rear of the nearest competitor.

During the eight hours that the race lasted the Atlantic ocean was churned as it has not been churned by Uncle Sam's fighting ships in many years. For awhile it was nip and tuck between the faster ships, but gradually the giant Missouri drew away from the rest, and when the "quit" signal came she was only seventy-three and a half miles south of Cape Henry, having covered 126½ miles in the eight hours.

Not in the history of the United States navy has there been such a race between ocean going armored vessels. Until the signal for it was given from the Alabama not an officer on any of the ships knew that Admiral Davis contemplated such a severe test, and the result was that not a single vessel came out without some injury. The other vessels in the race went to Hampton Roads for repairs, but the Alabama came on here.

The start was made promptly at 10 o'clock, when the fleet was 200 miles south of Cape Henry. It was nip and tuck for awhile, and excitement ran high on all of the vessels as the men began to realize what it meant. Officially the contest was known as a speed test, but it was just a plain every day race, and the men got into the spirit of it without loss of time.

At the start the vessels were almost abreast, and they remained close to each other for the first two hours. Then the Massachusetts and Alabama began to fall behind. In the case of the Massachusetts this was not so surprising, as she has never been much of a speed vessel, but those on the Alabama were dumfounded, as she is one of the fastest battleships in the navy. There didn't seem to be anything the matter with her, yet as the miles were reeled off she fell further and further behind and at the finish was a mile and a half behind the Massachusetts, the most notorious poke of them all.

WASHINGTON DUKE DEAD.

Head of Tobacco Trust Passed Away at Durham, N. C.

DURHAM, N. C., May 9.—Washington Duke, the millionaire tobacco manufacturer and founder of what is now the American Tobacco company, died at his residence here yesterday afternoon, after a protracted illness, at the age of eighty-four years.

Some months ago Mr. Duke fell and broke a limb and since that time had been confined to his room. His death was hastened by a complication of ailments. With him when he died were his three sons, Brodie L. Duke of Durham, J. B. Duke, president of the American Tobacco company of New York, and B. N. Duke, also of New York.

The career of Washington Duke is remarkable in that he and his three sons rose from poverty to the possession of fortunes estimated at several millions of dollars each within a period of some forty years. They began with the manufacture of tobacco in a small way in the country near Durham, where he was born. Some years ago his plant went into the American Tobacco company, J. B. Duke becoming president of the new company.

Mr. Duke retired from business several years ago on account of his advanced age and has spent his time at home here. He was largely interested in Trinity college, the Methodist institution here, and together with his sons has given it nearly a million dollars. The funeral will take place here tomorrow.

Runaway Car In Fatal Smash.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 9. — A heavily loaded gravel car on the street railway here became unmanageable and ran away down a steep hill, colliding with several vehicles. John Chenault, an occupant of one of the vehicles, was instantly killed and D. H. Campbell, the motorman of the runaway car, was probably fatally hurt. Bud Morgan, who was in one of the wagons, was badly hurt.

King Edward Led the Applause.

LONDON, May 9.—King Edward and suit occupied the royal box at the Lyric theater last night witnessing Maxine Elliott's performance in "Her Own Way." The house was packed. His majesty led the applause throughout the evening.

Drowned In Ballston Lake.

BALLSTON, N. Y., May 9.—John Kidday was drowned in Ballston lake by the capsizing of a boat while he and Michael Burke were attempting to change seats. Burke reached shore after vainly attempting to rescue his companion.

WILD MINT WON THE CROTONA.

First Three Horses Under a Terrific Drive at Belmont Park.

NEW YORK, May 9.—Wild Mint, with Burns up, won the Crotona handicap, run over the six furlongs straightway course at Belmont park. Spring, a long shot, was second and Sparkling Star third. The first three horses were under a terrific drive through the last eighth and finished in the order named heads apart.

Merry Lark, an added starter in this race, who was running a good race, fell near the finish. L. Smith, his rider, escaped injury. Trapper, also a starter in the Crotona handicap, was kicked in the leg while at the post by King Pepper. His leg was broken, and he was ater destroyed. Summaries:

First Race.—Battleax, first; Don Diego, second; Voorhees, third.

Second Race.—Astronomer, first; Mintla, second; Veribest, third.

Third Race.—Prince Hamburg, first; Migraine, second; Sprakers, third.

Fourth Race.—Wild Mint, first; Spring, second; Sparkling Star, third.

MODES IN FROCKS.

Sleeves Growing Smaller—Pointed Bodices Dominate All Gowns.

Sleeves are growing smaller—that is, smaller than they have been for the last two or three seasons. A few of the great dressmakers are even trying to launch a sleeve so tight that it recalls the Jersey sleeves of long ago. The leg of mutton size seems to be a good medium style.

The really short sleeve does not end at the elbow, but a few inches either above or below this point. The majority of these sleeves are gathered at the top and again into a band at the elbow, which is of lace or embroidery or finished in a variety of different ways.

The dominating idea of all the smart frocks is the pointed bodice. This pointed effect is not achieved on the best models with a girdle or belt, but is part of the waist itself.

The pointed bodice is built on a fitted and boned lining having high darts. The material is then draped on in some becoming fashion and folded over the long, sharp point in front, which is edged with a stitched band of the material or a contrasting fabric put on as a facing, but no belt is in evidence.

The gown in the cut is of blue voile embroidered in tiny spots. The full gathered skirt is trimmed with three rows of ocher venise lace put on in shawl fashion. The bodice is one of the new pointed affairs, the voile being swathed across the figure in a graceful way from a pointed yoke formed of entre deux of lace and mousseline de sole.

FACTS AND FANCIES.

Lozenge Shaped Trimmings—Fruit Red a Smart Summer Color.

Lozenge shaped trimmings are very swagger made of a contrasting material from that used for the gown. These links are trimmed round with braid or applied with fancy stitches. Between tucks at the bottom of a skirt they are effective.

Red—a bright fruit red—is to be seen everywhere in the sartorial kingdom this season. Whole evening gowns are made of it, coaching parasols blossom out in its vivid coloring, and whole hats adorned with dyed lace to match are built from the alluring shade.

A deep blue combined with mauve is a smart contrast.

Very pretty are some of the new hats in leaf green shirred tulle. They are usually of the large variety and turn abruptly up in front and are trimmed on top with a paradise aigret of yellow and brown.

Broadcloth is appliqued on many of the smart voile gowns, the cloth in turn being covered with a design in lace.

A new rendering of a familiar material is called undulated voile. It is accomplished by a wonderful mesh done in a single color, with the thread woven in dots on a lace background. Then there is a radium voile, which is a mingling of blue, green and violet woven in such a way that the colors blend to a single shade that darkens in the hollow of the folds.

The summer hat shown in the picture is of silver green straw. The pretty upturned brim is lined with mousseline de sole of the same shade. The dented crown has a band of deep green velvet, which throws into relief the wreath of shaded roses.

HOME FLOWERS.

They Gratify and Develop the Sense of the Beautiful.

Few murderers or desperate criminals ever go out from homes where the people are gentle mannered and the surroundings refined and inviting. Flowers in and around a home do not get half the credit they deserve as a civilizing agent.

The very humblest cottage in all this land, if it have a tiny patch of ground about it, may be made the center of a bower of beauty. No time to raise flowers? If you notice you will find that the hardest worked mothers you know often have the loveliest flowers about their cottages. Does any of her sex toil more or longer than the German peasant woman who comes to our country to rear her children among our pushing, get there race? It is better and more healthful to let fancy work and stitching go undone and work in the soft, rich earth outdoors.

So let us clear away the ash heaps and winter debris that cumber our back yards and plant flowers. The ash heaps make admirable compost for roses. Begin with a few choice hardy varieties of these. Have you an unsightly shed or corner of your house that you wish to cover from view? Plant beneath it the glorious Crimson Rambler rose. It is so splendid that no words can do justice to it in the days of its richest bloom. I have many a time stood in silence before it, drinking in its beauty in a sort of rapture. It is a climber and runner and will quickly cover everything unsightly. One plant often grows from ten to twenty feet a year.

The Crimson Rambler does not bloom more than a month in early summer. It simply gathers itself together and pours out all the fullness of its richness with one impulse; then it gives us during the rest of the season the shade of a graceful leafy climber, and that too, is attractive. Numbers of hardy garden roses, however, do blossom all summer long and till late in autumn. Of these some of the most reliable are the well known Gloire de Dijon, rose salmon in color; General Jacqueminot, deep crimon; American Beauty, deep pink; La France, pink; Safrano, yellow. The roots of rose plants should be set nine inches below the ground surface, the earth about them tramped firmly and the plants themselves well watered evening or morning.

A "rockery" greatly enhances the beauty of a dooryard. It can be merely a pyramid of rough stones with rich earth in the crevices among them and a saucer shaped hollow in the top affording a tiny bed for pinks, verbenas or asters. A nasturtium rockery is one of the handsomest and most brilliant. In piling the stones in the beginning leave wide cracks here and there for flower seed. Fill these with loam from the woods if you can get it, then sprinkle it with mixed nasturtium seed, lightly covering them with the earth.

Next after the Crimson Rambler rose nothing is more satisfying to the sense of beauty in color than the vivid, burning bright nasturtium.

A clump of scarlet geraniums is a thing of beauty all summer long. For fragrance and prettiness both there is mignonette, which may be planted in a deep crevice in the rockery too. It is rather the fashion now to neglect and underrate the rose geranium which our mothers valued so highly, yet for green and for pleasant odor in a bouquet it has never been excelled. It grows in great clumps outdoors and ought to have place in our garden.

Sweet peas are easily grown and yield great return in loveliness as well as in their faint, delicate perfume. A little later come the brilliant phloxes and the summer asters, also easily grown from the seed. Later yet, even till after frost, the chrysanthemum sheds its brightness and blessing on the earth. If the buds of a chrysanthemum are nipped off as they form in summer and the plant kept back it can be potted in September and brought into the house when frost comes, where in a sunny window it can be made to bloom at Christmas time.

Earliest to greet us in spring are the bulbs, daffodils, jonquils and narcissuses. These, likewise tulip bulbs, should be planted in the earth in autumn, taking root and then resting till March and April. Pansies are approved home beauties, too, but to make them bloom early the seed should be sown in the late winter in window boxes or in cold frames and the young sprouts transplanted into the garden bed. If you have shaded spots where little sunshine comes, remember the ferns—just the wildwood ferns that live from year to year and need only room to grow and a little enriching of the soil.

Lastly, no dooryard effect is perfect without its spaces of smooth green grass. MARY ELIZABETH HART.

HOCH GAVE HER A POWDER.

Latest Addition to "Bluebeard's" List of Wives Testifies.

CHICAGO, May 9. — Mrs. Fisher-Hoch, the latest wife of Johann Hoch, has testified against him here. She narrated in detail the flirtations carried on by Hoch with her while Mrs. Welcker-Hoch, her sister, lay dead. The witness told of Hoch's giving her his photograph and asking that she give him her picture in return, saying that he was going to wear it next to his breast.

"He told me," said the witness, "that I should stick to him and I would be a lucky woman. He said he had heard that I was a good business woman, and he told me that he was a good business man. He promised to stick to me if I would stick to him."

"What reply did you make?" asked Assistant State Attorney Olsen.

"I reminded him that my sister was not yet buried and that her body was at that moment lying in the front parlor and that it was no time for him to talk to me in that manner. He declared that the dead was for the dead and the living for the living and that his talking to me at that time didn't make any difference."

Mrs. Fischer concluded her testimony for the day by stating that she had seen Hoch giving her sister a light colored powder in some water two days before her death.

MRS. SLAVIN'S MONEY.

Aged Couple Called and Restored the Lost Cash Without a Word.

NEW YORK, May 9.—Mrs. Mary Slavin, a Williamsburg woman who has been almost crazed for a week because of the loss of her life savings, amounting to $8,500, had her missing money restored to her so mysteriously that she is scarcely able to believe her good fortune.

An aged man and woman called at Mrs. Slavin's home and were met at the door by her daughter.

"Is this where Mrs. Mary Slavin, who lost her money, lives?" the woman asked.

Miss Slavin answered in the affirmative, and without another word the woman placed an envelope containing the $8,500 in the girl's hand and disappeared with the man before the surprised girl realized what had happened or was able to ask the names of the people.

Mrs. Slavin lost her money last week while carrying it in an envelope to deposit it in a bank. It was restored to her in its original envelope and had apparently not been touched by the finders.

HER FREEDOM DELAYED.

Nan Patterson May Have to Remain a Week Longer In Tombs.

NEW YORK, May 9.—Nan Patterson's future is still uncertain. Bail has been provided for her, but District Attorney Jerome has not yet decided what action he will take in her case.

After a long conference with Mr. Jerome and his assistant, Mr. Rand, Miss Patterson's counsel was compelled to bear to the girl in the Tombs the disappointing news that she may have to remain in prison for at least a week longer.

The prisoner bore the announcement with fortitude, although she had been led to believe that she might be granted her freedom today.

At least two bondsmen are said to be ready to give bail in any reasonable amount, and counsel for Miss Patterson say the surety will be provided without delay as soon as the district attorney expresses a willingness to accept it.

HAVE FIVE CROPS A YEAR.

Michigan Man in Texas Finds That Great Things Are Located in Southern Soil.

The hardest worked agent that nature employs is Mother Earth, according to some facts that agriculturists have brought out, says the Chicago Tribune. Not long ago a Michigan man went down into Texas and bought some land, on which he has gathered five crops in one year. He raised three crops of potatoes, one of cotton and one of hay, all on the same land. The same man is helping to transplant the big Michigan peach business in Texas. He has recently set out 40 acres of one kind of peaches, not because they have the finest flavor, but because they have the looks that sell them. They are long keepers, and can stand a long shipment. Some of this variety of peaches, the Elberta, have already found a market in Europe, where they land in good condition. But to go back to the hard work that many soils are being subjected to, a strawberry man at Rockford has bred a strawberry plant from which he raises several crops a year. Last year he marketed strawberries up into October and November, and no one is now able to see the end. To-day the subject of soils is receiving a great deal of attention from most of the agricultural colleges, and some of it is being carried around the country in special cars for the purpose of enlightening people as to the character of different kinds.

ENGLISH MAY BE UNIVERSAL

Language in Time Will Probably Occupy Place Filled by Latin and French.

Is English destined to be the international language of the future—thus succeeding to the place occupied in previous ages by Latin and French? It is perhaps significant of much in the future, and it is certainly interesting for the present, that the international commission of inquiry, though appointing a French president and meeting in Paris, decided to adopt the English language for its deliberations. The commission is composed, it will be remembered, of an American, an Austrian, an Englishman, a Frenchman and a Russian. From one point of view it may be said that the majority thus agree to adopt the language of the minority, but then, the majority of three have three different languages, whereas the minority of two speak the same language. The first occasion, if we remember right, when English was adopted in the same way as now was at the Berlin conference of 1889 on the Samoan congress; and in that case also it was probably the presence of the United States representative that decided the matter. With the growth of the United States as a "world power" the tendency is likely to spread; in this matter England and the United States between them are perhaps destined to make English conquer the world.

CIRCUS PARADE IS DOOMED

Costs a Large Amount of Money and Doesn't Bring Trade, Says a Circus Man.

Charles Thayer, a circus man, chatted about the business of the sawdust ring and its accompanying aggregation of mastodonic wonders. He said among other things: "It isn't going to be many years before the street parade will be a thing of the past. It costs a circus more money to carry tableau wagons and keep them burnished bright than it does to carry a whole zoo. The circus arrives at a town after a long haul, has to get its stuff out to the ground, put up the tent and get ready for the afternoon performance and give a street parade besides. If it were not for the parade there would be plenty of time to get things in good shape and the men would not have to work nearly so hard. Then, too, the parade doesn't draw any business. It's simply a custom inaugurated years ago and still followed. Mark what I tell you, it won't be five years until circus parades are abolished, and the result will be that the money spent for parades can be put in ring acts, and the public will get a better circus."

Rare Case in Court.

A singularly rare case under the law of universal military service is engaging the attention of the French war office and of the public. It is that of three triplets brothers, among them the mainstay of a very poor family of eight other children and their mother, who are swept at one stroke from the workshop to the barracks. One is a mason, one a painter and one an agricultural laborer. Another point arises as to which should be exempt, if legal excuse is extended to any. Even their own mother is ignorant which of the three saw daylight first, and it is quite impossible to say which is the eldest and which the youngest.

Penalty for Hari Kari.

Baron Suyematsu mentions in his articles in the Nineteenth Century that, while Japanese ladies never committed hari kari, the honorable equivalent was death by a stab in the neck from her own dirk, a weapon which she generally carried in her girdle to be used in time of need. Where a Roman dame would in ancient times have plunged her dagger into her own heart, a Japanese heroine preferred to thrust the weapon into her neck. Still there is no record of either male or female in Japan ending existence in the fashion that is so often depicted in western novels, and less frequently, perhaps, in real life.

Fishermen Strike.

Indian fishermen to the number of 500 on the Skeena river, British Columbia, are on strike for ten cents a fish, the canneries refusing to give more than eight and one-half cents. Indian women have also refused to work in the canneries unless the demand of the strikers is met.

ROJESTVENSKY WARNED.

French Admiral Gave Russia's Pacific Squadron Orders to Leave.

LONDON, May 9.—St. Petersburg dispatches say that, according to dispatches to the admiralty brought to Saigon by the hospital ship Kostroma, the junction of Vice Admirals Rojestvensky and Nebogatoff is an accomplished fact. The admiralty professes ignorance of the present location of the united squadrons, but in view of the long and uninterrupted voyage of Nebogatoff's division it is believed his ships will spend some time in sheltered waters of the Chinese sea near the coast, but outside the three mile limit, in order to complete final recoaling and other preparations before setting out on the last and crucial stage of the voyage.

Admiral Rojestvensky's squadron has been found by Admiral de Jonquiere's scouts in the neighborhood of a bay southward of Honkohe bay, coast of Anam. Rojestvensky was warned and said he would leave immediately.

Verbal communications have passed between the British and French foreign offices concerning the alleged toleration by France of breaches of neutrality on the part of the Russian warships in the far east. This was practically admitted at the foreign office, but the officials declined to enter into details on the subject.

It is said Foreign Secretary Lansdowne communicated with the French ambassador in London and to the French foreign office through the British ambassador at Paris.

A Singapore report says that Vice Admiral Togo's fleet is concentrating in the Korean channel and that a portion of the Japanese navy is watching Vladivostok.

Japanese Rule In Korea.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Minister Allen reports to the state department from Seoul that by arrangement between the Korean foreign office and the Japanese minister resident the Japanese government has taken over the Korean bureau of communications, posts and telegrams.

PLOT TO OVERTHROW LOUBET.

French Army Officers Accused of Hostile Movement Against Republic.

PARIS, May 9.—Five prisoners, including Captains Tamburina and Volpert, were before the police court here charged with plotting a conspiracy against the state and having in their possession military equipment and ammunition. Several officers testified that Captain Tamburina had proposed the seizure of President Loubet and the ministers, the palace of the Elysee and other public buildings.

The accused denied the statement, saying it was merely a friendly conversation between brother officers who had displayed indignation against the system of secret reports, one of the officers advancing the propositions, not seriously, but as an argument, as a capital way of showing disapproval of the system. The reason for possession of uniforms and ammunition, the accused claimed, was the foundation of a colonial enterprise.

It has been alleged that Captain Tamburina, who is a retired army officer, approached several officers at Rochefort with a proposition to engage in a movement hostile to the French government. He is said to have represented that ample pecuniary means had been placed at his disposal and showed a pocketbook filled with bank notes. One of the officers approached gave information to the authorities, and a charge of violation of the betting law was laid against Captain Tamburina, that accusation enabling the police to make a domiciliary search at his home.

This search disclosed 500 military uniforms, and thereupon the charge against Captain Tamburina was changed to illegal possession of state property and munitions of war.

Several names have been mentioned in connection with the alleged conspiracy, among them those of Princes Victor and Jerome Napoleon, but so far as known there is nothing to establish their knowledge of a plot against the republic.

Saybrook Bridge Sinking.

SAYBROOK, Conn., May 9.—The west span of the double track drawbridge of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad over the Connecticut river at this point was found to be lower than the draw, and all traffic over the bridge is held up. A diver found that the abutments were sinking, and as a result Superintendent of Bridges Sharpe of New London issued orders to allow no trains over it.

Prince George Unable to Control.

ROME, May 9.—Reports from the island of Crete represent the situation there as extremely grave. Prince George, representing the powers, is unable to control events, and it is feared that the insurgents will attack the international troops. The Italian government has ordered some ships of the reserve squadron at Taranto to be in readiness to leave at a moment's notice.

Parents Accused of Child Murder.

RICHMOND, Va., May 9.—After twice fighting for an immediate preliminary hearing of Shepherd K. Smith of Manchester, Va., who is charged with being implicated with his wife in the alleged murder of their six-year-old son, Commonwealth's Attorney Page sprang a surprise by asking for a continuance of the case until Saturday.

Newport Chief of Police Dead.

NEW YORK, May 9.—Benjamin H. Richards, chief of police of Newport, R. I., died last night in the private hospital of Dr. William T. Bull of peritonitis following a surgical operation performed on Thursday. Chief Richards was forty-five years of age.

HOD CARRIERS ARE STILL OUT ON STRIKE

UNION VOTED LAST NIGHT TO REMAIN FIRM FOR HIGHER WAGES.

The Hod-Carriers' Union at a meeting in Trades Council hall last night decided not to order the men back to work until the demand for an increase from $2.50 to $2.75 a day is granted. There is practically no change in the situation today, the bosses making no overtures for peace. It is alleged by the journeymen that the men who came to town to work yesterday joined the union last night and quit.

Another report is that same of the bosses have hired Italians at $1.25 a day to take the strikers' places. The union will hold another meeting tonight.

COUNTY W. C. T. U. IN SESSION TODAY

MEETINGS BEING HELD IN SCOTCH PLAINS BAPTIST CHURCH.

The Union County Women's Christian Temperance Union Institute convened in the Scotch Plains Baptist church at 10 o'clock this morning, with a large number of delegates present from this city and other parts of the county. Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson, of this city, county president, is presiding.

The programme opened with devotions conducted by Mrs. M. Winter, of this city. Rev. T. Moore Smith, pastor of the church, and Mrs. J. Z. Hatfield extended greetings to the delegates and Mrs. M. F. Francis, of Elizabeth, on behalf of the Union, responded.

Then followed the appointment of committees, the report of the executive committee and the following papers: "Why Should We Have the Curfew Law?" Mrs. Elizabeth A. Parse, Plainfield; "Anti-Narcotics," Mrs. C. W. Scott, of Elizabeth, and "Christian Citizenship," Mrs. M. V. Fuller, of Rahway.

At 11:30 Mrs. Emma Bourne, of Newark, State president, conducted a Bible reading and after the noon-tide prayer, adjournment was taken for lunch. At 1 o'clock the executive committee met and at 2 o'clock the afternoon session began. The Institute will close tonight with a gold medal speaking contest.

"DAILY LEADER" DIES.

Its Owner, General Drake, Will Start a Sunday Newspaper on June 4.

With the publication of yesterday's issue, the Elizabeth Daily Leader, Elizabeth's first penny paper, passed out of existence. The cause for its suspension is financial embarrassment and a steady loss of money.

The Daily Leader was first issued in July, 1889, by General J. Madison Drake and for many years was a successful publication. It had gradually been losing ground and circulation, however, during the last two years owing to the advent into the journalistic field of a vigorously conducted rival one-cent Democratic newspaper, The Evening Times, published by Nelson E. Barton, formerly of Binghamton, N. Y.

The Leader's politics were sometimes Democratic and sometimes Republican. It was originally organized by a stock company, but General Drake gradually absorbed the shares of the other stockholders, and with his son, J. Madison Drake, Jr., finally acquired complete control of the newspaper, which also had attached to it a job printing plant.

General Drake says he now intends publishing a Sunday paper, the first issue of which will come out June 4. Before starting The Daily Leader the general, for several years, printed a weekly entitled the Elizabeth Sunday Leader.

A Chimney Fire.

A still alarm called the chemical engine to the home of Jacob Faas on West Third street, this morning, where a chimney fire was in progress. It was extinguished without any damage occurring. The house is owned by Bernard Clark.

Nurse to be Graduated.

Miss May Unhoene, of Watchung avenue, will be graduated from the training school for nurses at the Presbyterian Hospital, New York. She is now caring for her mother, who is ill with pneumonia.

Dr. J. H. Cooley, of the borough, is spending the day in Philadelphia.

on Mr. Rodman's right, and Mrs. Stevenson, mother of the rector, sat on his left. The tables were attractively decked with flowers.

The luncheon was arranged and served by the following women of the parish: Mrs. T. W. T. Maxwell, chairman; Mrs. L. G. Timpson, Mrs. J. M. Shellabarger, Mrs. George S. Ring, Mrs. Thomas Mitford, Mrs. Lane, Mrs. Dickinson, Miss Agnes Taylor, Miss Julia Rodman, Miss May Rodman, Miss Elizabeth Cook, Miss Massett, Mrs. Howard Fleming, Miss May Holly, Miss Morgan, Miss Huse, Miss Drayton, Miss Wilcox, Miss Annie Murphy, Mrs. Fred Lounsbury, Mrs. Tompkins, Miss Agnes Smith, Miss Anna Davis, and Mrs. Elizabeth Cook and Miss Tweedy.

Mrs. Stevenson, mother of the rector, Mrs. E. M. Rodman, Mrs. T. W. T. Maxwell and Miss Elizabeth Cook acted as a receiving committee.

The lay delegates to the convention from this city and North Plainfield are as follows: Grace church, Howard Fleming, Charles Bull and W. E. Lowe; Holy Cross church, Dr. J. H. Carman, Charles L. Nichols and William L. Saunders.

Grace Church Pilot gives this sketch of the growth and strength of the diocese:

"On the 26th, 27th and 28th of May, 1874, in Grace church, Newark, was held the ninety-first annual convention of the Protestant Episcopal church in the State of New Jersey.

"The entire State comprised the Diocese at that time with three Convocations; viz., the Convocation of Newark, the Convocation of New Brunswick and the Convocation of Burlington.

"On the tenth day of October, the same year, the general convention, having ratified the formation of a new Diocese within the State, and the Rev. William H. Odenheimer, then Bishop of New Jersey, having chosen the new Diocese, composed of the counties of Sussex, Warren, Morris, Passaic, Bergen, Hudson and Essex together with the township of Summit in Union County, called a special convention to be held in St. Mary's church, Burlington, on November 12th and 13th, 1874, to elect a Bishop and such other officers and committees as might be necessary to continue the Diocese in full working order. At this special convention, on November 13th, the Rev. Dr. John Scarborough, was elected Bishop of the Diocese of New Jersey, Bishop Odenheimer's choice being called the Diocese of Newark.

"The growth of the Diocese from 1875 to the present time will prove of interest:

New Jersey was named after the Island of Jersey in England. The seal of the Diocese of New Jersey is made after the seal of the Ecclesiastical authority of the church in the Island of Jersey, and the seal of the Chief Magistrate of the Island, representing the civil authority. The arms of the Deanery in Jersey consisting of three bandlets in the left or sinister half of the shield, and the arms of the Island of Jersey three leopards in the dexter or right half.

The general design is that of the seal of the Deanery, being "vision" in shape, with the Pastoral Staff dividing the shield. The seal also contains the date of the founding of our Diocese, and the Latin words:

"Sigillum Dioecesis Novae Caesariensis." Bishop Scarborough in St. Stephen's Messenger.

DIOCESAN CONVENTION HAS ENDED

Much Important Business Transacted at Casino Yesterday and Today.

THE ANNUAL ADDRESS

Rt. Rev. Dr. Scarborough Tells of the Lack of Candidates for the Ministry—Encouraging Sunday-School Report.

Aside from the action on the increase of the bishop's salary, there was only one feature to the afternoon session of the Episcopal diocesan convention yesterday. That was the Bishop's thirty-first annual address on the state and activities of the diocese during the preceding twelvemonth.

In opening, Bishop Scarborough referred to the changes that have taken place in the diocese and in diocesan workers since he was chosen head of the episcopate thirty years ago.

"We have grown old," he said, "but there has been no slackening of effort, no lessening of the work. The church of God is endowed with perpetual youth."

He said the laity were a tower of strength, and referred, in feeling tributes, to those who died during the year. Among those whose loss was felt, he mentioned the late Assemblyman-elect G. H. Embree, of Westfield, who had been one of Westfield's most prominent Episcopalians.

Touching on the general church life of the diocese, the Bishop was highly optimistic. He said the work was growing more successful, and the diocese stronger. The chief growth during the past year, he said, was seen in parish betterments and the larger use of the parish houses, rather than in the multiplication of churches. He referred, among other works of enlargement or improvement through the diocese, to the erection of a new parish house by Grace church. He commented with marked pleasure upon the establishment of the Grace mission for colored people, and urged a spread of the work among the negroes.

He referred to the falling off in mission contributions during the past decade, and to the lack of candidates for the ministry. The latter condition, he said, compels the church to recognize the fact that there are other avenues of life that present attractions to young men. He intimated that the money question had much to do with the conditions referred to.

"As a class, the clergy are ill-paid. In large cities you will find that the average salary for ministers is between $500 and $1,000. In the smaller cities the latter sum represents the maximum remuneration. And while the cost of living has gone up, the salaries of the clergy have remained unchanged."

Still, there was no sign that the church, as a force, was losing ground. He quoted the figures on the Episcopal membership and confirmations during the past year to demonstrate that the faith is growing vigorously.

In closing, Dr. Scarborough expressed his thankfulness over the number of years granted him.

"I am thankful for the long span allotted to me, and for the vigor that permits me to do each day's work with undiminished vigor."

Most of the session was taken up with routine and the presentation of statistical reports. Among the latter was one that aroused the only applause, excepting the remarkable tribute to the Bishop, to which the convention was moved.

That report was the one submitted by the committee on Sunday-schools, a special body appointed last year to investigate the problems involved in the religious education of the young. The report was a lengthy and interesting analysis of the Sunday-school question, in which were embodied a number of suggestions regarding Sabbath-school work.

These interesting figures formed part of the report:

"In the seventy-one Sunday-schools reporting are 3,488 males and 4,528 females. The males, therefore, constute .4351 per cent. and the females, .5649 per cent. of the total enrollment. For comparison, we note that in the public day schools of this State the corresponding percentages are: Males, .5005, and females, .4995 respectively. We find regarding our own Sunday-schools that in eight, boys are more numerous than girls, while in thirty-one, the numerical difference between the sexes does not exceed ten. In fifteen parishes the relative proportion of girls to boys is very great. These parishes are almost all large cities or manufacturing towns, where special Sunday amusement draw boys and young men away. We believe that up to the age of fourteen about as many boys as girls attend Sunday-school.

"In twenty schools, at least ninety per cent. of the children are from church families. In thirty-one schools the percentage varies from fifty to ninety per cent. In eleven it is less than 50 per cent.

"Thirty-seven schools have three or more departments; twenty have two; in six there is no division. Fifteen report that the classes are carefully graded; twenty-seven more make some attempt at grading."

The report was greeted with a spontaneous burst of handclapping, and the bishop, after expressing his pleasure over the general mark of appreciation, thanked the committee, of which Dr. H. H. Oberly, of Elizabeth, is chairman, for its work, in the name of the convention. The Sunday-school commission will be made a permanent diocesan body.

One new parish was admitted to membership in the convention—St. Stephen's Memorial, of Riverside. One change was made in the officers of the diocese. Rev. M. B. Nash, of Trenton, was made registrar, upon the suggestion of his predecessor, Rev. J. McA. Harding, of the same city, who retired because he found the distance between his residence and the diocesan house too great.

The convention adjourned for the day at 5:30 o'clock. The delegates were entertained at supper and overnight at the homes of Grace church parishioners.

During the session Morris Timpson, James Fleming, Arthur Wills and Elliott Rowland acted as convention pages.

At Grace church, in the evening, a missionary service was held for the benefit of the missions of the diocese. It was largely attended and a liberal offering was made. The money will be divided between the two convocations of the diocese.

Two addresses were made. Rev. W. H. Burkhart, of Haddonfield, spoke on "The Practical Side of Missions" and Rev. Charles Fisk, of Somerville, spoke on "The Motive for Missions." Bishop Scarborough introduced the speakers, and said the closing prayers. Rev. H. E. Thompson, of Freehold, read the evening prayer service.

A. A. Devoe, treasurer, presented Dean Alfred B. Baker's report on the Convocation of New Brunswick, in which the churches of Plainfield and North Plainfield are included. In part, the report was as follows:

"There are a number of parishes in the diocese which the associate mission has prepared for independence and self-support, and the last of these is St. Stephen's, Netherwood, the charge of which was given to the mission after it had fallen into a very low and languishing condition. The mission sent the Rev. Mr. Peck to recover, if possible, its lost prosperity, and through his efforts its scattered flock was soon gathered together, and new life was thrown into all branches of the work. Quite naturally the Rev. Mr. Peck has been chosen as the rector. At the Bishop's visitation fifteen were confirmed.

"At the Church of the Heavenly Rest, Plainfield, there has been very gratifying progress. Finances have improved, the attendance has increased, and a number of parochial organizations have been put in operation. The Rev. Mr. Rush, formerly in charge here, has now become rector of Grace church, Linden, which severed its connection with the associate mission on March 1st.

"At Holy Innocents', Dunellen, the attendance has not much increased, but the financial conditions have steadily improved.

"At All Saints', Scotch Plains, interior improvements have been made, which add to the comfort of the growing congregation."

The treasurer's report showed that the receipts were $4,099.84, and the disbursements, $3,293.08.

The convention reassembled at the Casino at 10 o'clock this morning after a service at Grace church, conducted by Rev. Samuel Job, of Bordentown, and Rev. J. C. Lord, of Navesink.

BISHOP TO GET $5,000

Amid Enthusiasm, Diocesan Convention Votes Increase.

TRIBUTE TO SERVICE

Rt. Rev. Dr. Scarborough Agreeably Surprised by Action of the Delegates.

There was a tribute for Bishop Scarborough in the afternoon session of the Diocesan Convention of the Episcopal Diocese of New Jersey at the Casino yesterday. His salary was raised from $4,500 a year to $5,000.

This action came as a very great surprise to Dr. Scarborough. John N. Carpender, a prominent layman of New Brunswick, who fathered the motion, gave no intimation to the Bishop of his intended action. The announcement of the vote in favor of it was followed by a remarkable spontaneous tribute of affection for the venerable head of the diocese.

Mr. Carpender introduced his resolution toward the close of the convention session, when the delegates had begun to grow restless under the strain of routine business.

The Bishop was not present when the resolution was introduced. Mr. Carpender, after securing recognition from the right reverend president, informed him that the resolution he was about to put referred to him, the Bishop, personally, and he suggested that the president might prefer to place the gavel in another's hands while it was being considered.

The Bishop looked surprised—almost startled. He explained that look later, when he was voicing his thanks for the convention's action.

He called Rev. E. M. Rodman, rector-emeritus of Grace church to the chair, and stepped down from the platform. He paused for the merest fraction of a second at the foot, with bowed head. Then he turned in the direction of a side door.

"I think I will go out entirely," he said in a low tone, as if speaking to himself, and left the room.

Then Mr. Carpender put the resolution on the increase. It was seconded with marked enthusiasm. One of the seconders, in an earnest speech, said that he had brought a similar resolution in his pocket and would have presented it had not Mr. Carpender forestalled him.

"It is time that we did something of this kind," said the speaker earnestly. "A salary of $4,500 bears no adequate relation to the services the bishop of this diocese does. His work and his expenses have increased.

For thirty years he has worked, and labored and built up this diocese, and it is time we did something. Let us cease from handing bouquets and verbal notings, and do something substantial to show our appreciation. And I think this vote should be a rising one."

When Mr. Rodman put the question the convention rose to its feet with a bound, and a storm of handclapping broke out.

Mr. Carpender hurried to the hall outside and brought the Bishop back.

As the Bishop reappeared the handclapping broke out with increased force. As he faced the applauding body, the prelate's face cleared and a smile that had something wistful in it formed slowly about his mouth and gentle eyes.

He mounted the steps of the platform with a tread that was springier than that which marked his descent. At the top step he stumbled, and fell heavily to his knees. A gasp that sounded like a sudden sob came from the delegates.

Dean Rodman, Secretary Smith and a half a dozen of the clergymen on the floor sprang to the Bishop's side and lifted him up. He was a little shaken and a bit breathless, but unhurt. Mr. Rodman broke the tension of the nervousness that had swept over the assemblage by announcing the act of the convention to the Bishop.

Secretary Smith sprang to the edge

GIRL DIDN'T WANT TO PRESS THE CHARGE

ROSA PULOCH SLIPS AWAY FROM COURT—LOUCH FREED.

John Louch, the Pole accused of attempting to assault Rosa Puloch and her father, Marino Puloch, was freed yesterday afternoon. Three lawyers and Rosa herself helped to bring about the termination of the case.

Louch was to have been heard before Justice Mosher Monday afternoon. He failed to keep his parole, and the case was laid over until yesterday morning. The police caught him later in the afternoon, and the case was called on time in the morning. Then it was found that Rosa, who had been in the court a few minutes before, had disappeared. So had a brother of the prisoner, who sat with her. Rosa's father sent out to hunt her up. Having waited in vain for a half an hour, F. J. Blatz, W. S. Angleman and William Newcorn, all of whom Louch had retained to defend him, agreed with John P. Owens, counsel for the State, to put the hearing off until afternoon.

A few minutes before the case was called for the third time, Counsellor Newcorn came into court and reported to his colleagues that Rosa's father was inducing Rosa, with parental arguments, to come to court. The discipline was being administered on North avenue. The prisoner's brother was hovering on the edge of the storm, coaxing Rosa to stay away from court. The father prevailed, and Rosa went with him.

Just before the justice called the case Rosa's father allowed his eyes to wander from the girl. When the call came Rosa had disappeared again.

Rosa was ruled out of the case, and Louch was arraigned under the father's charge. His three lawyers had no trouble in knocking that out.

Louch pere, when last seen, was hunting for Rosa and the brother.

REDMOND AND MURRAY PLEASED THE CROWD

POPULAR SINGERS THE HEADLINERS AT BAND CONCERT VAUDEVILLE.

The popularity of summer band concert benefits was again attested to last night, when a full house greeted Billy Redmond's vaudeville show at Saengerbund Hall. The popular singer brought out a galaxy of stars in the "continuous" world and the programme proved acceptable. Redmond and "Billy" Murray, the popular singers, scored big hits, the former giving "We'll be Together When the Clouds Roll by" and "The Man With the Changeable Voice;" while Murray gave "Yankee Doodle Boy," "Give My Regards to Broadway" and "Wouldn't That Make You Hungry." Redmond furnished the entire show gratis.

Following the programme, dancing was taken up and continued until an early hour this morning. Ben La Vere, Edward P. T. Smith and F. M. Slater, Jr., acted as floor managers.

N. P. H. S. Seniors' Reception.

The reception to be given by the juniors to the seniors of the North Plainfield High School takes place Monday evening, May 29, at the Casino. Miss Mary Robley is chairman of the committee and the others are Miss Mary Clark, Miss Marion Overton, Stanley Fisher and Lee Kenney.

Stillman Prize Examinations.

Examinations for the Stillman mathematic prize will commence this afternoon in the Plainfield High School building. This year two days will be devoted to the examinations instead of one as has formerly been the case. Interest is keen in the competition as there is a money prize at stake.

WESTFIELD GAMES OFF?

No Series Likely Unless Denman Changes His Mind.

WALLER, THE HITCH

"Red" Will Not Be Allowed to Pitch and Westfield is Afraid Without Him.

Reliable report says there will be no games with Westfield this season according to the present situation of baseball affairs. The hitch is over "Red" Waller and the series will be most likely called off unless Manager Phil Daab, of the Plainfields, and President Denman, of the Westfields, can come to some agreement.

Jim O'Rourke, manager of the Bridgeports, declares that "Red" Waller will be fined heavily if he is in the box for Westfield, Waller having been signed by the former team. Denman notified Daab today, it is said, that under no circumstances will there be any series unless his star pitcher is in the box for his team.

Daab is in the city this afternoon talking over the situation with baseball fans.

CHESTER H. BRIGGS, SCHOOLBOY CHAMPION

PLAINFIELDER WON TILE ON COURTS OF THE WEST SIDE LAWN TENNIS CLUB.

C. H. Briggs, of the Plainfield High School, won the interscholastic lawn tennis championship yesterday in the Columbia University tournament on dirt courts of the West Side Lawn Tennis Club, Amsterdam avenue and One Hundred and Seventeenth street, New York. Briggs defeated C. E. Van Vleck, Jr., of the Montclair High School, in straight sets by the score by 6—2, 6—3, 6—2.

As the winner of the tournament Briggs is privileged to enter the national championship tournament at Newport, in August, and meet the winners of the Yale, Harvard, Princeton and other collegiate tournaments for the national interscholastic title and honors won last year by Niles, of Harvard.

MISS M'GEE HURT.

Thrown From Her Horse By Its Plunging and is Then Trampled Upon.

Losing her balance through the animal's sudden intractability, Miss Elizabeth McGee, of Rockview avenue, a daughter of Walter McGee, was thrown from her horse on Arlington avenue near Ninth street yesterday afternoon, and received severe temporary injuries. She fell directly in front of her mount and was struck several times by its hoofs. She was unconscious when friends and witnesses to the accident reached her side.

They carried her to a nearby residence and Dr. B. vanD. Hedges was summoned by telephone. He found the young woman suffering from numerous cuts and bruises, particularly about the head, and several severe sprains, though fortunately no bones were broken. She soon recovered sufficiently to be taken to her home in a cab.

Working for Trolley Extension.

The officers of the Plainfield Country Club are still working with the Public Service Corporation in the hope that the Arlington avenue trolley line may be extended to the clubhouse as soon as possible. They say that the increased patronage that would surely come to the company would more than pay for the expense of the improvement.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Zimmer have moved from Manning avenue to Brooklyn.

Miss Fordham, the trained nurse, operated upon a few days ago for appendicitis, is convalescing.

EXPERT TENNIS PLAY

Champion and Former Champion Contest on Local Courts.

GALLERY OF 400

Malcolm D. Whitman and Holcombe Ward the Clever Exponents of the Game.

In the presence of a gallery of nearly four hundred enthusiasts the formal opening of the tennis season at the Plainfield Country Club yesterday was marked by the appearance of Malcolm D. Whitman, the former tennis champion and Holcombe Ward, the present champion of the United States in singles. The unusual privilege of having these noted tennis players here was through the courtesy of Miss Hartridge and Miss Ward, the latter a sister of Mr. Ward.

Three sets were played and Mr. Whitman won them all by the scores of 12-10, 6-4 and 6-3. The first set was hotly contested from first to last and the play throughout was brilliant, despite a high wind, which somewhat interferred with the best work of the contestants. An unusual feature was that two games went to deuce six times. The players were well matched and several times they were all even.

At first Whitman did not show up quite as strong as his opponent, the latter having just returned from Norfolk, where he has been in training for his approaching play in England, but as the play progressed he exhibited his old form and sustained his reputation as former champion of the world. The generous applause given the contestants was about evenly divided, although it was noticed at times that Whitman had slightly the best of the popular sentiment.

Unusual interest was manifested on the part of the spectators in the original twist service used by Mr. Ward which was seen to the best advantage in his return of the ball to his opponent. Quick as a flash and with all the ease and grace possible, the clever player returned his opponent's service and his style of play won round after round of applause. On the other hand Mr. Whitman demonstrated his ability by a number of brilliant plays which aroused the enthusiasm of the spectators. While the women were in the majority, there was a good attendance of men, many of whom are well-up in the game. Not only from this city but from nearly every town between here and Elizabeth, as well as New York, were to be found guests, showing that the opportunity was fully appreciated.

As referee of the match, T. M. Day, Jr., gave entire satisfaction. After the exhibition, the contestants were entertained at dinner by Miss Hartridge at the clubhouse. Covers were laid for sixteen.

PASTOR AND WIFE AS THEIR GUESTS

REV. AND MRS. GEORGE MOONEY ENTERTAINED BY CONGREGATION.

Marking the return of the pastor for another year, the congregation of the Monroe Avenue church gave Rev. George Mooney and his wife a reception, last night. The affair was largely attended by members of the church and congregation and everyone thoroughly enjoyed it. The church was decorated with the season's flowers, including apple blossoms and lilies.

E. H. Beekman was in charge of the programme which included short addresses by Rev. Dr. Whitney, Rev. Dr. Parsons, Rev. A. C. McCree, while Mr. Mooney responded to the happy words spoken by his brother pastors.

The programme was followed by a social hour and the serving of refreshments by members of the Epworth League and Ladies' Aid Society. It was gratifying to Mr. Mooney to know that his first year at this church was a successful one and that the new year has promise of being equally so.

Reformed's Missionary Work.

The annual meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary Board of the Reformed church of America, was held in Rev. Dr. Burrill's church, Fifth avenue and Twenty-ninth street, New York. The representatives present from Trinity Reformed church were as follows: Mrs. W. A. Woodruff, Mrs. Cornelius Schenck, Mrs. Frank E. Woodruff, Mrs. H. F. Crawford, Mrs. Daniel Rapalje, Miss Rapalje, Mrs. A. L. Force, Miss Lillian A. Force and Mrs. J. W. Schenck.

—Bernhard Duvier, of West Fifth street, has entered the employ of a large East Orange concern.

COUNCIL SELLS BONDS

New School Issue of $63,000 Awarded Last Night.

HIGHEST BID $104.17

Amendment Offered to Park Avenue Widening Ordinance and Public Hearing Set.

For the purpose of offering at private sale Plainfield's $63,000 additional school bonds with which to complete the new High School now in course of construction, a special meeting of the Common Council was held last night. It was previously decided to offer the bonds at public sale, but later a change was made and last night the former action was rescinded by resolution, so that the Common Council could receive and act upon bids presented.

Mr. Tolles stated that he had received three bids for the bonds, but one of these was not accompanied by the stipulated $1,000 certified check. They were all received, however, and afterward referred to the finance committee. Then a lengthy recess was taken to consider this matter and that of a proposed amendment to the ordinance to widen Park avenue, between Second street and the railroad.

The bids for the bonds were received from Kountze Brothers, H. L. Crawford & Co., and N. W. Halsey & Co., all of New York. The bids of Kountze Brothers was $103.70, that of H. L. Crawford & Co., $104.014 and N. W. Halsey & Co., $103.50. The last named was not accompanied by a check for $1,000, although the firm said it would furnish such check if the city decided to give them the bonds. All the bids specified accrued interest.

After the recess the Common Council through a resolution offered by Mr. Tolles accepted the bid of H. L. Crawford & Co., represented here by George B. Ring. This firm's bid was the highest and the bonds were awarded to them upon the conditions specified.

According to these conditions, $5,000 of the bonds mature June 1, 1924 and $6,000 each year from 1925 to 1933 and the remaining $3,000 in 1934.

After Mr. Tolles offered a motion returning to the unsuccessful bidders their certified checks, Mr. Wilson offered an amendment to the ordinance to widen Park avenue. The ordinance as amended provides that the building line shall be established 41.63 feet from the centre of the street. This will widen the street between Second street and the railroad ten feet and the building line is five feet back of that. The ordinance was amended specially for the purpose of explicitly interpreting it for the benefit of The Plainfield Trust Company, it having been previously understood that the company would give the extra five feet for a sidewalk when it intended to use the space for the ornamentation of its own building. The ordinance now clearly defines the matter, stating just what space is to be devoted to the highway and that to be used by the trust company or anyone else who may build on that avenue. The ordinance was adopted on first and second readings, ordered advertised and Monday night, June 5, at 8 o'clock, was set as the time when a public hearing will be granted those interested for or against. All voted for the amendment except Mr. Bullock and Mr. Murphy.

Getting Ready for New Directory.

J. R. Wand, the local directory man, was in town today making preliminary arrangements for the coming season's edition. The book is no longer issued by the Wand Directory Company as Mr. Wand has full control of the business and will make several improvements that have hitherto been impossible. It will be ready for distribution about August 1 and a feature will be the indices of white and black residents.

Italian Colony's Fight.

There was a general cutting affray among the Italians at the house of Luigi France, on North street, Westfield, Sunday. No one seemed to know just what the fight was about, but when it was over Nick Juretti had cut Tony Masso from the wrist to elbow and had laid open John Mark's cheek, using a razor. Juretti got safely away from the police.

Chauffeur Skipped.

Louis Strong, a schoolboy, son of Rev. Charles R. Strong, of 770 Belvidere avenue, was knocked from his bicycle by an automobile runabout at Second street and Park avenue at 8:30 o'clock this morning. The auto driver went on without pausing, and the police are anxious to learn his identity. The boy was unhurt.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

E. B. Maynard's barber shop on North avenue is a model one in every respect and strictly sanitary.

Dr. E. B. Stowe, of the Babcock building, can successfully treat corns, bunions and ingrowing toenails.

V. W. Nash, of Park avenue, sells the best grade of anthracite coal at low prices. Place your order now.

J. A. Koch's market at Watchung avenue and East Second street, is the place to get the best fresh and salt meats.

George F. Brown, of Somerset street, can sell you desirable real estate or give you an insurance policy in the best company.

"Frenzied Finance" is told of in Everybody's Magazine. It is sold at Harper's Park avenue stationery store where all magazines and periodicals are to be had.

Good electrical work. That's what you want; not the slip-shod kind that will pass muster at first inspection. William H. Pope, of North avenue, does only the best.

If you send that grocery order to H. W. Barnes, of Park avenue, you may rest assured it will receive prompt attention. His delivery system is one of the best in the city.

Edwin A. Craig, who is an expert and practical electrician, guarantees all contracts that he undertakes. His office and store is located at Front street and Watchung avenue.

Be it but one cigar that you want or a box of them, Henry Eggerding, of Park avenue, is the man to see. He manufactures all that are sold at his store and guarantees every one.

Neatness, durability and good fit. That's what you want when you have your spring gowns made. S. Hirsch, the Watchung avenue tailor, guarantees all three. His 1905 styles are now being shown.

"Music hath charms to soothe the savage breast" and the phonograph will delight old and young. Harry K. Lister has these machines in all styles and records by the barrel. Drop in and hear some.

M. M. French & Co. are among Plainfield's best known real estate and insurance brokers. If you need anything in either line they would be pleased to send a representative to your home. Their office is on North avenue opposite the depot.

When the "Sorosis" shoe goes on the feet of men and women, their troubles disappear as rain clouds before a summer sun—no pinching, no aches and pains, no discomfort. A. E. & A. L. Giddes, at Front street and Madison avenue, are local agents for the "Sorosis."

There are some merchants who believe it is good policy to have a "bargain special" on one line of goods and make up for it by jumping the prices on all others. Such is not the case at I. H. Boehm's big West Front street dry goods store, where specials are maintained as specials and not as mere attractions. In the many years that he has been in business locally, Mr. Boehm has adhered to this rule and he has found that it pays.

Ringling Bros.' Excursions.

Special excursion rates on all lines of travel have been arranged for by the management of Ringling Brothers' World's Greatest Shows, and those who wish to go to Newark, where this great circus exhibits on Wednesday, May 24, can do so at very little expense. This will be the only point in this vicinity where the show will exhibit this season, and no one should miss the opportunity to witness it. Ringling Brothers' circus has been the leading arenic exhibition of America for years, but the show has never been permitted to rest upon its reputation. Although it long ago passed the point of competition, every season sees a greater and grander show. This year's performance is entirely new, and entails the combined efforts of 375 wonderful artists in the equestrian, gymnastic, equilibristic, acrobatic and aerial line, together with fifty famous clowns and hundreds of lesser lights. Six hundred and fifty horses are used and a marvelous trained animal department is presented. The circus this season is greatly enlarged by the spectacular production of The Field of the Cloth of Gold, a pantomimic presentation of the well known and beautiful historical meeting between the young Kings of England and France. The vast menagerie has among hundreds of features the only living pair of giraffes, the first baby elephant successfully bred and reared in America, and the only rhinoceros in captivity. There is a georgeous revival of the Roman hippodrome races, and many other stupendous features in this great circus. Circus day opens with a brilliant street parade three miles in length. Don't fail to see it.

—"That time is lost which might be better employed." If you are "too busy" to read the want ads, you will lose a great deal of time over the little problems which they would solve for you.

Sale of Delinquent Lands for Unpaid Taxes and Assessments.

Collector's Office, City of Plainfield, New Jersey.

Notice is hereby given that the subscriber, the Collector of the City of Plainfield, New Jersey, pursuant to the authority of the statute in such case made and provided, and by the direction of the Common Council of said city, will expose for sale and sell at public auction to the highest bidder, (but not for less than the amount due from the same, as appears in the following schedule, with interests and costs,) on at two o'clock in the afternoon of that day, at the said Collector's office, No. 151 North avenue in said city, certain lots, tracts and parcels of land situated in the First, Second, Third and Fourth Wards of said city, upon which the taxes and assessments have remained unpaid for the space of two years from and after the time when they were due and payable.

This sale is made under the provisions of the 13th Section of an Act, entitled "An Act concerning the settlement and collection of arrearages of unpaid taxes, assessments and water rates or water rents in cities of this State, and imposing and levying a tax, assessment and lien in lieu and instead of such arrearages and to enforce the payment thereof, and to provide for the sale of lands subjected to future taxation and assessment," passed March 30, 1885, and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto.

Further particulars of the land to be sold may be obtained at the office of the subscriber on any week day prior to the day of sale, between the hours of 9 a. m. and 4 p. m., except holidays and Saturdays, and on Saturdays between 9 a. m. and 12 noon.

The following list contains the lot and block numbers of the lots, tracts and parcels of land to be sold in pursuance of this advertisement, as they appear on the official assessment maps of the City of Plainfield, on file in the office of the City Collector, together with a statement of the Wards of the city wherein said lands are respectively situated, and the amount due from each of said lots respectively. To the amount due on each lot or parcel as hereinafter designated, there will be added interest as indicated, and also its proportionate share of the costs of this sale, which is hereby estimated at Three Dollars for each item of arrearage thereon.

All lots so sold will be purchased subject to all taxes and assessments levied thereon subsequent to November 20th, 1902.

FURIOUS TORNADO

Central Kansas Storm Swept. Twenty-six Dead.

SECTION OF MARQUETTE WIPED OUT

Blast Came at Midnight After Downpour of Rain—Terrible Havoc Is Wrought in Five Minutes. Entire Families Killed.

MARQUETTE, Kan., May 10.—Twenty-six persons are known to have been killed and over forty-four were injured in a tornado, the most disastrous in the history of central Kansas, which swept over this portion of the state at midnight.

Of the injured thirty-five were seriously hurt, and some of them may die. During the day Carl Warnquist and Mrs. J. A. Carlson died of their injuries. Several of the others are suffering from broken limbs and internal injuries.

One large section of Marquette, where the principal loss of life occurred, was entirely wiped out. Reports from the surrounding country show that destruction to life and property was widespread, and the list of dead and injured is growing constantly.

A storeroom belonging to Olaf Olson, a furniture dealer, has been converted into a temporary morgue, and twenty-four dead bodies lie there.

When daylight broke over the town it found the entire population in a state of panic. Business was suspended, and every one that escaped injury turned his attention toward aiding the wounded.

The tornado seems to have formed three miles south of Marquette, and it did not spend its force until it had passed many miles north of the town. In Marquette the residence portion, west of the main street, suffered the principal damage. The houses in the course of the tornado were, with two or three exceptions, completely wrecked.

In this section there were a number of modern residences, of which only one, the home of R. A. Thompson, was left standing. The Swedish Lutheran and Methodist churches were among the first buildings struck, and they, together with the parsonage adjoining the Methodist church, were demolished.

After a hot and oppressive day a terrific rainstorm broke over the town. The rain continued to fall in torrents until midnight, when the tornado struck. Within less than five minutes it had wrought its terrible work and passed on. Telegraph and telephone wires were carried down, and it was several hours before the outside world could be apprised of the plight of the city.

In several cases entire families have been killed. A man named Switzer, a night watchman at the railroad yards, lost his three children. N. P. Nelson, with his wife and three children, were found dead. Two other children were not at home and escaped injury. Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Ellvin were carried on their bed a distance of 500 feet and set down without being seriously injured.

QUARRELED OVER A WOMAN.

Paterson Man, Coming From Hospital, Shot a Third Time.

PATERSON, N. J., May 10.—Gustav Kapp went to a hospital twice to receive treatment for bullet wounds alleged to have been inflicted by Henry Meisen. The last time he remained in the institution with three bullet holes in his body, but his condition is not regarded as dangerous. Meisen has not been captured.

The men had quarreled over a woman at the boarding house where both lived when, Kapp says, Meisen drew a revolver and shot him twice in the arm. He hurried to a hospital and after having his wounds dressed started to walk home.

On the way he met Meisen and, seizing him, called for a policeman to take him into custody. Meisen had no intention of giving up without a struggle, however, and again drawing the revolver he fired two shots at Kapp from a distance of only a few feet. One ball went wide, but the other lodged in Kapp's chest, and those who rushed up at the sound of the shots were obliged to assist the wounded man to the hospital. Meisen disappeared during the confusion.

Absconder Goll In Sweat Box.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 10.—Henry G. Goll, former assistant cashier of the First National bank, who is charged with embezzlement, was in conference with United States District Attorney Butterfield, Bank Examiner C. H. Bosworth and Attorney George P. Miller, representing the bank. Goll's friends think he can best serve his own interests by confessing all he knows concerning the defalcation of F. G. Bigelow, former president of the bank.

Whitelaw Reid Banqueted.

NEW YORK, May 10. — Whitelaw Reid was the guest of honor at a dinner given at the Lotus club last night by his co-directors of the Associated Press in commemoration of his appointment as ambassador to the court of St. James. A number of speeches were made felicitating Mr. Reid on his appointment and expressing the compliment to the newspaper profession which it carries.

STOPPED ON TRACK

Major Fisk's Chauffeur Seized With a Panic.

FAST TRAIN HIT TOURING CAR.

Automobile and Occupants Hurled Thirty Feet—Mrs. Fisk's Left Arm and Left Leg Broken—Others Had Narrow Escape.

NEW YORK, May 10.—Willard C. Fisk, major of the Seventh regiment, New York national guard, and a millionaire lawyer, with his wife and son, Clinton E. Fisk, and George E. Blakeslee, all of Jersey City, had a narrow escape from death when the engine of a fast train on the Pennsylvania railroad at Iselin, near Meteuchen, struck the new automobile in which they were riding from Philadelphia to Jersey City and threw it against a freight car which was on a siding.

Mrs. Fisk was hurled fifteen feet, breaking her left arm and left leg. Mr. Blakeslee, who was acting as chauffeur, was bruised about the arms, body and legs. Although seriously hurt, Mrs. Fisk retained consciousness. She was carried to a farmhouse, where the fractures were set.

The Fisks and Chauffeur Blakeslee went to Philadelphia and started for home with the new motor car. It is a high power car, just purchased, and the party had made good time, stopping at New Brunswick to breakfast. Major Fisk and the chauffeur were seated in the front seat, Mr. Fisk taking lessons in how to operate the machine. Mrs. Fisk and her son were in the tonneau.

As the touring car sped toward the Iselin crossing Major Fisk put his hand on the chauffeur's arm and said to be careful.

"There doesn't seem to be any train coming," responded Blakeslee. "If there was the flagman would be out."

The machine was almost upon the tracks when the quick ear of Mr. Fisk caught the dull rumble of a heavy train.

"There's a train right down on us!" he cried. "For God's sake, stop!"

There was a bare six feet in which to halt the car. The chauffeur, however, seemed seized with panic and ran the machine directly on to the track, stopping with the full body of the auto across the rails.

The train was not a hundred yards away when the automobile stopped. In a moment Major Fisk had cried to his wife and son to jump and himself vaulted clear of the track. Young Fisk also leaped safely to a ditch, but his mother swooned and fell upon the floor of the tonneau.

When the train hit the car Mr. Fisk was struggling frantically to pull the heavy automobile off the tracks and the chauffeur had climbed back into the tonneau in an effort to rescue the unconscious Mrs. Fisk. Just what happened in the next second or two no one can tell.

Major Fisk says all he saw was the body of his wife as it shot into the air and in the direction of a ditch. He was thrown to the ground under a heap of debris. Blakeslee was hurled fully thirty feet, but had no bones broken. When Mrs. Fisk was picked up it was found her left leg and left arm were broken and she was also injured internally.

STUDENT FOUND DEAD.

Arthur Haserot Shot to Death In His Room at Yale College.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 10.—Arthur Haserot a Yale senior, living in Cleveland, O., was found shot to death in his room in Welch hall, one of the Yale campus dormitories, and an investigation into the case is being conducted.

Medical Examiner Bartlett stated last night that he believed death was the result of an accident or suicide, but further than that he would not discuss the case. Haserot's body was found by one of his roommates and after it was viewed by the medical examiner was removed to an undertaker's.

The case is being kept very quiet, and further than the fact that the young man was found dead nothing official has been given out. A revolver was found near Haserot's side and a bullet wound in his head.

Railway Congress Banquet.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—The delegates to the international railway congress were the guests of the American Railway association at a banquet given at the New Willard hotel last night. Secretary Taft, M. Jusserand, the French ambassador; Emil Heurteau of Paris, a member of the permanent commission of the congress; Jean Kologrivoff, minister of communication, Russia, and Wayne MacVeagh delivered speeches.

Baron Korff Comes For a Bride.

NEW YORK, May 10.—Among the passengers on board the steamer Finland, which arrived last night from Antwerp and Dover, was Baron Serge A. Roosevelt Speeds Across Nebraska to Chicago.

COMMENTS ON PANAMA CANAL WORK

"Many Disagree With Me on the Panama Canal Question," President Said: "I Did Not Intend Uncle Sam Should Be Held Up."

CHICAGO, May 10.—With only four stops for speeches the trip of the presidential special from Denver to this city was uneventful. United States Senator Burkett and Edward Rosewater, publisher of the Omaha Bee, were taken on board as the president's guests as far as Omaha. The speeches were all brief and were devoted almost entirely to the discussion of the country through which the president passed. The president spoke at North Platte, Neb., where he said:

"This is the third time in recent years I have been in North Platte, and it is a peculiar pleasure to be with you once again. This neighborhood is one of the pioneer spots of the west in irrigation. It was your good fortune to lead in showing just what could be done by means of irrigation for the prosperity of this country. Nothing will count more in the next half century in building up the United States than what is done in irrigation. I am particularly glad to see all of you here, but especially the children. I heartily believe in you people, and I am glad that the stock is kept up. Although I congratulate Nebraska on many crops, the best crop of all is the crop of citizens. What counts in any nation more than anything in the end is the average of the citizenship. Here, as everywhere else in the west, I see men who wear the button that shows that they fought in the great civil war. In the civil war the winning or the losing of that fight depended upon the average quality of the average soldier. We saved the nation because the average man was of the right stamp. So it is in civil life."

President Roosevelt, speaking at Denver, made some comments on the Panama canal project, saying:

"It was perhaps unnecessary for me to say that I am perfectly aware that many most admirable gentlemen disagreed with me in my action toward the Panama canal, but I am in an unrepentent frame of mind. The ethical conception upon which I acted was that I did not intend that Uncle Sam should be held up. But without regard to that when the canal comes into operation I think it will have a very important regulatory effect in connection with the transcontinental commerce of the republic. I think when such is the case these great railroads will have to revise their way of looking at the interests of certain inland cities.

"As I say, gentlemen, don't misunderstand me. I understand thoroughly the argument from their standpoint and see that they can in all sincerity hold the position, and while I do not think that anything I can say could have any effect in making them alter that position I have considerable hopes for the effect upon the Panama canal. Let me repeat. I have told you my views as to what I regard to be the most important matter of international legislation that in the immediate future will be before this people.

"I wish to say again that important though that legislation is it is nothing like as important as the spirit in which we approach it. If we approach it in the spirit of demagoguery, if we permit ourselves as a people to be deluded into the belief that permanent good will come to us as a mass, if we attack unjustly the proper rights of others because they are wealthy, we shall do ourselves just as much damage as if we permitted an attack upon those who are poor because they are poor. In times past republic after republic has existed in this world and has gone down to destruction, sometimes because the public was turned into a government of the poor who plundered the rich, sometimes because it was turned into a government of the rich who exploited the poor. It made no difference whatever to the fate of the republic which form its fall took. That fall was just as certain in one case as in the other."

Forest Fires Beyond Control.

PLYMOUTH, Mass., May 10.—The forest fire which started near Darby pond last Friday and which was believed to have been practically extinguished by a heavy downpour of rain has broken out again and late last night was beyond control. A strong wind during the day forced the flames in the direction of the towns of Plympton and Carver. The territory where the fire has burned over was covered with a heavy growth of valuable pine.

Judge Pence Shot Himself.

CINCINNATI, O., May 10.—Judge Cecil Pence, a former member of the Kentucky legislature, known all over Kentucky as a lawyer and politician, has committed suicide at his home in Covington by shooting himself in the head. The cause for the suicide is unknown. Judge Pence was thirty-five years of age. He had been police judge of Covington for the last six years.

Herrera Set Free.

MADRID, May 10.—Sarrion de Herrera, who was arraigned in court here on the charge of conspiracy against the government of Brazil, has been liberated, the magistrate having found nothing to justify his detention.

Like a February Day.

ST. CLOUD, Minn., May 10.—A snow and sleet storm raged here for two hours, accompanied by a strong gale of wind. The weather was similar to that of a stormy February day.

Plainfield, N. J., May 10, 1905.

OUR EIGHTEENTH BIRTHDAY.

Today's issue marks the eighteenth anniversary of The Daily Press, but we are not going to waste space in telling of what we have achieved during the period of our existence. The paper that has to sound its own praises is about as nauseating as the man who is continually boasting of himself.

Suffice it to say that on May 10, 1887, the proprietors of The Weekly Constitutionalist, which still enjoys a good patronage, founded The Daily Press. W. L. and A. L. Force were the owners and James A. Demarest, the editor. Upon the death of W. L. Force, his brother, A. L. Force, became the sole owner and succeeded in making it what it is today—Plainfield's leading paper.

The quality and bulk of our advertising and the abundance of local news as well as the typographical appearance of the paper have all contributed to give The Daily Press the circulation it has in this city and the vicinity. During the present year we intend to make some material improvements and hope to continue to merit the position we have attained on our eighteenth birthday. But we do not want to neglect at this time to thank our friends, for they are the ones who have made it possible for us to publish a clean, live daily journal of local news.

The Dreamland Carnival for the benefit of Muhlenberg Hospital, which opens tomorrow, will present unusual attractions and deserves the support of every public spirited citizen. There will be many things on the show grounds, West Fourth street and Darrow avenue, to interest both young and old. In fact it will be the biggest undertaking of the kind ever given in this city and there is reason to believe that the amount realized will be gratifyingly large. Help swell the receipts!

Should the Springfield boy fail to qualify, Plainfield will have another lad in the United States Naval Academy, Arthur S. Whitney having passed the second best examination in the competition for the honor. Fred VanAuken is a midshipman there at present, and if the Springfield boy falls down in his entrance examination, the Plainfield High School will have been twice honored.

A Plainfield youth, Chester H. Briggs, has won the Columbia College interscholastic tennis tournament which is not surprising when it is considered that the average boy in this city takes to that healthy sport about as readily as young America generally does to base-ball.

Vandals at the Oval.

During the past few days a gang of boys has been defacing the new seats at Crescent Oval with obscene language, broken into Timbo's refreshment stand and made attempts to effect an entrance to the players' dressing rooms. Linus Gree, secretary and treasurer of the Plainfield Baseball Association, says that the boys are known and that if they continue their practice the penalty of the law will be imposed. The management has generously made arrangements for the lease of the oval during the week to other teams, and if they cannot see that the property is left undisturbed, plans will be adopted whereby all will be kept away.

$9.00 Niagara Falls and Return via Lehigh Valley Railroad.

Grand Decoration Day excursion. Tickets will be sold May 27th, 28th and 29th, return limit to and including May 30th. A trip of three days to the famous Cataract, at minimum cost. Frank Rowley, agent, 218 West Front street, for further particulars.

of the platform. "Three cheers for the bishop!" he cried, and the whole convention, staid and dignified clergy, staid and elderly laymen joining with all the power of their voices, responded. It was a most unusual tribute of personal popularity.

The Bishop was forced to clear his throat once or twice before he could speak.

"This is a great surprise," he said, "and a delightful one. I have never fished for an increase of salary, and did not expect one. I have spent all the money I received, and found that it went very easily, but I have gotten along on my salary, and thanked God that I received it. I have never gone into debt and, thank God, I owe no man, but this action makes me grateful. Not for myself so much, although I want you to believe that I am deeply grateful for it personally, but for the diocese—for my successor, because I have but a little while in which to enjoy it. It is hard on the bishop of this diocese to meet the demands of his establishment and of his work on the old salary.

"It is a great relief, too, to learn what that resolution of Mr. Carpender's was. When he intimated that it might lead to discussion, after telling me point blank that it referred to me, I thought it might have something to do with telling me that I had been here long enough. I thought perhaps you might be asked to consider that I had been in the same place thirty years, and would arrange to put me out, or something like that."

There was a twinkle in the Bishop's eye as he spoke, and his quick, characteristic smile marked the end of his speech.

After the convention adjourned laymen and clergy crowded about the bishop to congratulate him. To those who approached him he frankly expressed his pleasure over the convention's action.

The Bishop and Mrs. Scarborough are being entertained by Mr. Stevenson at the Grace church rectory.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINTIY.

There was a large attendance at the funeral of Edward Luckhurst, at the Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon. The floral display was striking. Rev. W. W. Casselberry conducted the service, and the choir sang. The body was interred in Plainfield.

Superintendent Campbell, of the P. S. G., was in the borough yesterday morning, looking over the ground to be broken in laying the gas mains.

David Ward has announced his engagement to Miss Pauline Smith, of Staten Island. The date of the wedding has not been made public.

Mrs Jane Apgar's funeral will be held on Friday afternoon. The service will take place at her late home, at 2:30 o'clock.

Charles S. Day, supervisor of the census for Piscataway, has made all arrangements for taking the count in the township.

The tennis enthusiasts are planning the organization of a club. The courts are being put into shape.

Suckers are running thick in New Market pond. John Logan caught a large mess this week.

Miss Catherine Wahl, of Bound Brook, was the guest of Miss Mary Baldwin yesterday.

Father Dunphy was the guest of Father Dietrich, of Bound Brook, yesterday.

John Fenner has returned from a stay in New York.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The annual meeting of the Woman's League was held yesterday afternoon in the Industrial School room in Meyers' Hall. Considerable business relating to the work of the school during the past year and its prospects for the future were considered most encouraging, all reports showing the school have had a most successful year.

It is hoped that the interest manifested locally in the W. C. T. U. Institute meeting, held yesterday in the Baptist church, may lead to the organization of a local W. C. T. U. among the women of the town. The matter has been suggested and talked of in the past but lack of interest has allowed it to die out.

Miss Minnie Squiers, of the corps of teachers at the public school, who has been detained at her home in Rahway with illness for several days, resumed her position again today. Mrs. Thomas M. Paff, Jr., acted as substitute teacher during Miss Squiers' absence.

Fanwood Council, R. A., held a well attended semi-monthly meeting last night. Past Regent J. E. Ruth, who was delegate from Fanwood to the Grand Council meeting held last week at Lakewood, gave an interesting report of the proceedings of that body.

The corner of Bartle and Forest avenues is sadly in need of a culvert covering over the gutter. The recent roadwork cut the gutter down considerable, making it a dangerous spot for pedestrians who do not know of the pitfall.

The local bowlers are making a good showing in the bowling tournament being rolled on the Saengerbund alleys. Besides leading in the race for the cup the boys are bringing home prizes every night for individual bowling.

Mr. and Mrs. William Dean, of Summit, have been visiting Mrs. Dean's mother, Mrs. Charles Mooney, of Mountain road.

Mrs. Julia Mann, of Mountain avenue, is dangerously ill with spinal meningitis, her condition being considered critical.

Edward Martin, of Newark, has been visiting his sister, Mrs. William Earl, of Park avenue.

Mrs. John George, of Rahway, was the guest yesterday of friends in town.

The usual number from town attended the circus at Plainfield yesterday.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The heirs of Mrs. Hannah Nelson, who recently died at New Market, will erect a costly granite and chain fence around the family plot in the South Plainfield cemetery. A large block monument has for some time past marked the spot.

Farmers are now busy with their corn planting. Some fields are about finished. The ground has been put in good condition for the seed.

The old house owned by Frank Faulks has been placed on jacks and is ready for removal to its new foundation.

The dry weather and high winds is beginning to harden the soil and check the growth of spring vegetables, and grass.

Phil Smith will play with the P. H. S. team against the Princeton senior class team this afternoon on Crescent Oval.

Farmers in this township do not plant many potatoes. Their main crops are hay, wheat, rye and corn.

The Temperance ball team was beaten by the South Plainfield thirds yesterday afternoon 6 to 0.

Mrs. C. M. Brown, of Brooklyn, has returned to her home after a visit with Mrs. C. A. Smith.

Miss Nora Maguire has returned home from a visit with friends in Roselle.

A few houses in the village are now vacant, which is a rare occurrence.

AMUSEMENTS.

One of the most notable and interesting of theatrical revivals is the production of "Trilby," with the original cast, now at the New Amsterdam Theatre, New York. There have been so many revivals of old plays with "all star casts" that it is refreshing to record a revival of a great and vastly interesting play in which several stars merge their distinction for the purpose of giving a great performance. One of the notable things about recent "all star casts" has been that so many of the members of these coteries have never been stars at all. Manager William A. Brady has brought together the original cast of "Trilby," headed, of course, by Wilton Lackaye, whose creation of Svengali can always be counted among the classics, while Virginia Harned will be seen as Trilby, and other distinguished members of the company will be Louis Mann, Burr McIntosh, Martinetti and all the rest.

—During the absence of William F. Arnold, cashier of the City National Bank, who goes abroad for his health, his place at the bank will be filled by Arthur Crane.

Fred Dunavan, of North avenue, has gone to Phillipsburg, where he will remain with relatives until he fully regains his health.

Use Randolph's Medicated Benzoin Witch Hazel Soap for the toilet. It will beautify your skin and make it as soft as velvet.

It contains the purest and most healing ingredients — cures chafing, reduces pimples, etc. Used with Plainfield water, it makes a splendid lather for shampooing, and other purposes.

When you're thirsty, drink Randolph's Famous Soda.

WHAT IS WORN.

Louis Dinner Jackets—Popularity of English Eyelet Embroidery.

Very handsome are the Louis dinner coats made of brocaded silk and worn with lace skirts.

White mohair and veiling skirts simply made are smart to wear with white lingerie and silk blouses.

Silk and wool challis is with us again this summer in the softest and most attractive colors, and gay plaid ginghams have red for the predominating influence.

Everything in the way of embroidery is snipped in little holes in imitation of BLACK CHIP HAT.

English eyelet work. Lace and embroidery boleros are as much in favor as ever.

Among the new ribbons is a wide cream satin with deep purple violets scattered over it. Handsome buttons are important adjuncts of the spring costume.

The surpliced waist is a boon to the home dressmaker because it is so easily put together.

The backs of the new hats are built high on bandeaux and covered with masses of ribbon or flowers.

On many of the stunning millinery models shaded ribbon which blends the colors of the straw and flowers in one is a prominent feature.

Little round crowns are seen on summer hats, and fresh and "dead" roses are impartially used on these creations.

The hat pictured is of fine black chip turned over in envelope fashion at the back and filled in with a large bow of leaf green velvet ribbon. Around the crown is a spray of pale tea roses and at one side a chou of deep red jacqueminot roses. JUDIC CHOLLET.

THE SUMMER WARDROBE.

Lace Trimmed Slips of Colored Silk. Jaunty Silk Wraps For Summer.

Dainty little lace trimmed slips of colored silk are to be had in the shops to wear under thin summer gowns. The lawn or organdie slip elaborately adorned with lace and ribbon is even smarter and more expensive.

The jauntiest kind of little taffeta and Burlingham silk wraps are made up in picturesque style, shirred, corded and plaited into becoming shapelessness.

The half length linen coat both in white and colors will be very much in evidence made in plain tailor fashion. Some of the new colored linen coats have collars, cuffs and belt of heavy white linen and fasten with large pearl buttons.

Pongee coats in half and three-quarter lengths will be smart for motor wear.

Lilacs of every imaginable shade are used on hats, and many charming effects are produced with the green variety.

A pretty lingerie waist of the "baby" style fastens in the back and has a little round yoke of lace, with deep cuffs also of lace.

Heavy silk laces are used on the sheerest white gowns and often form more than half of the dress.

A number of the daintiest white fabrics are crossed by fine lines of black forming a tiny check.

The blouse in the cut is of white china silk. It is a very simple little design, being laid in groups of tucks under a yoke of heavy lace. A line of yellow velvet gives a becoming touch at the top of the collar. Another part of the velvet is visible under the lace insertion that bands the other [illegible]

CHOATE NOW A BENCHER.

Banqueted In Hall Opened by "Good Queen Bess" In 1570.

LONDON, May 10.—Ambassador Choate was formally called to the bench of the middle temple last night. The ceremony was strictly private, not even members of other inns of court being present. The function took the form of an ordinary dinner in the old dining hall, which Queen Elizabeth opened in 1570 and in which before Queen Elizabeth Shakespeare acted "As You Like It." Several rules were suspended in honor of the American ambassador.

The members, fully robed, took up places about bare oaken tables, and the benchers filed in, Mr. Choate leading the parade, though the newest member is usually last. The benchers passed down the center of the assembly to a raised table. The usual simple meal was served. The benchers afterward retired to the parliament chamber for dessert, Mr. Choate this time walking last.

As he passed the members' tables the assembly cheered continuously, many old lawyers in their enthusiasm jumping on top of the wooden tables. At the door Mr. Choate turned and faced the assembly and said they knew it was not the custom for a bencher to speak, and therefore he would not. Nevertheless he spoke for ten minutes, expressing appreciation of his reception and the honor of having his name enrolled among the names of the great men of the middle temple.

Mr. Choate is now a master of the bench of the middle temple, his election to the position being the first time in several generations that the honor has been conferred upon other than an English subject. Five signers of the Declaration of Independence were members of the middle temple, but since that time until the election of Mr. Choate no American has been a member.

EQUITABLE IS SOUND.

Superintendent Hendricks Certifies to Solvency of Great Life Society.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 10.—Superintendent of Insurance Francis Hendricks has made public the following statement:

"To the Policy Holders of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States:

"This department is in receipt of numerous inquiries concerning the controversy now pending within the management of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States, and particularly as to the solvency of the society.

"In order to allay the anxiety of all the policy holders I deem it proper at this time to say that in connection with the examination of the society, now in progress by this department, I am at this date sufficiently well informed as to its condition to unhesitatingly state that it is financially sound and that all its contracts to policy holders are fully and safely guaranteed."

FIRM FAITH IN TOGO.

Japanese Sanguine as to Outcome of Expected Sea Fight.

LONDON, May 10.—Dispatches from Japan received here reflect sanguine feeling over the expected naval battle between Togo and Rojestvensky. Much feeling is shown by the Japanese press on account of France's alleged breaches of neutrality. The Russians through secret agents are reported to have bought up all the available coal supply of Hongkong, Saigon and Singapore.

High prices have been paid for everything, bonuses being paid to crews of supply ships. At Saigon a number of natives were captured while trying to set fire to the Russian store of coal. It is alleged they were incited to do so by Japanese agents.

The Kokumin, a semiofficial paper of Tokyo, publishes a report from Port Arthur that the Japanese training ship Tsukishima of the Mercantile Navigation school of Tokyo, which disappeared six years ago with over 200 apprentices on board, has been found among the vessels at the bottom of Port Arthur harbor. She had been repainted and used by the Russians. Mystery still attaches to the fate of those who were on board.

A report from Russian headquarters says that day after day since his assumption of the command General Linevitch, at Gunshu pass, goes steadily about the inspection of the troops, both those on the positions and the units arriving from European Russia.

Mounted on a small sorrel horse, wearing an old overcoat devoid of embroidery and trappings and with only the simplest indication of rank, Linevitch, accompanied by his adjutant, two orderlies and the chiefs of the reviewed troops, but almost without further suit, rides along company after company, battery after battery, finding something to say to each, sometimes a jest, sometimes a reproof, but always the language of a soldier, breathing strength, determination and firm faith.

Even the nonmilitary observer, however, can note a decided change for the better in comparison with the Kuropatkin regime. Jealousy and bickering have noticeably decreased. There is apparently less of the spirit of self advancement, more subordination and team work. Suggestions are no longer frowned upon, and the subordinate with a plan or criticism is given a hearing.

CHICAGO STRIKE.

Situation Is Getting Beyond Control of International Union.

CHICAGO, May 10.—The large department stores and the express companies resumed business on almost a normal basis. They sent their wagons into the extreme parts of the city, in some instances without police protection, and transacted their business without interruption or trouble of a serious character. Sixteen hundred teams were at work and the number will be increased. Notwithstanding this apparent gain, however, there are strong indications that the strike will spread within the next few days, not only among the teamsters, but will involve other unions as well.

With the expected arrival here of President Roosevelt the teamsters' strike situation seemed to be getting away from the control of International President C. P. Shea of the Teamsters' brotherhood and his associates on the general strike committee. Sympathetic strikes threatening to involve varied interests have been precipitated by the rank and file, more are hanging fire and a feeling of restlessness pervades the hourly gatherings of strikers.

Not a Word of Truth In It.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—O. F. Williams, late American consul general at Singapore, referring to the report published from Norfolk, Va., concerning alleged smuggling on the collier Brutus, says: "There is not a word of truth in the report. When leaving Singapore I brought with me a trunk and five cases of goods belonging to a family of Americans who became stranded nearly two years ago in Singapore and to whom I advanced money to reach America and pay their debts in Singapore."

Japanese Notables at Rome.

ROME, May 10.—Prince and Princess Arisugawa, the former a cousin of the emperor of Japan, visited King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Helena at the Quirinal and were cordially entertained by the sovereigns for about an hour. Prince Arisugawa said he was going to Berlin and wished to stop in Italy to pay his respects to the king and queen. He recalled the fact that he and King Victor Emmanuel (then the crown prince) had met at the jubilee of Queen Victoria.

Magnates "Shoot Up" the Car.

HOUSTON, Tex., May 10.—Ex-President W. T. Eldridge of the Cane Belt railway met his enemy, Edward Calhoun, on an Aransas river train. Both proceeded to "shoot up" the car. Calhoun was killed and A. W. Turner, a passenger, shot. There was a panic on the train. The duel was the culmination of a railroad feud.

Mount Kuhgando Collapsed.

BOMBAY, May 10.—An earthquake has been experienced at Bender Abbas, Persia, and fifty persons are reported to have been buried by a landslide. Two hundred yards of the mountain Kuhgando, behind the town, collapsed. In the town a number of towers and buildings fell.

President Mitchell's Daughter Ill.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 10.—President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers is at Spring Valley, Ill., at the bedside of his daughter, who is seriously ill. He has postponed his trip to the anthracite coal regions till the latter part of next week.

CAPTAIN HUBBARD REMAINS DIRECTOR

PLAINFIELDER HEAD OF FREEHOLDERS BOARD FOR EIGHTEENTH TIME.

For the eighteenth consecutive year, J. Frank Hubbard, of this city, was elected director of the Union County Board of Freeholders at the reorganization at Elizabeth today. He has served in the Board thirty-eight years and the office has been conferred upon him in recognition of his faithful service and is knowledge of county matters.

Dr. F. W. Westcott, of Fanwood, was again elected county physician with $50 increase in salary and James W. Fink was made road inspector. The committees were allowed to remain practically the same.

Y. M. C. Cottillion.

The first cotillion under the auspices of the Young Women's Club, held in the club-rooms, Babcock building, last night, was a great success. The dance committee comprised Miss M. S. Krom, Miss Laura Osgood and Miss Olga Lockert. Mrs. Marion S. Ackerman and Miss Conklin received the guests and Miss Florence Huntington and Miss Halloway assisted at the favor tables. Miss Krom had charge of the dance and was the leader of the cotillion.

Wire to Cure Balkiness.

Angered because his horse balked with a heavy load, a driver employed by Charles L. Stanley started a fire between the animal's feet, yesterday afternoon. The horse still refused to move and before bystanders could interfere it was badly burned. The driver unceremoniously quit the job and has not yet been located.

CONVENTION HAS ENDED

the session of the Episcopal diocesan clergy and lay delegates at the Casino this morning.

The trouble came through a clerical effort to break up a long string of re-elections to the standing committee, which is made up of eight members, four clergy and four laymen. At yesterday afternoon's session nominations for all committees and offices to be filled were called for. Election always takes place at the session following nominations. In addition to the usual four clergy, six others were put in.

After the convention yesterday the clergymen who favored a change had a special ballot prepared bearing the names of Rev. Mr. Stevenson and the Rev. Mr. Schuyler, in place of Rev. Mr. Moses and Dr. Oberly.

After the ballots had been deposited this morning, B. F. H. Shreve, a Camden lawyer and ex-chancelor of the diocese, arose to question the right of the special ballot.

Capt. James Parker, a prominent Perth Amboy churchman, warmly denied Mr. Shreve's right to question the presence of the ballot. "Any delegate or set of delegates has the right to prepare such a ballot," he said. Applause followed his remarks.

Bishop Scarborough looked gravely over the convention.

"It may be lawful to prepare such a ticket," he said, "but I am sorry to see a political trick in this convention. Very sorry."

Rev. John Atkinson immediately took the floor.

"I do not see, sir, why the preparation of this ballot is characterized as a trick. Those who prepared it believed they were acting within their rights, and I, for one, have no hesitancy in acknowledging myself as one of them. It was not a trick, sir."

"I withdraw the terms," said the Bishop, "but I have my opinion of the matter. I am surprised at the action. It is the first time in my thirty years of service that such a thing has been done at this convention."

Mr. Stevenson hastened to align himself with Mr. Atkinson on the firing line. The discussion became general. The debate was choked off by a demand for the teller's report from peace-lovers.

This is the standing committee: Rev. A. E. Baker, Rev. R. G. Moses, Rev. H. H. Oberly, Rev. C. M. Perkins, D. G. Baird, Francis Collingwood, Howard Richards and J. B. Woodward.

The convention will meet next year in Atlantic City.

STRIKERS THREATEN WORKING HOD-CARRIERS

MAYOR AND POLICE SUMMONED TO PRESERVE THE PEACE.

Titus H. Laury, who has the contract on the Dr. Pittis property on East Front street, is having more trouble than the other bosses, since the hod-carriers went on a strike. He is now employing his fifth gang of men. This morning some of the strikers appeared on the scene and made another attempt to get the men to quit. Mr. Laury sought the aid of Mayor Buckle and Chief of Police Kiely. The officials told the strikers not to molest the workmen. Yesterday Thomas Smith, while on his way to work for Mr. Laury was struck by a union man, whose name he does not know.

The strikers claim that they will win, that Firman Gise, Oscar Moore, Theodore Gray and Cormick Canfield are paying the increased rate and that others will give the extra money.

Seaman Williams has also had a little trouble keeping hod-carriers at work.

FINAL SESSIONS OF W. C. T. U. INSTITUTE

GOLD MEDAL SPEAKING CONTEST WON BY MISS ORREL L. WRENCH.

Mrs. W. W. Casselberry, of Dunellen, opened the afternoon session of the Women's Christian Temperance Union Institute in the Scotch Plains Baptist church, yesterday, with devotions. Mrs. L. H. Noe, of Elizabeth, gave a talk on the subject of "Music in the W. C. T. U." and other addresses were made by Mrs. T. C. Bedine, Mrs. M. D. Temlinson, of this city, and Mrs. Lee Cook Smith, of Montclair. Mrs. Emma Bourne, of Newark, State president, took charge of the question box.

The evening session was devoted to a gold medal speaking contest, after a short programme of music. The contest was won by Miss Orrel L. Wrench, her essay being "Poorhouse Nan."

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The Young Men's Brotherhood of Warren chapel is arranging for an entertainment, and a strawberry and ice cream festival to be given early next month. The plans are in charge of a committee composed of Charles Wheeler, Samuel Tayner, Wm. Welch, C. George Harrison and Charles Windham.

Dr. Grossmann Engaged.

Announcement is made in the Washington, D. C., newspapers today of the engagement of Miss Mary Scott Emmons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Emmons, of that city, to Dr. Maximilian G. E. Grossmann, of this city. The marriage will be celebrated at the end of June.

Property Transfer.

Mrs. Jane F. MacDonald, who sold her house on East Front street to Dr. Pittis, has purchased the property on Park avenue, next to the Public Library, and will take up her residence there in a few days.

Logan, Freeholders' Director.

The Somerset County Board of Freeholders reorganized this morning as follows: Director, William J. Logan; counsel, John A. French; engineer, John Doughty; clerk, A. P. Sutphen.

Class Honors Awarded.

Miss Carolyn Palmer will be valedictorian, and Miss Florence Derby, salutatorian, at the Plainfield High School commencement exercises to be held in the First Baptist church next month.

DENMAN BLOCKS SERIES

He Insists on Playing Blacklisted Pitcher.

"RED" CAUSES TROUBLE

Plainfield Manager to Abide by the National Commission Agreement.

The announcement made yesterday that no series of games between Plainfield and Westfield is likely this season, unless "Red" Waller is cleared of the ban, caused a sensation among the fans, yet the action was not altogether a surprise. A few weeks ago when Manager Daab commenced to clear the Hoboken Club of the ban, it was then intimated that unless the ban was taken off of Waller he would be the cause of calling off the series as arranged.

The direct act which has brought the matter to a decision was a communication received yesterday morning by Manager Daab from J. H. O'Rourke, manager of the Bridgeport, Conn., State League Club, from which team Waller jumped some time ago.

It is far from Mr. Daab's desire to cancel the Westfield series, and it was not his fault that Manager O'Rourke's attention was called to the fact that the Plainfield-Westfield series had been arranged and that Waller could not eligibly play in these games. In view of the fact that Mr. Daab has just succeeded in having the ban lifted from his team, after depositing $500 with the National Commission as a guarantee of good faith, it is the opinion of many that an enemy of the Plainfield Baseball Association has brought the matter to the attention of Mr. O'Rourke and caused him to take this action against Waller.

The fans say that rather than allow the present local team to withdraw and deny them the privilege of seeing first-class baseball this summer, they are willing to forego the Westfield series, unless the games can be pulled off right, and they say they are willing to back the local management in its position. The management assures the supporters of the game that in case it cannot play Westfield, a series equally as strong and attractive will be substituted.

President Charles H. Denman, of the Westfield Baseball Association, informed Mr. Daab yesterday that he would not consent to drop Waller, but the supporters of the game say that they see no reason why one man should cause Plainfield to give up its good team with prospects for a successful season, and they believe that Mr. Denman will eventually consent to drop Waller rather than lose the income from the Plainfield series.

According to the terms of the National Commission which raised the ban on the Hoboken Club, it cannot play any ineligible player, or one under reserve by an National Agreement club, though not under contract with such cliub, nor will it be permitted to play any club having such players on its team.

Another provision is that in no instance will National Agreement players be permitted to play with or against the Hoboken Club, even with the consent of the club to which they belong. The Hoboken Club will be permited to play any National Agreement club with which it can make proper arrangements.

The Hoboken Club will be required to file a list of its players from time to time, with the secretary of the National Commission and the secretary of the National Baseball Association, who shall promulgate the same as National Agreement players.

The Hoboken Club is to be given the same protection as any National Agreement club. These conditions were adopted at a meeting of the commission in Cincinnati a few days ago.

Against 100 Corporations.

Attorney General McCarter has commenced proceedings against upwards of 100 corporations for nonpayment of State taxes. Action is brought following the usual custom of endeavoring to enforce collection of all corporation taxes one year in arrears. There are nearly 3,000 companies to proceed against this year, and already action has been brought in about 300 cases.

In Justice Mosher's Court.

William Wilson has sued John Carl on contract before Justice Mosher. The case will be heard on May 20 at 10 o'clock a. m. F. J. Blatz and J. P. Powers are the opposing counsel. The contract case of Moore & Schoelein against Joseph Darby, in Justice Mosher's court, has been adjourned for a week. F. J. Blatz is counsel for the plaintiff.

MASONIC BURIAL FOR JUSTICE E. D. MOFFETT

SERVICES HELD IN THE FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH YESTERDAY.

In accordance with his earnestly expressed wish just before death eased his sufferings, funeral services over the body of Justice Elmore D. Moffett were held in the First Baptist church, yesterday afternoon. They were attended by a large gathering of relatives and friends and a delegation of members from Jerusalem lodge, No. 26, F. and A. M., with which he was connected for thirty-five years.

The services were directly in charge of Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, pastor of the church, assisted by Rev. A. M. Finn, of the Park Avenue Baptist church. They were very simple, the clergymen confining themselves to scriptural readings and prayer. A trio composed of Miss Etta Raybert, M. E. Runyon and Frederick J. Pope rendered two hymns, "Nearer My God to Thee" and "Lead, Kindly Light." The floral tributes were so numerous as to hide the casket almost from sight and comprised several large set pieces.

At the open grave in Hillside cemetery, the Masonic burial service was conducted by E. A. Osmun, worshipful master of Jerusalem lodge, assisted by Frederick J. Pope and Robert Kenney. This was also requested by Mr. Moffett just previous to his death.

The pall bearers were all members of Jerusalem lodge as follows: David S. Pope, William V. Mundy, William Addis, Howard Pope, B. Frank Cerfoli and David Weaver.

CUBAN X-GIANTS MARKED FOR DEFEAT

HOT GAME EXPECTED ON CRESCENT OVAL SATURDAY.

The Cuban X Giants, the famous team of colored players who will meet the locals on Crescent Oval on Saturday, are considered by many fans to be fully as strong as the Philadelphia Giants which gave the team such a close rub on Saturday. Last season the Cubans defeated the Giants in a series of contests and the greatest rivalry exists between the two nines. David Lamar, brother of "Pete" Lamar, catcher for the locals, is the manager for the Cubans and he has assured the management that he will bring his strongest lineup to Plainfield on Saturday. This team also carries several lively coachers and they never fail to keep the fans in good humor.

The management expects to have Linderman in the box on Saturday and this will please fandom, and it is also expected that Leonard will be able to play his regular position at third. The team is displaying rare form just now as was indicated by its contest on Saturday and the one on Sunday with the New York Giants, when they were defeated by the close score of 4 to 2. Considering the fast ball being put up by the Daubsters, they will be in the best of condition when they meet Westfield on May 20 and should be able to turn the trick in good style. Judging by last Saturday's attendance, more seating capacity will be needed by the time Westfield comes here to accommodate the big crowd that is sure to be at the oval.

The lineup of the two teams follow:

Plainfield—Cosgrove, cf; Oldring, ss; Kiernan, 2b; Leonard, 3b; Driscoll, 1b; Oregan, lf; Connelly, rf; Lamar, C; Linderman or Beisel, p.

Cuban X Giants—Jackson, cf; Talbot, 2b; Toney, ss; Hill, 3b; P. Wilson, 1b; Patterson, lf; Jordan, rf; Williams, c; Buckner, Ball, Carter and E. Wilson, p.

Charles H. Clark's New Novel.

Charles Heber Clark, a brother of E. B. Clark, of Crescent avenue, has written a novel entitled "The Quakeress." A dual personality is revealed by the author of this book in the name under which he has chosen to come before the public. As "Max Adler," the name that appeared on the title page of "Out of the Hurly Burly" in 1874, Mr. Clark was one of the most individual and irresistible of American humorists.

Part of N. J. Building at Sea Girt.

The first carload of the New Jersey building at the World's Fair has reached Sea Girt, and several other carloads are on their way East. The first car contains the electrical and other fixtures of the building, upon which work will be pushed as rapidly as circumstances will permit.

OFFICER INTERFERES WITH AMATEUR FIGHT

RING IN A LOT—PRINCIPALS APPRENTICE BOYS.

Patrolman Higgins nipped an amateur prize fight in the bud early last evening. The would-be pugilists were two apprentice boys from the Scott Press Works, who were encouraged in the enterprise by about 500 men and boys from the shop and neighborhood.

The fight was arranged yesterday. It was scheduled to take place immediately after the shop closed, and as soon as the principles and the "sports" could get together they started for a field near Berckman street.

Higgins, riding over his East End beat on his bicycle, saw the crowd streaming across the street and headed for it.

"Cheese it, the cop!" yelled somebody, and the whole crowd broke and ran. Not one of the 400 or more men and boys stood on the order of his going.

Higgins made no captures, because he had seen no disorder or violation of the law.

"But there will be, if these birds try to pull off anything like that around my territory," he assured a reporter this morning. "The Grand Jury aint going to have anything to investigate on this side of the brook, if I can help it."

BOSSES HOLD OUT AGAINST UNION'S DEMANDS

LITTLE TROUBLE TODAY WITH THE STRIKERS.

There is little change today in the troubles among the striking hod-carriers. Titus H. Laury, who is working on East Front street, doubled the number of his employes today, having fifteen men on the job. There was no interference on the part of the strikers.

Seaman Williams, who is building a house for Moses Schloss on East Front street, has had a little trouble with his new men, although there has been no determined efforts to stop his work.

Tallamy Brothers, who have the contract at the new High School, declare that they will not allow the demands of the union men. Despite the fact that the hod-carriers on that job had a joint contract with the general contractor to complete their part of the work, they quit, and their places have been filled with non-union men, causing no interruption of the work.

Among the bosses who have refused the increase are W. O. Smith, William Faugborn, Seaman Williams and Titus H. Laury. Thus far they have not had much trouble in getting other men to take the places of the strikers.

The bosses held an informal meeting this morning and decided to hold a session of the Master Builders tonight. A proposition will be made to grant the increase in wages and to refuse to take back any of the strikers.

HONOR LOCAL MASONS.

Jacob Kirkner, Dr, Adams and M. L. Higginbottom Raised.

At the annual session of the Grand Commandery, K. T., at Trenton, Jacob Kirkner, of Trinity Commandery, No. 17, was chosen Right Eminent Commander for the ensuing year, and at the forty-ninth annual convocation of the Grand Chaapter, Royal Arch Masons, held yesterday, Dr. D. C. Adams, of this city, was elected deputy grand high priest.

Both Mr. Kirkner and Dr. Adams have always taken a prominent part in Masonic work. Another honor for Plainfield was the election last night of Marcus L. Higginbottom, of this city, as president of the Past High Priests' Association at a banquet held in the colonial room of the Trenton House.

A Little Drummer.

Walter Coyne, representing the J. E. Linde Paper Co., of New York, passed through Plainfield yesterday accompanied by his seven-year-old son, who carried a miniature suit case. The little fellow is fast learning his father's territory and hopes to be able to take care of the trade before long.

TO BUILD THE JAIL NOW

Somerset Freeholders Arrange to Borrow $45,000.

GETTING PLANS READY

Court House Not to be Erected Next Year—Meeting Next Tuesday.

At the first meeting of the Somerset County Board of Freeholders yesterday, after reorganization, at the Court House, in Somerville, the following resolution anent the new public buildings was unanimously adopted:

"The committee on public buildings, having requested the Board, in anticipation of issuing county bonds, to direct that the money be raised for the purpose of building a county jail, and at this time it not being ascertained what amount will be required, it is accordingly resolved that the County Collector be and he is hereby authorized to borrow upon the notes of the county, at a rate of interest not exceeding five per cent. per annum, the sum of $45,000, subject to the order of the said building committee, the loans to be procured from time to time as the said committee may direct."

The building committee has fixed next Tuesday for a meeting at the Clerk's office, when plans will be considered. It is believed the jail alone can be erected for about $45,000. It will be fitted out with patent ventilation fixtures, the new style cells, steam heating and every modern appliance.

It was definitely decided yesterday not to do anything toward building a new court house this year. The object is to get the jail completed and in working order before any work at all is done on the court house.

During the last year the statement of the county finances was as follows: Cash balance from last year, $9,179.60; total receipts during the year, $358,675.29, making a total of $367,854.89; the total paid out during the past year was $363,563.21, leaving a balance of $4,291.68.

STEPHEN BEECHING DEAD

Leading Citizen of Watchung Has Passed Away.

WELL-KNOWN MASON

Made Money as a Newspaper Distributor, He Having a Monopoly —Funeral Arrangements.

Following an illness of little more than a week, Stephen Beeching, one of the best known residents in Watchung, died at his home there yesterday afternoon. He was taken with a chill just before retiring last Tuesday and pleuro-pneumonia developed rapidly. Previously he had enjoyed excellent health and his quick decline was totally unexpected.

Mr. Beeching was born at Great Chart, England, in 1834, and came to America when a young man. He became engaged in the retail newspaper business and at one time controlled the entire output of New York dailies from the Battery to Fourteenth street. He retired about twenty-two years ago and since then had made his home at Watchung, where he followed farming more as a pleasure than for its remuneration. In this city, he was widely known, principally through his affiliation with Jerusalem lodge, No. 26, F. and A. M., which he joined in 1884. He was elected junior warden in 1894 and in 1897 was made worshipful master. He took great interest in all matters that pertained to the order and his faithfulness in attending communications was frequently commented upon. He was at the session of Jerusalem lodge, last week, assisting in the work, and it was on reaching home that he was first taken sick. He was of a genial disposition and was highly esteemed by all Watchung and his numerous Plainfield friends. He leaves a widow, one daughter, Miss Nettie Beeching, and two sons, Stephen and George.

The funeral will be held from his late home Saturday afternoon at 2:30 and the interment will be at the Methodist cemetery, where the full Masonic service will be conducted, according to his expressed wish. The casket will be borne by past members of his lodge.

Reception to Orchestra.

An informal reception will be tendered to the Y. M. C. A. orchestra by the membership committee of the association tonight. The affair will follow a meeting of the committee.

BASEBALL PLAYER WEDS AT BRIDGETON

WILLIAM H. DILKS MARRIES MISS ROICHARD.

William Hixby Dilks, of West Fourth street, the well known baseball player, was married at Bridgeton, his former home, yesterday, his bride being Miss Anna Roichard, of that place. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Brummel in the First Baptist church and was witnessed by a large gathering of relatives and friends, many of them from this city.

Miss Augusta Wainright, of Bridgeton, was bridesmaid, and Peter Galbraith, of West Fourth street, this city, was best man. John and Joseph Dilks, brothers of the groom, were ushers, and Miss Ethel Dilks, a niece, played the wedding march. The bride was gowned in embroidered Brussels net over white silk and carried lilies-of-the-valley. Her attendant were Brussels net over white satin and carried carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's uncle, Dr. F. B. Wainright, after which Mr. and Mrs. Dilks left on a wedding trip. On returning they will make their home in this city at 229 Prescott place, which the groom has furnished. He is employed at the wood Tool Works and is popular with a large circle of friends. He is a member of the Hope Y. M. A. and was one of the most ardent supporters of its 1903 baseball team.

HAVE VOTED $32,000 FOR A NEW EDIFICE

WARREN CHAPEL'S NEW BUILDING TO BE ERECTED SOON.

At a meeting of the members of Warren chapel, last night, it was voted to begin as soon as possible the erection of a new Warren chapel at Watchung and Fairview avenues, the cost not to exceed $32,000. The plans have already been drawn by Architect A. L. U. Marsh and the contract is to be let at once. It is hoped to have the new building ready for occupancy early in the coming fall.

The new chapel will be of stone construction and will be one of the prettiest of its kind in the city. The main entrance will be on Fairview avenue and the primary departments will have separate rooms from the others.

The building committee which has the plans in charge and presented them last night consists of Charles F. Abbott, Townsend Rushmore, H. G Runkle and Joseph W. Gavett.

Boy With Tramp Tendencies.

Willie Doyle, alleged to be incorrigible in his trampish tendencies by this father, Patrick Doyle, was arrested yesterday. Willie has been in the habit of sleeping outdoors and in barns whenever the fancy seized him, and his father had begun to fear that he would start out as a full-fledged hobo unless taken in hand by the authorities. Willie is thirteen years old. He promised to reform this morning, and was allowed to go home.

South Plainfield's Bounds.

The special committee appointed by the citizens of South Plainfield to have the village incorporated as a borough met last night and set the metes and bounds of the proposed borough. It will extend from Clinton avenue on the west and include the coal storage grounds on the east, extending south a short distance beyond the Port Reading tracks. Samuel Manning and Thomas Brautingham were appointed a law committee.

James McCarty Buried.

The funeral services of James McCarty, one of the oldest members of St. Mary's church, having been identified with the parish for nearly fifty years, were held this morning from the church. The celebrant of the solemn requiem mass was Father Delehanty. Father Reilly, of Westfield, was deacon and Father Began was the sub-deacon. The interment was in St. Mary's cemetery.

A Committee of Fifty.

Watchung Council, Knights of Columbus, at Tuesday night's meeting, appointed a committee of fifty to arrange all details in connection with its day at the Hospital Carnival. Andrew E. Kenney and A. A. Cannon are to supervise and they are taking steps to make the day a banner event.

DREAMLAND CARNIVAL WILL OPEN TONIGHT

ATTRACTIONS GALORE TO PLEASE THE CROWD.

The tents are up and the showmen are prepared to do business with a big crowd when the Dreamland Carnival is opened to the public at 7 o'clock tonight. Men and teams have been working from morning till night for the last few days hauling paraphernalia to the grounds on West Fourth street, Darrow and Spooner avenues.

Former Mayor Charles Joel Fisk, the James A. Bailey of the undertaking, declares that no expense has been spared in providing attractions that will tempt the crowd to part with their tainted money.

Handsome souvenirs containing the list of attractions were distributed today and a fresh supply will be given out at the grounds. The entire net receipts of the Carnival will be donated to Muhlenberg Hospital.

Interest at the rifle range will be increased by the offer of two prizes for target shooting. The trophies are offered by the Log-cabin Gun Club, a Country Club off-shoot. Ten shots will qualify contestants. The best score will win, and the winner will have his choice between a handsome umbrella and a vase. The second best score will take the remaining prize. Ties will be shot off.

Cops, letter-carriers and baseball players will figure in voting contests to run all through the carnival. The most popular cop will receive a ton of coal; the ditto letter-carrier will get a barrel of flour, and the popular idol of the diamond will get a dress suit case.

TALK ON JAPANESE FLOWER ARRANGEMENT

MISS AVERILL GIVES TWO INSTRUCTIVE DEMONSTRATIONS.

Under the auspices of the Plainfield Women's Exchange, Miss Mary Averill, of New York, gave a delightful talk and demonstration on the Japanese flower arrangement yesterday morning and afternoon at the home of Mrs. Howard O. Tracy, of Prospect avenue. There were about fifty guests in the morning and seventy-five in the afternoon, and the Exchange will realize approximately about $75.

Miss Averill, who for several years has devoted considerable time to the study of the Japanese flower growth and arrangement, and who is the only person in the world outside of Japan, who is permitted by that Government to tell about these flowers.

Miss Averill lived for six years in Yokohoma and studied about flowers under a Japanese professor. She was awarded three degrees by the Japanese government. An interesting fact referred to by her was about the floral calendar vase by which a person can tell the date and other interesting things about moon and sun phases.

After the talk there was an animated discussion, in which Miss Averill was asked many questions by those present.

Operation at Hospital.

Mrs. Catherine U. Schenck, the aged mother of Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, while visiting her sister, Mrs. Van Nest, at Weston, Somerset County, was suddenly attacked on Monday with violent pains in the pit of the stomach. Two physicians, one Mrs. Schenck's nephew, decided that an operation must be quickly performed. Mrs. Schenck was brought to Plainfield on the train and taken in the ambulance to Muhlenberg Hospital Tuesday afternoon, where an operation was performed by Dr. G. W. Endicott, assisted by Dr. J. B. Probasco, the family physician. A ragged edged gall stone was found in the intestine. At noon today Mrs. Schenck's condition was favorable to her recovery.

Preparing for the Gray Coated Host.

The annual Decoration day parade of the State Letter-Carriers' Association will be held this year at Rahway. Uncle Sam's men in that place have already made preparations for receiving 600 visitors, among whom will be a good-sized delegation from Plainfield. The Newark, Jersey City and Paterson contingents will be accompanied by brass bands.

THE DELEGATES DELIGHTED

Clergy and Laity Pleased With the Convention.

IDEAL APPOINTMENTS

Grace Church Women Entertained Clergy and Laity and Their Wives at Luncheon.

Following the close of the Episcopal diocesan convention at the Casino the clergy and the deputies and those of their wives who accompanied them to the convention, were entertained at luncheon by the women of Grace Parish. Taking advantage of the soft, spring weather, the women served the lunch at fresco and the gathering about the tables received itself into one of the most delightful features of the convention.

The tables were set in one long line on the porch. Flowers were on the tables, but the green trees, the vista of lawn and foliage down West Seventh street furnished a decorative effect that made the affair seem very much more festal than a mere conventional luncheon. Mrs. T. W. T. Maxwell, chairman of the committee in charge of the luncheon, and her assistants were delighted with the success of the social climax to the tiresome routine of the convention hall.

The members of the convention, from Bishop Scarborough down, were delighted on their part with everything connected with the convention arrangements. The Casino met their ideal of a meeting place, and everything went smoothly under the direction of the convention committee of the parish.

"This is the most convenient and attractive hall in which I have ever attended a diocesan convention," said Rev. H. Stanley Smith, for the past six years secretary of the convention. He was markedly enthusiastic over the attractively decorated auditorium, and expressed his pleasure in warm terms to Manager Mase Edwards.

One feature of the convention arrangements that particularly pleased the members was the attendance of a corps of pages, recruited from among the boys of the parish, who carried reports and ballots and other papers to and from the convention floor to the secretary's desk on the platform. Their service facilitated the work of the convention to a very appreciable extent, and a special resolution of thanks was extended to them in the closing minutes of the convention. Secretary Smith read the resolution in full from the platform, and warm applause followed it. The resolution and the names of the boys will be incorporated in the diocesan journal, with the other matters pertaining to the business of the convention.

The pages were Garthwaite Carman, John H. Jewett, Jr., John Holly, H. M. Robert, Ogden Rogers, Elliott Rowland, Gordon Stuart, Morris Timpson, James Fleming, Arthur Willis, R. Sidney Gough, Herbert Grant, John Bramble, Isaac Elliott, Jr., and A. McClain Parker, Jr.

A resolution of thanks to the rector, and the people of Grace parish, particularly the women who had so bountifully provided for the comfort and entertainment of the clergy and deputies, was also passed.

Most of the out-of-town clergy and deputies left the city immediately after lunch. A few remained overnight at the houses of friends, but practically all of them had returned to their homes by nightfall.

Bishop and Mrs. Scarborough, who has been entertained by Rev. Mr. Stevenson at Grace church rectory, were among the first to leave, going on the 2:42 train. The Bishop was among those who expressed warm pleasure over the convention arrangements.

Joe Mondeau's Success.

Joseph J. Mondeau, who was formerly local manager of the Postal Telegraph office, is now actively engaged in newspaper work in connection with his duties in the Pittston, Pa., office. He is the regular correspondent in that district for the Wilkes-Barre Leader and has feature stories in each day's issue. Since locating in Pittston, Mr. Mondeau has met with success in both branches of work and is greatly pleased with the field. While in Plainfield he was extremely popular with a large circle of friends and one of the leading members of the Everlasting Social Club.

Entertained Thistle Club.

Mr. and Mrs. James Cozzens, of West End avenue, entertained the members of the Thistle Club at their home Tuesday night. Music, games and refreshments were the features of an enjoyable programme.

SCHOOL TENNIS.

Invitations Received by Local High School.

Invitations without number are being issued to the pupils of the Plainfield High School to enter tennis tournaments which are now being held under the direction of the several schools in the State. The local school has a team which it may be well proud of in the person of Briggs and Craig, winners of the tournaments held in the school in the past few years. Briggs' ability has been shown in the recent tournament in New York, while Craig, who is a newer man at the game, is in Briggs' class.

The first invitation which the school has accepted is in the Montclair High School tournament which starts June 8, and continues until June 10. The team will enter in both singles and doubles and their prospects are considered bright.

KENTUCKY DERBY.

Agile Passed the Wire an Easy Winner on Churchill Downs.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 11.—Moving with a long effortless stride, Agile passed under the wire on Churchill Downs an easy winner of the thirty-first Kentucky Derby. The track was somewhat slow. Three and a half lengths behind him came Ram's Horn, on which the hopes of Tennessee and Blue Grass horsemen were fixed. Trailing fifteen lengths to the rear came Layson. With three starters it was a one horse race. The time for the mile and a quarter was 2:10¾.

Nearly 20,000 persons saw the race run. It was the opening day of the spring meeting of the new Louisville Jockey club. Early in the day it became known that the Derby would be simply a duel between Ram's Horn and Agile, with Layson added to fill in for third money. Dr. Leggo had a strong following until it was reported that he would be scratched because of overtraining.

The horses were sent away to a good start, and all three ran head and head for the first eighth, where Agile stuck his nose in front. In the home stretch Agile, cleverly hand ridden by Martin, began slowly gliding away from Ram's Horn and when the wire was reached had increased his lead to three and a half lengths and won eased up. At no time during the race did Agile seem to be fully extended, and he won without having felt the touch of a whip.

A PRESBYTERIAN CATHEDRAL.

Justice Harlan Said His Retirement Would Not Be Necessary.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Justice Harlan of the supreme court of the United States was asked regarding the report that he would retire from the supreme court bench and devote the remainder of his life to the raising of funds for the erection of a Presbyterian cathedral in Washington, the movement for which was started by him, in case the Presbyterian general assembly takes favorable action in the matter. He replied:

"In the circular letter which I sent out I did say that if the general plan suggested by me was approved by the church at large and my services were needed I would take pride in devoting a large part of the time remaining to me in co-operating with others in the interest of what for the want of a better word might be called the cathedral church of our denomination at the national capital. But I did not say I would retire from the bench merely to aid in that project. That would be unnecessary."

IN THE SOLE OF A SHOE.

Prisoners at Albany Jail Made Bold Stroke For Freedom.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 11.—A fine steel saw smuggled to them in the sole of the shoe of a tramp enabled Louis Himmell and William Goodman to make their third attempt to escape from the Albany county jail.

The prisoners were missed and not found until early in the morning, when they were discovered hiding between the ceiling of the building and the roof. They had sawed through the bars of their cell and climbed to the roof by means of cords taken from the window and their cots.

Twice before Himmell and Goodman sawed their way out of confinement, but were caught each time before they could get out of the jail inclosure. The first time they received the saws from a couple of young women visitors, and the second time the instruments found their way to them in some mysterious manner—it is believed in a loaf of bread. Both men are awaiting trial for attempting to rob a jewelry store.

AT VLADIVOSTOK.

Two of Rojestvensky's Cruisers Reach Siberian Stronghold.

LONDON, May 11.—A dispatch from St. Petersburg says that the cruisers Almaz and Jemtchug, belonging to Admiral Rojestvensky's fleet, have managed to elude the Japanese and have arrived at Vladivostok and that the cruisers Gromobol and Rossia have been ordered to leave that harbor to assist the coming fleet.

A dispatch from Saigon, French Indo-China, says that Admiral Nebogatoff's squadron arrived off Cape St. James, at the entrance of the bay of Saigon, and signaled its intention of proceeding to Saigon. A dispatch boat from Admiral Rojestvensky's squadron arrived and informed Admiral Nebogatoff that the French authorities wished the Russian squadrons to unite outside French waters. Thereupon Nebogatoff sailed for the open sea.

The British fleet has left Hongkong for a short cruise.

Admiral Rojestvensky's ships were exactly twenty-four days in French waters.

RECALL OF CASSINI.

Russian Minister Goes From Washington to Madrid.

NO KNOWN REASON FOR TRANSFER

Veteran Ambassador Is Dean of Diplomatic Corps at the Capital. Has Served Under Four Emperors.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador to this country, has been transferred to Madrid.

He will be succeeded here by Baron Rosen, until recently Russian minister at Tokyo.

Count Cassini was offered the ambassadorship to Madrid two months ago and accepted it.

He will leave in June for his new post.

That the news of Count Cassini's appointment to Madrid should have become known before it was officially announced at St. Petersburg has caused some annoyance to the ambassador, but as he had confided the fact to one of his diplomatic confreres the word was passed along, and it seemed best to make an official announcement.

COUNT CASSINI.

Two years and a half without leave has told on the health of the ambassador, and after a visit to St. Petersburg, where he will see the emperor, Count Cassini will go to Contralxville to take the cure.

Count Cassini is one of the veterans of the Russian foreign service, having completed fifty years of diplomatic life Dec. 27, 1904. He is the dean of the diplomatic corps at Washington.

Countess Cassini, daughter of the Russian ambassador, is one of the most charming women connected with the diplomatic corps in Washington, and Miss Alice Roosevelt, daughter of the president, is one of her most devoted friends. They are together much of the time, and Miss Roosevelt is a frequent caller at the Russian embassy.

Paderewski Sails For Home.

NEW YORK, May 11.—Ignace Paderewski has sailed for home with Mme. Paderewski in the steamer Oceanic. He said that he felt so ill as to be unable to stand an extended interview. More than 300 young women blocked up the main gangway of the ship for an hour before she left, wringing the hand of Paderewski and showering compliments upon him. Not more than half a dozen of these women were personally acquainted with the pianist, but they struggled in bargain counter formation in an endeavor to receive a parting handshake.

Trolley Car Hit Murdock's Carriage.

CHICAGO, May 11.—In a collision between a car on the Chicago and Milwaukee Electric railway and a carriage at Lake Bluff J. J. Murdock, manager of the Masonic temple; was seriously injured and is unconscious. J. H. Howard, a wool merchant, suffered a broken leg and Arthur J. George of San Francisco was injured internally. The trolley was making up time, and the carriage was being driven at a high speed to catch a train to Chicago. The trolley car was derailed and the passengers badly shaken up.

Indicted For Fraud on Equitable.

NEW YORK, May 11.—An indictment charging grand larceny in connection with the theft of $27,000 from the Equitable Life Assurance society has been handed down by the Kings county grand jury against William Daly. Daly was arrested at Stroudsburg, Pa., charged with the larceny of $27,000 from the Equitable in this city by the use of a forged signature of a holder of a $50,000 policy and by conspiracy with an employee of the Equitable society.

Assemblyman In Jail For Bribery.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 11.—Hon. C. B. Andrews, representative from Nevada county in the general assembly and editor of the Prescott Picayune, is in jail here on the charge of having received a bribe and of offering a bribe in connection with legislation. He was arrested at his home in Prescott.

IN THE STRIKE CITY

President Roosevelt Chicago's Honored Guest Last Night.

LABOR MEN PRESENT THEIR PROTEST

"No Request Has Been Made to Me For Troops; I Regret That Your Letter Spoke as It Did of the Use of Federal Army."

CHICAGO, May 11.—Honoring and honored by his political foes, but personal friends, President Roosevelt last night was the chief guest at a magnificent banquet tendered to him by the Iroquois club, the leading Democratic organization of Illinois. Surrounded by men who have fought against him in two national political campaigns, who deprecate many of his avowed policies and who have frowned on some of his political actions, the president was cheered to the echo as he entered and left the banquet hall, was applauded with enthusiasm throughout his address and at its close was given to understand that in his case political differences were not a personal issue.

The banquet was given entirely by Democrats to the leader of their political opponents, and many of the kindly personal references made by the speakers of the evening, the majority of whom are men of Democratic faith, deeply touched the president. In his manner and words he evinced throughout the evening a deep gratification at the warmth of his reception from men who have fought him in political battles before now and are ready to fight him again tomorrow if they held it necessary. Throughout the entire evening, however, ran the dominant note of admiration for the character of the man himself.

At the president's table were Mayor Edward F. Dunne, Charles F. Gunther, president of the Iroquois club; James Hamilton Lewis, toastmaster; Samuel Alschuler, Judge Murray F. Tuley, Sheriff Thomas E. Barrett and other Democrats. Of the Republicans there were at the same table Governor Charles S. Deneen, Senator A. J. Hopkins, Judge C. C. Kohlsaat, Judge K. W. Landis and a dozen more.

When at the conclusion of the welcome by Governor Deneen Mr. Lewis arose to introduce President Roosevelt he was at first given no opportunity to speak. The entire assembly was on its feet waving handkerchiefs and napkins and cheering with vigor.

When his voice could be heard Mr. Lewis happily introduced the president, who spoke as follows:

"It is a great pleasure and a great honor to be the guest here tonight. This country of ours is pre-eminently a business country, and we can succeed—and I say this in my turn with entire sincerity, gentlemen—only if as a country we carry on the national business in an entirely practical spirit—in a spirit which desires and commands success, but which desires and commands it as an incident of acting with decency toward all our fellow citizens.

"Just as that is true of the average business community so it is true of the nation as a whole. The nation must act in a spirit which gives full recognition to the national demands, which is not in the least quixotic, which sees the need of working for the interest of the average individual of the nation, but in a spirit which recognizes duties as well as rights, which recognizes that in our internal affairs, which recognizes that in our external affairs.

"I need not say to those of you who know anything of me at all that I believe in a big navy, and I hope I need not say that I believe in it not as a provocative to war, but as a guarantee of peace. And I want to say every section of this country realizes that the navy stands for the whole country and that the people of the seacoasts are not a particle more interested in it than the people of the Mississippi valley.

"There were two sides to the establishment of that naval station here where it was established. In the first place, we get, as perhaps some of you know, a peculiarly valuable class of recruits for the navy from the Mississippi valley and the regions adjoining the great lakes. In the next place, I wanted to see part of the establishment of the navy have its local habitation or name here in the great west. And so I feel that this organization conferred a favor not only upon the city of Chicago, but an advantage to the whole country in what it did toward securing the establishment of that station here where it has been established. I do not think that it is now very necessary to make an argument for an efficient navy. We are so fortunate that in this country we can get along with a very small army, an army which, relative to the population of the country, is smaller than the police force of any one of our great cities.

"With the navy the case is different. We have not the choice, gentlemen, as to whether this country will play a great part in the world; we cannot help playing a great part. All we can decide is whether we will play it well or ill; we have that to decide. We can consider whether we will do badly or well, but we cannot decide whether the parts are to be played; we have got to play them.

"We cannot abandon our position on the Monroe doctrine; we cannot abandon the Panama canal; we cannot abandon the duties that have come to us from the mere fact of our growth as a nation, from the growth of our commercial interests in the east and in the west, on the Atlantic and on the Pacific."

At the close of the banquet, accompanied by President Gunther and the members of the reception committee the president passed quickly from the hall, while the guests cheered him his tily. He went to his room in the Auditorium hotel to prepare for his journey to Washington, whither he departed at 12:30 o'clock this morning.

A committee of labor men appointed to call on President Roosevelt and lodge with him a protest against the employment of federal troops during the present teamsters' strike was granted an audience late in the afternoon. The committee consisted of Cornelius P. Shea, president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters; Charles Dold, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor; Joseph O'Neil, vice president of the Chicago Federation of Labor; T. P. Quinn, a member of the Canvassers' union, and T. Rickert, president of the Garment Workers' International union. The members of the committee, President Roosevelt and Secretary Loeb were the only persons at the conference. The following account of what passed in the room was given out by Secretary Loeb:

After presenting the protest to the president Mr. Shea, acting as spokesman, said:

"We are here as a committee to present you a statement, stating our position in this controversy between the Employers' association and the Teamsters' association. We have understood that they had asked your aid for bringing troops to Chicago. We want to present our position to you."

Mr. Quinn said:

"It will take about ten minutes. Perhaps we had better leave it with you."

The president said that he would read it at once and after doing so said:

"I have read the petition you have presented to me, the conclusion of which is a request for a hearing before any action be taken by the federal president relating to the Chicago strike situation. As yet no suggestion of any kind has come to me from any source that I should take any action. Of the merits of the case I am wholly ignorant. I have no knowledge of what the situation is or of what steps should properly be taken to end it. I feel, however, that in view of one statement or series of statements in your letter I ought to say this: I regret that you should in the letter have spoken at all of the use of the federal army as you have there spoken. No request has been made to me for action by the federal government, but at the same time, Mr. Shea, as you have in this communication to me brought up that fact, I want to say one thing with all the emphasis in my power. In upholding law and order, in doing what he is able to do to suppress mob violence in any shape or way, the mayor of Chicago, Mayor Dunne, has my hearty support. I am glad to be able to say this to you, gentlemen, before I say it to another body. Now let me repeat that I know nothing of the facts of the situation.

"What I have to say is based partly upon what I regard as the unfortunate phrasing of a letter presented to the president of the United States. I have not been called upon to interfere in any way, but you must not misunderstand my attitude. In every effort of Mayor Dunne to prevent violence by mobs or individuals to see that the laws are obeyed and that order is preserved he has the hearty support of the president of the United States, and in my judgment he should have that of every good citizen of the United States. Now, gentlemen, it has been a great pleasure to see you, and I am glad to have had the chance to say this to you."

Mr. Quinn, who knew the president in his youth, said:

"Mr. President, what prompted us to come to you with this statement is that for the last two or three weeks there has been a continual howl for the federal army. I have known you long enough to know that you would not respond to a one sided demand; that you will not respond until you have thoroughly investigated the case."

The president replied:

"Mr. Quinn, as yet the mayor of Chicago has not made any appeal to the governor, and therefore, of course, the governor has made none to me, and as yet nothing in the situation has demanded action by me. If action is called for I shall try to do justice under the law to every man so far as I have power. But the first essential is the preservation of law and order, the suppression of violence by mobs or individuals."

This closed the interview, and the committee withdrew.

CHICAGO STRIKE.

Union Teamster Shot Dead and Many Wounded In Outbreaks.

CHICAGO, May 11.—It was generally understood by both sides to the strike that there would be no disturbances while President Roosevelt was in the city. Notwithstanding this tacit agreement, there were a number of outbreaks, one of them taking place in Michigan avenue a short time after President Roosevelt had passed the spot. In this riot a number of men were cut and shot.

George S. Pierce, a union teamster, was shot and killed by George T. Waldorn, a deputy sheriff, who was guarding a Wells-Fargo express wagon. Pierce was passing Clark and Seventeenth streets when the express wagon, under guard of several deputies, among whom was Waldorn, came down Clark street. Waldorn was formerly a member of the Teamsters' union, and Pierce taunted him with his change in employment. Angered by the language of Pierce, Waldorn drew a revolver and fired one shot, the bullet striking Pierce just above the heart. Waldorn is under arrest for the shooting.

Miss Clemens Operated On.

NEW YORK, May 11.—Miss Clara Clemens, daughter of Mark Twain, was operated upon yesterday afternoon for appendicitis by Dr. Hartley. The operation was thoroughly successful.

RESULT OF MASSACRE

Zhitomir Jews Numbering Two Hundred Reported Killed.

RUSSIANS HOLD UP ALL TELEGRAMS

Martial Law In City Filled With Troops—Rabble, Divided In Small Parties, Plundered Jewish Houses and Stores.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 11.—In the massacre of Jews at Zhitomir, southwest Russia, the number of killed or wounded is said to be 200.

Dispatches are being held up. Telegrams sent to Zhitomir remain unanswered.

The minister of the interior has begun an inquiry on his own account.

In one district there are sixteen dead and over a hundred wounded, mostly Jews. Martial law has been proclaimed in the city. It is filled with troops, and order has been generally restored, though individual cases of violence are still occurring, and a renewal of rioting is feared Saturday evening and Sunday next. Stores which have been barricaded in fear of trouble are gradually reopening, and ordinary life in the city is resuming.

The same private advices bring news of a further anti-Semitic outbreak in Gostynin, in the province of Warsaw, in which many Jews were injured and houses pillaged. No fatalities, however, are reported, but Jewish circles here fear further developments not only in Zhitomir and Gostynin, but also in other localities along the Polish frontier, where the Jewish element is numerous and the anti-Semitic sentiment strong.

The official account of the Zhitomir tumult assigns the origin of the rioting to an encounter between a party of Jews who were boat riding and some roughs on the bank of the river. The latter stoned the Jews, who defended themselves with revolvers, wounding several of the attacking party, but not seriously.

Reports of the encounter, quickly spreading, aroused the Christian population to frenzy. The Jews also banded together for mutual protection, and, though a general encounter was prevented by the troops, several minor riots occurred, in one of which a Jewish boy was killed and several persons were wounded.

The disorder culminated in a pitched battle between Jews and Christians in the public square in the center of the city. Simultaneously there were collisions in several of the suburbs. The principal bloodshed occurred this day, and the rioting assumed apparently an organized character. Finally the military, of which there were three regiments stationed in the town, intervened and dispersed the crowds. Numerous arrests were made, including forty Christians.

There has been no renewal of fighting on a grand scale, but instead the rabble, dividing into small parties, has plundered stores and houses where they could evade the military and have committed several murders.

A Long Respite For Anna Valentina.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The case of Mrs. Anna Valentina, the New Jersey woman in whom the queen of Italy has taken an interest and who is under sentence of death, will not be reached in the supreme court of the United States before next fall. She has thirty days in which to perfect her appeal. The supreme court has already set May 29 for final adjournment of the term and will under this arrangement be dissolved ten days in advance of the presentation of the case. The next term of the court will not begin until Oct. 9 next.

"Bluebeard" Hoch on Trial.

CHICAGO, May 11.—At the trial of "Bluebeard" Johann Hoch yesterday Dr. Oscar Lewke, who held the post-mortem examination over the body of Mrs. Welcker-Hoch, described minutely the details of the examination. On cross examination he admitted that at the time of the first examination he thought he detected signs of kidney trouble. Later, however, he was convinced that there were no indications of such disease.

Barring Insurance Companies.

VIENNA, May 11.—The government is taking action against foreign life insurance companies doing business in this country, with the exception of German concerns. This renders business almost impossible, and the matter is bringing out diplomatic exchanges from the representatives here of the United States, Great Britain, Belgium and Holland, companies of which countries are concerned.

Descendant of Patrick Henry Insane.

ITHACA, N. Y., May 11.—Virginia Henry Beasley, aged eighty-eight, a granddaughter of Patrick Henry, who, being without means of support, is an inmate of a charitable institution here, has been committed to the State Hospital For the Insane at Willard, N. Y. She imagines that she will soon fall heir to unbounded wealth through family connections.

Plainfield, N. J., May 11, 1905.

There is something in a name with the Public Service Corporation when that concern lives up to its agreements without any urging. It cheerfully agrees to foot the bill for resurfacing Front street from Park to Watchung avenues the width of the tracks and eighteen inches on either side, and that work is now being done. It has also commenced street sprinkling along its tracks long before the time provided by ordinance.

Because President Denman insists on playing "Red" Waller, Manager Daab has been placed in an embarrassing position but we are quite sure that he will receive the deserved support of the local fans. The fact is that Plainfield can not have the series with Westfield. "Red" Waller, who is depended upon to bring victory to the Westfield champions is not eligible to play. Manager O'Rourke, with whom he signed for the Bridgeports, has formally notified Manager Daab that he will be dealt with by the National Commission if he allows his men to play in a game in which Waller takes part. This means that he would be heavily fined and, together with his team, blacklisted. On top of this Manager Denman says that he will not carry out his agreement to play six games unless Waller is in the box, while Manager Daab announces that he will not violate the rules of the National Commission. Surely if Westfield can get along without games with Plainfield, there should be no kick. Manager Daab is furnishing a fine article of ball and the Plainfield fans may be assured that there will be plenty of excitement and fun during the season with or without Westfield.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Use Press Want Ads.

—Mr. and Mrs Lambert Edmunds, of West Front street, are parents of a baby boy.

—U. B. Scribner and family, of Maple avenue, North Plainfield, have moved to Somerville.

—Mr. and Mrs. Daniel F. Dugan, of 511 East Seventh street, are the parents of a baby girl weighing ten pounds.

—A gang of men are at work excavating for a cellar on the property adjoining Woodhull & Martin's building, where the firm proposes to erect another building the front of which will correspond with its present structure.

—A large force of men is being employed by Dr. Pittis on East Front street in preparation for the removal of his house to the corner of the lot adjoining the property occupied by Dr. Marcus L. Clawson. When the improvements are completed Dr. Pittis will occupy the house.

Mr. Arnold Inventive.

Borough Councilman James K. Arnold, who has frequently demonstrated in meetings his ability to meet emergencies, is also of an inventive turn of mind. He has just had installed in his Somerset street grocery an ice-box designed by himself which was said by the makers to be one of the most complete, yet simple, that they ever turned out. It is about half the size of the ordinary box but has the same interior space and handy exterior counters that make it doubly attractive.

Dr. Carroll to Give a Talk.

Dr. H. K. Carroll, who recently returned from a trip to South America in the interest of the Methodist church, will occupy the pulpit at the First M. E. church on Sunday morning and tell something of his trip. In the evening the service will be of a musical character, almost the entire service will be devoted to selections by the new vested choir. The pastor, Rev. A. C. McCrea, will make a short address appropriate to the occasion.

The new house to be built for John Bernman at Belvidere and South avenues has been staked out, and work will be begun on it within a day or two.

James Brown has ordered the erection of a two-story-and-attic house on his lot on West Third street, near Lee place. Architect F. L. Lancaster has drawn the plans.

Plans for a house to be erected by William Pine on West Third street, near View avenue, have been drawn by Architect F. L. Lancaster. Work on the structure will be begun immediately.

Robert M. Humpston, a Dunellenite, well-known in this city, has planned the erection of a modern, half-shingle house on Dunellen avenue, near Marrine's place. Architect Fred L. Lancaster has put out the plans.

William H. Crook, a grocer, has ordered Fred L. Lancaster to draw plans for the alteration and enlargement of his store at Berckman street and South avenue. A two-story addition is to be built, which will increase the area of the store materially. Metal ceiling and plate glass windows are among the improvements projected.

PERSONAL.

Charles Peterson, of Rock avenue, is ill with an attack of appendicitis.

Elmer Squires, of the local post-office carrier staff, has resumed work after a week's illness.

Miss Edith Russell, of the Hotel Iroquois, has returned from a visit with out-of-town friends.

Henry M. Haviland, of Brooklyn, who has been visiting friends here for several days, has returned home.

Mrs. Eibridge Neal, of New York, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Apgar, of East Front street.

Miss Lizzie Neylon, who has been very ill for the past week, has now fully recovered and is able to be out again.

Miss Nellie Brown, of Dunellen, has been spending a few days with her aunt, Miss Mary Brown, of Washington avenue.

Harold Hegeman, of Annapolis, is spending several days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Hegeman, of the borough.

Miss Fordam, the trained nurse, recently operated upon for appendicitis, continues to improve and her recovery is now only a matter of a short time.

David Carr and daughter, Miss May Carr, of Newark, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Henry Liefke, of West Front street, have returned home.

City Treasurer Wm. F. Arnold, accompanied by Arthur M. Griffen, sailed yesterday on a trip abroad for the benefit of Mr. Arnold's health. They will be absent two months.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

May 14: "Epworth League Anniversary Day"—Matt. vii, 24-27; I Cor. iii, 11-15; Eph. ii, 19-22.

By REV. WALTER J. YATES, Ph. D.

How have we builded during this league year?

Even in those chapters where the special programme for the league anniversary is used there should be at some time careful consideration given to the work which the local chapter has undertaken during the year past and such a summing up of results that it may be clearly seen what departments need strengthening and in what lines the work is most successful.

It is to be feared that in too many cases only that which is comparatively easy is undertaken and that kind of work for which less taste has been acquired is given scanty or no recognition. This is a serious mistake to make. Some communities have a strong tendency to cultivate the social nature, and in such localities the social department of the league finds no difficulty in absorbing nearly all the energy of the members. The officers of that department get great credit for success, and those in other departments have a hard time to make anything go. This kind of success is ruinous to any chapter. It is one sided, when the development should be well rounded to be of most value.

So far as it may be possible all departments should be equipped and working. Harmonious growth in Christian life and practice is far better than the extension of any one section out of proportion to the others. This is so obvious a fact in all other lines of practical effort that it is surprising that so little regard has been paid to it in our church work. The time has come when we can no longer afford to allow any one department to absorb strength and effort which should be distributed through all.

The first in order of importance is the spiritual work. Every member should be enlisted in this heartily and regularly. It may take time and much effort. Better pay the price and get the result. If this is not obtained there will be no solid success, no matter what numbers may be enrolled nor how enthusiastic the sociables and literary meetings may appear. The cultivation of the religious life must never be lost sight of as the prime object for which the league exists. Forget this, and you have forgotten all that is of value.

There is no chapter, however small or remote from centers of culture, but can and should give some care to the literary work. This ought not to be an occasional entertainment, with some speaking and reading, nor should it stop with the reading aloud at some meeting of some selections from a selected author. Real honest work ought to be undertaken with a definite course laid out and as many as possible enlisted to read the books designated, and then follow the reading by discussions and reviews, and, where possible, have some lectures on matters of value and not for the purpose of raising funds or entertainment.

There is no community where there are not some sick and poor who should be visited and helped by the league. One of the most cheering sights ever seen by the writer was when two bright faced, happy young ladies of his league were ushered into the room where he was calling on an aged man confined to the bed for weary weeks with a broken hip. They were not a committee sent by anybody. No one had prompted them to the act; no one would have expected it from those two. In the high school they were known as full of fun and life, and few would have thought of selecting them to make a call on an old sick man. They thought of it. They got some flowers with their own scant spending money. They sang and filled that sick chamber with cheer. The old man cried tears of joy at sight of their sweet faces and their words of loving regard for him. Who shall say it did not have some what to do with his recovery to health? The girls got more out of it than he did, for they often afterward spoke of that visit with great satisfaction as having opened their eyes to the blessedness of such work. One of them finally turned her attention to hospital work and found her life work in caring for the sick.

One of the ministrations which are now receiving more thought than in times gone by and to which it is hardly likely that there will be any too much attention given is that of carrying flowers to the sick and shut-ins. It is an excellent arrangement for the chapter to furnish flowers for the pulpit for the preaching service and then at the close of the service to distribute them to the absent, aged and sick of the parish.

The study of missions must not be forgotten. This is fascinating in the extreme. In times past it has been thought that about the dullest meeting that could be devised was a missionary meeting. All this has changed now. There is no topic more inspiring and fascinating than the story of the missionary struggle in our own land and in the lands beyond the seas. Do not let your committee fail to do its work well. Get the books from the headquarters and lay out the plan for study, and you will not only increase knowledge and zeal—you will quicken the life of the local league in spiritual matters as can be done in no other manner.

Look over the work of the year. Wherein you have done well try to do better; where you have not done so well give more care; where you have done nothing begin to do something. Enlarge and strengthen and deepen all the work and put more vigor and thought and prayer into it. It is all for Christ, whom we serve and whose we are.

AN ORDINANCE

to Lay Out and Widen Park Avenue From the Southeasterly Side Line of West Second Street to the Northwesterly Line of the Right-of-way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey.

Whereas, The Common Council have judged and hereby do judge that the public good requires that Park avenue should be widened on the southwesterly side thereof between the points named in the title to this ordinance, therefore

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That Park avenue in the City of Plainfield from the southeasterly side line of West Second street to the northwesterly line of the right-of-way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, be laid out and widened on the southwesterly side of the center line of said avenue so that southwesterly of said center line it shall be of the uniform width of thirty-six and sixty-two one hundredths feet from said center line, which said center line begins at an iron monument in the intersection of the center lines of Park avenue and West Second street, as the same are now laid out and opened, and runs from said point in a southeasterly direction in a straight line to an iron manhole head, marked, in the intersection of the center lines of Park avenue and West Fourth street.

The lands, real estate and appurtenances to be taken for the widening of said Park avenue include all that part of the several properties now or formerly of the Plainfield Trust Company, Charles W. McCutchen, Rachel R. Boice, Anna E. Boice and Sarah R. Runyon which lies between the southwesterly side line of said avenue as now laid out and opened and a parallel line with the center line of said avenue and distant therefrom thirty-six and sixty-two one hundredths feet in a southwesterly direction.

Section 2. That the building line on said portion of said street shall be forty-one and sixty-two one hundredths feet from said center line.

Section 3. That the curb line shall be twenty-four and sixty-two one hundredths feet from said center line, making the sidewalk twelve feet wide and leaving for areas a width of five feet.

Said center, curb, side and building lines are delineated on a certain map made by H. C. VanEmburgh, C. E., entitled "Map showing proposed laying out and widening of Park avenue, from the southeasterly side line of West Second street to the northwesterly line of the right-of-way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, Feb. 1905," to which map reference is hereby made for greater certainty.

The lands, real estate and appurtenances to be taken and the lines of the proposed street as the same is hereinabove ordered to be laid out and widened, are shown on said map on file with the City Clerk, hereinabove referred to and made a part hereof.

Adopted by the Common Council May 1, 1905; approved by the Mayor May 1, 1905.

JAMES F. BUCKLE, Mayor.

Attest: J. T. MacMurray, City Clerk.

AN ORDINANCE

for the Assessment of Taxes for the Year 1905.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That pursuant to the statutes and ordinances and resolutions in such cases made and provided, there shall be assessed and raised by tax for the year nineteen hundred and five, for the general purposes of said City, exclusive of School, Library, Poor, Fire and State and County taxes, the sum of Forty-Nine Thousand Five Hundred Dollars ($49,500). This sum includes the sum of Twenty-Nine Thousand Two Hundred Dollars ($29,200), to be raised by general tax for street improvement; for the expense for said year for lighting the public streets and places in said City, as ascertained and determined by resolution of the Common Council and certified to the Assessors of said City, the sum of Thirteen Thousand Eight Hundred Dollars ($13,800); for the principal of such sewer bonds (except obligations payable out of assessments and temporary obligations) as may mature during the ensuing fiscal year, under and by virtue of the Act of the Legislature, entitled "An Act to provide for drainage and sewerage in cities in this State," approved April 7, 1890, and the several amendments thereof and supplements thereto, and proceedings had and taken thereunder in said City, and principal of sewer note maturing during said year under Chapter 33, P. L. 1899, being a supplement to said Act, the sum of Four Thousand Dollars ($4,000); for interest on the obligations of the City issued under said last mentioned Acts, the sum of Six Thousand Four Hundred Dollars ($6,400); for the support of the City Poor, the sum of Six Thousand Five Hundred Dollars ($6,500), (included in the last named sum is the sum of One Thousand Dollars for the purpose of supporting and maintaining such indigent patients as may be sent to Muhlenberg Hospital by order of the City Physician, Overseer of the Poor, or other proper authority of the City, pursuant to Chapter LXXVI, P. L. 1886, payable December 31, 1905, pursuant to the contract between said Muhlenberg Hospital and the City); for the maintenance of the Public Library and Reading Room, the sum of Four Thousand Seven Hundred Dollars ($4,700); for the maintenance of a Fire Department, to be under the control and government of said City, the sum of Twenty-Five Thousand Dollars ($25,000); for interest on School Bonds authorized under City Ordinance, to fall due during the said year, the sum of Thirty-Seven Hundred Dollars ($3,700); for principal falling due May 2nd, 1905, of bond issued for purchase of land for garbage disposal purposes under Chapter XL of the laws of 1895 and supplement thereto, Seven Hundred Dollars ($700); and in addition to the foregoing, a license fee of Two Dollars ($2) to be paid by the owner of every dog within the City of Plainfield.

Adopted by the Common Council May 1, 1905; approved by the Mayor May 1, 1905.

JAMES F. BUCKLE, Mayor.

"... Of all the newspapers in New York "the one which has approached most closely "to what an American newspaper should be in "straightforwardness and tone, THE NEW "YORK TIMES stands first."—Harper's Weekly

The New York Times
"All the News That's Fit to Print"

Gives more space to news than any other New York newspaper. It prints a greater variety of news. It gives impartial news free from bias. It goes into homes that bar other newspapers. It is a sane newspaper, neat in typography, rational in its news treatment, and independent in its opinions. It has refused to appeal to the vicious, the ignorant or the thoughtless.

Special Cable News is one of the most important features of THE NEW YORK TIMES. The London Times' foreign reports apepar in this country exclusively in THE NEW YORK TIMES. No other American newspaper excels THE NEW YORK TIMES in the presentation of Domestic Telegraphic news. The Associated Press reports are augmented by hundreds of Special Correspondents.

The New York Times
Is Now Appearing Every Sunday
Improved and Enlarged

A new departure of the SUNDAY TIMES is an illuminated color cover, presenting beautiful half-tone pictures of art works, many of them being reproductions of famous pictures on exhibition in the Metropolitan Art Museum, and various important private collections. Other features of the Art Supplement embrace pictures of prominent people in society and public life. No other Sunday newspaper in America approaches the SUNDAY TIMES in artistic color supplements.

The Magazine Section accompanying the SUNDAY TIMES presents a variety of interesting illustrated features and a unique selection of the best stories about men and women of prominence. New features are constantly being added.

The Financial Supplement gives a weekly review of current prices of stocks and bonds; also the dealings in securities, including high and low prices—comprising a compact and convenient reference publication for investors and others interested in financial matters.

The New York Times
Saturday Review of Books

which accompanies the Saturday Edition, treats books as news. The book publishers of the country have made THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW OF BOOKS their preferred medium for announcements of new publications.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning May 14.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—Spirit filled Christians.—Acts ii, 1-4, 41-47.

The Acts of the Apostles is the first history of the Christian church, and with special emphasis it sets forth the fact that the power of the Holy Ghost is absolutely necessary for successful Christian work. To do the work of God the early church needed the Holy Ghost. The Christians of that day, as well as today, were weak and needed divine strength; they, too, were engaged in conflicts where divine grace and power were absolutely necessary if they were to win the victory; hence Christ instructed them to tarry at Jerusalem until the promise of the Father that they should receive the Holy Ghost should be fulfilled. Then, filled with the Spirit, they were to go forward, overcoming their own sin and selfishness and winning the world for Christ. And only as we are Spirit filled can we win personal victories over sin and lead others to Christ as their Saviour. Let us therefore be thankful that God is willing to give his Spirit to those that ask Him, and let us ever ask that we may be filled with God's Spirit and used in His service.

The conditions under which the Spirit was given were faith, patience and prayer. God promised the Spirit, and the disciples believed His promise. Christ commanded them to wait at Jerusalem for the promise of the Father, and they waited. And as they waited they prayed, for the Master had also said that the Father was willing to give the Spirit "to them that ask Him." Then on the day of Pentecost the Spirit was given. They had fulfilled all conditions, and God kept His promise. "They were all filled with the Holy Ghost." Would we be Spirit filled? Let us believe, let us wait God's time, and as we tarry let us pray, and there will come a Pentecost in our lives, and we also shall be filled with the Holy Ghost.

The results of the coming of the Holy Ghost were most marked. The disciples "began to speak with other tongues as the Spirit gave them utterance." In reply to the criticisms of onlookers Peter preached the gospel with such power that 3,000 were converted. The Christian church was organized, and its activities were wonderfully blessed of God. Believers persevered in doctrine, in the ordinances, in fellowship and in prayers. Joy was abundant, God was praised, and converts were daily made. And these manifestations are possible today if, feeling our need of the Holy Ghost, we will pray unto God for Him. To be Spirit filled Christians should be our most earnest desire. We should not be satisfied with the work of the Spirit at regeneration, but we should earnestly desire and pray for the Spirit's baptism for service. It is not only His office work to regenerate the human soul, but from Him alone can come spiritual power that will enable us to serve God acceptably and to win men for the kingdom of God. God is willing to use us. Are we willing to be used?

BIBLE READINGS.

II Kings ii, 1-14; Ps. ii, 10-19; Isa. lxi, 1-4; Ezek. xxxvi, 22-38; Acts i, 1-5; ii, 16-21; x, 30-44; Luke xi, 9-13; John xiv, 16, 17; Rev. xii, 1, 2.

The Christian Endeavor Pledge.

Rev. F. B. Meyer of Christ church, London, writing on this theme in a recent issue of the Christian Endeavor World, used these apt words:

"Objections have been lodged against taking the pledge at all. In my judgment they will not hold water. They might equally well be alleged against the soldier's pledge to his sovereign, against the lover's pledge to the woman of his choice, against the mutual promises of husband and wife at the marriage altar and against the determination to give to the cause of God a fixed proportion of one's income.

"Such pledges are always taken with the understanding that they are binding and obligatory only under certain conditions or while life may last. If the soldier is maimed he cannot serve on the battlefield; if the lover is stricken by mortal illness he cannot carry out his promise; if the husband or the wife dies within a few months of marriage or if the property which was to have been tithed is swept away by irreparable loss it stands to reason that the pledge, however honestly taken, cannot be maintained. These pledges are also taken with the tacit acknowledgment that reason must hold its place and that God by His faithfulness and help may enable us to perform the promise. The pledge, therefore, is our ideal. It crystallizes what otherwise might float in dreamy solution. It puts into definite shape, to which we can refer in after time, the high and noble purpose with which we were animated when we stood upon the hilltop with the morning light shining upon our faces."

A Decision Day Prayer.

The following prayer, written by Dr. Clark and intended for use in connection with Christian Endeavor day, is very appropriate for any decision day period:

"O Christ, our Master, open all our hearts to receive the blessing Thou art waiting to bestow. May the Holy Spirit show us our great opportunities during these winter months of Christian work. Bless the increase campaign here and everywhere that it may result in larger numbers and better work for Thee in every society. May all our plans be Thy plans. Give us Thine own strength to carry out these plans and may our Decision day result in bringing many of our companions to a knowledge of Thyself. In Thine own name we offer our prayer. Amen."

God expects us to prove that Christian Endeavor has a growing power.

FORECAST OF FASHION.

A New Voile—Elbow Sleeves Gain in Popularity—Novelties in Belts.

The newest kind of voile is called linon voile and has a narrow stripe, which gives it a distinction from last season's weave. A useful dress for an elderly woman is made of black voile of this new variety. When several attractive vests and lower sleeves of lingerie are supplied the gown becomes an economical possession and one that may be relied upon to do duty together with a smart hat at many functions.

The elbow sleeve gains daily in popularity. It is not very large in outline, but is narrow and high from the elbow to the wrist and is supplied with a tight fitting undersleeve of lace or lawn which may be adjustable.

A pretty little coat to be slipped on over dressy summer gowns is of white panne cloth made in loose box fashion and lined with a becoming color in silk. It is either severely tailored or trimmed with white fiber braid worked into a fancy design.

The long Louis XVI. pointed belt is still in vogue and is in keeping with the court bodice of this period, which is much affected.

Very becoming to the figure is the new folded belt, coming up high at the back and rather higher in the front—that is, the point comes up instead of down.

The simple little dress illustrated is of pistachio green cashmere. The skirt is gathered at the waist and hangs full to the feet. The bodice is cut slightly surpliced and blouses a trifle both back and front over a crushed green velvet belt of a darker shade. Black and green braid put on in tabs fastened with green and silver buttons trims the surpliced neck. The chemisette and collar are of lace, which also finishes the short puffed sleeves.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

NEW STYLES IN SHOES.

Toes Are More Pointed and Heels Higher—Gun Metal Leather.

The new walking shoes are not very different from those of last season. The toes are more pointed than those of last summer, but not in an exaggerated fashion, and the heels are, if anything, higher. The medium or Cuban heel is the one generally accepted, but lots of women insist upon wearing the high French heel except on the golf links and tennis courts.

Gun metal—that is, leather with a dull back finish—is rivaling calfskin in popularity. The gun metal is something new, which is always an attraction in the realm of fashion, and then it is ensily kept in good condition.

The tan or brown shoe will be very much worn and is particularly comfortable for an outing shoe.

Long vamps and toes without tips are seen on the small ties cut in one with the tongue. This long, slim effect is very becoming to the foot. The ties fasten with wide lacers drawn through four large holes.

NEW TENNIS SHOE.

Patent leather trimmings are on many of the new white canvas and duck shoes. They lace with black silk strings.

White lacers in colored ties are new, but rather bizarre, and are not adopted by the woman of conservative tastes.

In slippers the choice is almost unlimited. There are patent leathers with gold heels and black bows with gold buckles on the toe; also white kid with gold heels. Both styles are extreme.

The picture shows a new tennis shoe which is a great improvement over the old models. It is made of tan calf and has a diagonally ribbed sole and heel and a well fitting toe. It is fastened with a single strap. One of its leading features is the excellent manner in which it clasps the under part of the foot.

TWO JAPANESE GENERALS.

Served Their Country by Resting While Their Men Were in the Field.

Gen. Kuroki spent most of his time in the shade. When the Japanese raise a statue of him, writes Frederick Palmer's "With Kuroki," I hope that he will not be riding a prancing steed and swinging his sword, for he never rode a prancing horse and never used his sword. To my recollection I never saw him make any gesture except to salute. The sculptor had best make him squatting and looking at a map while he listens to his staff; and always all of his staff except the younger men (the gallopers) were at his side. He could call for information or suggestions as quickly as the head of a great business house who has a row of push buttons on his desk.

Gen. Fuji, the chief, went to sleep in the thick of the fight, on the second. He had worked most of the night planning for that day. He could not make the work of our infantry any easier or make the fire of our guns any more accurate by watching them. He could hear much better than he could see, getting over the wire every detail of the movement of each regiment and battalion as each general and colonel and major saw it. When he was wanted he could be awakened. Until he was, according to the scientific view, he served his country best by resting.

AN INTERESTING ISLAND.

Many Remarkable Characteristics of Secorro, Off Coast of Lower California.

Wild sheep by the thousands and of a strange species inhabit the little island of Secorro, 300 miles off the coast of Lower California, says the San Francisco Examiner. The little schooner yacht Josephine lately called at the island to take on ballast and her skipper went ashore to find that the wool-bearing animals had the entire run of the place.

Capt. Linbridge, of the Josephine, stated that his exploration of Secorro island revealed some facts that have hitherto been unknown concerning the island.

"Secorro island lies in latitude 18 north," said he, "and the government survey officials have stated that it is without water. I found fresh water in abundance. There are thousands of wild sheep there. They are of small stature and have no wool on their sides. Secorro is an island of volcanic origin and the vegetation grows so thick that it is almost impenetrable. The trees are alive with mocking birds and parrots. I found a deserted old adobe hut that must have been built many years ago. The island has been uninhabited by humans, I believe, for more than a score of years."

BANNS FIRST PUBLISHED.

Notice of Intended Marriage Was Given Among Early Christians, A. D. 240.

The custom of publishing the banns of marriage dates back to the primitive church, for Tertullian, who died A. D. 240, states that warning of intended marriages was given among the early Christians.

It appears, says London Answers, that the publication of banns was habitual in many places long before there was any general law on the subject, since Gregory IV. (1198-1216) speaks of the banns being given out in church, according to custom. The practice was introduced into France about the ninth century, and in 1176 was enforced in the diocese of Paris.

The earliest enactment on the subject in England was an order made in the synod of Westminster in 1200 to the effect that no marriage should be celebrated till the banns had been published in the church on three several Sundays or feast days. This rule was made obligatory throughout the church by the fourth Lateran council, held in Rome in 1215.

A YACHT UP THE AMAZON.

One That Carried Baltimore Millionaires Around the World Going on Exploring Trip.

Swinging lazily with the tide in Manning's Basin at the foot of Columbia street, in Brooklyn, is the steam yacht Margaret, property of a Baltimore millionaire, surrounded by fog and mystery. The Margaret is being fitted out for a man named Brunt to go on a prospecting cruise up the Amazon river, reports the Brooklyn Eagle of recent date.

The Margaret is a steam yacht of modern type, carrying a good spread of canvas and having a large coal capacity. She is 176 feet long and 21 feet beam. Her draught is not over 11 feet, making her the ideal vessel for an exploring trip up a large inland river such as the Amazon. In 1901 the Baltimore millionaire who owns her made a trip around the world in her. She has been at Manning's Basin some little time, and was chartered only recently.

Trying to Smirch Them.

"Is it not true that you once served a term in the United States senate?" asked the prosecuting attorney.

"I protest against this," said the attorney for the defense. "The gentleman knows the prisoner never was in the senate, and is simply trying to prejudice the jury. I order him not to answer."—Omaha Bee.

Secret Out.

"What is the secret of your success?" asked the very young man.

"In buying," said the old horse dealer, "I look sharp and in selling I look just as ignorant as I can."—Chicago Daily News.

ANNUAL ELECTION AND CONFERENCE

UNION COUNTY C. E. UNION TO MEET TUESDAY EVENING.

The annual election of officers and spring conference of the Union County Christian Endeavor Union will be held in the First Presbyterian church at Cranford on Tuesday evening, May 16. It is planned to make this one of the most successful conventions held by Endeavorers in this county in years.

The Cranford church is very conveniently located. It is situated two blocks from the railroad station and three blocks from the trolley. It is expected that each society in the union will send a large number of members to attend.

The convention will open at 7:45 o'clock, with a song service and devotional meeting lasting fifteen minutes. The Rev. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, of this city, will make the address. Mr. Herring is a good speaker and one of the prominent clergymen in the county.

It is also expected that John T. Sproull, the State Christian Endeavor president, will make an address.

Officers of the union will be elected for the ensuing year and a banner presented to the society having the greatest number of members present in proportion to its membership.

FIFTY PEOPLE KILLED.

Fifty people were killed in an accident on the Pennsylvania railroad near South Harrisburg, Pa., this morning. The passenger train collided with a freight on which there were two carloads of dynamite.

In addition to the number killed over 100 were injured.

A number of people from New Jersey were aboard the train. Not one passenger escaped.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL UNION INSTITUTE'S PROGRAMME

TEACHERS TO MEET AT THE FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH MONDAY.

The programme for the tenth annual institute of the Plainfield Primary and Junior Sunday-school Teachers' Union, to be held in the lecture room of the First Baptist church on Monday afternoon and evening, May 15, has been issued and is one of the best yet presented.

The afternoon session will begin at 3 o'clock with a devotional service conducted by Mrs. John P. Mosher. Miss Rose Scost, of Newark, will then conduct a begineers' session, followed with an offertory piano solo by Miss Voorhees. The primary programme will be presented by Mrs. D. L. Pierson, of Brooklyn, to be followed from 5 to 6 o'clock by a conference hour. Supper will be served from 6 to 7 o'clock.

Rev. A. E. Finn, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, will open the evening service at 7:45 o'clock with devotional exercises. Mrs. Robert W. Barnes, secretary of the Union, will give a review of last year's work and will call the roll. The Junior lesson will be taught by Miss Caroline M. Fowler, of Allwood, N. J., and Miss Edith Cairns will render a piano solo. The address of the evening will be delivered by Rev. R. M. Fergusson, so well known to Sunday-school workers throughout the State. His subject will be "How Teachers Grow." All Sunday-school workers are cordially invited to attend both sessions of the institute.

CLOSED PORTALS.

The annual convention of the State Sons of Veterans and the Ladies' Auxiliary opened yesterday at Paterson. Over 150 delegates of both organizations were present. District Commander Fred A. Gentien presided at the meeting of the Sons of Veterans, and Mrs. Rose Reckenstrye at the session of the Ladies' Auxiliary.

At the regular meeting of Crescent Company, No. 13, U. R. K. of P., Tuesday night, it was decided to hold the annual Pythian church service Sunday night, May 28. Perseverance and Unity Lodges will unite with the uniformed men in attending. The company also made preliminary plans for its yearly trip to Port Chester, N. Y., Sunday, June 4, to decorate the grave of Harvey L. Patterson, and the local Decoration day, Sunday, June 18.

The sixteenth annual outing of the Grand Court, New Jersey Foresters of America, was held in Englewood yesterday. An election of officers for the coming year resulted as follows: Grand Court officers—G. C. R., Wm. J. Bentley; G. S. C. R., Wm. J. Howerth; G. T., D. H. Stuhrmann; G. S., T. M. Donnelly; G. R. S., Emanuele Bonnabend; G. S. W., Thos. Armstrong; G. J. W., Jas. J. Flynn; G. S. B., Henry Schott; G. J. B., D. A. Valentino; G. trustees, Thomas E. Jones, Charles E. Fitchel, James B. DeCamp.

SOCIETY NOTES.

Mrs. George Wharton Edwards, of Franklin place, is detained at home by illness.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Dumont, who are travelling abroad, are expected to return home during the early part of June.

Morris J. Dumont, who has been detained at home by illness during the past two months, will return to his position in New York on Monday.

Lewis E. Waring, of West Seventh street, who contracted a very heavy cold a few days ago, left today Virginia, where he will remain until Monday.

Miss Mary Knowlton Whiton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Whiton, of Central avenue, and James A. Hutchinson, of New York, will be married this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents. Rev. Edward P. Newton, of Calvary church, New York, will officiate.

Miss Anna B. Jennings, of Rockview avenue, was one of the patronesses of the comedy, "The Grey Mare," given Monday night at the Carnegie Lyceum, New York, for the benefit of the Frances House for Working Girls, established by the alumnae of Miss Porter's school, Farmington, Conn. About $1800 was realized from the entertainment.

Stricken With Paralysis.

Samuel Seabury Guion, of Carleton avenue, after returning from the Casino on Monday night, where he attended a meeting of the Church Club, was stricken with paralysis and since then his condition has been critical. Today it was reported that the family feels a little encouraged as he has not grown worse during the past twenty-four hours.

A special programme is booked for tonight at Reform Hall. J. B. Oakley, of Elizabeth, will speak and boys and girls from the Elizabeth Rescue Mission, will sing and recite.

P. H. S. NO MATCH FOR BLAIR HALL TEAM

PLAINFIELDER'S DEFEATED BY A SCORE OF 6 TO 2. .

Handicapped by age and experience, the P. H. S. boys fell by the wayside in the game with Blair Hall, composed of Princeton seniors, yesterday afternoon on Crescent Oval. The score was 6 to 2.

For four innings the High School lads played brilliantly and seemed to promise the spectators a fast game, but during the fifth and sixth innings the collegians bunched the majority of their hits, piling up four runs in that time and gained a lead that subsequently won the game.

Smith certainly pitched as masterly a game as ever he did, striking out eleven of his opponents who have the reputation of being sluggers. P. H. S. supported Smith well in the field, but two slight errors being marked up against them. But when it came to bat, the local boys, for the most part were unable to solve the benders of Lewis, a former 'varsity man. However, Smith, Thompson and Craig succeeded in picking out the good ones for hits, Smith getting three and Thompson two, one a home run.

Pond, a former High School boy, captained the Blair Hall team and came in for the usual amount of "horseing." At times the fielding on both sides was sensational, each side executing a lightning quick double play.

Lineup and summary:

Blair Hall—Kidney, 1b; Lewis, p; Mullen, c; Sayen, ss; Bates, 3b; Pond, lf; W. Schoenmaker, cf; Scott, 2b; Gettings, rf.

P. H. S.—Conway, 3b; Craig, ss; Thompson, 2b; Smith, p; Brakeley, cf; Doane, 1b; Davis, c; Rugen and H. Freeman, rf; S. Freeman, lf.

Score by innings:

Blair Hall.	1 0 0 0 2 2 0 0 1	6	10 3
P. H. S.	1 0 0 0 0 0 0 1 0	2	5 2

STUPEFIES; DOESN'T KILL.

New Shell on Bursting Releases Gas Which Brings Sleep to Whole Regiments.

The old-time pugilist was wont to brag that a blow from his fist would put his adversary to sleep. A military scientist has just announced an invention which recalls the boast of the bruiser, for he claims to be able to put whole regiments to sleep in a literal sense. The invention consists of a shell which is charged with an explosive just sufficient to burst it, thereby liberating a stupefying gas. If the soporific shell proves to be a success, it cannot fail to revolutionise warfare, and in future we may hear of fortresses being captured in virtue of the fact that their defenders had all been reduced to a state of coma by the shells thrown amongst them. Battles under such conditions would need a largely augmented ambulance staff to carry off the hundreds of prostrate warriors. If, as is not unlikely, the Red Cross men were themselves attacked by the fumes of the shells, the battlefield would present a strange spectacle indeed, the victorious army carrying off whole regiments of unresisting and unconscious prisoners, overcome—in a double sense—by sleep.

Corn as Human Food.

C. J. Murphy, a prominent citizen of Minneapolis, argues that the high price of wheat should induce people to get accustomed to corn products on their bill of fare. "If the people would learn to eat more corn," he says, "it would be much to their benefit, both from an economical point of view and as a matter of health. I have spent 18 of the best years of my life in teaching the people of Europe the value of our corn as a human food, and now more corn is used in Belgium and Ireland as human food than we use in the United States."

PLAINFIELDERS TO ENJOY OUTING ON LAKE SPOFFORD.

The Camp Chesterfield Association comprised largely of college students whose homes are in this city, has issued its prospectus for the season of 1905. The members of this association spend their summers at Camp Chesterfield on Lake Spofford, to the north of which are the White Mountains and to the west is the Green Mountain range and all about is a hilly, farming country.

Edgar Burr Smith, of the faculty at Leal's School, is the principal at the camp, having general supervision of all the details. The officers for 1905 include the following: President, Robert F. Tilney, 2d; vice president, William Maxwell Evarts Perkins; secretary, J. Hartley Mellick; treasurer, E. N. T. Burnett; camp council, Edgar Burr Smith, principal; Robert F. Tilney, 2d, William Maxwell Evarts Perkins.

The members in Camp Chesterfield are as follows: Edward T. Booth, William Edward Browne, Kenneth Bulkley, Thomas Wentworth Foote, William Gray Harman, Clinton F. Ivins, Lawrence M. Mead, J. Hartley Mellick, Roger D. Mellick, Charles C. Perkins, Effingham A. Pinto, Ralph B. Schoenmaker, Walter U. Scott, William Palmer Smith, Jr., Ralph L. Vail.

The camp will open on Wednesday, June 28, and until that time any further information can be obtained by correspondence with Edgar Burr Smith, 316 East Seventh street. After that date all letters should be addressed to him at Camp Chesterfield.

—Fruit and vegetables, fresh and low-priced, are always to be had at Neuman Brothers'. A fine big display tomorrow.

ALL ROADS LED TO CARNIVAL

Attendance at Opening Performance Assures Success of the Big Enterprise.

COVERS FIVE ACRES

Forty Tents and Booths—Crowd Pleased With the Shows—Elks to be in Charge of the Affair Tonight.

Under the glow of hundreds and hundreds of electric lamps, with bands and automatic musical contrivances playing and lusty-voiced barkers in full cry, the hospital carnival opened on E. M. French's show ground in West Fourth street last night. More than 3,500 pepie came to the grounds, and the attendance was an earnest that the show will be financially what it undoubtedly is in itself—the biggest thing of its kind that Plainfield has ever had.

Everything was in readiness for the opening, which took place at the scheduled time, 7:30, by 5 o'clock. Some of the shows and attractions were already doing business at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. There was no attempt at a formal opening, and the crowd was allowed to drift in as it saw fit. By 7 o'clock the rush began, and from then on until after 9 car after car emptied loads of pleasure-seekers at the entrance, and hundreds afoot streamed steadily in.

"It's immense," was the universal verdict, and that is all the comment to which anyone feels equal. It is true that there are million-dollar amusement enterprises in some sections of the country and that other places have been made blase over county or State fairs by the yearly occurrence thereof, but Plainfield, remembering past attemps at amusement enterprises, is fully justified in sitting back and just gasping "Great!"

The opening-night crowd found thirty-one different attractions, ranging from a circus, a Ferris wheel, shows of various kinds, and a "$10,000" merry-go-round,' to a hit-the-nigger game, a pop-corn and candy stand and kindred coin-lures. Booths and tents with displays by local tradespeople, including a miniature department store, a drug-shop and lunch-room, added to the color the bustle and the atmosphere of the "midway."

Altogether there are forty tents and booths, of one kind or another, on the grounds. They cover very nearly five acres. There will be an average of 200 employes and attendants on duty every day.

Last night the grounds were lighted by 700 incandescent lights. It was decided today to make the fairy-like illumination even more brilliant, and by tonight there will be close to 1,000 lights strung about the grounds.

The most attractive sales tent on the grounds is that conducted by the Woman's Auxiliary of Muhlenberg Hospital, the profits from which will all go into the hospital fund. The tent is a little fair in itself. It is divided as follows, the women named being in charge: Rest room, Mrs. William Stillman, chairman; Mrs. W. G. Kinney, Mrs. Roger Murray; fancy goods table, Miss Elizabeth Cook, chairman; Mrs. Stuart Patterson, Mrs. J. W. Reinhart, Miss Morgan, Mrs. Peterkin; mystery table, Miss Brown; stationery, Mrs. Walter Gaston, chairman; Mrs. Pinto, Mrs. Fred Butler, Mrs. Frederick A. Andrews; candy table, Miss Tracy chairman; Mrs. J. S. Zeile, Mrs. Robers Rusmore, Mrs. A. S. Hart, Mrs. Willard Ware; ice cream table, Mrs. Edward Love, chairman; Mrs. J. L. Slevin, Mrs. A. G. Slevin, Mrs. M. B. Long; waitresses, Miss Carman, Miss Love, Miss Slevin, Miss Vandeventer, Miss Burke, Miss Tobin, the Misses Helen and Frances Weir; lemonade, the Misses Shelton; cake table, Mrs. George Babcock, chairman; Mrs. Rufus Lincoln, Mrs. Everett Kimball, Mrs. Marc Clawson, Mrs. I. N. Van Sickle; Red-Cross table, Mrs. Henry Hall, chairman; Mrs. Burton Hall, Miss E. S. Hyatt, Miss Mary Anderson Rhinehart, Miss Cornelia Hyatt; tobacco table, Mrs. I. 1905 GOLF HANDICAPS

Metropolitan Golf Assn.'s List Includes Many Plainfielders.

CALKINS' SCHEME

Chairman of Handicap Committee a Member of the Plainfield Country Club.

The 1905 handicaps of the Metropolitan Golf Association are announced today by the handicap committee of which Leighton Calkins, of the Plainfield Country Club, is the chairman. There are 1,560 players handicapped this year, against 1,250 in 1904. After allowing for a natural increase of about 100 players, there are probably at least 200 players who find a place on the list this year owing to the new system of handicapping. In other words, players who last year were rated at 21 or 22, on par, are this year rated at 17; and just get on the list.

The effort this year is to measure each player's opportunity to improve, and to take that chance when measured into consideration in allotting the handicaps. This has been done by means of a standard handicap table. The table is prepared for links where the par is 75, but instructions are given showing how the handicap table should be altered if the par is greater or less than 75. The underlying principle of the new system is that each player shall be handicapped on his average best game.

These are the handicaps of the Plainfielders: C. Westley Abbott, 15; Gordon Abbott, 17; Robert Abbott, 6; Dr. F. C. Ard, 15; J. Whitney Baker, 5; Dudley H. Barrows, 10; H. W. Beebe, 13; Leighton Calkins, 9; G. A. Cathcart, 17; Morris J. Dument, 14; A. R. Fisk, 13; W. L. Glenney, 7; C. E. Halsted, 13; Dr. B. VanD. Hedges, 15; H. D. Hibbard, 13; E. E. Iremonger, 17; S. D. Lounsbery, 12; Arthur Murphy, 14; Roger F. Murray, 12; S. H. Patterson, Walter Peterson, 10; Frank O. Reinhart, 3; D. H. Rowland, 17; R. S. Rowland, 10; W. M. Sandford, 16; Olaf Saugstad, 15; Edgar I. Serrel, 13; S. S. Shoemaker, 14; H. R. Stockton, 12; F. C. Talmadge, 8; G. T. VanBoskerck, 16; T. R. VanBoskerck, 16; Willard Wadsworth, 7; J. H. P. Wharton, 7; H. deP. Wright, 7.

STOLE A WHEEL.

James Gardner Held Without Bail—Suspected of Incendiarism.

R. P. Bache missed his bicycle from a rack on West Fourth street in which he had placed a short time before last night, and reported the matter to Chief Kiely. A few minutes later, George M. Macintyre, manager of F. L. C. Martin's bike and auto place on Park avenue, telephoned to the police that a suspicious character was trying to sell him a bicycle. Officer Messler went to the store and the suspicious character proved to be James Gardner. The wheel was Mr. Bache's. Gardner was held for the Grand Jury this morning by Justice Mosher. He couldn't furnish bail.

Gardner is one of the two brothers arrested after the Morey & LaRue laundry fire in January under suspicion of incendiarism. Nothing was fastened on them, but the police have always been convinced of their guilt.

College President Here.

Rev. Dr. Herbert Welch, formerly pastor of the M. E. church at Mt. Vernon, N. Y., and who was recently elected president of the Ohio Wesleyan University at Delaware, Ohio, is now stopping with his family at Truell Coors for a few weeks. He will probably remain here until June 1, when he will go to Delaware, Ohio, the seat of the university. Mrs. Welch was fomerly Miss McGee, daughter of the late James McGee.

Funeral of James W. Burdick.

Funeral services over the body of James W. Burdick were held from his late home on East Third street, yesterday afternoon. He was a member of Trinity Reformed church. They were in charge of Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck and were attended by a gathering of relatives and friends. Interment was made in Hillside cemetery.

A SCENE AT THE CARNIVAL TODAY.

WOOD EXAMINED TODAY BY NEW YORK ALIENIST

COUNSEL FOR DEFENSE BRINGS INSANITY EXPERT TO SOMERVILLE.

S. S. Swackhamer, Esq., counsel for George Wood, charged with the murder of George Williams, at Watchung, on Feburary 2, last, took an important step today in his preparation to defend Wood. Mr. Swackhamer quietly had Wood examined by Dr. Steniek, an expert in insanity cases at Bellvue Hospital. He has examined hundreds of cases of insane persons and is considered one of the best physicians in his line in the country.

Wood was examined in the Grand Jury room, having been brought there by Deputy Sheriff Anderson. He had a decidedly wild appearance, the stare of his eyes resembling that of a person who had lost all reason. His hair also looked as though it had not been combed in six weeks.

While Dr. Steniek did not give an opinion concerning Wood after the examination, and will not until called as an expert witness for the defense, it is known that he is convinced that Wood is suffering from some mental injury. Not once during the examination did Wood speak a word and he took absolutely no interest in the proceedings.

Endeavor Social.

The Junior Christian Endeavor Society, of the Congregational church, held a social in the Sunday-school rooms, yesterday afternoon, the first since it has been reorganized. The members enjoyed a peanut hunt and other games, after which refreshments were served. Miss VanWinkle, of the senior society, had charge.

"NAN" PATTERSON IS FREE!

Nan Patterson is free.

The former chorus girl, thrice tried for the murder of Caesar Young, was released today without bail, on the recommendation of District Attorney Jerome.

She had, in anticipation of her release, packed her belongings for immediate departure from the Tombs, where she has been confined for ten months. Arrangements were made by her lawyers for her departure, with her father, John R. Patterson, for Washington, where her mother awaits her. 2,000 people cheered her as she left the Criminal Court building.

Operation Successful.

Mrs. Rudolph Kampf, of West Second street, who recently underwent a severe operation, is recovering nicely and will soon be able to sit up. The operation was performed by Dr. Endicott and was in every way successful.

ROBBERS AGAIN VISIT MARTINSVILLE POSTOFFICE

THIS TIME SECURE CASH AND LARGE QUANTITY OF STAMPS.

Foiled in their attempt to rob the postoffice at Martinsville three weeks ago, a gang of burglars visited that place at 2 o'clock yesterday morning and successfully effected an entrance to the office, blew open the safe with dynamite and made off with about $50 in cash and a large quantity of stamps.

The gang entered the office by cutting a panuel out of the front door. The explosion awakened the entire village and when the residents hastened to the scene of the robbery they were met with a volley of shots from the gang, which was well armed. The robbers were seen to make tracks toward Bound Brook.

Night Watchman Flemmer saw four men at 11:45 Wednesday night. They were trying to get a drink at what is known as "The Annex," and they were heard to say that they would get it farther up the road near Martinsville. It is supposed that they are the same ones that robbed the postoffice.

Postmaster Zimmerman has a slight clue and is investigating the matter. He has also notified the Government and county authorities and a detective is at work on the case.

Father Smyth's Brother Buried.

The body of Bernard Smyth, brother of Rev. Father P. E. Smyth, was brought to this city yesterday and buried in St. Mary's cemetery. He was a resident of Jersey City, where Father Smyth's parish is at the present time.

MISS WHITON A BRIDE

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Whiton Weds New Yorker.

MARRIES A BANKER

James Abbott Hutchinson the Groom—Rev. E. P. Newton Officiates.

Miss Mary Knowlton Whiton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Whiton, and James Abbott Hutchinson, of New York, were married yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents in Central avenue, in the presence of a large number of guests from out-of-town and this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Edward P. Newton, brother of Mrs. John M. Whiton, and who is rector of Calvary church, New York.

The home was beautifully decorated with apple blossoms, white lilacs and Southern smilax tastefully arranged in the parlor, where the ceremony was performed and in the main hall and dining room.

The bride was gowned in white chiffon, trimmed with lace and she wore a tulle veil caught up with orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of white roses. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Leighton Calkins, as matron-of-honor, who wore a gown of white batiste, trimmed with lace. She carried a bouquet of pink roses. Master Wolcott Calkins, nephew of the bride, acted as page. He was dressed in white and held the white ribbons which formed the aisle through which the bridal party walked.

The wedding march and the musical numbers which followed, were rendered by Miss Elizabeth Lamson and Miss Sybil Anderson, violin and piano. As the wedding march was being played, the bride, accompanied by her father, who gave her away in marriage, entered the parlor, where they were met by the other members of the bridal party. The best man was Willard F. Spalding, of New York, and the ushers Frank J. Currier, Charles A. Collins, W. Howard Hutchinson and Samuel C. Hutchinson, of Lynn, Mass. The last two named are brothers of the groom.

Immediately following the ceremony, which was that of the Episcopal church, a small reception was given for the bridal party and early in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson left the city for a wedding trip. They will reside in this city upon their return. Mr. Hutchinson is engaged in the banking business in New York with McKay & Co.

The bride was the recipient of a large collection of beautiful gifts. She is prominent in society here, being a member of the Monday Afternoon Club, the Plainfield Country Club, where she has taken a great interest, especially in tennis, and in other ways has assisted at many social functions. Mr. Hutchinson is also prominent in New York society, as well as at Lynn, Mass., his former home.

PYTHIAN CELEBRATION.

Under Auspices of the Elizabeth Lodges.

Preparations are now completed for the celebration of the Associated Lodges of Elizabeth, Knights of Pythias, at the Turn Hall, Elizabeth, on Monday, May 29. All the grand lodge officers of the State will be present. There will be present Brigadier-General Hitchcock and his staff, Colonel Stanley, of the First Regiment, and his staff, and Colonel Howe, of the Second Regiment, and his staff.

The Black Prince Company, of Newark, the Palestine Company of Jersey City and the Kebic Company, of Harrison are entered for the competitive drill. Crescent Company, of this city, Morris Company, of Dover and Unity Company, of Elizabeth, will be present in uniforms, but will not drill.

The celebration is strictly an invitation affair. It is expected that at least 1,000 knights will be present.

Carnival Policed.

There is ample police protection at the Carnival. Ten officers will patrol the grounds nightly, under the personal supervision of Chief Kiely. All suspicious characters will be ejected from the grounds, and known crooks who may be spotted will be jailed or hustled out of town. Two men of doubtful appearances were spotted and hustled off last night.

WOODS' TRIAL MONDAY

Alleged Murderer of Williams Ready to Face Jury.

HOLDS TO HIS STORY

S. S. Swackhamer and George W. Bird Will Defend the Prisoner—Tale of the Crime.

The trial of George H. Wood for the murder of George Williams, the Watchung grocer, will begin Monday morning at the Somerset Court before Justice Garretson and will probably take up most of the week. The accused murderer will be defended by former Assemblyman S. S. Swackhamer and Lawyer Bird, both of this city, who were assigned by the court upon the statement of Wood that the defendant had no means for employing counsel. Prosecutor Reger has made a personal visit to the scene of the murder and has carefully prepared the evidence with which he expects to convict Wood of the crime. Wood still holds to his story that he has no recollection of anything he did during the week of the murder, and so far as the lawyers for the defense have indicated their plan of action they will contend that Wood was not mentally responsible for his act. The prosecution will put the expert pathologists, who examined Wood, on the stand, and the facts brought out by their testimony will be one of the most interesting features of the case. A hypnotist, it is said, also put Wood in a trance and applied various tests as to his mental condition, and endeavored to elicit information as to his actions during the week which is lost so far as his memory is concerned, but as a hypnotist has no standing in law it is not likely that he will be placed on the stand.

The alleged crime was committed on the morning of February 2, between 10 and 11 o'clock, at a lonely spot in the Watchung Mountain, near Mt. Horeb. Wood had been reared, it is said, in the mountain near the scene of the murder.

According to his own statement, he was in such financial straits that he was obliged to break up housekeeping. He sent his wife and children to the home of his uncle in New York, and started out, in company with a friend, whom he calls Mack, to obtain a loan of $1,000 to continue business.

The authorities, up to the present time, have been unable to corroborate Wood's strange story of his journey to a mysterious railroad junction with his friend Mack, who, it is said, deserted him after he had treated him to a glass of beer which caused him to lose consciousness. The only facts the authorities have in the case are that Wood turned up at Blimm's hotel in Plainfield two days before the murder and registered under his own name. A day after his arrival at the hotel he paid a visit to his grandmother, Mrs. Pollock, and his father-in-law, Edward Whitte, at Mt. Horeb. He remained with his father-in-law one night, and on the following day he returned to the hotel here. A day later he entered the bar-room of his hotel early in the morning and asked the proprietor if he could get some one to take him to Mr. Horeb.

The proprietor told Wood that former Freeholder William Demler, who owned the hotel up in the Watchung Gap, would probably take him. Wood got on a trolley car and rode to Demler's Hotel. He called at Demler's place, but Demler was out. He told Mrs. Demler that he wanted some one to drive him to Mr. Horeb, and she sent him to George Williams, whose grocery store was two doors away. Wood went to the store and, in the presence of Charles Frost, the only witness of their meeting, said to the grocer: "Is Mr. Williams here?" He was talking to the grocer at the time, but did not appear to know him. Wood then repeated his request to be driven to Mr. Horeb. At first Williams did not care to leave his store for the long cold drive over the mountain, but Wood, it is said, put up a hard-luck story. He is alleged to have said: "I've got a chance to work on shares at the Pollock farm. If I go after the job today it means a lot to me. I am a poor man and cannot afford to lose it, you see."

Williams good-naturedly agreed to go, but said he would charge $3. Wood said this was satisfactory, and the two men started out in a sleigh ride ten miles over the mountains. There have been a number of stories published to the effect that Williams displayed a roll of money containing $200 before starting with Wood, but the authorities have been unable to corroborate the story, and it is now evident that Wood at the time he

SPRING ELECTIONS AFFECT FREEHOLDERS

AS LAW STANDS, DIRECTOR MUST BE ELECTED TWICE YEARLY.

There was considerable talk among the freeholders at the meeting this week, over the working of the law doing away with spring elections in the townships of the county, and also on the fact that as the law now stands, it is sometimes necessary to elect a director of the board twice in one year, as has happened this year.

J. Frank Hubbard's term as a freeholder from this city expired in December, 1904. He was re-elected in November and had to be sworn in. His term having expired, the board had to elect another director, and they chose him again. The law required a reorganization of the board, and so again the form of electing a director had to be gone through.

The act of 1905, doing away with spring elections, leaves all freeholders to be elected in November. But the law states that a director of the board, to hold office for one year, shall be chosen the second Wednesday in May, other officers also being chosen on that day. When a director's term as freeholder expired at the end of December, another director would be chosen, and then later, in May, the law would require another election.

The opinion of most of the freeholders is that this condition should be obviated by repealing the law enforcing an election of officers in May, and changing such time of election to the first meeting in January.

Those freeholders elected from the townships of the county last spring, and who would have held office until May, 1906, were not the spring elections abolished, will hold over until January, 1907.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINTIY.

The funeral of Miss Catherine F. Sheppard, who died Saturday at the home of her niece, Mrs. William Fitz Randolph, was held Wednesday morning from her former home in Flemington. The body was interred there.

Mrs. Harry Roe has returned to Newark after visiting her mother, Mrs. Hannah Reantree.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Vail have been entertaining New Brunswick friends this week.

Charles Ward, Jr., has returned from a visit to Bloomfield friends.

It is expected that at the regular session of the school board next Monday, the proceedings of the special school meeting at which a $20,000 building was voted, will be formally presented to the body, and enable it to order the erection of the structure without delay.

Justice VenMinden moved from his old residence to one of the Helton houses yesterday.

The Common Council, as a committee of the whole will meet at the Sanford place tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock, to go over the property and discuss plans for the obviation of the damage and annoyance that grows out of the flowing of surface water from the streets over the Sanford meadowland. The matter will be brought up at the Council meeting Monday night.

The funeral of Mrs. Ann Currid will be held from St. John's church tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock. The interment will take place at St. Mary's cemetery, Plainfield.

There is still hope that a team will represent Dunellen on the ball field this season. David Smith, manager of last year's team, is talking of getting a combination together.

Miss Mary Baldwin has entered the employ of F. J. Blatz, a Plainfield lawyer, as stenographer.

Loop talk warms up daily. It is pretty certain now that the bad feeling between the center-of-towners and the Chestnut street terminus advocates will develop into a fight on the floor of the Council next Monday night, when a special meeting will be held. It is said that the Council has been divided on the question and will split on the vote if the P. S. C. persists in holding out for a west end terminus. The faction, it is said, has determined that the trolley people are not to have a franchise for the loop unless it is located in the borough's center. The other councilmen are said to be willing to give the P. S. C. permission to put the loop anywhere it sees fit. A new argument has been advanced by the advocates of the central terminus. They point out that the crowds about a trolley terminus always contain the germs of disorder, and it is held that the loop, for that reason, should be in the heart of the town where the constable is always handy and could be depended upon for a prompt appearance upon the first sign of trouble. Disorder at a terminus in the western end of the borough might spread, it is argued, to serious proportions before the one marshal authorized by the Council could reach the scene.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

With the tripping of many feet to the strains of the many waltz and two step, the Suburban Club members and their friends enjoyed the last of the club's winter dances last night, in the large hall adjoining the club room. During the night the club's bowling alleys were open and those who cared not for the dance enjoyed prize bowling. At midnight refreshments were served, after which the merry dancers again held forth until a late hour. The music, which was enjoyed by all, was furnished by Suhr's orchestra.

The re-appointment of Dr. F. W. Westcott as county physician by the Board of Freeholders, with an increase of salary, met with the hearty approval of all here, irrespective of politics, as the Doctor is one of the most popular public men in either the borough or village.

If you missed it, you missed the treat of your life. The opening of the ten-days' Carnival for the benefit of Muhlenberg Hospital, last night on the St. Mary's ball grounds, Fourth street.

"The Greatest Fight in the World," will be the topic of the weekly prayer and praise meeting tonight at the Baptist church. Rev. T. Moore-Smith will lead.

Adam Gray, who has been visiting his brother, Joseph Gray, has returned to his home in Newark.

John Wade will teach the lesson at the Bible study meeting to be held tonight in the Methodist church.

The Literary Society held an interesting meeting for reading and study last night.

The Cuban X Giants will try to give Manager Daab's P. A. C. team its first defeat of the season tomorrow afternoon at Crescent Oval.

SNYDER IS NO MORE

Oklahoma Town Wiped Out by Tornado's Blast.

NINETY-TWO LIE DEAD AT MORGUE

Injured Number Two Hundred, Many Fatally Hurt—Fire Destroyed Buildings Storm Had Left Standing. Thirty Killed at Dustee.

SNYDER, Okla., May 12.—A tornado which swept through this town has caused the death of about a hundred persons. The injured as far as known now will number 200, many of whom, it is believed, were fatally hurt. The town is practically destroyed.

The tornado, which passed over the southern part of Greer and Comanche counties, Okla., did frightful damage; also at Vernon, Tex. At Dustee, Okla., only one house remains standing, and it is reported that thirty persons are dead.

Seventy-five were killed outright, and not a building in the town escaped damage, and seven-eighths of the business buildings are a total loss.

Every building left standing was converted into either a hospital or morgue. Ninety-two bodies had been laid out in rows in the principal morgue, and others were being brought in constantly. Seven members of the Fessender family were killed.

W. H. Hibbard, superintendent of schools, and his wife, together with two children and the parents of Hibbard, were killed. Only one member of the family, a boy, escaped.

Three young children in the Cook family were killed. One baby was snatched from its mother's arms and its brains dashed out against a brick wall. The storm was of the regular twister variety and swooped down upon Snyder without warning. It came from the southwest. It cut a swath a half mile wide, demolishing everything in its path for a distance of ten miles southwest and three miles northeast of Snyder.

One of the saddest cases was that of Colonel Williamson. When the storm struck, Williamson grabbed a woman who he thought was his wife and hurried away to a place of safety. When out of danger he discovered that the woman was not his wife. Later Mrs. Williamson was brought to the temporary morgue with her head completely severed from her body.

In a number of cases entire families were killed, and in almost every family in town some member was injured.

Snyder was laid out largely by the St. Louis and San Francisco railway at the junction of two of its lines, and the company erected important buildings there. The town was named for Bryan Snyder, passenger traffic manager of the system.

Fire started in Snyder after the tornado and destroyed one block that had escaped the storm.

The mayors of Guthrie, Oklahoma City and some other Oklahoma towns have issued calls for mass meetings to formulate a system of relief for the injured, and early in the day special trains bearing physicians, nurses and clothing were started for Snyder.

After Franklin Syndicate Cash.

NEW YORK, May 12.—Mrs. Esther S. Blake, mother of Edward Schlesinger, said to have been associated with W. F. Miller in the Franklin syndicate, testified that a large amount of the Franklin syndicate money is at the present time in a safe deposit vault in Hoboken, N. J.; that there were two keys to the vault, one having been held by Edward Schlesinger and the other by William F. Miller, and that the Schlesinger key was lost in the Atlantic ocean.

Fifty Brazilians For Canada.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., May 12.—Fifty Brazilians who were refused admission to this country by immigration inspectors were deported to Canada. They have been held here for five weeks pending a decision on an appeal they took to Washington. The men in the party claimed citizenship under naturalization papers purporting to have been issued in West Virginia. The government held the certificates fraudulent.

North and South at Bull Run.

MANASSAS, Va., May 12.—Members of the Society of the Army of the Potomac, which is holding its thirty-sixth reunion here, visited the Bull Run battlefield and other points of interest. At the historic Henry House farm veterans who fought each other in that early struggle of the civil war walked arm in arm and pointed out the trying positions occupied by their commands.

Fraternal City For Consumptives.

ST. LOUIS, May 12.—The board of managers of the National Fraternal sanitarium at a meeting here decided upon Las Vegas, N. M., as the place for the location of a national sanitarium for the cure of consumption. The sanitarium will be situated six miles from Las Vegas and known as "Fraternal City."

Hearing In Rogers Case May 19.

MONTPELIER, Vt., May 12.—The hearing by the supreme court on the petition for a new trial for Mrs. Mary M. Rogers, under sentence of death for the murder of her husband, Marcus M. Rogers, has been postponed to May 19. This was at the request of counsel for Mrs. Rogers.

Our Cruisers at Santo Domingo.

SANTO DOMINGO, May 12.—The American cruisers Brooklyn, flagship of Rear Admiral Sigsbee, and Olympia, flagship of Rear Admiral Bradford, have arrived here. Admirals Sigsbee and Bradford have been presented to President Morales. The country continues quiet.

Help the Elks to make their night at the Carnival a success.

Grover Cleveland begins to realize that "hell hath no fury like a woman (club) scorned."

No wonder that Governor Dunean is reluctant to send troops to Chicago He has not forgotten the political capital his party made out of a Democratic president's famous act under similar circumstances.

Now if Mr. Rockefeller really wants to go one better on Mr. Carnegie he should give a few dozen millions as a pension fund for aged and infirm public school teachers. These men and women are about the poorest paid in the land for the work they perform.

Charlie Murphy hastens home to find out since when Tammany men became so bitterly opposed to cheap gas. Sulzer, Towne, Cochran, Grady, McAdoo and a lead of other gas-factories in the Wigwam are generally willing to load a cheap quality on the public.

THE FAIR AND CARNIVAL

Jabez Gilbert, Mrs. G. S. King Mrs. Benjamin, Wood; lost and found bureau, Mrs. W. C. Kinney and Mrs. Roger Murray. Mrs. W. L. C. Glenney, treasurer of the Auxiliary, is treasurer of the tent. Mrs. Huntington, the president, has general charge.

A pop-corn and candy booth in the center of the grounds is being conducted wholly for the benefit of the hospital. It is in charge of the following committee: Miss Anna Daley, chairman; Miss Mary Smith, Miss Kittie McKeon, Miss Sarah Gilligan, Miss Lizzie O'Keefe.

Former Mayor Charles J. Fisk, the promotor of the show and chairman of the carnival committee; W. S. Miller, chief showman; H. B. Lovell, secretary of the committee, and Mase Edwards, its treasurer, were on duty all through the afternoon and evening, at the headquarters tent or drifting watchfully about the grounds. James Dodd, H. L. Hall, H. L. McGee, G. S. King, William Runyon, George F. Schoenmaker, J. M. Shellabarger, the committeemen, kept a constant watch on every department of the show. Scattered about among the attractions, as ticket sellers or barkers, were the following Oshkoshites: George Dupee, Leon Thurlow, William Rushmore, Joseph Robinson, M. J. Dumont, Harry Butler, Louis A. Williams, Jr., D. C. Ivins, C. W. McGee, H. Reeve Stockton, Roy Phillips, Percy Phillips, James Kimball, Willard Wadsworth, James Middleditch, A. W. West, Charles Barlow, J. C. Traynor, Charles Titsworth, Charles F. McCann.

Tonight the Oshkosh bunch will be temporarily relieved from ticket and barking duty, the Elks taking charge. They will have another rest on the seventeenth, the Knights of Columbus having signed for that night.

Voting in the "most popular" contests will begin tonight, and continue until the end of the show. Those who win the largest number of votes will receive the following: Nurse, nurse's set; cop, ton of coal; motorman, $5 in gold; baseball player, suit case; postman, barrel of flour; conductor, $5 in gold. The people will be allowed to vote for the most popular fire house also, and the house winning out will receive a heavy, handsome clock. The rifle range contest began last night. On the last night of the show a $1,000 touring auto shown by F. L. C. Martin will be given to the holder of a ticket corresponding in number to a slip which Mr. Fisk will pull from a boxful of numbered slips. The proceeds from Mr. Martin's booth will go entirely to the hospital.

Tennis Tournament.

A club tournament for men's doubles, at tennis, will begin tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock on the courts of the Plainfield Country Club. The entries will close Friday night at 6 o'clock with T. M. Day, Jr., 740 Carlton avenue.

WOODS' TRIAL MONDAY

started on his journey was not aware whether Williams had fifty cents or $50 on his person.

Wood and Williams were strangely alike in their personal appearance, and several persons who saw them riding along in the sleigh together took them to be brothers. They were seen chatting together in a friendly manner as they passed along the mountain road in the direction of Mt. Horeb. As they entered a woods about half a mile from the Pollock farm a pistol shot was heard by a boy who was passing near the woods. A half hour after the shot was heard, Eugene Pope, a farmer, was driving through the woods, when he came upon the horse and sleigh of Williams standing in the road, with the body of the grocer leaning backward, lifeless, on the seat, with a bullet hole in the back, from which the blood flowed freely.

Wood was gone, but his footprints in the deep snow led from the sleigh through the woods to the barn on Mrs. Pollock's farm. He was traced from the barn across country to Millington. When Randolph Giddes saw him hurrying along the road toward the Millington station he had changed a black fedora hat, which he wore while riding with Williams, for a blue cap, which it is said he carried in his overcoat pocket before the murder. He boarded a train near Millington for New York. When he turned up at the home of his relative in that city on the same day of the murder, he had his mustache shaved off and was apparently a physical wreck.

From the day he was taken into custody up to the present time Wood has steadfastly held to the story that his mind was a blank during the period of the murder, and that he has no recollection of his visit to this city or his ride with Williams.

RECEPTION TO ORCHESTRA.

President Gavett Voices Y. M. C. A.'s Appreciation of Its Work.

The membership committee of the Y. M. C. A. voted last night to arrange a reception to the new members who have come into the association since last fall. S. H. Tugwell, R. W. Davis, and Kenneth Robbie were appointed on the committee in charge of the affair.

A reception to the Y. M. C. A. orchestra followed the meeting. President Gavett addressed the orchestra, expressing the appreciation of the association for the orchestra's work. The occasion marked the twentieth anniversary of Leader M. A. Korff's connection with volunteer orchestra work. Mr. Korff read an original humorous poem.

Notice is hereby given that an ordinance, entitled "An Ordinance to amend an ordinance entitled 'An ordinance to lay out and widen Park avenue from the southeasterly side line of West Second street to the northwesterly line of the right-of-way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey,' approved May 1, 1905," a copy of which is subjoined to this notice, has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time, and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Common Council to adopt such ordinance at the regular meeting of the Common Council to be held in the Council Chamber, No. 149 North avenue, in the City of Plainfield, N. J., at eight o'clock p. m., on Monday, the fifth day of June, A. D. nineteen hundred and five at which time and place prior to the adoption of said ordinance, said ordinance will be considered by the Common Council, and all persons interested may be heard before the Common Council with reference to the proposed ordinance.

By order of the Common Council.
GEORGE B. WEAN, City Clerk, pro tem.
Dated Plainfield, N. J., May 9, 1905.

"AN ORDINANCE

To amend an ordinance entitled "An ordinance to lay out and widen Park avenue from the southeasterly side line of West Second street to the northwesterly line of the right-of-way of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey," approved May 1, 1905.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That section 2 of the ordinance to which this is an amendment be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

Section 2. That the building line on said portion of said street shall be forty-one and sixty-two one-hundredths feet (41.62) feet from said centre line, and no part or portion of any building or appurtenance thereto on said portion of said street, shall extend beyond said building line, except as follows: areas and steps appurtenant to any building, and posts, balusters, railings or guards thereof, may extend not more than five feet beyond said building line, columns or pilars, may extend not more than two feet, and bases or pedestals and capitols thereof not more than two feet and six inches beyond said building line, and roofs and roof cornices of any building may extend not more than four feet beyond said building line, all distances to be measured at right angles from said building line. Nothing in this section contained shall apply to vaults or other structures below the level of the sidewalk.

Section 2. That section 3 of said Ordinance be amended by striking out the words, "and leaving for areas a width of five feet."

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The High School athletic team goes to Elizabeth tomorrow to take part in the athletic games held by Pingry School.

Mrs. Hezekiah Hand, of East Sixth street, has been visiting her sister, Miss Hattie Coles, of Front street.

Mrs. Julia Mann, who has been critically ill for the past week, is reported as improving.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The funeral of Mrs. George Drake yesterday afternoon was attended by a large circle of relatives and friends from Stelton, Plainfield, South Plainfield, New Market and elsewhere. The Rev. W. T. Dorward, her pastor, conducted the service and spoke feelingly of her noble Christian character. Two daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Drake passed away while young, one being the wife of Firman Walker, and the other died while a student in Peddie Institute at Hightstown. Mrs. Drake was a member of the Stelton Baptist church fifty-five years.

Mrs. Katherine Brantingham and her sister, Mrs. A. Heath, of Tarrytown, are spending a few days at the home of George Drake.

Thomas Brantingham has resigned his office as treasurer of Cmkp 41, P. O. S. of A., on account of having moved out of town.

James H. Jones is entertaining his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Packer, formerly of Plainfield.

J. H. Jones is making repairs on the exterior of his dwelling house by putting new posts under his porch.

The bi-monthly covenant meeting of the Baptist church will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

READER MAKES HIT.

Mrs. Fannetta Sergent Haskell Pleases Monroe Ave. M. E. People.

Mrs. Fennetta Sergent Haskell, reader and impersonator, scored another hit at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church last night, when she appeared as the principal attraction at an entertainment held under the auspices of the Epworth League. Her triumph of last June was eclipsed by the fervor of the applause that greeted her readings and recitations.

The entertainment was very largely attended. Besides Mrs. Haskell, the programme included Frank Eaton, baritone. There were six long numbers, Mrs. Haskell appearing three times and Mr. Eaton twice. Miss May V. Whitney was the accompanist.

Mayor Fisk, R. R. Director.

Former Mayor Charles Joel Fisk, of this city, has been elected a director of the Delaware and Bound Brook Railroad, in which he is largely interested as a stockholder. The annual meeting was held at Trenton yesterday.

SOLOISTS' GOOD WORK AT CHURCH CONCERT

MUSICALE UNDER DIRECTION OF C. A. BRAIDER.

Under the direction of Clifford A. Braider, organist, a concert of exceptional merit was given in the First Presbyterian church, last night. Those who presented the programme are all artists of ability, including these soloists: Miss Hortense Marie Sheldon, soprano, of Cranford; Miss Grace J. Carroll, contralto, of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church choir; Paul F. Handel, tenor, of East Orange; William Holmes, baritone, of the First Baptist church choir; Miss Florence Wohlfert, violinist. Assisting the soloists was the Euterpean Glee Club. Mr. Braider accompanied the glee club on the piano, while Howard M. Case, organist of the First Baptist church, accompanied the others on the piano and organ.

The programme was one of the best ever presented and was well received with hearty applause. In part first the mixed quartette sang "Love and Summer," by West; Miss Sheldon sang Cavatine, from "Queen of Sheba," by Gounod; the glee club gave "The Elfman," and "A Summer's Lullaby," by Gibson; Mr. Holmes sang "Sunset," by Buck, and Miss Wohlfert rendered "Concerto-Andante," by Mendelssohn, and "Hungarian Dances," by Brahms. This part was concluded with the serenade, duet and quartette from "Robin Hood," by the mixed quartette.

The glee club opened part second with "Annie Laurie," by request, after which Miss Carroll sang "The Hills o'Skye," by Harris, with violin accompaniment by Miss Wohlfert. The next number was "Within a Mile of Edinboro," by Bartlett, which was sung by Miss Sheldon and the glee club. Miss Wohlfert then gave "Les Adieux," by Sarasate, and "Mazurka Characteristique," by Wieniawski. Mr. Handel favored with two tenor solos, "I Mind the Day," by Willeby, and "April Rain," by Oley Speaks. The last number was "Good Night, Good Night," by Pinsuti, by mixed quartette.

NO MORE WOMAN-SHY.

Plainfield Council, R. A., Finds Ladies' Nights' Are Pleasant.

Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum, held its first ladies' night entertainment last night. The affair was so successful that the organization has put ladies' nights on its social calendar for regular occurrence. The attendance filled the rooms.

The programme was furnished by the Star Lyceum bureau, New York. The entertainers were the Montauk Ladies' Quartette and Hal Merton, magician and ventriloquist.

The committee in charge was made up of Regent R. H. Lowry, Vice Regent Armstrong Mulford and Orator H. A. Todd.

—Commencing tomorrow night there will be dancing every night at the Carnival being held for the benefit of Muhlenberg Hospital.

EXPRESS WRECKED

Pennsylvania Train Exploded Car of Dynamite.

DISASTER NEAR HARRISBURG

Locomotive Boiler Blew Up on Impact With Freight Cars.

LONG LIST OF DEAD AND INJURED

Double Wreck of Freight and Passenger Trains Took Fire From Explosion, Burning Passengers and Crew to a Crisp—Women Thrown From Train Found Nearly Naked and Dazed on Susquehanna's Banks.

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 12.—It is now known that at least thirty-four persons met death in the wrecking of the Cleveland and Cincinnati express, westbound, on the Pennsylvania railroad, which dashed at midnight into a wrecked eastbound freight train, exploding a car filled with 50,000 pounds of dynamite.

Fifteen bodies remain unidentified. Seven dead are known. It is considered certain that at least a dozen were burned to death in the Pullmans, of which nothing remains but twisted iron and ashes. Only a few pieces of charred bones have been found in the wreck of two cars nearest to the car containing blasting powder. The total number of injured is 126.

The identified dead are: Jack L. Silverman and Mrs. Robert G. Dougherty of Philadelphia, C. Kuhlman of Altoona, Pa.; H. K. Thomas, Parksburg, Pa., engineer of the passenger train; Victor L. Crabbe of Pittsburg, son-in-law of Robert Pitcairn, who is assistant to President Cassatt of the Pennsylvania road; J. B. Phillips of Pittsburg, H. S. Watson of Clearfield, Pa., George Zeigler, Pittsburg; Paul Bright, Pittsburg; Mr. Shaw, Pittsburg; Norma Martina, seven months old, and nine unidentified bodies.

The Pennsylvania railroad officials have given out a list containing the names of ninety-eight persons who were injured.

Passengers and trainmen were burned to a crisp, while others were pinned helplessly in the debris. So completely incinerated were the bodies that identification was almost impossible.

The women in the wreck suffered greatly, and many of those who escaped were found almost naked.

Among those who got out without injury were Mrs. Albert J. Barr, wife of the editor of the Pittsburg Post, and her two daughters, who were on their way to Pittsburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Tindell of Pittsburg, the latter the daughter of United States Senator P. C. Knox, were injured by flying glass. They walked from the scene of the wreck to Steelton, where they called up Governor Pennypacker by telephone and explained their condition. The governor immediately dispatched Private Secretary Bromley Wharton to the aid of Mr. and Mrs. Tindell. They were brought to the executive mansion, where they were furnished with clothing and medical attention.

The primary cause of the wreck was a shifting engine. It was going west slowly when the engine driver of the eastbound freight train saw it coming on his track. He applied the air brakes suddenly, which caused the middle of the freight train to buckle, shoving several of the cars on to the westbound passenger track. A moment later the express, one of the fastest night trains on the road, came along and dashed into the wrecked cars. The next instant the boiler of the passenger locomotive exploded. The wreck took fire and those who escaped began the work of rescue.

Six minutes after the express struck the freight the flames reached the car filled with dynamite. There was a flash and a deafening roar. The earth trembled as though some terrible seismic disturbance had occurred. All who were not killed or injured by the explosion fled from the awful scene.

The entire wreckage became a mass of flames, and small boxes of powder that had not exploded blew up continuously. While these explosions continued men who had bravely gone to the rescue before the first explosion did not dare to approach the burning wreck, though they could hear the agonizing shrieks of the dying.

Flames began to consume the human bodies that were helplessly pinned in the wreckage.

An alarm of fire was turned in, and when the firemen arrived it was impossible for them to go closer than 300 yards of the fire until the explosions ceased. Then the intense heat interfered with the work of rescue. Men of the boldest nerve were forced to retire with singed hair, blistered faces and burning clothing when they attempted to respond to the piteous cries for help. Those who escaped by leaping and crawling through windows in scant attire from their sleeping car berths hurried to the open fields, where they were gathered together and carried into the offices and workrooms of the Paxtang Electric Light company and other industrial plants, which were quickly transformed into temporary hospitals and later into morgues.

The scenes in the vicinity of the wreck were appalling, as many families living in the small houses about the place were tossed from their beds and, thinking that some catastrophe had befallen them, rushed from their houses clad only in their night cloths and blankets which they wrapped around themselves in their haste.

Several small houses near the Lochiel furnace were badly shattered. Flying glass and other articles which were knocked from the walls struck the inmates as they lay in their beds, and a number of minor injuries were reported.

The shock and effect of the explosion were heard for many miles, and panes of glass and large windows were broken for miles around.

Henry Silverman, a New York jewelry salesman, had a satchel in his berth which contained $17,000 worth of fine jewelry, samples of goods for the Christmas holidays. Mr. Silverman was compelled to leave everything in the passenger coach to escape being burned to death. He could not find his bag in the darkness, and the jewels were destroyed in the flames.

The train contained 182 passengers and a train crew of fifteen. Among the missing is W. H. Lewis of Philadelphia, a Pullman conductor, who is believed to have been killed.

Charles Rosenstock, a New York traveling man who escaped from the wreck, said:

"Immediately after the collision came the engine on our train exploded. The concussion in turn caused the blowing up of a freight car loaded with dynamite. It all happened within sixty seconds. The force of the last explosion threw our car clear of the rails, and, scrambling out of the window, I rolled down a forty foot embankment and into the Susquehanna river."

His companion, D. Meyer, said when the explosions occurred the car he was in was lifted and thrown down the embankment, where it lodged. The roof broke like an eggshell, and he was blown through the top. He, too, was thrown into the Susquehanna river. His body is a mass of bruises and cuts, but he refused to go to the hospital, preferring to get home.

The scene of the wreck has been visited by probably more than 50,000 persons. That more persons were not killed is considered remarkable by the Pennsylvania railroad officials, as a full box car of dynamite exploded directly at the middle of the heavy express train.

W. B. McCaleb, superintendent of the Philadelphia division, said he was unable as yet to fix any responsibility for the accident.

Three Engines In Wreck.

WARREN, Pa., May 12.—In a crash between three locomotives on the Philadelphia and Erie divisions of the Pennsylvania about one mile east of Warren, Charles Souers, fireman on one of the engines, was killed and David Sautelle, engineer of the same engine, fatally injured. One of the heavy engines, eastbound, broke down, and two others collided with it. The light engine had been hauling a special containing relatives of people injured in the wreck at Harrisburg and was returning.

Sympathy From Railway Congress.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The international railway congress unanimously adopted resolutions expressing sympathy to the injured, the families of the deceased, the railroad company and the employees involved in the railway accident at Harrisburg. The resolutions were offered by Sir George Armitage of England and adopted by the congress by rising vote.

Kaiser's Message to Railway Men.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Emperor William has sent the following message through Baron Sternburg: "I send my greetings to the international railroad congress in which for the first time German delegates are participating. May the personal exchange of ideas among the most prominent railroad men of the world assembled in Washington be of lasting benefit to international traffic, the prosperous development of which is the most effective way of fostering mutual understanding and the peaceful bringing together of nations."

Equitable Clerk Arrested.

NEW YORK, May 12.—The young clerk in the Equitable Life Assurance society who has been shadowed ever since the discovery was made of the way Samuel Lobley, the notorious forger, had got away with $27,000 of the society's money, is now under arrest. He is Emile Leumier, twenty-one years old, and he has made a complete confession that it was he who twice stole the Cotton $50,000 policy from the vaults of the society and turned it over to Lobley for negotiation.

Did Not Disparage Alexander.

NEW YORK, May 12.—John D. Crimmins, chairman of the policy holders' protective committee of the Equitable Life Assurance society, has denied that he had made a statement attributed to him to the effect that President Alexander of the society had outlived his usefulness and that the welfare of the society demanded his retirement.

F. J. De Peyster Dead.

LAKEWOOD, N. J., May 12.—Frederic James De Peyster, the well known lawyer, died suddenly here of angina pectoris. He had been in good health and was in Lakewood for a short holiday, having planned to spend a week here. Last night he was to have made a speech to the members of the Colonial society of New Jersey.

Carnegie Offers $75,000 to Radcliffe.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 12.—It is announced that Andrew Carnegie has offered to Radcliffe college the sum of $75,000 for a library building on condition that an equal sum shall be raised among friends of the college for the endowment of the library.

PRESIDENT HOME AGAIN.

Hunting Party Back From Colorado. Greeting to Mrs. McKinley.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—President Roosevelt arrived at home today and will rest after his long journey from the Colorado hunting grounds before taking up the burden of official life once more.

The president was much disappointed because no arrangements had been made to have the special train stop at Canton, O., where a letter was dropped off at the station to be delivered to Mrs. McKinley. The greeting from President Roosevelt to the widow of the former president said:

"Pray accept my best wishes and earnest hope that you are feeling well. I did not know that the train was to pass through Canton without stopping after it had started from Chicago and I found that it was too late to change the schedule. Otherwise I should have stopped to see you in person. May all blessings attend you."

The presidential train passed through Harrisburg last night en route to Washington. The president was greeted at the railroad station by 300 people. He made a brief speech, in which he said that after several weeks of pleasure he was glad to get back to hard work.

A RANK OUTSIDER FIRST.

Delhi Finished First at Belmont Park, but Was Disqualified.

NEW YORK, May 12.—Delhi, at the prohibitive price of 1 to 7, finished first in the third race at Belmont park, but was disqualified for fouling Witch Hazel, a rank outsider. Witch Hazel was placed first and Hot Shot second.

Out of the eleven horses carded to start eight were scratched, leaving three to face the starter, with Delhi an odds on favorite. Delhi took the lead at the start and appeared to be winning easily, when Witch Hazel closed with a rush in the stretch. When Shaw drew his whip Delhi swerved over on Witch Hazel, interfering with him.

Jennie McCabe, a 20 to 1 shot, won the Van Nest selling stakes, defeating Black Prince, another 20 to 1 shot, by three lengths. The favorite, Quadrille, was third. Two favorites won. Summaries:

First Race.—Zeala, first; Uncas, second; Diamond Flush, third.

Second Race.—Jacobite, first; Hammer Away, second; Hocus Pocus, third.

Third Race.—Witch Hazel, first; Hot Shot, second; Delhi, third.

Fourth Race.—Jennie McCabe, first; Black Prince, second; Quadrille, third.

Fifth Race.—Veribest, first; Superior Boy, second; Incorrigible, third.

Sixth Race.—Wizard, first; Jane Holly, second; Cottage Maid, third.

Monte Won Feature.

ST. LOUIS, May 12.—Little Scout, played strongly at 2 to 1, failed to last in the struggle down the stretch, and Monte, almost equally as well liked by the betting public, won the fourth race at a mile and a sixteenth, the feature of the fair grounds offerings.

Ida Kearney and Earl Rogers.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 12.—Ida Kearney and Earl Rogers, coupled as favorites in the betting, finished first and second respectively in the Missouri Breeders' stakes for Missouri bred two-year-olds at Elmridge.

The Don Defeated Brooklyn.

ST. LOUIS, May 12.—The Don defeated Brooklyn in the fourth event, a handicap at a mile and a sixteenth, at the American Jockey club track.

Beautiful Bess at Louisville.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 12.—Beautiful Bess easily won the Debutante stakes for two-year-old fillies at Churchill Downs.

Forest Fires In Connecticut.

STERLING, Conn., May 12.—A forest fire which broke out here spread with great rapidity and soon covered a territory nearly five miles square. It is still spreading, and the whole town has turned out to fight it. Two carloads of men were sent from Providence to aid the local fire fighters.

German Destroyers In Collision.

BERLIN, May 12.—During a night maneuver off the island of Ruegen torpedo boat S.81, steaming at full speed, struck torpedo boat S.75 amidships. Both vessels were badly damaged, and the S.81 had to be towed to Kiel for repairs.

Fatal Work of Thunderbolt.

LANCASTER, O., May 12.—Mrs. Alexander Schafer and her six-year-old son were struck and fatally injured by lightning. Mrs. Elizabeth Schafer, who was also in the house, was uninjured. The house was wrecked.

PEACE ON THE WAY

Roosevelt Has Learned Czar Desires to End War.

SOCIALISTS DENOUNCE THE EMPEROR

Settlement of Hostilities In Far East Nearly Arranged When Appearance of Rojestvensky's Fleet Revived Russia's Hopes.

LONDON, May 12.—Dispatches from Tokyo say that peace between Japan and Russia had been nearly arranged when the unexpected appearance of the Russian second Pacific squadron in the China sea revived Russia's hopes.

That peace is coming through President Roosevelt's offices is positively stated, he having learned that Russia desires to end the war and having ascertained the terms which would be agreeable to the neutral powers.

Recent councils of Japanese statesmen have settled the principles for a renewal of the Anglo-Japanese alliance, which will involve a new and definite policy with regard to the future of Manchuria and Korea.

It is reported that two Russian warships from Vladivostok were seen off Aomori, in the north of Hondo, the main island of Japan.

At St. Petersburg violent proclamations, signed by the central committee of the Social Democrats, have been scattered broadcast among the workmen.

After denouncing "the emperor and his creatures" in unmeasured terms and demanding the abolition of the army as the first step toward the attainment of Socialism and equality the proclamations summon the workmen to make a demonstration on the Russian May day, May 14, and conclude:

"Remember, brothers, we must not allow the bashibazouks of the emperor to prevent our holiday. Go forth armed. Let each man take such weapons as he can.

"Long live the May day festival of the workmen!

"Long live Socialism!"

A dispatch from Gunshu pass says that the Japanese reported general advance now appears to have been a feint to ascertain the strength of the Russian outposts, which have again been pushed forward on the left at Lafangoi, Erdahoi and Toungoi and along the center line from Podysolzsche to Shihouza, where the Japanese attacked the Russians May 7 and 8, but were repulsed.

FEARED FOR HIS LIFE.

Chicago Union Teamster Testified as to Why He Quit Work.

CHICAGO, May 12.—The teamsters' strike here was less in evidence, as driving storms of wind and rain drove the pickets from their posts. There were a few attacks made on the drivers of delivery wagons; but, with the exception of one negro who was knocked senseless by a stone, nobody was injured.

The most important part of the strike situation was the examination of witnesses before Master in Chancery Sherman, who is taking testimony relative to the alleged violation of the federal injunction granted in favor of the Employers' association and of the seven express companies.

Adolph Pfeil, for eleven years an employee of the United States Express company, but now a striker, refused to answers questions on the ground that he might incriminate himself.

Edward Buckley, a striking union driver, told of being ordered by officials of his union to put his wagon in the barns. When asked why he did not continue at work he replied, "Because I did not want to be killed."

"Why did you stand in fear of death if you went out?" he was asked.

Buckley hesitated and then said, "Because there were riots on the streets, and I wouldn't sacrifice my life for a job."

Chicago Labor Unions Guilty.

CHICAGO, May 12.—Five business agents of labor unions have been declared guilty by Judge Chytraus of forming a conspiracy to drive John M. Stiles, a contractor and painter, out of business. In the same decision officers and members of six labor unions, defendants in the case, are restrained from interfering with Stiles or his business in any way.

Inspector Braun In Trouble.

BUDAPEST, May 12.—American Immigration Inspector Marcus Braun has become involved in serious trouble with the Hungarian authorities. Mr. Braun alleges that the authorities tampered with and opened his mail. He was fined $10 in the Budapest police court for threatening a police department detective, whom he says he discovered in the act of tampering with his mail. Now the Hungarian state police department makes public a communication declaring that Mr. Braun cannot show credentials proving his relations with the American government.

Veteran Editor Dead.

NEW YORK, May 12.—Thomas F. Williams, who had been on the editorial staff of the New York Sun for more than thirty years, died from pneumonia. For some time he was secretary to the late Charles A. Dana. He was a native of Ireland and accompanied the Fenians in their raid upon Canada.

Madonna of Della Robbia Stolen.

FLORENCE, Italy, May 12.—A highly prized statue of the Madonna, attributed to Della Robbia, has been stolen from a private chapel at Ponte Stolli, a suburb of this city. The statue was valued at $17,000 and weighs 500 pounds.

DENMAN EXPLAINS HIS OWN POSITION

SAYS DAAB'S AGREEMENT DOES NOT APPLY TO PLAINFIELD TEAM.

President Denman, of the Westfields, said last night that he believes Manager Daab, of the Plainfields, is making a mountain out of a mole hill in refusing to play the series of games if "Red" Waller pitches for the Westfields. He declares that the agreement the Hobokens have with the National Commission does not effect Plainfield. It only has to do with the organization, he says, and not the individual players, none of whom he says is eligible to make an agreement with the commission. He says he will not play the games unless his regular team is allowed to represent Westfield.

As the baseball fans learn the conditions upon which the series can be played between Plainfield and Westfield, they declare themselves strongly in favor of the position taken by the local management. They say that with the class of attractions now being offered at Crescent Oval they do not care whether Westfield plays or not, unless President Denman is willing to abide by the terms as imposed by the National Commission.

Today Manager Daab received a letter from City Judge William N. Runyon, assuring him of the support of the public in the stand he has taken and that he has already won this support by "delivering the goods" and giving a first-class article of baseball. Mr. Runyon tells Mr. Daab that he will make no mistake by maintaining his stand and requesting that the certain conditions be met before the series is played.

Wishing to give the baseball public a strong attraction for Saturday, May 20, the date originally reserved for Westfield, the local management has arranged to play a second game with the Philadelphia Giants, the team defeated last Saturday by the locals by the close score of 3 to 2. In view of the announcement by President Denman that he will not consent to drop Waller in the series with Plainfield, and believing that the public is with the management in the stand it has taken, it will prepare itself to fill the open dates with attractions even stronger than Westfield. By this arrangement it will be possible to get a game with Chatham for one of the open dates and this should be one of the best contests of the season.

Teachers' Meeting.

A meeting of the Union County Teacher's Association will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in the Merrel Street School, Elizabeth. Dr. E. C. Broome, president of the association, will have charge of the exercises. Following the business meeting will come the annual reports of the secretary and treasurer and election of officers. Address on "Education for Leisure" will be delivered by Dr. E. N Henderson, professor of education and psychology in Adelphi College, and by Superintendents O. I. Woodley, A. M., of Passaic, who will speak of "Educational Gleanings."

—Miss Mary Baldwin, of the Plainfield Business College, has been appointed stenographer for Lawyer Blatz.

—At the Carnival one of the first booths that meets your eye is that of William E. Taylor, auctioneer, who is giving away very pretty souvenirs, advertising his sale of lots on West Eighth street and Hobart avenue, May 17. If the lots take as well as his souvenirs, he will have a big sale. Read his ad. in this paper.

Mrs. Rogers Won at Golf.

In the continuation of play for the Walter Gaston cup at the Plainfield Country Club, yesterday, Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers increased her standing for the cup by again winning first honors, giving her three points, or a total of six. She played from scratch and returned a score of 89. Miss Adelaide Ball finished second with a score of 127, 27—100, and received two points. There were two other entries, but the contestants did not finish.

Cut His Wrist.

While engaged in looking after some work at the springs of the Watchung Spring Water Company, yesterday afternoon, Clarence E. Teel, secretary of the company, accidentally cut his wrist with a penknife. The cut was a deep one and it was with difficulty that the flow of blood was stopped. Mr. Teel hastened to the office of Dr. G. W. Endicott, where several stitches were taken to close the wound. Mr. Teel will be unable to use the arm for some time.

Camera Club Dance.

An informal dance was held in the Camera Club rooms, last night, under the direction of H. H. Coward. Numbered among the guests were those who attended similar affairs held during the winter in the old Common Council rooms on Park avenue. Music for dancing was furnished by Westervelt, of Newark. At midnight refreshments were served.

Cranford Club's Annual Reception.

The Wednesday Afternoon Club, of Cranford, gave its annual reception, Wednesday afternoon. Miss Comins, of New York, gave a very clever presentation of the play, "Merely Mary Ann." Mrs. Horace Kimball and Mrs. William D. Murray were the delegates from the Rasores Club, of this city.

CLOSED PORTALS.

Bristol lodge, B. P. O. E., of Bristol, Pa., will be instituted Thursday afternoon, May 25. Philadelphia lodge will send 400 members, having chartered the steamer "Sylvan Dell" to make the trip. The First Regiment Band, of Philadelphia, will accompany the Quaker Elks.

Firemen's Relief Elects.

These officers have been elected by the Fireman's Relief Association: Presidens, T. O. Deane; vice-president, William Addis; secretary, G. Thorn; treasurer, William Townley. The last named succeeds the late William T. Newman.

Bishop Coming to Holy Cross.

Rt. Rev. Dr. John Scarborough, Bishop of New Jersey, will visit the Church of the Holy Cross Sunday morning, for the purpose of confirming a class of candidates. There will be special music.

Mrs. Hall's Mother Honored.

Mr. Julia Ward Howe, mother of Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, of Madison avenue, was elected president of the New England Woman's Suffrage Association at a meeting held in Boston, yesterday.

Jabez Was Drunk.

Jabez Thompson, a gardener, was charged with drunkenness in the city court this morning. Sentence was suspended.

—Mrs. Catherine C. Schenck, mother of Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, who was operated upon at the hospital a few days ago, is reported today as doing well. Her condition, although serious, is considered quite favorable.

The Junior Epworth League of the First M. E. church will hold a business session and social in Vincent chapel tonight at 7 o'clock.

SOME HOD CARRIERS RETURN TO THEIR WORK

THIRTY-SIX JOURNEYMEN STILL ON STRIKE.

Fourteen union hod-carriers have returned to work and there are still thirty-six on strike. The bosses who have granted the increase of three cents an hour and the number of union men taken on by the bosses are as follows: Firman Gise, seven; Theodore Gray, two; Oscar Moore, two; Walter Mundy, one; Cormick Caufield, two.

Titus H. Laury, who had fifteen non-union men at work on the Dr. Pittis job yesterday morning, had to stop operations in the afternoon, every man leaving him. Seaman Williams also had to stop his work for the same reason.

An officer of the Hod-Carriers' Union, in speaking of the trouble today, said that on February 7 last, the bosses were notified that a request would be made for an increase of three cents an hour on May 7, and that in case of failure to get this the men would quit. They believed they were entitled to this as the masons receive $4 a day. Those who have granted the request are numbered among the smaller bosses, while the big bosses, Taliamy Brothers, Seaman Williams, William Pangborn and W. C. Smith, refuse to give the extra money, although it was reported last night that they had decided to raise the scale to $2.75 a day, but would refuse to take back their old men.

This same officer says that Titus H. Laury would have been permitted to continue his work had he not loaned his men to other bosses to help them out. He denies that the hod-carriers made a joint contract on the new High School job. He says that last winter there were sixteen men employed on the job and they were compelled to shovel snow off the scaffold in their own time on several occasions to get work. He declares that Taliamy Brothers told the men they could shovel the snow or wait for the sun to take it away. The hod-carriers will not approach the bosses, but will wait to hear from them.

CARNIVAL WAS RUN BY THE ELKS

Plainfield Lodge Barkers Made 5,000 People Part With Coin.

DID A BIG BUSINESS

Record-Breaking Crowd Kept Merry by Local Business Men Who Told of the Wonders on Exhibition.

With the antlered host from Plainfield Lodge, No. 885, B. P. O. E., in charge of all the attractions, the hospital carnival grounds on West Fourth street, last night, were thronged with double the crowd that attended the opening. Over 5,000 people passed in and the popularity of the Elks induced the majority of them to patronize either one or a dozen of the thirty-one shows and booths. It was a big night and one that will make all succeeding organizations work hard to surpass in the way of enthusiasm. With their characteristic thoughtfulness, the lodge committee had prepared a small card bearing an elk's head and suitable wording as a souvenir of the occasion, which they had distributed. The men wore them in their hats and the women on their jackets so that there was no mistaking whose night it was.

Former Mayor Charles J. Fisk, who is chairman of the carnival committee, was also chairman of the general committee from the Elks. His direct assistants were City Judge William N. Runyon, James Dodd and George Schoenmaker, while the following members of the lodge acted as barkers and ticket sellers at the different tents: "The old plantation," A. D. Findlay and George O. Stevens; cane rack, Edward Sebring and Walter Apgar; merry-go-round, Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., and DeWitt C. Ivins; electric theatre, J. E. McClintock and John H. Cose; fishing pond, Philip Jahn; "Frankfurter and roll," Thomas Timbo; "laughing show," Harry MacDonald and Harry C. VanEmburgh; the Shelby theatre, Robert L. Lee and Frank Boese; strength tester, J. Alexander Wilson and John P. Emmons; popular voting contest, J. C. Pope, James Stewart and Thomas M. Muir; palmistry, John Bowman; "Happy Hooligan," Eric Erickson; shooting gallery, Henry Vossler and Fred H. Firstbrook; doll rack, Elmer D. Cutting. Every one of the men was keenly alive to the situation and the competition to secure patronage afforded lots of amusement for the spectators.

Several new attractions were opened last night and commencing this evening, dancing will be a feature. A large platform has been built on the grounds and an orchestra will provide music from 7:30 until closing time. This feature has been introduced at the request of scores of young people who have found spare time on their hands after seeing the shows.

The popular voting contest is another attraction that is gaining interest and the ballots are now beginning to pour in. There are seven contests in all, one for the most popular policeman, fireman, motorman, conductor, letter carrier, baseball player and nurse. Chief Kiely, who is an Elk, leads among the policemen as the members of Plainfield Lodge rallied to his support last night and gave him a very perceptible "boost." Chief Doane also has many admirers and many of the votes dropped in were for him.

The merry-go-round was doing a land-office business last night when a break in the machinery compelled a shut-down an hour ahead of time. It has since been repaired and will be in full running order today.

The Oshkosh Club will again have charge tonight and as the crowd will again be large, the members are planning to come up to if not surpass the Elks' records.

HACKMAN SURPRISES CITY JUDGE RUNYON

CHARLES BARRY PLEADS GUILTY—FIRST TIME ON RECORD.

On a score or so occasions Charles Barry, a rotund little Englishman who drives one of the depot hacks, has been arranged before the city judge for violating the hack ordinance. Barry is a fighting Briton by nature and always pleaded not guilty. He has paid more fines than any other two hackmen in the city. His fines were always paid "under protest."

This morning Barry nearly caused Judge Runyon to collapse with surprise by meekly acknowledging Detective McCarthy's charge of soliciting without a due display of his badge. He deferentially explained that the badge was under his overcoat, which he had forgotten was on him.

Judge Runyon fanned himself.

"Barry," he said in an awed voice, "I am going to take that story just as it comes. You may go."

"Thank you, sir," said Barry courteously.

Wondering glances from all the court officers followed him as he left the court room.

WATER BILL SIGNED.

Under Its Provision New York Cannot Take Supply From New Jersey.

Governor Stokes signed yesterday the bill making illegal the sale of New Jersey potable water to the State of New York. The claim was made by citizens along the Passaic river that if the sale was allowed to stand the river would be pumped dry, and they asked the Governor to sign the bill making the sale illegal.

NEW RULES FOR ASSESSORS.

State Board Says Improvements and Land Shall be Computed Separately.

The State Board of Equalization of Taxes has promulgated a new set of rules for the guidance of local assessors, among them being one that in all real estate assessments, except on farms, the value of the land and the improvements thereon shall be computed separately. Such a rule has been in force in six cities of the State for about a year.

Another new rule makes it a duty of local assessors in each taxing district in which a bank is situated, the shares of which are held by owners in any other taxing districts, to inform the assessors of them that such bank shares are taxable in their districts.

Sang in New York.

Mrs. J. M. Smalley, formerly of this city, was one of the artists who participated in the annual musicale of the Brooklyn College of Music, held in the City of Churches last Monday evening. Her execution of "Dinorah," (Caprice de Concert) on the piano, was a brilliant piece of work and received the highest commendation from her many friends in the audience. For an encore Mrs. Smalley rendered in a most masterful manner a Valse by Chopin.

EDUCATORS BIG MEETING

Plainfielders to Attend National Convention.

HONOR FOR JERSEY

Dr. Maxson a Member of the Organization—Sessions to be Held at Asbury Park on July 8.

Principals and teachers of the Plainfield and North Plainfield schools are making arrangements to attend the annual meeting of the National Educational Association, at Asbury Park beginning Monday, July 3. This will be the first time in ten years that the society has met at the seashore resort, and the second time in its history that it has convened on Jersey soil.

It is a noteworthy fact that in whichever State of the Union the session is held a large number of new members are received. Last summer the convention took place in St. Louis, during the Louisiana Purchase Exposition. Before the convention there were seventy-three active members and 266 associate members. After the meetings there were 1,925 active members and 2,264 associate members. Active members are those who pay their dues whether they attend the meetings, and associate members are those who join only temporarily. The active members make up the working force of the organization, and they include prominent educators, such as presidents of colleges from all over the country.

The active membership in New Jersey at present is thirteen, and the associate membership is seventeen. It is thought by educators in this State that the coming convention will about double the active membership, and that it will increase the associate membership to about 1,000. Some of the active members in New Jersey are: Dr. H. M. Maxson, of this city; Dr. James M. Green, superintendent of the State Normal School; H. Brewster Willis, superintendent of schools, Middlesex County; S. Erwin McManness, principal of the Waverly Avenue School, Elizabeth; Dr. Addison B. Poland, superintendent of the Newark schools; Dr. William N. Barnger, one of the former superintendents; Charles J. Baxter, State superintendent of schools; Langdon Tohmpson, superintendents of drawing in the Jersey City schools, and J. H. Hulsart, superintendent of schools in Dover. The total active membership in the United States is 1,315, the total associate membership is 3,558, making 4,873 members. Irwin Shepard, of Winona, Minn., is the salaried secretary of the association. Before each annual convention headquarters are established at the place of meeting.

MANAGERS "STAND PAT" IN BALL CONTROVERSY

NEITHER DENMAN NOR DAAB WILL CHANGE DECISION.

There is no change of the baseball situation regarding the Plainfield-Westfield series. President Charles H. Denman called up Plainfield on the telephone last night to learn whether conditions were the same, and learning that they were, he replied ditto.

Although declaring that Waller will pitch if the series is played, there is still the belief that he will fall in line and get another pitcher. The local management does not propose to weaken, believing its contention is right. While that red-hot rivalry between the towns may be lessened for a time, it is the opinion of the cranks that the two teams will get together before the season is half over and the contest will be greater than ever dreamed of.

It was reported here last night that unless the Westfield-Plainfield series is "pulled off" it will result in Westfield losing its present team and a cheaper one substituted. This would mean an inferior article of baseball for that town. While there are a few who believe this, there are many who think that Mr. Denman will meet the conditions of the National agreement and meet Plainfield stronger than ever. Local fandom wants good baseball and feel assured that the management will furnish it. With this assurance there is no doubt but that it will be given the best support in its efforts. As things now stand the Philadelphia Giants will play here on May 20, and a red-hot contest can be expected. The locals were fortunate in winning a week ago, and the colored champions will come back more determined than ever to win.

BOSS MASONS READY TO DECLARE A LOCKOUT

WILL TAKE ACTION IN HOD CARRIERS STRIKE TONIGHT.

Fully determined to make a firm stand and if necessary declare a lockout, the boss masons of the city will hold a meeting tonight to take action in the strike of the hod-carriers that has now been on a week. The contractors assert that it is possible for them to get all the union men they need from surrounding cities and that should the trouble continue they will discard all old employes.

In speaking of the matter today, one of the boss masons declared the rate of wages in Plainfield is better than that given the hod carriers, or "laborers," as they are classed in the building trades, in other places with one exception. At Elizabeth the scale is $2.16 a day, at Newark $2.65 and Orange $2.40. The local men have been getting $2.50 and they ask $2.75, which will place them above the same class of workmen throughout this part of the State. It also would give them more money than is paid a skilled machinist who must serve from three to five years apprenticeship for a mere pittance. All the facts in connection with the strike will be considered by the contractors tonight and they will probably make some concerted move.

Tallamy Brothers, who it was stated, by a striker, had compelled their laborers to sweep snow from the new high school scaffolding in their own time, last winter, emphatically deny the assertion. They declare that when it was necessary to remove any snow, it was divided up among the laborers and the time consumed in doing it was figured in the pay roll. They had thirty-five hod carriers on this and one other job and all were given an equal show without any discrimination. The work on the high school has not been hampered by the strike and should it continue they will fill the strikers' places from outside.

GAME AMENDMENTS.

Sections Relative to Hunting of Wild Geese, Duck, Swans and Brant.

Governor Stokes has approved Assembly bill No. 65, by Mr. Pearce, amending the fish and game act. It makes changes in sections 6 and 7 of that law relating to the hunting of wild geese, duck, swan and brant.

Under the new law it is unlawful for any person hunting such game to place the boat, sink-box or other construction in which the hunter may lie in wait, at a distance of more than 100 feet from ice, marsh, meadow, bar or bank, or heaped sea weed not covered with water. It also makes it unlawful to hunt such game in any manner except between one hour before sunrise and sunset, under a penalty of $20 for each offense.

The amendment to section 7 makes it unlawful to hunt such game from any boat propelled by other means than oars or paddles, or from any boat or vessel anchored or staked upon the waters at a greater distance than 100 feet from marsh or meadow, ice, bar, bank or heaped sea weed not covered with water, under penalty of $20 for each offense.

Defies Mr. Wightman.

The North Plainfield Board of Education are so sensitive to criticism since the administration forces of the borough came into control, that they have summoned Principal Wightman to appear before the bar of that august body to explain his statement in a newspaper interview as to the cause of so many teachers resigning from the school since the change in the board took place. The only crime that Mr. Wightman had committed to place him in disfavor with the administration was a trip to Trenton to see the Legislature in session, in company with an anti-administration man. That was a sufficient cause for his removal, though he refrained from taking any part in the political discussion. Now he tells the truth in answer to a plain question put to him by a newspaper reporter, and he is summoned to explain. There is no politics in the North Plainfield Board of Education, so it cannot be that which causes so much disturbance, and it is strange that these administrative gentlemen should be so sensitive. But we will wait and hear Mr. Wightman's explanation.—Somerville Unionist Gazette.

Rehearsing for Dramatic Event.

The rehearsal for "The Kettle of Fish," to be given at the Park Club, on Friday night, June 2, by amateurs, is progressing favorably and a fine performance is assured. The affair is to be given under the direction of the entertainment committee of the club.

NEW HANDICAP SYSTEM

Plainfielder's Idea Now in Use Among Leading Golf Clubs.

BRIEFLY EXPLAINED

Mr. Calkins' Scheme Which Metropolitan and New Jersey Associations Have Adopted.

Nearly every person who has had anything to do with handicapping golf players has had trouble, but the system now in use in the Metropolitan Golf Association as well as the New Jersey State Golf Association, seems to meet with the general approval of all. It is the system of Leighton Calkins, of this city, who is a prominent members of the Plainfield Country Club, as well as secretary for the M. G. A.

"One has only to consider," said Mr. Calkins, in explaining his method, "that if this player, whose average best score is 97 today, should play regularly for a month he might easily reduce that average by five strokes, namely, bring it down to 92, and in the meantime the scratch man would certainly have a very difficult task in endeavoring to cut his average best score down from 75 to 70."

The first work in using the par table is for a club to have an accurate measurement taken of the playing length of each hole. The committees have for two years been dinning this instruction into the ears of club committees, and the present board did not have much trouble on that account. The virgin soil in which this year's committee has had to turn a furrow was in explaining the workings of the scheme of allowances. A table prepared by Mr Calkins has helped in these calculations, for it shows at a glance the differences to be deducted from any average score when given the par score.

At the meetings of the board the reports that have been sent in by the clubs have been taken up in turn. As a man's name is read off, the card index is consulted. This shows his club and M. G. A. rating for two years, unless he is a newcomer and starts his card this year. To this the committee add the present club rating and the exact allowance demanded by Mr. Calkins's table. At a subsequent time the card is again consulted and the final rating put on, which may be more or less, according to what is known of the candidate's form, than the rating vouchsafed by the table. This final rating is the handicap and it will appear on the printed list.

All this means work, as more than 1,700 cards have been brought up to date. Those who may not claim a rating of 17 have been passed in review also. The last work will be done by skilful card indexers, who will make up a second set of cards from the first set, in which the players will be grouped by their class numerically—the 6 men together, 8 men, 10 men and so forth. Finally, the list has to be printed and proofs revised, when the committee may cease from its labors for a spell.

As Others See Us.

The Plainfield Press is eighteen years old. It occupies an enviable place in the list of New Jersey newspapers and there are indications that it is well supported by the people of Plainfield.—Perth Amboy Chronicle.

The Plainfield Daily Press is eighteen years old, its anniversary number being issued on Wednesday. The Press deserves all the complimentary things that are being said about it. It has always been a clean and progressive newspaper. It has done much for Plainfield, and has merited the prosperity it enjoys.—Elizabeth Daily Journal.

Wedded at St. Mary's.

A gathering of Polaks from this city and South Plainfield in St. Mary's church this morning, witnessed the wedding of Katie Strachnech, of this city, and Peter Loch, of South Plainfield. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Began. I. Phillips and Miss Lucy Phillips, of South Plainfield, acted as best man and bridesmaid. A reception followed at the home of the bride at 124 Exchange alley and this afternoon a further reception will be held at Higgins Hall, South Plainfield.

Didn't Pay for Divorce.

Summons has been issued in Justice Mosher's court in the case of Isaac P. Runyon, Esq., against Cora E. Seborb, on contract, returnable Monday, May 22. Mr. Runyon's action against Miss Seborb is for legal services in her suit for divorce, which was decided in her favor. The amount claimed in this suit is $85.

GOV'R SHELVES CREMATORY BILL

"To Be Filed in Library" Is His Non-Committal and Unexplained Statement.

MAYOR DISAPPOINTED

Measure Passed by Legislature Gave Plainfield Right to Run a Garbage Disposal Plant.

For some reason that can not be learned, Governor Stokes yesterday disapproved of the bill passed by the Legislature allowing Plainfield to maintain a crematory. "To be filed in the library" is the non-committal statement endorsed on the bill by the Governor in passing it along to oblivion. His action was a disappointment in this city, and was much of a surprise.

The bill in question was introduced by Assemblyman Edward Coyne and was passed by the Legislature. When it reached the Governor it was generally supposed that he would sign it without hesitation. As it is another fight will have to be made for the bill next winter, unless the local authorities can prevail upon Stokes to reconsider his action.

Some months ago, the Common Council purchased the old crematory in the West End but was advised by Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh that there was not authority vested in the municipality to maintain such a plant. Accordingly a bill giving it that privilege was drawn and placed in Assemblyman Coyne's hands.

Mayor Buckle, when seen by a representative of The Daily Press this morning was surprised to learn of the Governor's action. He expressed his disappointment and said that he was particularly sorry that the city was compelled to go to the Legislature whenever it desired to make some improvement of this kind for the benefit of the people. He cited the fact that a law had to be passed before the Common Council could have installed the Gamewell police alarm system. Mayor Buckle, with the great majority of the taxpayers, is heartily in accord with the effort to establish a sanitary system of garbage collection and disposal in the city and keenly regrets the Governor's unexplained action.

Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh, who drew the bill, is in New York today and could not be located before the paper went to press.

MRS. STEPHEN CAHOONE HAS PASSED AWAY

SHE WAS MUCH INTERESTED IN CHARITY WORK.

Mrs. Helen S. Cahoone, wife of Stephen Cahoone, of Watchung avenue, died this morning at her home, after a long illness. Heart disease, complicated by pneumonia, was the cause of death.

Mrs. Cahoone was deeply interested in religious and philanthropic work. She was prominently identified with W. C. T. U. work for many years, and was one of the founders and a vice president of the Y. M. C. A. auxiliary. She was a director of the Children's Home, and an active member of the Crescent Avenue church. She was also a member of the Rasoree Club. Her husband is a former president of the Y. M. C. A. and a deacon of the Crescent Avenue church.

Besides her husband, seven children survive her: Helen May, Elizabeth Mott, Royal Hill, Florence, Walter Eaton, and Frances Walcott, all unmarried; and Mrs. Robert H. McCready, of Netherwood.

The funeral will be held Tuesday afternoon, from her late residence, at 4 o'clock.

SOMERSET'S TEACHERS IN SESSION TODAY

TWENTY-FIRST ANNUAL MEETING OF ASSOCIATION.

With 100 educational workers in attendance, the twenty-first anniversary meeting of the Somerset County Teachers' Association began in the Somerset street school building this morning. The programme opened at 10:30 with music conducted by Miss Laura M. Sydenham, of the borough, after which the nominating committees were announced. This was followed by talks of from two to five minutes each, on education matters, by ex-presidents of the association and teachers.

There were two principal addresses, one by Miss Louisa Connelly, supervisor of primary schools at Newark on "Suggestion and Discussion of Language Work in Our Elementary Schools" and the other by Dr. Maximilian Grossmann, of this city, on "Some Phases of Eccentric Mentality in Children."

Adjournment was made at noon for lunch, which was served by the North Plainfield teachers in the building, and on reassembling this afternoon the usual reports will be presented and officers elected. President Walters, of South Bound Brook, was in the chair.

ANNUAL MUSICALE.

Pupils of St. Gabriel's Academy Present Lengthy Programme Before Gathering of Friends.

Before a large gathering of parents and friends, the pupils of St. Gabriel's Academy gave their annual musical in the Y. M. C. A. hall, yesterday afternoon. They presented a lengthy programme replete with creditable numbers that were applauded generously.

Those giving selections were the Misses L. Pauly, M. Kenney, A. Pedeflous, I. Duchesne, M. Walsh and N. Meaney, G. Berkham, E. Joerger, A. and M. McCullough, B. Duchesne, H. Pedeflous, S. Lee, M. Boehm, M. Texier, N. Stenier, F. LaPorte, J. Dinneer, M. Logan, and Masters P. Bailey, J. Pedeflous, E. LaPorte, M. Kapp, J. Kenney and W. Fullard. Miss L. Pauly acted as accompanist.

Miss Emmons' Class Recital.

Miss Aimee Louise Emmons announces her annual pupils' recital for Friday night, May 26, at 8 o'clock at the Casino. She has prepared a programme of unusual excellence.

GRACE PARISH HOUSE WORK.

Hope to Have the Structure Completed in the Fall.

The work on the new parish house for Grace church pogresses satisfactorily. The offerings of Easter day amounted to $2,500, which was very gratifying. The receipts to date on account of this fund exclusive of the Easter collection amount to $6,374.83. Subscriptions still unpaid aggregate $700. The total is $9,574.83. The cost of the building will be $20,000, inclusive of the heating plant. The church has the privilege of making a loan of $10,000, so that the church is not far short of the actual cash requirements. It is hoped to have the new building fully equipped and ready for all parish duties in the early fall.

Their Annual Musicale.

Under the auspices of the Ladies' Guild, of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, the sixth annual musicale will be given in the parish house on Clinton avenue, on Tuesday night, at 8 o'clock. The programme will include piano solos, by W. K. Flanagan; soprano solos, by Mrs. Bayard Hawthorn; readings, by Mr. Flanagan; basso solos, by John C. Dempsey; tenor solos, by Bayard Hawthorn, and vocal duetts by Mr. and Mrs. Hawthorn.

Miss Curry's Reminder.

Plainfield friends of the Little Missionary's Day Nursery at 98 St. Mark's place, New York, of which Miss Sara Curry is the manager, have received cards informing them of the ninth annual birthday party of the nursery to be observed Tuesday night, May 23, at 8 o'clock, at the nursery. Accompanying the invitation cards are little silk bags in which the recipient is asked to place a penny for each year of their age.

—The Supreme Court sessions will be resumed at Elizabeth on Monday.

VanHise, State Executioner, Tells of His First Experience.

NEW MARKET CASE

Plainfielder Assisted VanHise in Carrying Out Penalty for Murdering Mrs. Coriell.

James Van Hise, the State executioner who was to have hanged Mrs. Anna Valentina yesterday, had his first hanging in New Brunswick when he put to death Bridget Durgan. Captain Samuel Randolph, of this city, assisted him on that occasion.

"The very first hanging I ever did was a woman," said Van Hise. "It was forty-five years ago, out in New Brunswick. Her name was Bridget Durgan, and she killed the wife of Dr. Coriell, of New Market, with whom she had lived as a cook. They say she fell in love with the doctor, and was jealous of his wife.

"The whole State was in a frenzy over the case, but no one wanted to hang Bridget Durgan. They didn't even have a gallows, as there hadn't been a hanging in Jersey for years and years. My father was a shipbuilder, and they had him build the gallows, and at the last minute, the sheriff didn't want to do his duty, and hang the woman.

"We set the machine out in the yard of the jail, and although the walls were twenty feet high, crowds of men and boys sat on top of them to see the hanging, and the trees all around the jail were black with people clinging to the limbs at the risk of breaking their necks, all of them bent upon seeing Bridget Durgan put to death. No one felt sorry for her."

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that an ordinance, entitled "An Ordinance to lay out and open Stebbins place from the southeasterly side line of South Second street to the northwesterly side line of West Fourth street," a copy of which is subjoined to this notice, has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time, and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Common Council to adopt such ordinance at the regular meeting of the Common Council to be held in the Council Chamber, No. 149 North avenue, in the City of Plainfield, N. J., at 8 o'clock p. m., on Monday, the fifth day of June, A. D., nineteen hundred and five, at which time and place, prior to the action of said ordinance, said ordinance will be considered by the Common Council, and all persons interested may be heard before the Common Council with reference to the proposed ordinance.

By order of the Common Council.

JAMES T. MacMURRAY, City Clerk.

Dated: Plainfield, N. J., May 1, 1905.

AN ORDINANCE

to lay out and open Stebbins place from the southeasterly side line of South Second street to the northwesterly side line of West Fourth street.

WHEREAS, the Common Council have judged and hereby do judge that the public good requires that Stebbins place should be laid out and opened between the points named in the title to this ordinance, therefore,

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That a public street to be known as Stebbins place, be and the same is hereby ordered laid out and opened in said city as hereinafter specified, that is to say:

The centre line of said street shall begin at a point in the southeasterly side line of South Second street, said point being distant thirty-three feet in a course of south forty degrees and twelve minutes east from an iron monument in the centre lines of said South Second street and Stebbins place and running from said point, south forty degrees and twelve minutes east a distance of eight hundred twenty-eight and ninety-five one-hundredths feet to an angle point; then south forty-eight degrees and forty-nine minutes east, a distance of one hundred fourteen and forty-nine one-hundredths feet to a point in the northwesterly side line of West Fourth street, and there to end. Said street shall be fifty feet in width, that is to say, twenty-five feet on each side of said centre line. Said centre and side lines of said street are delineated on a certain map made by Andrew J. Gavett, City Surveyor, and filed with the City Clerk May 1, 1905, entitled, "Map showing proposed laying out and opening of Stebbins place, from South Second street to West Fourth street, Plainfield, N. J., January, 1905," to which map reference is hereby made for greater certainty.

The lands, real estate and appurtenances to be taken for the laying out and opening of said Stebbins place, in addition to the lands already dedicated to the public, are described as follows: Beginning at a point in the northwesterly side line of West Fourth street, where the same is intersected by the northeasterly side line of Stebbins place, as laid down on said map, and running thence along said side line of Stebbins place, north forty-eight degrees and forty-nine minutes west, a distance of one hundred twelve and sixty-one one-hundredths feet to an angle point; thence north forty degrees and twelve minutes west, a distance of two and ninety-eight one-hundredths feet to the rear line of the West Fourth street lots; thence along said line, south thirty-eight degrees and forty-six minutes west, a distance of fifty and forty-nine one-hundredths feet to a point in the southwesterly side line of Stebbins place as proposed, thence along said side line, south forty-eight degrees and forty-nine minutes east, a distance of one hundred thirteen and forty-four one-hundredths feet to a point in the northwesterly side line of West Fourth street; thence along said side line of West Fourth street, north forty-one degrees and eleven minutes east, a distance of fifty feet to the place of beginning.

The lands, real estate and appurtenances to be taken and the lines of the proposed street as the same is hereinabove ordered to be laid out and opened, are shown on said map on file with the City Clerk, hereinabove referred to and made a part thereof.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the following Ordinance has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Council to adopt the same.

J. T. MACMURRAY, City Clerk.

Plainfield, N. J., May 1, 1905.

AN ORDINANCE

to Appropriate and Borrow Money, and to Secure the Repayment Thereof by the Issue of School Bonds, for the Purpose of Furnishing a School House in the City of Plainfield.

WHEREAS, The Board of Education of the City of Plainfield has decided by resolution That it is necessary to raise money for furnishing a school house, to wit, the new high school building in course of erection in the City of Plainfield, New Jersey, and has prepared and delivered to each member of the Board of School Estimate of said city a statement of the amount of money estimated to be necessary for said purpose, which amount it has estimated to be thirteen thousand dollars; and

WHEREAS, The Board of School Estimate of the City of Plainfield has fixed and determined the said sum of thirteen thousand dollars as the amount necessary for said purpose, and has made two certificates of such amount, one of which certificates has been delivered to the said Board of Education, and the other to the Common Council of said city; and

WHEREAS, The total amount of bonds for school purposes, including bonds heretofore issued for such purposes and not redeemed does not exceed a sum equal to three per centum of the taxable valuation of the real and personal property in said city; and

WHEREAS, Said Common Council has by resolution appropriated the sum of thirteen thousand dollars for such purpose and has directed that the said sum shall be raised and borrowed for the purpose aforesaid, by the issuing of bonds in the corporate name of said city, bearing interest at the rate of four per centum per annum, which resolution was duly approved by the Mayor of said city; now therefore,

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That for the purpose of furnishing a school house, to wit, the new high school building in course of erection in said city, in conformity with the acts and proceedings above recited, the said sum of thirteen thousand dollars, be, and is hereby appropriated for the purpose aforesaid, and that the said sum shall be raised and borrowed for said purpose by the issuing of bonds in the corporate name of the said city, which bonds shall be each of the denomination of One Thousand Dollars and in the form annexed to, and approved by the resolution of the Common Council before referred to, which form is now on file in the office of the City Clerk of the said City of Plainfield, which bonds shall bear date the first day of June, one thousand nine hundred and five, all payable in gold coin of the United States of the present standard of weight and fineness, and which bonds shall bear interest at the rate of four per centum per annum. In order that a stated equitable amount of said bonds (in value) having regard to other school bonds already issued, shall become payable in each year within the time hereinafter specified, the bonds hereby authorized shall be made to mature as follows: On the first day of June in each year from the year one thousand nine hundred and eight, to the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty, both inclusive, one bond of one thousand dollars.

Sec. 2. That the proceeds of the sale of said bonds shall be deposited with the custodian of school moneys of said school district, and shall be paid out only on the warrants or orders of the Board of Education of the City of Plainfield, as provided by law.

Sec. 3. That for the purpose of meeting the principal and interest on the bonds hereby authorized, as the same may mature, there shall be assessed and collected each year by taxation, as other taxes are assessed and collected, a sum sufficient to meet the principal and interest maturing during such year.

MORE WRECK VICTIMS

Samuel S. Shubert, Theatrical Manager, Succumbs.

THALHEIMER'S TALE OF DISASTER.

Max Stettheimer, a New York Manufacturer, Dead of Injuries at Harrisburg—Work of Identification Most Difficult.

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 13.—Samuel S. Shubert, manager of the Lyric, Princess and Casino theaters in New York and of many other theatrical enterprises, is dead here at the Commonwealth hotel as a result of the injuries he received in the railroad wreck at this place.

Max Stettheimer died of his injuries at the Harrisburg hospital. His body was taken to New York last night by a brother.

Joseph Eberly of New York and Mrs. Anna Peters of Cleveland, O., are at the hospital and are not expected to live.

Shubert's mother and two sisters and his brother, J. J. Shubert, who came here from New York as soon as they learned of the accident, were with him when he died. His family physician, Dr. O. M. Leiser, who came here with a trained nurse, and Solomon Manheimer, a friend of the theatrical manager, were also with him.

The body has been sent to New York. Abe Thalheimer, one of Mr. Shubert's personal representatives, and his attorney, William Kline of New York, who were with him in the wreck, have almost entirely recovered from their injuries and have accompanied the body to New York.

Mr. Shubert and his companions were on their way to Pittsburg to close a lease for a theater in that city and were among the first to escape from the wreck.

Kline was in one of the forward Pullmans, while Shubert and Thalheimer were in the next to the last. Thalheimer had a berth well forward, while his employer was near the rear of the car.

When the crash came, Thalheimer afterward said, he thrust his elbow through the window beside his pillow and tugged and smashed at it until he could force a passage through with his body. Then he climbed out on the bank and made his way back to where he thought Shubert's window should be.

In this brief space of time the car was already ablaze, but Thalheimer contrived to find the right window and smashed it as he had his own. Bending through he saw that the flames were all about Shubert and, seizing him in his arms, he tried to pull him through the window. The manager was already so severely burned and was suffering such intense pain that, ignorant of the identity of his rescuer, he screamed, "For God's sake, kill me!"

Thalheimer, himself clad only in pajamas, persisted and finally got the agonized man, who was as lightly garbed, through the window. Then he laid him on the bank and went back to the car, which had then virtually fallen to pieces. Wrenching one of the big chairs loose, he pushed it to where Shubert was lying, lifted him into it and stood at his side, oblivious of his own burns and cuts, until the first relief train arrived. With the aid of the physicians Thalheimer took a long rubber mat lying near by, wrapped Shubert in it and helped to carry him aboard the train. He was taken first to the hospital, but afterward, at his own request, was removed to the Commonwealth hotel.

He was burned almost from head to foot. When he reached the hotel it happened that Mrs. Dunham, a sister of Mrs. Joseph Dillon of New York, was occupying a suit of rooms there with her husband. They insisted on surrendering them to the injured man and were assiduous in their attentions to him. Later Mr. Shubert was joined by his physician, Dr. Leiser, of New York and Joseph W. Jacobs, general manager of the Shubert productions. Mr. Thalheimer's injuries are chiefly from cuts and bruises and were not severe, but Mr. Kline was painfully burned about the hands and face, although his condition is not serious.

The work of identifying the bodies recovered from the wreck goes forward, and the temporary morgue is visited by scores of anxious persons who fear that friends or relatives may have been on the fated train. The wreck itself is guarded by a strong police detail to guard against thieves.

Three bodies were identified at the morgue yesterday. They are those of Charles Brissini, a chauffeur of Philadelphia; Thomas Lewis, one of the Pullman porters, of Philadelphia, and Miss Nettie Robinson of Cleveland, who had been on a visit to relatives in Philadelphia.

Suburban Train Wrecked In Chicago.

CHICAGO, May 13.—A score of passengers were injured last night when a suburban train on the Chicago and Northwestern railroad ran into a freight locomotive near Western avenue. Two passenger coaches were demolished. The force of the collision threw the last car on its side, and for a few minutes all of the passengers in it were imprisoned. They escaped by crawling through the windows.

Judge Bellinger Stricken In Court.

PORTLAND, Ore., May 13.—Judge Charles B. Bellinger of the United States district court is dead here. He was appointed to the federal bench in 1893. The trial of United States Senator Mitchell for alleged participation in land frauds was in progress in Judge Bellinger's court when the judge was stricken with his fatal illness.

Is It Right?

It is right for you to lose $4.20 that a dealer may make 50 cents more by selling fourteen gallons of ready-for-use paint at $1.50 per gallon, than our agent will make by selling you eight gallons of L. & M., and six gallons of linseed oil, which make fourteen gallons of a better paint, at $1.20 per gallon. Is it right?

Herbert, Son of Richard Croker, Dies on Train.

KANSAS CITY POLICE WANT NEGRO

Brother of the Unfortunate Young Man Who Was Lately Killed In Auto Accident at Ormond, Fla. At Race Track Thursday.

KANSAS CITY, May 13.—Herbert V. Croker, a son of Richard Croker, the New York political leader, was found dead on a southbound Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railway train between Kansas City and Newton, Kan., where he had died during the night, evidently from the effects of some drug administered at Kansas City while en route to Bliss, Okla.

The first news of the death of young Croker was received in Kansas City when the local police were requested to hunt for a negro who is said to have placed Croker on the train at Kansas City.

According to a telephone message from Newton, Croker was found dead in a car seat just before the train reached Newton, and the body was taken from the train there. His identity did not become known until a message was received from Richard Croker, Jr., at New York several hours after asking the authorities to hold the remains and stating that he would leave the east immediately for Newton.

The first clew to Croker's identity was a letter found in the dead man's pocket. This letter was addressed by Zach Mulhall, formerly of Oklahoma, who is now holding a wild west show in New York city, to Joseph Shiller, manager of the famous "101" ranch at Bliss, Okla. Inquiry by telephone elicited the information that Croker was not known at the Bliss ranch. Evidently he was on the way to the ranch for an outing.

Following a message of inquiry sent to New York city the coroner took charge of the body and opened an inquest.

According to stories of passengers and the conductor on the train upon which Croker died, the young New Yorker was placed on the train at Kansas City by a negro shortly after 10 o'clock at night. Croker appeared to be under the influence of some drug. The negro was seen to hand him a sum of money and a railroad ticket just before the train started, when he jumped off and disappeared. When the conductor came around to collect Croker's fare the latter was asleep, and the conductor did not disturb the passenger. Croker was left to himself all night until nearly 5 o'clock in the morning, when the conductor made another attempt to collect the fare. He was unable to arouse Croker and upon examination found that the young man was dead.

Passengers on the train took particular notice when young Croker was assisted into a chair car by a young negro because the white man was helpless, as if from liquor or drugs. The negro assisted Croker into a seat and then gave him a purse containing a railroad ticket and $19, counting the money out to Croker. The passengers heard Croker say, "Now, I want you to send me the rest of it." The negro asked Croker to write his address, but Croker refused, and finally the negro wrote as Croker dictated. The address was "Bliss, Okla., Care '101' Ranch."

Immediately after the train started Croker fell into a deep sleep, snoring loudly. Later he grew quieter. As the train neared Newton the conductor, who wished to take up Croker's ticket, shook him to arouse him and found him dead. There are no marks of violence on the young man's body, and the police do not believe he died of heart trouble, as he was of fine physical development.

Besides the letter from Zach Mulhall Croker's papers contained a letter of introduction from J. D. Carroll of New York to Miller, a letter signed "Carter" from New York and an affectionate letter from a woman in West Twenty-second street, New York. The two latter letters were not made public.

The entire detective force of Kansas City is working on the case endeavoring to trace Croker's movements.

As far as can be learned Croker arrived in Kansas City early on Thursday and spent the afternoon at the Elmridge race track. Tod Sloan, a jockey, who formerly rode for Richard Croker, Sr., and was well acquainted with Herbert's brother, was at the track all afternoon, mingling freely with the horsemen and bettors, and he did not even hear that Croker was in town. It appears that Croker did not make his identity known anywhere in Kansas City.

Chicago Strikers Losing Ground.

CHICAGO, May 13.—The Employers' association is operating 1,900 wagons and make deliveries in all parts of the city in spite of the teamsters' strike. Two nonunion drivers were assaulted and beaten, one of them so severely that he may die. Beyond these cases there was no interference with the wagons worth mentioning. It required, however, a force of 4,000 policemen and deputy sheriffs to afford security for the wagons and to guard freight houses and stores throughout the day.

Freight Rates Coming Down.

CHICAGO, May 13.—Leading traffic freight managers, representing all the railroads leading out of Chicago toward the Ohio river, at a meeting here have decided upon an important reduction of rates in merchandise classes for points in the southeastern territory, which includes the country south of Kentucky and Virginia and east of the Mississippi river.

Plainfield, N. J., May 13, 1905.

George Wharton Edwards, of this city, one of the staff artists for Collier's Weekly whose artistic and literary talent have been shown in his books and his contributions to magazines, is the designer of the frontis piece illustration on the Carnival programme. The merit of the picture has been generally recognized and the 10,000 copies of the programme printed will by no means supply the demand.

Governor Stokes' unexplained action in practically vetoing the bill empowering Plainfield to maintain a crematory for the disposal of garbage is an unpleasant surprise. The scheme is clearly for the benefit of this community and why the Governor should see fit to disapprove of it is more than we can understand. It is submitted that at least he should have given some plausible reason for what seems to be an uncalled for and unwarranted action. No voice had been raised here against the project and the Legislature had passed the measure as it was necessary for it to do under the law before this municipality could maintain such a plant. The sanitary collection and disposal of garbage is for the benefit of the public health and is in the interests of public economy. The people demand it. Why then should Governor Stokes defeat it without giving any reason?

That "money covers a multitude of sins" is apparent to everyone who gives a moment's study to the why and wherefore of certain creatures being viewed by the average mortal as pillars of society in the church and in the business world. When a man becomes richly endowed in the world's goods his fellows, or a great majority of them, are very apt to overlook the way in which he acquired his wealth. He's got the money and can buy everything that is to be had outside of happiness possibly, and no questions are asked. Consequently people marveled when someone ventured to protest against a church society receiving a fat contribution from the Standard Oil king on the ground that the sum represented ill gotten gains. But there are a few who take a wise view of the "new thought" professing to see in it signs of a quickening of the public conscience. To our mind, The Grace Church Pilot strikes the right chord when it says: "It is the healthiest and happiest circumstance which we have noticed for some time, and without question indicates that in the very near future society will demand of a man something much more difficult to get than a bank account. Of course, questionable methods will not cease, but man and methods must and shall be content with certain definite associations. Hitherto society has been studiously careful not to ask the embarrassing question as to the source of wealth. The wealth is the public's concern, the source is the man's business. Today we see a sentiment arising in the public mind which emphatically asserts not only its right but its duty to scrutinize the methods of any man's accumulation."

That Coal Contract.

Editor, The Daily Press:

With all regard for the good intentions of our honorable school board, which I believe did the best its judgment dictated, was it fair to our coal dealers to give the contract for coal to an outside party? I understand that on a sale of over 600 tons, a large amount if you will think of it, our dealers lost it only by sixty dollars in round numbers? Had our dealers clubbed together to put a big price on the coal, then it would seem just right to take it away from them, but we notice they each and all bid in very close competition to get the business, and then see it get to an outside party who profits by the taxes his competitors pay, while he himself stands outside. Now Mr. Editor don't imagine the writer is sore, because of personal loss, as he is not in any way interested in coal, and has to pay for every ton that he uses the full price, and tries to buy as cheap as possible, but believes there is a certain amount of consideration due the honest dealer who side and side with his fellow, pays his share of taxes to support the city in which he lives. Had I been on this board, I would certainly have given it to the lowest, responsible dealer in Plainfield.

Yours, for fairness,
Citizen.
